Tom Reed Town Hall

More than 200 attend Congressman's Hinsdale Townhall meeting

By ELAINE HARDMAN
Alfred Sun Reporter

HINSDALE—At Congressman Tom Reed's (R-Corning) Townhall in Hinsdale this past Saturday, the first question taken was from Vicky Westacott of Alfred. Vicky isn't worried about what the AHCA will do to New Yorkers; she is worried about what it will do to people in states granted permission to opt out.

Reed said that there is a lot of disinformation about the bill. He said "preexisting conditions is part of the law of the land." States can only achieve a waiver if the states set forth a proposal showing that they can achieve more if they are released from federal regulations.

States applying for the waiver have to participate in a high risk pool. High risk pools were one of the problems that Obamacare tried to solve but Reed presented them as a form of protection for people.

In answering a related question, Reed said that there is nothing in the AHCA bill that limits the premiums that a person with a preexisting condition could be charged. He said that people with preexisting conditions would have guaranteed access to health care but many in the crowd shouted that it's not access if people can't afford it.

Many people shouted that they want single payer and he said that he will not support single payer. Several people applauded. He said that insurance premiums can increase in NY by 30-40% in the coming year.

Asked if healthcare was a product or a right, he said that people have a right to access to healthcare. People shouted that having access didn't help when premiums were beyond a person's ability to pay.

The second question was from Robert, a 14 year old from Wellsville diagnosed with type 1 diabetes at age 4. He didn't ask for this condition but it is part of his life. Mr. Reed said that this bill guarantees his access for insurance. This began a chant of "At what price?"

A resident from Dryden asked about the $880 Billion cut to Medicaid. Reed said that the change is not a static block grant but a grant based on the current population of people on Medicaid (people with disabilities, elderly, mothers and children). The new approach would encourage states to cut spending by capping growth.

One man asked if Reed felt he was listening to his constituents. He said that many people in the meeting called his offices asking him to vote against the bill but he voted for it. Reed said that he has always presented himself as in opposition to Obamacare and that's what he is committed to.

Another attendee said that Mr. Reed didn't need to listen to the constituents at the meeting because he won the election without their votes so they didn't matter.

Reed accepted criticism for voting on a bill before it was given a CBO score. He said that the basic bill was scored by the CBO indicating that 24 million people would lose their health insurance and that still applied. He said that waiting for a new score was being beholden to bean counters, a statement drowned in shouting.

An attendee asked if there couldn't be regulations to cut pharmaceutical costs. Reed said that it is important to end the

ALFRED-ALMOND CENTRAL SCHOOL

Budget vote, election 1-9 pm Tuesday, May 16

ALMOND—Alfred-Almond Central School District residents will head to the polls in the high school auditorium between the hours of 1 and 9 p.m. Tuesday, May 16 to vote on a proposed budget of $13,273,772 for the 2017-18 school year.

The proposed budget reflects an increase of $202,808 over the current spending plan, or an increase of 1.55%.

If the budget is defeated, the school board will move to a contingent budget. Under a contingent budget, a spending plan is restricted by law, which caps the property tax levy at the current year's amount. With a contingent budget, only certain mandated items will be removed, for example, equipment purchases and salary increases for certain Civil Service personnel not working under contracts, as well as other items to reduce the budget to the appropriate level.

The contingency budget for 2017-18 would be in the amount of $13,220,922, an increase of $149,958 over the current spending plan, or an increase of 1.15%

According to the school district budget notice, the proposed tax levy to support the total budgeted amount will be $4,976,725 or an increase of just under $50,000.

The estimated Basic STAR exemption savings for the 2017-18 school year is expected to be $719.

Also on the ballot will be the election of a member to the Board of Education to replace Brooke Harris who is not seeking re-election. Tricia DeBertolis Napolitano is seeking Harris' seat.

The ballot for the May 16 election also includes a proposition to approve the purchase of one (1) 66-passenger school bus at a cost not to exceed $108,663 and a proposition to increase the tax levy for the public libraries with $95,000 for Alfred's Box of Books Library and $84,363 for Almond Library, for a total levy of $179,363.

Reed Town Hall meeting

anti-trust laws for insurance companies. He said that one way to bring down pharmaceutical costs is public pressure is put on them. One man said that health care is a product and that people need to shop around for health products. He said that the government has no business having its fingers in health care but he also said that his health insurance was the government-created, government-organized, government-run Medicare. Reed said that clearly there is a clear disagreement on health care issues. This bill is about health insurance and that there needs to be more effective and efficient health care delivery systems. He is a firm believer in hospice and palliative care for end of life care. One business owner from Corning said he pays $1082 per month and has an $11,000 deductible. His out of pocket expenses last year were over $20,000. "Who can do that?" he asked. "What's in this bill that will help my family and others in the same predicament?" Reed said that one way he will be helped is that with the mandates gone, he would not be forced to buy insurance. Should he want to have health insurance for his family, the bill offers financial relief in the form of a $4000 tax credit for those with an income below $150,000. Reed also proposed that allowing the sale of insurance over state lines would provide competition and drive down prices. Cindy in Hornell asked about the investigation of Russian collusion with the Trump campaign. She asked for an outside, independent investigation but Reed wants the House and Senate investigations to collect evidence and facts first. Returning to pharmaceutical costs, a mother asked about the costs of EpiPens and diabetic supplies. Reed thinks that more transparency will force prices down. Another asked for an end to pharmaceutical ads on TV. Reed said that he thinks that these drug ads provide information and allows patients to be more informed and forces good doctors to tell patients why a medication is or is not suitable for them. The last question was about the 21st Century School grants and the funding for AmeriCorps. The attendee's son wanted to go from his Eagle Scout service to AmeriCorps or FemaCorp to serve his country. He said that left and right wing newspapers both agree that every $1 spent on AmeriCorps resulted in $3 injected in the economy. Reed said that programs that show they are working and are wise have had their funding continued. Finally, Reed was thanked for his support for Meals on Wheels.

This past week had quite the art scene, with senior shows all over campus and some around town.

First photo: Four students carefully lower a rectilinear piece from the railing of the bridge over Canacadea Creek where it crosses under Main Street. It was secured by a sturdy metal cable wrapped around the railing.

