

ELECTION OF STUDENT SENATORS

Banks '22, Glaspey '22, Walker '22, Feig '23 and Campbell '23 Assume 1921-22 Responsibility

A POPULAR AND REPRESENTATIVE STUDENT GOVERNING BODY

At the annual election of Student Senators held last Wednesday morning Stanley Banks, Margaret Glaspy, and Thomas Walker were chosen to represent the present Junior class and Robert Campbell and Chester A. Feig were elected to represent the class of '23. They will take office at the beginning of the school year 1921-1922.

Banks came to Alfred five years ago, was graduated with the class of '18, from the State School of Agriculture, and returned in the fall of 1918 to enter the S. A. T. C. When that organization disbanded, he remained here to continue his college course. "Kid" Banks is a firm believer in athletics having played on the Varsity teams in football basketball, and baseball. His light weight is offset by his speed on the gridiron and Banks shows promise of holding a regular position on the football squad of next year. As a forward in basketball Banks has no near rivals. He is a star cager, a fast player, and a slippery opponent. Besides holding up firmly, his end of athletics, Banks also "pulls down" good marks as a student. With Banks on the Senate everyone may expect fair-mindedness and clear judgment.

"Bobbie" Glaspey is one of those quiet girls who never fails to do her part either in the classroom or in her class. She has been active in class athletics, having nobly represented her class in track, girls' basketball, and other sports. Everyone finds in "Bobbie" a sincere worker, a fair-minded representative wherever she is placed, and a conscientious student. The girls have recently shown their con-

DELTA SIGS HOLD INFORMAL DANCING PARTY

Seventeen Guests Enjoy Hospitality of Alpha Zeta Chapter

Saturday evening, after the movies, an informal dancing party was held at the Delta Sig house. With the "Vic" furnishing the music an enjoyable time was had by all until 11 o'clock. Light refreshments were then served. The guests present were Coach Wesbecher, Mr. Volk, Mr. Anderson and the Misses Bleiman, V. Randolph, Baldwin, Cottrell, Wise, Burt, Dougherty, Allen, Moore, S. Randolph, O'Brien, Teal, Langworthy, and Merrill.

STUDENT SENATE

The twenty-fourth meeting of the Student Senate was called to order May 13, 1921, by the President. The Frosh-Soph baseball game was placed on the calendar for Friday afternoon, May 20th. A joint meeting of the old and new Senates was called for Tuesday, the 17th, at 5 P. M.

OLD FIELD HOUSE UNDERGOING EXTENSIVE REPAIRS

Athletic Field Facilities Hitherto Inappropriate—New Building Suitable For Football Men

The Athletic Field House, a structure which has been allowed to deteriorate for several years, is now in the process of rehabilitation. The building is to be moved some distance to the south of the present site, and placed upon a concrete foundation. The work is going on under the supervision of Harry Green and Coach Wesbecher.

The Field House, when completed, will provide adequate quarters for the storage of athletic goods, and suitable dressing rooms for the men. A new structure of approximately the same size as the present building will be appended, and this will afford added facilities for football men.

A great deal has been done for athletics at Alfred this year due to the whole-hearted interest taken by Coach Wesbecher. The creation of a first-class field house after the remodeling of the gymnasium last winter, shows active co-operation on the part of University authorities. Athletics are on a rising plane here and everything possible is being done to make next year the biggest in Alfred's history.

STOCK JUDGING CONTEST

The Eighth Annual Stock Judging Contest held by the Alfred Agricultural School in connection with the Annual Track Meet is proving of great interest to the schools of this section. The ten schools that have entered teams for this contest are: Addison, Belfast, Belmont, Cherry Creek, Castile, Canisteo, Dansville, Hammondsport, Haverling, Horsehead. The contest is under the management of Prof. Nelson. The contest will begin at 10:00 A. M. at the Agricultural State Barns.

