

Alfred University alumnus Chaz Bruce to be honored at Roc Awards Show

2/13/19

ALFRED, NY – Alfred University alumnus Chaz Bruce will be honored at the upcoming Roc Awards Show, which celebrates and recognizes local talent, business and volunteerism in the Rochester area.

The Seventh Annual Roc Awards Show will be held Feb. 24 from 5-8:30 p.m. at Hochstein Performance Hall, 50 N. Plymouth Ave., Rochester. Bruce, who earned a bachelor's degree in theater from Alfred University in 2008, will be one of five recipients of the High Honor Community Award.

After graduating from Alfred, Bruce trained at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester and is currently Western New York Director at New York Institute of Dance and Education. He serves as a personal mentor to young men interested in pursuing a career in the creative arts, and works as a vocal and instrumental instructor, choreographer, music producer, comedian, and developer of school culture.

Bruce is the nephew of Alfred University alumnus Terrance Bruce, an accomplished musician in the Rochester area. Terrance Bruce graduated from Alfred University in 1977 with a bachelor's degree in music and education.