Remainder of photos: A beguiling arrangement of hand-built pieces imitating historic terra cotta was located behind the band stand. The artist kindly left their name and information.

An eighty-year-old cream pie recipe

[Editor's Note: Like most of the recipes she shared with our readers over the past couple of decades, Ellen Shultz's Sunny Side Up columns are worth repeating.]

Continuing with the pie theme, here is one that could be considered the opposite of the Ritz cracker pie from last week. This was my mother-in-law's recipe which she got from her high school cooking class, so it is about eighty years old. This is a very rich and elegant pie.

Russian Cream Pie
7/8 c. sugar	2 c. milk
1/3 c. flour	1 tsp. vanilla
1/8 tsp. salt	1/2 c. raisins
2 eggs, separated
Scald the milk. Mix all dry ingredients. Add the milk, then the beaten egg yolks. Cook until it thickens, stirring constantly. Add the raisins and vanilla. Put into a baked pie shell. Make a meringue of the 2 egg whites and 4 T. sugar. Bake in a 300 degree oven for about 30 minutes.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Library connects new resident to community

To the editor of Alfred Sun:

I would like to express what the Alfred Box of Books Library means to me and my family.

We moved in to Alfred in January of 2016 from Mexico. My husband is a professor at Alfred State College, and for the time being I am a stay-at-home mom with my two children. Being new in the area, not knowing anybody, and with two little kids is not easy. So, the first thing I did was go to the library to find out what programs they had for children.

I started to go to Story Time every week, and my children and I really enjoyed it. I met other moms and started to feel part of the community. Then we started the program "1000 Books Before Kindergarten," and it has been quite nice to reach milestones with my children and be motivated to accomplish our goal. We also have participated in Summer Reading Programs, in the Easter Egg Hunt, and other children activities that Alfred Box of Books has organized.

The Library has meant a lot for me and my family. It is not only a place where we can go and have a great time, but it has also been a link between my family and the Alfred Community. We are so grateful to have Alfred Box of Books and to have great people working there.

George to the Rescue!

Last week in the rain Bea Jevremovic and Carlyn Yanda stopped at the Rosebush Restaurant, Main Street in Alfred, to drop something off to George Mickel, the owner. Bea left the car open, their purses and phones in the car and a small opening in the window for her 12-pound dog, Weiwei. Turns out Weiwei found the lock button and Carlyn and Bea were locked out. George to the rescue! With some creative thinking and tools from the kitchen, he was able to finally unlock the door. Weiwei was thrilled with all the attention.

CONVIVIAL CONTRARIAN

By SEAN HYLAND
Alfred Sun Columnist

I t happens predictably enough every year, but somehow I never seem to be quite prepared for the riotous assault of long-repressed verdant foliage. Advancing with the headlong rush of a liberating army of greenery, the buds have taken their positions as the crocuses have completed their scouting mission, and paved the way for the full scale invasion. Once again, Spring has sprung in Allegany County!

The problem is that it always seems to happen so quickly. One week everything seems drab and dead: an unbroken gray tableau of mud, trunks, and dead grass stripped of even the austere majesty imparted by a mantle of snow. The next, the trees have budded and the grass has become green again; and not just any green, but that luminous, resplendent, almost shocking green which is only seen at the first waking of spring.

Even before this, the coltsfoot has already flowered and faded. It is the only plant that comes to mind that is so impatient it flowers before the appearance of any leaves. Not to be outdone, the dandelions crowd close behind while the cherries and apples blossom, the petals carpeting the ground as if to mock to departed snow. Although, sometimes the snow manages a final revenge at the impudence. Spring, perhaps more than any other season, can make one acutely aware of what a gloriously beautiful place this is to live.

Writing this, as I sit next to my peacefully sleeping newborn daughter, it makes me think how profoundly good and beautiful this world can be, and how fortunate I am to be here as a part of it. In a world that is oftentimes jaded, snarky, and cynical it can be easy to forget that there is also joy and beauty in equal measure.

It makes me wonder that people go searching for miracles or contend that the miraculous is fantasy. I don't think that I can think of anything more miraculous or absolutely astonishing than the first blush of red buds on the hills or a pair of cells uniting to make a perfect and unique little being.

It may be, not that we lack miracles in this world, but that we are so surrounded by the miraculous that we sometimes fail to see it for what it truly is. Because I think there is so much wonder in all of it - the changing seasons, birth, life, and death. Really, what more could one ask for than the miracle of a commonplace spring, here with my family in a place like Allegany County?

Impressive projects highlight Student Showcase

The Alfred State Student Showcase is an excellent way for students to highlight and explain the amazing projects they work on throughout the year. Pictured are Javel Smith, electrical engineering technology, Bronx, left, and Kevin Gordon, electrical engineering technology, Brooklyn.

ALFRED—Throughout the academic year, Alfred State students spend countless hours utilizing their talents and knowledge to create some amazing projects, a number of which were on display recently for all to see during the annual Student Showcase.

With the aid of models, posters, prototypes, multimedia exhibits, and sometimes even their advisers, the students took attendees step-by-step through their own learning and achievement process. Examples of projects included a fire-fighting robot, an automated wood-cutting system, a virtual reality project, membrane heat pump research, community service efforts, a replica of a NASCAR motor, and more.

Dr. Kristin Poppe, provost, said, "I never cease to be overly and utterly amazed by the work that our students do. Across our curricula, our students engage in hands-on, applied learning, and they make discoveries and create products that will benefit all of humanity."

Robert Privitera, a human services management major from North Tonawanda, said, "The Student Showcase is great because it lets students get the opportunity to really be proud of the work they've produced and to show it to other people. It's one thing to turn in an awesome project and just be proud of it by yourself, but getting the opportunity to show it off and tell other people about is really rewarding."

Brittany Richards, a forensic science technology major from Geneseo, said, "The Student Showcase is a really great way of showcasing a project I was able to work an entire semester on and display the hard work I've put in and kind of brag about it in a way to all of the faculty and staff and students who get to come through and see it."

Last day of voting for AU's Art Force 5 program

ALFRED—With the help of the votes of area residents, Alfred University's Art Force 5 program hopes to expand as part of USA Today's "A Community Thrives" competition.

The contest seeks to fund nine initiatives in three categories: education, wellness, and arts & culture. The Art Force 5 program has been entered in the arts & culture category.