"HOME-COMING" PERFORMANCE OF VARSITY GLEE CLUB BIG ATTRACTION

Director Wingate's Protoges Display Much Talent—One of Best Organizations Alfred Has Seen

AN ENTERTAINMENT OF REAL MERIT

The annual home concert of Alfred's Glee Club, which Prof. Wingate and his student songsters gave at Firemens Hall last Thursday night, compared very well with any concert ever heard here. Many of the students, by failing to attend, made a deplorable mistake which should not be repeated in future years. The audience, although small, was enthusiastic in its appreciation of the part songs, readings, duet and violin solos, which constituted the program.

Among the features of the evening were the violin solos, expertly rendered by "Benny" Volk, readings by Edward Teal and Irvin Conroe, and a

ST. BONAVENTURE TO CLASH WITH PURPLE ON CINDERS

Brown and White Athletes Compete Here on May 27th

ATHLETIC RELATIONSHIPS RESUMED AFTER FIVE YEAR RESpite

The brown and white of St. Bona will again clash with the purple and gold. After a five year athletic recess, the two colleges have decided to resume athletic relationships with a dual track meet at Alfred on May 27th.

The events which will be contested are as follows: 100 yd. dash, 220 yd. dash, 440 yd. dash, 880 yd. run, mile run, two mile run, pole vault, high jump, broad jump, discus throw, shot put and 220 yd. hurdles.

St. Bonaventure men will come to Alfred by special train, and practically the entire student body of the Allegany institution will be present. There has always been a great spirit of rivalry between the two colleges, and the coming meet is being considered with a great deal of interest.

Alfred field and cinder men are working hard to condition themselves for the Bona. meet. A large number of candidates have been presenting themselves regularly at the athletic field, and the men have all profited by the experience of the Geneva meet a week ago.

There will be three entries in each event, although but two places will count. Practically every athlete who has been demonstrating ability will have an opportunity to participate. The slogan is, "Beat St. Bonaventure."

SPEAKING CONTESTS

Although the track meet is the principal feature of the Interscholastic Carnival this year, the speaking contests hold their place as an important annual event for the schools of this section. The girls' contest is to be held at the church at 7.30 tonight, and the male orators will contend for honors tomorrow evening at 7 sharp.

INTERSCHOLASTIC MEET BIGGEST SCHOOL BOY EVENT IN NEW YORK STATE THIS YEAR

259 Men Representing 28 Institutions Compete on Alfred Field Tomorrow

LARGE ENTRY LIST IN PRIZE SPEAKING AND STOCK JUDGING CONTEST-10 SCHOOLS IN FORMER

Final plans for Alfred's big field day have all been laid by Manager Holley. The field and track have both been put in fine shape for the meet. All that is now necessary to make the meet the record-breaker, in all respects, is fair weather tomorrow.

Entries closed with the blanks of 259 men received, representing twenty-eight schools of this section. This is the largest number of men and schools ever entered in the Annual Interscholastic Meet, exceeding the record of last year by 64 men and four schools. The schools to fight for the championship of Western New York and Pennsylvania tomorrow are: Alfred, Attica, Addison, Avoca, Belfast, Belmont, Bolivar, Binghamton, Bradford, Bath (Haverling), Batavia, Technical (Buffalo), Castile, Corning Free Academy, Cattaraugus, Canisteo, Dansville, Ellicottville, Galetton, Griffith Institute, Hammondsport, Honeoye Falls, Hornell, Newark, Rochester West High, Salamanca, Wellsville, Wayland.

The good weather conditions prevailing it is expected that some of the records of previous years will go by the boards. The records of previous meets are:

100 yard dash—10 sec., Voorhees, Alfred, 1911.
220 yard dash—21 2-5 sec., Johnson, Olean, 1912
440 yard dash—54 1-5 sec., Johnson, Olean, 1912

Field Judges—Banks, Stryker, Ford, Boyd

Marshalls—Frank Sisson, Leon Sisson, Harry Greene
Reporters—N. Ford, A. Dickinson
If for any reason any of the above officials are unable to act please notify Manager Holley at once.

