

AU women's lacrosse game at Salisbury State postponed due to poor weather

3/06/01

SALISBURY, MD Poor weather forced the postponement of the Alfred University women's lacrosse team's game at Salisbury State Tuesday afternoon. According to the sports information office at Salisbury State, a mixture of snow and harshly cold temperatures caused the postponement. It has not yet been if the game will be made up. The Lady Saxons are in the midst of a weeklong stay in the Newport News, VA area, during which the team was to play Salisbury State.