"Art Force 5 touts the power of 'creativity over conflict' as they use artistic means to address issues of violence, poverty, and inequity," notes Alfred University President Mark Zupan. "The program serves dozens of Alfred University students by providing transformational experiences and applied learning through service-minded internships.

"If everyone ... could take five minutes to vote for our Art Force 5 program, we can help propel them into the next round of this USA TODAY nationwide competition," Zupan wrote in an email to the Alfred University community.

Voting began April 12 and runs until May 12 with top-voted ideas moving forward to a judges panel. The Art Force 5 submission can be viewed at: http://act.usatoday.com/submit-an- idea/#/gallery/60128414/.

The public can vote once per day until Friday, May 12.

Alfred's superhero-themed team recently submitted a three-minute video highlighting ways in which they have previously served communities through their interactive art projects and non-violence workshops. The team would use this grant to establish both a 2018 NYC residency and a travel team available to aid communities in distress. The submission may also be viewed at <http://act.usatoday.com/submit-an-idea/#/gallery/60128414/>.

The students are no strangers to on-line competitions and media attention, as their program won the 2016 "Unite Rochester" competition sponsored by the Democrat & Chronicle Newspaper (part of the Gannett media family which also includes USA Today). In January 2017, AU student and Art Force member Mawia Elawad was featured in USA Today's "I AM AN AMERICAN" series.

Inquiries regarding their services may be directed to AU's director of student activities Dan Napolitano at D2D@alfred.edu.

NOTES from the BOX OF BOOKS

MELANIE MILLER

Alfred Box of Books Director

While it certainly doesn't feel like it outside, summer is just around the corner. As we prepare for summer reading, we're still collecting household items:

- Empty milk or juice cartons- preferably quart size.
- Empty tissue or Kleenex boxes- any size.
- Cardboard paper towel and toilet paper rolls.

You can drop off items at the library during regular hours. This year's theme is "Build a Better World." Many of our projects will re-purpose everyday household items.

We have recently received three different grants that will allow us to enhance our program offerings and our collection. We were awarded an ecoSTEM PolliNATION kit from the Captain Planet Foundation. With this year's summer reading theme, we will be using this kit to revitalize the children's butterfly garden on the front lawn of the library. This kit contains bug viewers, magnifying lenses and other goodies so we can incorporate some citizen science, STEM activities, and gardening.

We received the Ezra Jack Keats Foundation Mini-grant. For this grant, we are basing programs around Keats' book, Regards to the Man in the Moon. We will create activities for even our youngest patrons to participate in some STEM activities. We're looking to hold these programs and activities in late summer or early fall.

Lastly, we received STLS's Coordinated Outreach Services Advisory Council (COSAC) grant. This grant will allow us to diversify our collection, by adding materials on the Muslim religion and culture for adults, teens, and children. We are working with Alfred University Student, Mawia Elawad, to hold some programs about Muslim culture and an Arabic/Farsi storytime so children can learn basic words in another language, similar to our Spanish storytime. We are planning these programs for fall.

Reminder- Heather Owen will be at the library on Friday, May 12 at 4:30 presenting an Intro to Essential Oils. Find out what essential oils can do for you, health benefits, and more! Please contact the library to register at 607-587-9290.

Community Radio of Angelica to hold Citizens Fair in Hornell May 25

HORNELL-Angelica Community Radio, Allegany County's non-profit, all-volunteer radio station, is proud to sponsor the first annual Allegany-Steuben Citizens Fair, which will take place Thursday, May 25 at the Hornell Arts Center in the Broadway Mall, Hornell.

The Citizens Fair brings together representatives from local agencies and institutions across the two counties for a festive, family-friendly open house between 3 and 7 p.m. There will be food, door prizes, and fun stuff for kids to do. The Citizens Fair is free and open to the public.

Local experts from the Southern Tier Library System, Loyola Recovery Foundation, the AIM Center for Independent Living, Corning-Painted Post School District and other area organizations will explain how proposed budget cuts could affect our children, our families, seniors, schools, health care, and more. They'll speak about how budget changes might affect local agencies and the people served by their programs, as well as effects on employment and the local economy.

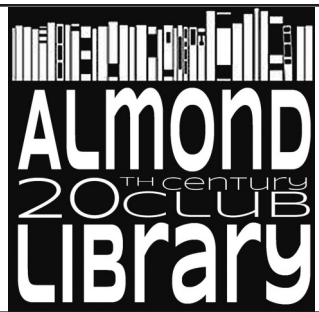

These organizations play an important part in the fabric of our lives in Allegany and Steuben counties. Meet the professionals who deliver services our families rely on. Bring your questions and they'll do their best to provide answers.

As a special treat, we've arranged for live acoustic music by local singer-songwriter Emma Tyme between 5 and 7 p.m.

For more information, call Lynn at 607-968-8041 or email info@wraq.org.

What's Happening at Almond Library

By ELIZABETH CALL
Almond Library Director

Well, this is it -- the last article before the School Budget Vote! Not only do you, the voters, have to decide who is on the school board, and whether the proposed school budget is reasonable, but many of you also get to decide whether or not to support your libraries! If you support your schools, you should also support your libraries, because your public library supports education for the whole community.

What do you get from the library? You get access to thousands of books and DVDs to check out; free use of computers and wifi, and help using them; help with research; help with your job searches and free resume help; a place to meet with your study group, either in person or via Skype; storytimes for your children; craft classes for all ages; and a welcoming space for all!

The Almond Library will also have high-speed Broadband internet, which will increase our download and upload speeds by 10 times!

The Almond 20th Century Club Library and the Alfred Box of Books Library are both supported by the Alfred-Almond School District. Please remember to vote on May 16th in the AACS auditorium from 1-9 p.m. Be sure, also to check out the wonderful artwork on display in the hallways of the school and partake of the Ice Cream Social that evening.

Feel free to contact the library with any questions you might have about our upcoming programs or anything else, and don't forget to check our website and our facebook page for the most up-to-date information: www.almondlibrary.org.

DIY PINE CONE FLOWERS FOR MOTHERS DAY

In between raindrops last week we ventured into the spring woods for a hike. My curious toddler found a copious patch of pine cones that were just perfect for crafting. I filled everyone's pockets with as much as we could carry. After an online search I discovered a neat way to make zinnias and roses out of the pine cones perfect for Mother's Day and simple enough to do with a toddler!