The Preliminaries will begin at 10:00 A. M. The Cross Country Run and the finals in the Hammer Throw will also take place in the morning. The finals of all other events will begin at 2 P. M.

FITTING TERMINATION OF 1921 THEATRICAL "RENAISSANCE" AT ALFRED

Agora to Produce Alcestis of Euripides in Open Air Performance June 11th

SPECIALLY SELECTED CAST FROM ALFRED'S HISTORIC STUDENTS

The Agora is making all preparations for an exceptionally fine outdoor presentation of the Alcestis of Euripides at Commencement time. The Alcestis is a more difficult play than the Hippolytus which was given last spring, but with the encouragement of Alfred's increased interest in drama, and an early start on their side, the promoters of the project are confident of success. The date of the event is set at Saturday evening, June 11th, and already the cast is hard at work on its lines, and the chorus rehearsing its odes for which special music is to be composed. In addition, costumes, scenery and lighting have been planned which will suit the spirit of this wonderful play.

It really is a wonderful play, and in the rhythmic version of Sir Gilbert Murray so universal that it never fails to make its appeal to any sincere audience despite the fact that it was originally written for a Greek audience four centuries before Christ. The plot is of the simplest—Merely the story of Alcestis who so loved her husband, Admetus, that she gave her

PROF. BENNEHOFF PROPOUNDS
NEW AND UNUSUAL THEORY
Natural Science Head Discusses Pre-natal Influence

The earlier theorists held that organs evolve, but the principle soon received a wider application and education—a mental process was thought to be evolutionary, till finally religious thinkers saw in the development of the soul only a form of evolving nature.

Genetics can not be clearly comprehended without a careful study of the evolution of reproduction, a process that is dependent upon ecology in any environment. Many fail to see the stages in this process. In fact they can be readily surveyed in principle, and produce exact thinking.

Reproduction is a process. At first essential cells only are involved. The eggs and sperms fuse directly in the ocean water and a new organism is formed, after a short developmental history. They are coated with gelatinous layers and through numbers alone are sure of reaching maturity. During the silurian and similar ages Marine environment kept the reproductive activity of animals a simple process.

In the next geological age islands had risen from beneath the sea. Marine animals sought to escape their enemies of the sea by invading the new environment. Each fauna however, returned at first to produce, and pass its infancy or larval condition in the sea. The cloaca secreted the gelatinous coating about the eggs.

Some more plastic species began to change their reproduction in response to atmospheric dessication and a lime coating replaced the gelatinous layers. The cloaca produced the lime secreting substance of the egg shell, and the organs for reception and fusion of the sex cells developed. Incubation was unknown, as the heat of the sun on the sand was enough for hatching.

Some animals became warm blooded, and incubation became possible. One family developed to bird-like habits, nests and suitable situations for incubation were selected. But the animal like forms so prophetic of our four footed mammals of today began to develop. They too became warm-blooded and the incubation process was adopted. Monotremes hid their eggs in a nest in the burrow, incubated them, and after hatching suckled the young. These forms still exist. That process is still the fundamental form of Mammalian reproduction, 1 egg, 2 incubation, 3 hatching, 4 suckling the young.

The Tertiary age saw the advent of the marsupial, representative animals still living in Australia, with a higher form of reproduction. The egg still produced in the regular way had lost the lime coating about it, the cloaca produced a side fold in it, in which the eggs underwent incubation. The eggs hatched and were discharged from the cloaca while in a very simple condition. An adult Kangaroo is seven feet high, and yet the egg when hatched, the keeper would say, "the kangaroo when born" is so small that he can drop into the sewing thimble. After hatching if there is no accident the small embryo is placed in the pouch of its mother to undergo seven months of growth. The nose of the embryo has a small glandular development by which it grows fast to the nipple of its mother. The animal is really born in a more accurate sense after the period of growth. The stages represented are: 1 egg, 2 incubations, 3 hatching, 4 suckling and growth within the maternal pouch, and 5 birth.

