Bergren Forum - Colleen Culley

The Bergren Forum sponsored by the Division of Human Studies, College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the Provost's Office will be meeting at 12:10 p.m., Thursday, October 19 in the Nevins Theatre, Powell Campus Center.

Bring a brown bag lunch, coffee will be provided.

Speaker: Colleen Culley

Topic: "Dude Moves: Versions of Meaning in this Pop Culture Body-language Stuff"

After years of teaching embodied communication in businesses and at the Johnson Graduate School of Management at Cornell University, I have grown frustrated by the messages around movement taught in most body language courses and the support they garner from their pop-culture counter-parts. Through the lens of Laban/Bartenieff Movement Analysis, this discussion reflects on movement coaching and interpretation in body-language literature and pop-culture(Saturday Night Live, John Wayne, Big Lebowski) and their versions of an embodied and powerful masculinity.

Trade Objects for Art at the Cohen

October 11 through October 19

Cohen Gallery

Cost: free

As part of her exhibition "Real Lookers" at the Cohen Gallery, artist Desiree Des ('01) invites community members to exchange art or other monetary and non-monetary offerings for the posters, postcards, and hand-made buttons in her self-service, honor-system Souvenir Shop inside the gallery. Items exchanged for art souvenirs are put on display and become a community-sourced exhibition within the exhibition.

Using consumer-grade cameras, on-demand printing processes, and readymade home goods, Brooklyn-based artist Desire Des examines the tension between the photographic image and its physical presence in space. The works presented in Real Lookers often upend viewer's expectations by throwing the ordinary legibility of snapshots and household wares into question. New perspectives are overlaid on functional objects-like plates, picture frames, and blankets-by compounding their appearances with imagery referring back to themselves. In this fashion, American life's everyday materialism is represented through the interaction of its most familiar implements and their own images-that is, between reality and its depiction.

Des often creates socially engaging contexts for her art multiples, awarding them as prizes at public events, mailing them through the post, or selling them at a low cost in retail environments of her own devisement. This ensures that almost any viewer can choose to take something home and experience it on their own terms-even (and especially) if that means the works are placed into contexts beyond the artist's original intention or control. In this way, Des hopes to encourage conversation about the role of art outside of traditional galleries and underscore how seeing a work over time changes both it and the viewer.

For this show, Des has created a self-service, honor-system, pay-as-you-wish Souvenir Shop where visitors may take home a postcard or poster and "pay" with their own artworks or other monetary and non-monetary offerings. These transactional goods will be displayed on pedestals in the gallery, and contributors are welcome to add the Real Lookers exhibition to their résumé. desireedes.com

This is How I Remember It

7:00 p.m. - 9:00 p.m., Thursday, October 19

Robert C Turner Gallery

Cost: Free

Sponsored by: Robert C Turner Gallery

Inspired by an antique photo album, "This is How I Remember It" investigates the lucidity of memory in relation to cultural and generational differences. Created with a combination of fiber and paint integrated into large, digital scans of the original images; the pieces facilitate a wide range of interpretation driven by each viewers' personal influences. This format starts new conversations in which the audience can reflect on their memories and understand the gravity of outside influence.

Thursday dinner w/ faculty - sign up!

One of the most touted small-town college perks is "dinner at my professor's house" and it's something we hear from alumni is a true highlight of their Alfred experience. The program is now sponsored by Richard '63 and Martha Widdicombe. Richard remembers his own personal and impactful experiences with faculty and staff and wants current students to have the same.

Thursday 10/19 is hosted by Shakima McCants in her AU apartment. All students are welcome! Sign up on AU Connect (sign in and then search Thursday Dinner Series) or email woughter@alfred.edu. Space is limited so the sooner, the better.