What You Need:

2" pine cones	Branches (last year's hydrangea stalks)
Scrap paper	Pastel Acrylic Paint
Brushes	Glue gun and sticks

Get your painting tablecloth out because this will get a little messy! Using an old wide bristle brush, push the paint into all the crevices of the pine cone. I painted them a solid color first then let Kedric (my two year old) go crazy with whatever colors he wanted on top. For a zinnia turn the pinecone upside down and paint a yellow spot in the middle. For roses keep them right side up and paint a solid pink or red. Next paint the branches/stalks dark green and the scrap paper the same. When the paper dries, cut out leaves. Next put a spot of glue at the base of the pinecone (top for zinnias) and affix the branch to the glue. Then add your leaves using a small dap of glue as well. Find a cute vase or pot to arrange and it's the perfect gift for moms, grandmothers or spring decoration for your home!

ALFRED UNIVERSITY'S PRESIDENT

Mark Zupan finds Alfred 'a very captivating place'

By CATHERINE GROH

AU English major

ALFRED—Alfred University President Mark Zupan may sound like an intimidating figure with a long list of professional achievements. But in person, he is humble, jovial, and likes living a bit on the edge.

"I have this quirk when it comes to airplanes," Zupan said. "I like to just make flights."

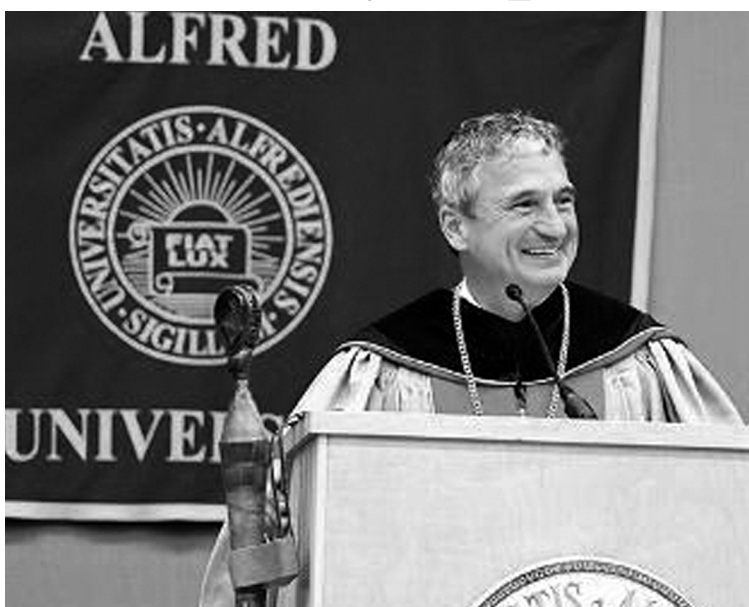

He clarified that he enjoys the efficiency of arriving at the gate at the last minute and not waiting around beforehand. He has several captivating stories about pre-911 adventures in airports, like one time when he misplaced his ID and got through TSA with only a business card. Another time, he persuaded a flight attendant to let him on a plane without a ticket when he needed to change flights last-minute.

Nowadays, he takes a lot of uneventful red-eye flights, and he collects snacks from them

Alfred University President Mark Zupan speaks at University Breakfast that opened the 2016-17 academic year.

President Zupan at his inauguration last fall.

which he keeps in his office for visitors.

Zupan is originally from Rochester. He earned a bachelor's degree in economics from Harvard and a doctorate in economics from MIT. He has held teaching and administrative positions at the University of Southern California and the University of Rochester. He is also the author of two books and more than 40 scholarly articles. For the past year, he has served as president of Alfred University.

It might seem like Zupan would have a measure of arrogance to go along with his long list of honors. But his humble and friendly demeanor shines just as brightly as his accomplishments.

Mary McAllister, Zupan's corporate secretary and right hand, describes him as energetic and kind with a positive outlook on life.

"He always thanks everyone for what they do," McAllister said.

So how did Zupan wind up at AU? He says he picked Alfred based on a gut feeling. The search committee made a distinct impression, he said. He added that his first visit to campus was memorable.

It was late in the evening, and he wandered into Harder Hall. He was surprised to find the doors unlocked—at places like the University of Rochester, doors to academic buildings lock automatically in the early evening. To add to his astonishment, AU students approached him, a strange man in a raincoat, to ask if he was lost or needed assistance. At a different university, students would be more likely to call the police, he added.

Nowadays, Zupan is a familiar figure at AU. Most early mornings, he can be seen jogging around campus. He said he enjoys those morning runs because he can think about problems in a different way than when he's sitting behind a desk. He also attends as many campus events as he can get to, and he is well-liked by the student body.

Zupan works long hours, sometimes until 10 p.m., he said. But he doesn't forget to have fun. McAllister recalled one time when she came into the office to discover lots of chocolate eggs that Zupan had hidden all over the place. He also keeps an adopted black-and-white cat, Peyton, who likes to "tightrope walk" on the bannisters.

Zupan has plenty of personal accomplishments, but what he talks about most are the successes of AU students and alumni. In the year he's spent in Alfred, he has developed a true appreciation for the magic this little town and this university hold.

"Once you get here, it's a very captivating place," he said.

CAREER FAIR HELD

Hiring season for new graduates at Alfred State

ALFRED—When the staff at Day Automation comes to the Alfred State campus, they don't come merely to meet new students; they know they are here to meet their future co-workers. The company's system controls and video surveillance systems are operating in over 200 K-12 school districts, 20 colleges, universities, and hospitals across the state, thanks in large part to the work of Alfred State graduates.

"Of our entire technical and engineering staff, Alfred State grads represent over 50 percent of that staff," said Mick George, director of marketing for Day Automation. "Our founder, James Day, is an Alfred State graduate, along with sales engineers, project managers, and one of our VPs."

George says what makes Alfred State graduates into such great employees is a passion for the development of electronic, mechanical, and computerized solutions used by Day Automation clients.