The human in which the process culminates should show the same landmarks of development as these lower forms. In reality we have these points clearly defined, only, in a failure to apply the general evolutionary principles we, many of us, fail to get the real understanding of the process. Review.

1 egg, 2 incubation, 3 hatching, 4 growth within the maternal body, 5 birth.

1. The human egg undergoes a developmental stage by which a single cell grows to the complexity of a human organism. 2. This is within the maternal body where incubation is uninterrupted. 3. The period of hatching at which time the embryo has acquired its human organization, and that process called implantation causes the nutritional relationships to be established with the mother's system. If there is any organic insufficiency of the embryo at this time we have what surgeons call miscarriage, so that this period can be established. 4. Implantation and growth. During which period the maternal system is providing nutrition and environment, 5 birth.

The practical application of this recognition closely bears upon heredity. What that embryo has in it by way of heredity alone, will be expressed in the foetus at the time of implantation.

After implanation we should expect every nutritional factor of the maternal sytem to play an important role. Slowly but with unerring precision science will solve this problem. Hormones and chemical composition food supply must be carefully investigated.

Throwing aside all prudishness and sentiment,—prenatilisim may soon become the true ground for an understanding of our human heredity, provided it be based upon a sane and rational basis of human embryological development. JAS. D. BENNEHOFF.

 The University of Detroit tennis team triumphed over the Alfred racquet men in the initial tournament of the season, played on the University campus yesterday afternoon, winning three straight matches.

The Detroit men were both finished players, and showed that they were schooled in the art of the court. The Alfred men played hard but were no match for their accomplished opponents. Liu and Smith represented the purple and gold in the doubles, while Liu and Drummond were men selected for the singles. Much credit must go to Liu for his hard and consistent work.

Devine and Gross were star performers. They exhibited real class at the net game. Devine was middle states champion last year, and his work in the Detroit-Alfred tournament plainly shows that he has lost none of his ability.

The Alfred men were outclassed, but they put up a stubborn, determined fight, and with more practice will develop into a formidable court combination. Smith, last year's tennis tournament champion, was plainly out of form, and did not demonstrate his old time snap.

The next tournament on the Varsity schedule will be with Colgate at Hamilton. Between now and the date of that match purple contenders are determined to condition themselves into real competitive form. The summary of yesterday's matches:

Doubles—
Smith-Liu, Alfred. vs. Gross-Devine, Detroit.
Won in straight sets by Detroit; Scores: 6-1; 6-4.
Singles—
Liu, Alfred vs. Devine, Detroit.
Won in straight sets by Detroit; Scores: 6-4; 6-3.
Drummond, Alfred vs. Gross, Detroit.
Won in straight sets by Detroit; Scores: 6-3; 6-2.

VALUABLE HINTS TO THE FROSH FOR INTERSCHOLASTIC DAY
 Remember you haven't got to run the meet. Officials have been appointed. All you have to do is to act on their suggestions.

Remember that over 250 men must be eliminated in 13 events during the day. Therefore move fast.

Don't wear those white trousers. It isn't being done at the best of beaches this summer and incidentally you might soil them while handling hurdles, rakes, picks, limepails, etc.

Don't be afraid of bunching up when you hear a yell for Frosh.

Don't be too attentive to the young ladies. They can keep out of the way of the hammer.

Keep away from the sidehill. There is no politician's job for the Frosh.

Save your hard luck stories. Every one knows you are the only Frosh that has been working.

Be on the field and don't be so modest you can't be found.

On the contrary remember above all that you are not on exhibition. You are not doing any vaudeville sketch.

Summing up: obey orders, don't argue, move fast, be prompt, and be courteous. Make believe you want to do it, at least.

Due to the fact that student elections were held at the assembly period last Wednesday morning, there was no faculty address. The Interscholastic meet tomorrow will prevent convening at scheduled time this week.

