Josef Schtzenhfer Lecture, The Liberation Project

Location: Holmes
Sept. 25
Time: 5-6:30 P.M.

Josef Schtzenhfer is visiting Alfred University for the second time as the Theodore Randall International Chair in the Division of Drawing, Painting and Photography. He will lecture on a recent project entitled "The Liberation Project".

He also has a solo exhibition at The Cohen Gallery through Oct. 12. The show features three bodies of work on paper of politically charged work addressing liberation and indignant police authority in Austria.

Schtzenhfer states, "It is not the foremost role of the artist, lawyer, or journalist to reside in the ivory tower and regurgitate the goods of academia. Instead they are to focus their craft towards the margins of our society. There, everyday, they are to control the bearing of the state, the powers to be, to guarantee that our thoughts are not curtailed, our movements not limited, and our liberties not blocked."

Josef Schtzenhfer (born in 1954 in Austria) immigrated to the USA when he was 19 years old and had 28 dollars in his pocket. He started his art studies at the Cleveland Institute of Art. To keep his head above water, he interrupted his studies and worked as a dental technician for the US Navy for 3 ? years.

He later completed his B.A. at Old Dominion University in Norfolk, VA. His M.A. was completed at the Maryland Institute College of Art in Baltimore, MD. There he studied under Grace Hartigan and Sal Scarpitto.

In 1996, Schtzenhfer returned with his family to Austria. He works independently in a studio located in the local castle on contractual as well as personal works.

His works and projects have a mission, they are to patrol the peripheries, to confront and test those who think they govern our movement and our space. For Schtzenhfer, art has a social obligation to ensure that liberties we have attained are not curtailed while they stand unguarded. The artistic stance is a representational one, accessible, approachable- an engagement against political suppression and outrages. It is also a message to promote involvement and participation in all disciplines and on all levels- local, national, or international.

Currently, Schtzenhfer is expanding his "Liberation Project". The goal is to establish a cultural exchange program which involves inviting artists from the allied countries (during WWII) to Austria-specifically to his home turf of Pllau in Styria- to reflect on the continuing reactions of the locals concerning the liberation of Austria from the Nazis.

Horse to Holler Hike - Second Annual!

Join us for the second annual HORSE TO HOLLER HIKE Saturday, Sept. 29, 2012.

The hike begins at 10 a.m.

Check-in begins at 9 at the Equestrian Center

(a shuttle will run from Powell to the Center).

The rugged, seven-mile, blazed hike begins at AU's Equestrian Center and ends at Pollywogg Holler in Phillips Creek, winding around Foster Lake, privately owned land and state forest along the way.

Aid stations and a s'more stop will keep hikers refreshed along the way and plenty of food will be available at the end of the hike, including Pollywogg Holler's signature wood-fired pizza.

Pre-registration is required at my.alfred.edu/csi (follow the link to Horse to Holler)
$10 for students
$20 for community members.

Proceeds will benefit further outdoor programming at AU and the Cure Childhood Cancer Association.

Get Out and Register to Vote

Alfred University stands behind the idea that we all benefit when a greater share of Americans register and vote. This year there will be an important general election on Nov. 6, 2012. If you are not already registered to vote, please consider doing so now.

Alfred University students often have a choice of registering and voting right here in Allegany County (if you have been a resident in your present address for at least 30 days before the election) or voting by absentee ballot in your home county or state. The choice is yours, but please plan to register and vote on Nov. 6.

You can download the registration form and get more information about voting in New York State, including instructions on how to vote by absentee ballot, at this Web site maintained by the NYS Board of Elections: www.elections.ny.gov.

Please make sure that to register to vote, you must complete the form, print it out, sign it, and mail it to the county's Board of Election. If you do not want to print the form online. You can also pick up a paper copy of NYS Voter Registration forms at Special Academic Services, Herrick Library, Scholes Library, Powell Information Desk and the Office of Residence Life.

For information about other states' registration deadlines and absentee ballot request deadlines you can visit www.canivote.org or www.turbovote.org.