"The students we contact for follow-up interviews have demonstrated enthusiasm. Alfred State graduates who are hired are capable to hit the ground running," he said. "Their education in electrical and mechanical engineering provides a solid foundation for building a facility's video surveillance, access control, or building automation systems. Our in-house development and deployment software allows for a quick start-up and execution of jobs for entire K-12 school districts, universities, hospitals, and commercial buildings."

Thanks to an emphasis on applied learning in all programs, and an abundance of majors focused on preparing students for in-demand careers, the employment and continuing education rate at Alfred State is an astounding 99 percent.

Companies like Rochester-based Surfwrench LLC recognize that new graduates are ready and qualified to begin their careers right away. Surfwrench attended a recent career fair looking for automotive technicians and people to develop the company's app and website.

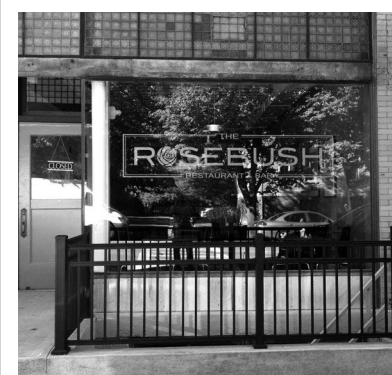

"The resumes that I've gotten from students shows they are very sharp developers," said Eric Miller, co-founder and head of marketing and sales for Surfwrench LLC. "The idea that you have an application-based curriculum in the IT department is fantastic. It's something that you don't see a lot of, hands-on specialization in IT."

Employers came from as far away as the west coast to meet students at the career fair. Cisco Meraki traveled from California to recruit talented students for both internships and full-time careers. Companies wanting to recruit on campus, post a job opening, and participate in future career fairs should contact Elaine Morsman, director of career development for Alfred State, www.AlfredState.edu/careers.

Hundreds of Alfred State students meet their future employers at a recent career fair on campus.

NEWS OF THE CAMPUSES

Basic Utility Vehicle Team takes first in Ohio

ALFRED—For the second consecutive year, the Alfred State Basic Utility Vehicle (BUV) Team earned a first-place finish in the annual intercollegiate BUV Design Competition in Batavia, OH.

The team tied with the University of Cincinnati for first place, making this the fourth time Alfred State's squad has come out on top. The team has also come in second four times since first entering the competition in 2006.

The contest is a combination of a race and manufacturing design competition. Other schools that competed include Baylor University, Purdue, Trine, and Texas A&M.

This year's team consisted of William Faes (mechanical engineering technology, Canisteo), Dominic Freudenvoll (mechanical engineering technology, Rochester), Robert Kelso (mechanical engineering technology, Middle-town), and Kyle Glaub (mechanical engineering technology, Buffalo). The team was accompanied by Academic Support Technician Ray Gleason, and Steven Martinelli, professor in the Mechanical and Electrical Engineering Technology Department, who served as team's adviser.

According to Martinelli each team's vehicle was judged prior to the competition. Points were awarded at the onset of the competition with respect to safety, innovation, and construction. The Alfred State team received all points possible at the inspection.

As for the competition, which was primarily an endurance test, each team's vehicle was required to haul three 55-gallon drums full of water three times around a very muddy track that was about 1.5 miles in length. The teams then had to unload the water into a pond, reload the barrels with water, and repeat the process until the competition ended.

While the Alfred State squad experienced a number of mechanical challenges throughout the day, they never relented, completing four cycles of the competition. After all points were calculated, judges determined that the Alfred State group had tied for first.

"The team performed professionally and admirably through all of the difficulties and mechanical challenges that they faced," Martinelli said. "They never once considered quitting."

Group of women graduate from Leadership Academy

ALFRED—A group of students who have made their mark on Alfred University are the 2017 graduates of the Women's Leadership Academy.

These young women have worked hard and improved the campus through their capstone projects, including Pine Hill trail improvement, recruitment of Cohort IX, planning the Academy Graduation ceremony, and raising funds for Planned Parenthood, as well as next semester's Women's Conference, "Take the Leading Role," focusing on how performing arts positively impact leadership skills.

This year's cohort means we now have 122 Women's Leadership Academy graduates out there in the world doing great things with their Alfred University degrees. Cohort XII has just been selected and we're ready to welcome them next year as beginning Academy women.

ALFRED POST OFFICE WILL PARTICIPATE SATURDAY, MAY 13

Letter Carriers to conduct 25th annual food drive

WESTERN NY—The National Association of Letter Carriers (NALC) and the United States Postal Service will conduct its 25th annual national food drive on Saturday, May 13. Last year, residents donated nearly 1.3 million pounds of food for their western NY neighbors and a record 80 million pounds of food nationally.

The Stamp Out Hunger® Food Drive, the country's largest single-day food drive, provides residents with an easy way to donate food to those in need in the community.

Customers simply leave their donation of non-perishable goods next to their mailbox before the delivery of the mail on Saturday, May 13. Letter carriers will collect these food donations on that day as they deliver mail along their postal routes and distribute them to local food agencies. Visit www.nalc.org/food to learn more.

The Stamp Out Hunger Food Drive is the nation's largest single-day food drive and is held annually on the second Saturday in May in 10,000 cities and towns in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Guam. In 25 years, the Food Drive has collected more than 1.5 billion pounds of food.

With the economic struggles many Americans face, the Letter Carriers' Food Drive is as critical as ever. Not only do millions of Americans go hungry, organizations that help them are in need of replenishments.

Hunger affects about 50 million people around the country, including millions of children, senior citizens and veterans. Pantry shelves filled up through winter-holiday generosity often are bare by late spring. And, with most school meal programs suspended during summer months, millions of children must find alternate sources of nutrition.

Letter carriers see these struggles in the communities they serve, and they believe it's important to do what they can to help. On Saturday, May 13, as they deliver mail, the nation's 175,000 letter carriers will collect donations left by residents near their mailboxes.

People are encouraged to leave a sturdy bag—paper or plastic—containing non-perishable foods, such as canned soup, canned vegetables, canned meats and fish, pasta, peanut butter, rice or cereal, next to their mailbox before the regular mail delivery on that Saturday.

Letter carriers will take that food to local food banks, pantries or shelters. Several national partners are assisting the NALC in the food drive: the National Rural Letter Carriers' Association (NRLCA), the United Food and Commercial Workers International Union (UFCW), Valpak, United Way Worldwide, the AFL-CIO, the AARP Foundation and Valassis.