The first annual yearbook of the Eta Phi Gamma fraternity is soon to issue from the presses. The publication of this fraternity annual bids fair to establish a precedent here, and will enable the organization to keep in more intimate touch with its alumni.

The third term is rapidly drawing toward a close, and before most students realize it, another class will have been graduated, another successful collegiate year completed. The past days have been speeding along rapidly, and those that remain will go equally as fast. Now is the time for a little introspection before finals. They're coming in the course of four weeks.

The pleasing concert given by the Glee Club at Firemens Hall last Thursday evening was much enjoyed by those in attendance. Director Wingate is to be congratulated on the splendid showing of the club, one of the best which has represented Alfred in some years. Since a majority of the Glee Club are underclassmen, what may we well expect another season?

The Beaver Falls daily had this to say about the treatment received by the Geneva track team here last week: "Graduate Manager Glover and the Geneva team are much gratified over the royal manner in which Alfred University entertained them, and proved themselves the best of hosts, taking defeat in a most sportsmanlike manner." It is with a feeling of pride that these testimonials are received, and it gives to each individual student an innate sense of real loyalty. It is hard to lose, of course, but the one thing better than winning is to take defeat in a sportsmanlike manner. Defeat at the hands of the powerful Geneva team was certainly no disgrace, and only serves to stir enthusiasm and plans for future supremacy.

While the result of the tennis tournament with University of Detroit, staged at the University courts yesterday afternoon, occupies space in another section of this issue, it might be well to comment briefly upon the schedule of the Detroit team, one of the best that has been arranged by any organization of Intercollegiate tennis this season. On May 12th, University of Minnesota was played at Detroit, while on May 13th, the strong Oklahoma net men were engaged.

After competing here yesterday afternoon, the Detroit men departed for Colgate where today they meet the Maroon athletes. Holy Cross, Worcester Poly, Williams, and Trinity are other colleges to be met upon the eastern trip. Wabash and Leland Stanford will be played at Detroit later in the season. In this way, representative teams throughout several sections of the United States will be pitted against the Detroit organization.

The Interscholastic meet, which will be run off tomorrow at the athletic field, is to be the largest event of its kind held in New York state this year. All roads will lead to Alfred from surrounding towns, and even from places more remote. It is up to the students of Alfred to welcome the incoming throng, and to show them something of the spirit and the hospitality of our institution.

The competing athletes will be entertained at the fraternity houses, and in various private dwellings of the village. Many of the citizens of Alfred will throw open their doors upon Interscholastic Day to admit representatives of New York and Pennsylvania high schools, some of whom may later matriculate here.

There will also be a large number of alumni and visitors to grace the Alfred campus. It will be a big day for this village, and everyone will be rushed. A cool head will go a long distance toward bringing everything to a successful conclusion.

Interfraternity baseball, which has assumed the proportions of a dead issue, will be revived again after the Interscholastic Meet. Each team has three more games to play, but whether they will complete their schedules, is uncertain. If the Delta Sigs win the next game from the Eta Phi, the season is over, and the championship won. If, however, the Eta Phi men are victorious, another game must be played between the contending nines. Of course, either Burdick Hall or Klan Alpine may defeat the Delta Sig or Ete Phi, and in that case the situation will change somewhat. It is generally conceded, however, that the struggle lies between the first named clubs.

A letter from Prin. William Buck of the Newark schools in which he expressed his appreciation of the hospitality extended by the fraternities of Alfred to the members of the Newark Senior class, here on a visit two weeks ago, stated that six of the men will be in Alfred next fall. Mr. Buck is to be congratulated on the excellent spirit of loyalty which he has always shown to his Alma Mater.

There seems to be an epidemic of half mile races of late, and nearly every afternoon finds the challenged and challengers on the field. The most thrilling race thus far was a dead heat between Stearns and Walker, which was finished in the marvelous time of 3:33. "Al" Bogart, in a previous race, smashed the novice record, negotiating the distance in 3:28.

The dual meet with St. Bonaventure to be held at Alfred Field on Friday afternoon, May 27th, marks the beginning of a new athletic era between the two colleges. Relationships with St. Bona were severed in 1916 as the result of a football game at Wellsville, in which both parties seemed to find considerable fault with the tactics of the other.

The announcement of the dual meet with Bonaventure has caused some comment about the campus. Most students are in favor of the move, but there are some, of course, who are a bit doubtful as to its expediency. However, both for the promotion of track athletics in Alfred, and for the inauguration of a logical relationship with a college which is naturally a close rival, the meet is an excellent proposition.

Track activities here, aside from the Interscholastic and the annual interclass affairs, have been superceded by baseball for some years. In a college of the size of Alfred, it is indeed hard to run both baseball and track in the spring term, a period of the year when so many other activities demand the attention of the student body. This year track has assumed paramount importance, and baseball relegated to the sphere of Interfraternity, and interclass games. In many ways, it has been a wise move, and the possibilities are that the same plans may be carried out another season.

President Davis and Dean Titsworth have recently been in New York in attendance at the conference of educational agencies at Garden City.

Professor and Mrs. Clawson and Miss Susan Langworthy have been in Andover attending the meeting of the district library association.

Miss Beulah Newton of Hamilton, N. Y., was the guest of Miss Marian Campbell over the week-end.

Fredora Moore entertained over the week-end Miss Alma Wise of New York City. Miss Wise is to enter the Freshman class next year.

A party of college people recently went to Portage and made a visit to the home of Miss Edna Eustace.

IS IT FAIR?
Justice:—(jus'tis), n. the quality of being just, rectitude in dealing with others; impartiality.

Many students in Alfred University, and especially the students who make our athletic teams, contend that "the quality of being just," is sadly lacking in one instance. That instance is the giving of college credits to members of the Glee Club and not to members of athletic teams.

What does a fellow give up of his college life, of his time, of his strength and of what not, in order to make the Glee Club? Our songster gives up two hours a week; sometimes one. After a length of time, the club is perfected, a program is made out and the Alfred University Glee Club starts out to entertain the folks in any number of towns in New York State, or the State of New Jersey, but, how much of its time does it give to the students in the University,—how much time does it spend in Alfred? Oh yes, the students of the College will gladly dig down in their pockets for a hundred dollars to hear their own Glee Club sing at one performance in Fireman's Hall. The Club returns from its three weeks tour, every member is handed two college credits and the Alfred University Glee Club disbands for another year.

That season of the year known as Fall is at hand. College is due to open in two weeks. Some are curious to see what their college town looks like two weeks before its opening, so they wander back to Alfred and find to their great surprise that, already about forty, red-blooded, true blue men of Alfred have come on before them. The warriors of the chalked field go by them on a dog-trot, as the early comer wanders up the main street, because the pig-skin chasers are going down to the foot ball field and are already a few minutes late for practice. College opens and all are plunged into school work, even to the foot ball men, many of whom make high grades.

The snow flies, the cold is piercing, the ground is frozen hard, and the wind cuts like a knife, but the warrior of the gridiron never misses a practice. He tackles with all his might and main a hard, frozen dummy. He rolls on the cold muddy ground after a wet, slippery ball. He fights day in and day out to win glory for his Alma Mater on the gridiron. Why? He wants her, his Alma Mater, to rank with the best school ever made, in athletics. He comes out of a gridiron battle scarred and bleeding, but happy in the thought that Alfred University, his college, his present home, his pride and joy, his Alma Mater, has been victorious. The spectators on the side lines cheer themselves hoarse, but what does the poor, battered, lame and crippled foot ball player get out of it? Does he get any college credits? No. Then do you think that justice has been given fair play?

FITTING TERMINATION OF 1921 THEATRICAL "RENAISSANCE" AT ALFRED

very life for his sake, but countless generations of audiences in all lands have rejoiced in the climax when Hercules in his might wrests Alcestis from death, and restores her to life and to Admetus.