This year's effort includes a public service announcement with award-winning actor and director Edward James Olmos. Television networks and stations can use this link to find and download high-quality versions of the PSA, in English and Spanish.

Since the first national Food Drive in 1993, the Letter Carriers' Stamp Out Hunger Food Drive has collected more than 1.5 billion pounds of food; last year's drive brought in a record 80 million pounds of food.

People who have questions about the drive in their area should ask their letter carrier, contact their local post office, or go to nalc.org/food, facebook.com/StampOutHunger or twitter.com/StampOutHunger.

A torrential downpour Saturday evening, dumping 1.66 inches of rain on Alfred over the course of just a few hours, resulted in swollen creeks and erosion of many town road shoulders. Alfred Town Highway Superintendent Doug Burdick had his crew working on Sunday to clean up the mess on Waterwells Road when water roared down the hill into the village, sweeping away the road's shoulders. He reported severe damage in McHenry Valley as well...

Two hundred years in the valley, two hundred years, if one of those years should be used up; one hundred ninety-nine years in the valley. One hundred ninety-nine years in the valley, one hundred ninety-nine years, if one of those years should be used up; one hundred ninety-eight years in the valley. One hundred ninety-eight years in the valley... Perhaps you get the picture. Sing it to the tune of "One Hundred Bottles of Beer on the Wall," and by the time you get to "one year in the valley," it will be time to begin celebrating all two hundred of them. Beginning June 2, 2007 and continuing for a whole year, we are celebrating two hundred wonderful years in this beautiful valley. A parade! A run! Music! Games! Fireworks (if we can get the appropriate insurance)! Food! Sales! Please plan now to be a part of this multi-faceted event...

Alfred University will confer honorary degrees on two alumni during its 170th commencement exercises at 10 a.m. May 12 in McLane Center. "Each has brought distinction and honor to Alfred University, and the Board of Trustees found them worthy of recognition by the University," said Dr. Charles M. Edmondson, president. Robert R. McComsey, a 1966 alumnus who has served on the Alfred University Board of Trustees since 1980 and who is completing his second three-year term as chairman of the board, will receive the Doctor of Laws degree, honoris causa. Dr. Madeline Dalton, who earned her bachelor's degree in biology from Alfred University in 1983, will receive the Doctor of Science degree, honoris causa. Dr. Dalton will also deliver the commencement address...

A poem by Dr. Juliana Gray, assistant professor of English at Alfred University, is cited by former U.S. Poet Laureat Ted Kooster in his most recent "American Life in Poetry" column, which is distributed free to newspapers and online publications weekly...Gray's poem, he says, is a "celebration of a moment on campus somewhere, anywhere...I especially like the little comic surprise with which it closes." "Summer Downpour on Campus" was originally printed in "The Louisville Review," (No. 59, Spring 2006)...

Remembering Alfred As It was...By Donald B. Polan (A-A '43, AU '48) All freshmen and women were required to attend the home football games with their green beanies and sit together in the Freshman section of the bleachers on the east side of the field...Alfred made National News - there was good news and bad news in the sporting field. The bad news was "The Scoreless Wonders," the football team in the mid-20s. As the story goes, the team was not doing so well, but in the final game of the season, still scoreless for the year, the Alfred runner got through the line of scrimmage headed to the goal line. When he got to the one yard line, he stopped and put the ball down. From there, in four tries, they were not able to score...The good news was in 1941, Walter "Bo" Johnson made a touchdown 6 seconds into the game. I was present and saw the episode. Bo had kicked off, the receiver fumbled the ball off his shoulder pad, Bo caught the ball in the air and ran over the goal line for a touchdown - six seconds had elapsed.

The Dugout—I never realized just how much "fun" it would be having daughter Lauren decide which college she would attend in the fall as she wraps up her high school days at Webster Schroeder. After 18 visits, some of the "official" variety...it seemed like she liked every school she went to!

ALFRED STATION SEVENTH DAY BAPTIST CHURCH

Sermon scripture Colossians 3:18-21

ALFRED STATION—The Alfred Station Seventh Day Baptist Church invites all to join in the Sabbath Worship Hour at 11 a.m. Sabbath (Saturday), May 13. Title of the sermon, “Family,” is based on the scripture text of Colossians 3:18-21, “Wives, be subject to your husbands, as is fitting in the Lord. Husbands, love your wives and do not be embittered against them. Children, be obedient to your parents in all things, for this is well-pleasing to the Lord. Fathers, do not exasperate your children, so that they will not lose heart.”

With this Sunday being Mother’s Day, it gives an opportunity to turn our thoughts to what the New Testament has to say about families. The passage before us is just one of several that provides insight into a Biblical understanding of the ideal “Christian” home life.

The Scripture before us seems to center on what might be label as the primary, core or nuclear family. It argues for a structure within the family system. In a world seemingly in chaos and the madness of extreme individualism the passage argues for order in a community where because of relationship one moves from individual to person.

The model of the primary family unit that Paul envisions for the “Christian” family consists of a husband, wife and children. Each has a distinctive role to make the family a “Christian” family. The roles are different and yet bring cohesion to the pattern of the home life. As with so many issues directly spoken to in the New Testaments, you and I are called to listen and do.

Learn more this Sabbath. If you are unable to join us physically consider joining us virtually through the live Stream of the Worship Hour beginning at 10:55 am (EST) at www.alfredstationsdb.org.

Join in Fellowship this Sabbath May 13. For further information call 607-587-8176.

Student club cleans up bus stop

ALFRED—Last Saturday, April 29, members of Alfred State’s Allegany Beautification Club (ABC) cleaned and restored our community’s gathering place, the Kiosk (also known as the bus stop). They thoroughly cleaned the area, removed the dirty bulletin boards and prepared the kiosk for staining and planting.

Further, the Alfred Twenty First Century Group plans to create a community information center as well as add flower baskets and twinkle lights. The two organizations along with the Village of Alfred will do the planting and create the information board. Funds for some of the work are provided by a fundraiser held by the ABC.

THE GLORY OF AMERICA

Thursday, May 11

In his restless sleep, Stonewall Jackson uttered his last audible words: “Let us pass over the river, and rest under the shade of the trees.”

The South was stricken at his passing, and the eulogy that came spontaneously to so many was David’s lament for Jonathan:

“How are the mighty fallen in the midst of battle!”

ALFRED UNIVERSITY SPORTS ROUNDUP

AU's Haley Ruffner runner-up in High Point Rider nationals

Haley Ruffner (Allegany-Limestone), a sophomore on the AU equestrian team, wrapped up a solid performance Sunday, May 7 at the Intercollegiate Horse Show Association (IHSA) National Championships by placing in her third event.

Ruffner finished runner-up in American Quarter Horse Association (AQHA) High Point Rider competition, held Saturday and Sunday during the IHSA Nationals in Lexington, KY. Ruffner qualified for the High Point Rider competition by winning High Point Rider honors during the 2016-17 season for IHSA Zone 2, Region 1.

The performance in the High Point Rider event wraps up a solid showing for Ruffner at IHSA Nationals. On Friday, she took fourth in Western Open Horsemanship and followed that up with a ninth-place finish in Western Open Reining on Saturday.

Two other AU sophomores also competed at the IHSA Nationals, which were held Thursday through Sunday. Taylor Soderholm (Tully) was third in Western Intermediate Horsemanship on Sunday, while Lauren Cole (Boston/Springville) competed Thursday in walk-trot-canter and did not place, earning honorable mention.

Men finish 8th in state

The Alfred University men's track and field team finished the New York State Collegiate Track Conference (NYSCTC) Outdoor Track and Field Championships on Saturday in eighth place out of the 13 schools competing at St. John Fisher College.

The Saxons defeated Hamilton College, SUNY Cobleskill, Union College, Alfred State College and Nazareth College with their 28 team points.

SETH SPICER won the 110-meter hurdles to boost his score in the decathlon championship.

AU was led on Saturday by Erik Diehl (Clarence Center) and his second place finish in the 800-meter run with a time of 1:57.25.

Seth Spicer (Corning-Painted Post) took fourth in the 110-meter hurdles with a time of 15.71 and eighth in the discus throw with a distance of 37.81 meters. Between Spicer's performance on Saturday and his win of the decathlon on Sunday and Monday, he was named the Men's Field Athlete of the Meet.

The Saxons will next look to get more qualifiers into the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference (ECAC) Championship meet with the Last Chance Meet at St. John Fisher College on Saturday, May 13.

Spicer wins state title

Alfred University's men's track and field student-athlete Seth Spicer (Corning-Painted Post) won the New York State Collegiate Track Conference (NYSCTC) Decathlon Championship held May 1 at both Nazareth and St. John Fisher Colleges.

The junior won with a total score of 6,388 points, edging

Ithaca College's Seth Abbott who had 6,272 points. In the final event of the day, the 1,500-meter run, Spicer had to stay within a minute of Abbott in order to hold onto the lead for the win. Abbott, through near two inches of rain on the track and more coming down, ran a 4:33.18. Spicer ran a 4:44.00 to earn 655 points and to claim the title.

Spicer's biggest boost to his total score on day two of the NYSCTC meet was the first event of the day, the 110-meter hurdles where he won the event with a time of 15.71 and a score of 747 points. He followed that event with another top finish in the discus throw when he scored 567 points off a throw of 35.15 meters (115'-4").

Spicer then earned 535 points in the pole vault with a height of 3.70 meters (12'-1.5") and 397 points from his javelin throw with a distance of 36.89 meters (121').

During the indoor season, Spicer won the NYSCTC Heptathlon Championship at St. Lawrence University with a facility record of 4,859 points. Monday's finish earned him the sweep of the 2016-17 NYSCTC Multi Championships.

Spicer's previously set school record of 6,471 points during the Mondschein Multis at Kutztown University still has him at #7 in the national rankings.

HITS AND MISSES:

Six NYS Division III men's lacrosse programs have made the NCAA tournament with surprising Nazareth College representing the E8 conference after they knocked off Ithaca and Stevens, #2 and #1 in the league, and both with away game wins to grab the automatic berth. The Golden Flyers knocked off Longman's Bombers, 14-13 in overtime and then Stevens by a 11-10 tally, also in overtime. Ithaca had beaten Nazareth in Rochester on April 8th, 13-8 in regular season action. Ouch. Also making the tourney were RIT and St. Lawrence from the Liberty League, Cortland and Plattsburgh from the SUN-YAC's and Morrisville from the NEAC.

The NCAA men's lax tourney brackets, which are "regionalized" for the most part (hate that), have RIT and Cortland potentially meeting in a quarter-final contest and both teams are ranked in the top four of the latest USILA poll. Bates and Tufts are bracketed together down below the two NYS schools. Defending champ Salisbury appears to have a relatively easier stretch of games to make it back to the "Final Four" and maybe with another championship chance. RIT/Cortland and Salisbury would be a semi-final game if that all works out. RIT would have to beat Cortland, Salisbury and Bates (for example) to win it all. Think they are ranked #4-2-1. Yikes. Strictly a guess ... RIT wins it all.

In the NCAA women's lacrosse tournament it'll be: SJ Fisher and Ithaca from the E8 making it as the Cardinals won the conference championship over the Bombers in Ithaca. William Smith, Morrisville, Cortland and Brockport plus Hamilton are also in the field. The winner? ... Messiah College.

The Monroe CC women's lacrosse team in Rochester won their third-straight Region III title by beating Onondaga CC and will head to the NJCAA national tourney this weekend in Maryland. The Tribunes are the four-time defending champs.

Coach Skip Sherman (A-A) and his Genesee CC Cougars baseball team is at 26-16 overall and (21-6) in regional action as they have games this week versus FLCC and NCCC.

Coach Tim Mead (Andover) and his Walsh Cavs baseball team in Ohio have a solid (32-16) mark as they enter GLIAC tournament play this week versus Tiffin. The Cavs went 19-11 in league action.

Three WNY schools will host Division III championships in the next few years beginning with Buffalo State in 2019 for the hockey "Frozen Four." SJ Fisher will have the 2020 track & field championships while Nazareth will host the 2021 volleyball contests.

Turning to MLB and wondering (again) why the schedule makers put the classic New York Yankees at Wrigley Field series against the Chicago Cubs in early May? Like the Cards-Yanks, the Yanks-Cubbies should've been a premier summer weekend series!