The Alcestis has, in addition to its unquestionable appeal as a great play, a peculiar interest for all students of drama for it is the only extant example of that style of composition called Satyr drama, the characteristics of which critics and scholars are still actively debating. Weather permitting, the play will be given in front of Alumni Hall on Saturday evening, June 11th.

1922 STUDENT SENATORS

fidence in her by making her president of the Brick for the coming year. There can be no doubt as to Margaret's efficiency and capability. The student body has made a wise choice in electing her student senator.

"Tommie" Walker is another of those fellows who do not generally have a lot to say but always accomplish much. As business manager of the 1922 Kanakadea, he proved his efficiency in handling responsibility. His is a nature which knows no "slumping" in work, in play, or in business. He is sure to give his best to the student body as one of its executives.

As a live wire, as an athlete, and as a business man, "Bob" Campbell needs no introduction. He, too, is one of those fellows who does not say much unless he has something to say. He held a regular position on the Varsity football team for the past two seasons, was a member of Varsity basketball squad this past season, and will doubtless continue to do his part in athletics so long as he stays in Alfred. "Bob's" classmates are confident in his ability to lead them and represent them as student senator. The student body will find in him the right man for the responsibility recently placed upon him.

Though Feig has been in Alfred but two terms, his personality, high scholarship, and general disposition have made him a general favorite among the members of the student body. His interest in Alfred, in her activities, and in her student life is a fine example of spirit, sportmanship, and fair play. Among his fellow classmates and students he stands out for his mature judgment and keen sense of responsibility. In him the college will find a capable executive and a loyal leader.

The student body are fortunate in having chosen such an able corps of representatives to guide and direct the social and scholastic activities of old A. U. for the year 1921-1922.

PINAFORE
On Thursday evening, May 19, the University chorus, soloists and orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Ray W. Wingate, will present the best of comic operas, Gilbert and Sullivan's "Pinafore." This musical production is expected to be one of the best treats Alfred has ever had.

Its excellent presentation is assured by the selection of soloists. The cast is as follows:
Sir Joseph Porter, K. C. B., Prin. Harry Eaton
Captain Corcoran, Prof. F. S. Place
Ralph Rackstraw, Charles Stamm
Dick Deadeye, Carlos Camenga
Bill Bobstay, Prof. Geo. Robinson
Bob Becket, Max Jordan
Tom Tucker, Clyde Dwight
Josephene, Bernadine Dougherty
Hebe, Elmina Camenga
Little Buttercup, Florence Bowden

The story of Pinafore is so generally known that it is like repeating tale to outline the plot. The rise of the curtain shows the deck of His Majesty's Ship Pinafore. The captain is in a mournful mood because his daughter does not favor his plan to marry her to Sir Joseph Porter, and confesses that she loves an ordinary sailor.

In the second act Little Buttercup naively reveals her affection for the captain, but he tells her he can only be her friend. This angers her, and she prophesies a change in his fortunes. Sir Joseph enters and complains to the captain that Josephene has disappointed him. Corcoran then tells him his daughter is probably dazzled by the exalted station of the sutor, and suggests that he plead his cause on the ground that love levels all rank.

JOINT MEETING OF ASSOCIATIONS
When the Y. M. and Y. W. gathered at the Gothic last Sunday evening for a joint meeting, the Associations seemed to be well-supplied with enthusiasm, although small in numbers. Short talks boosting the Silver Bay Conferences, given by Margaret Neuweisinger '21, and Robert Clark '22, constituted the program.

Fred Gorab, after leading the devotional service, announced a solo by Florence Bowden, the Y. W. president. Miss Bowden's singing was clear and sweet. Miss Neuweisinger followed with a talk on "The Why of the Silver Bay Fund." Mr. Clark also pictured the summer conferences of the College Associations as the ideal spot for spending ten pleasant and profitable days.