Joe Girardi at Wrigley Field game as "Wild Bill" heads off to city #15 for MLB ballparks. He has been to stadiums with Bob-John-Ryan, at various times, in: Boston, Mark Vinci, a friend of mine who owns Rubinos in Webster, was at the Saturday-Sunday games in chilly Wrigley Field as the Yanks swept the defending World Series champs. Guess not really that good a "friend" as he didn't invite me! Sent me a photo of Joe Girardi up close though.

The New York Yankees will retire (yet another) uniform number this Sunday as #2 ... Derek Jeter will be honored in an ESPN nite game. How about 1:00 pm Saturday afternoon instead?

Bill and Tyler Baker will be off to St. Louis this summer to see a Cardinals

ALFRED UNIVERSITY ENTRY

Alfred University's baja racer held its own in a crowded field of nearly 100 racers.

Baja racer captures 25th place for Alfred's best finish ever

ALFRED—Alfred University's Baja racer more than held its own in a field crowded with much-larger schools and engineering programs, finishing 25th in a field nearly 100 teams from colleges and universities around the world. It was Alfred's best finish since it began entering the competition, sponsored by the Society of Automotive Engineers.

As Jacob Tatlock wrote about his experience:

"The SAE Baja competition consists of 4 days of various events. On the first day of competition I only had to go to an engine check. This was quick and easy once the team and I had gotten the car reassembled after transportation.

"On the second day, we had to go through technical inspection, which is known to be the most stressful part of any SAE event. On our first attempt through technical inspection, one of the judges did not approve of some of the members of our frame. In order to fix these issues, the team and I had to come up with a plan to accommodate the inspector's requests in a very quick time frame.

"The fix required cutting out old frame members as well as welding in new frame members. This experience alone at competition showed me how you can be faced with difficult challenges with very tight time frames, but if you work as a team can overcome those issues with ease.

"After the changes were made to the frame, we breezed through technical inspection the next morning. Once we were passed technical inspection, it was time to race. The next two days consisted of many different dynamic events. All and all, after the four days of competition, our team came in 25th overall out of roughly 100 teams from around the world (Alfred's best finish in history).

The crew that went to competition included: Jake Tatlock, Ben Kline, Kyle Knotowicz, Cam Martineau, Austin Enders, Zach Zgardzinski, Caryl Koch, Connor Mann, Yash Parmar and Gunner Brennan. Captains were Tatlock, Kline, Knotowicz, Martineau, Enders and Zgardzinski.

NYC - Yanks, Toronto, Baltimore, Washington, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Detroit, Milwaukee, Kansas City, Chicago - Cubs, Miami and next to Busch Stadium.

The Miami Marlins, with manager Don Mattingly at the helm, have recalled RHP Odrisamer Despaigne from New Orleans of the PCL. Why is New Orleans in the Pacific Coast League?

Former NYC basketball court legend, James "Fly" Williams was arrested last week on charges of distributing ... allegedly, of course ... heroin. The 65-year old had a brief stint in the old ABA days with the Spirit of St. Louis. Williams, World B. Free, Connie Hawkins, Earl "The Goat" Manigault and a few others were legends on the NYC play grounds. Manigault was brother, Steve's favorite city player back in the day.

A rumored NBA trade has J.J. Redick (Duke), Austin Rivers (Duke) ... and son of coach Doc, plus Wesley Johnson from Syracuse going from the LA Clippers to the NY Knicks for Carmelo Anthony. Great move for the Knicks if this happens!

The NBA playoffs are "almost" at the conference finals stage, as if that matters, as it'll be Golden State and Cleveland meeting soon for the NBA title, part III. Just don't see anyone stopping either.

Watched some of the Champions Tour of golf on the tube over the "lovely" weekend past and John Daly grabs his first trophy on the 50+ tour. Big John ... is big! Tuned in to see Fred Couples but he unable to make a Sunday charge. Jeff Sluman and Joey Sindelar in the field from windy Texas. Saw some info on Daly I never knew as he was part of a three-man team in 1993 that won the old Dunhill Cup championship along with Couples and the late Payne Stewart.

Saw some of the regular PGA Tour action as well as Dustin Johnson returned to action, finishing T2 in the Wells Fargo tourney. With The Players on tap this weekend all the big guns should be there: DJ, Rory, Jordan Spieth, Jason Day, Rickie Fowler, Adam Scott, probably Sergio, Justin Rose, Jon Rahm and many more. Love to see a Johnson-

Spieth dual down-the-stretch.

The Kentucky Derby was this past weekend and my pick was Classic Empire who finished fourth. Picked him before seeing entire field and just for the Empire State! Would've picked Girvin to Show, in the #3 spot, where Lyle Cook always batted for us on our Bandits tourney team and the Jokers Wild softball squad based out of Brockport.

Austin Carr ... not the former NBA player from Notre Dame, but the undrafted WR from Northwestern was inked to a free agent deal with the New England Patriots. Watch him pan out with Tom Brady as his signal-caller.

Of all the firings recently at ESPN, the canning of Sara Walsh might have been the worst. She was just off maternity leave having twins. She flew to Connecticut for work from Florida with the twins. She reports to work and promptly gets released. Nice job, ESPN. Couldn't of saved her the trip up from Florida? Her husband is a minor league pitcher and think he just got let go by the Arizona Diamondbacks.

Sure this "nice" weather is playing havoc with local high school baseball and softball schedules. Think the Rochester Red Wings (Twins) in "AAA" baseball play have had about 10 postponements or shifted games already.

As the current television "season" comes to a close, my favorite new show of the year was Designated Survivor (ABC). Tough not to like with Jack Bauer as your President! Next in line: Taken, Blindspot and Timeless. Old, all-time top three favorite, NCIS just not the same without Ziva and Tony characters on the show now.

Spotted a few NYS vanity plates of late: GOLFBETS ... Scummer topping Frank again, SUPERKID ... me (the early years) and AWSM MOM ... Happy Mothers Day in Florida !!

Not much going on this weekend, after my work week over with new "career" at Enterprise rentals. Yes, Nelson Snyder ... back to work! Watching some PGA golf, the Yanks, trying to get Smitty out on the links and figuring out where daughter, Lauren is traveling to this weekend.
