Stephen Johnson of Almond, a student at Canisius College, is one of ten students from around the country spending their summer at The University of Virginia in the Blandy Research Experience for Undergraduates (REU) program through the support of the National Science Foundation. Stephen is evaluating the "Enemy Release Hypothesis" by conducting experiments with common native and non-native trees. Good to see he still likes to pause and read his favorite hometown newspaper - the Alfred Sun.

Carnegie Hall project uncovers old library collonades

ALFRED—A renovation of Carnegie Hall, Alfred University's administration building on Main Street, is having some serendipitous results.

The University learned in March that air quality tests done in the 100-year-old building indicated moderate levels of mold existed in a few parts of the building. As a precautionary measure, all employees were temporarily relocated to other offices on the campus to allow for remediation and elimination of mold and any asbestos materials that might be disturbed during the process of renovating the building.

As the work progressed, the partitions that had been installed when the building was remodeled in the mid-1960s when it was converted from a library to an office building, were removed.

And what was revealed, said Michael Neiderbach, executive director of capital projects for the University, were the colonnades that were a feature of the original library design.

Some of the original library furnishings, including the desk, a plant stand and a few of the tables, are now in the University archives, said Laurie McFadden '91, University archivist.

"We are fortunate because they were not removed, just covered up," said Neiderbach. Only one appears to be damaged, and it can be restored. The colonnades, along with the original glass transom windows, are "historic architectural details" that will be included in the restoration plans for the building.

"We no longer have the original plans," said Neiderbach, but there are some interior photos taken before the renovation that will serve as a guide for the restoration, he said. Architectural plans for the work will be developed once the building has been gutted.

While the historic details will be restored, other less-than-desirable features of the building — like the antiquated heating and ventilating system — will be replaced with heat pumps that will allow occupants to control the temperature in each room individually.

"It's flexible, and highly efficient," said Neiderbach, who estimates that heating and cooling costs for the building can be reduced by at least 40 percent.

The building will also be made more accessible with the installation of an elevator.

The ground floor of the building houses Business and Finance offices, including those of the controller and the vice president, and the second floor contains the offices of President Charles M. Edmondson and Provost W. Richard Stephens.

The third floor has been vacant, and will contain the mechanical systems for the building, rather than additional office space, once the restoration is complete.

The project is expected to take at least six months to complete.

A 1922 photo from the Alfred University archives shows librarian Cortez Clawson at the main desk. As workers prepare for a renovation of Carnegie Administration Building, they uncovered some of the original architectural features that had remained hidden for more than 50 years.

Has Hot Dog Day outgrown its usefulness in Alfred?

By DAVID L. SNYDER

Editor, Publisher and Janitor

ALFRED—Has Hot Dog Day outgrown its usefulness?

Hot Dog Day was initiated over four decades ago as a means of Alfred University and Alfred State College students "giving back" to the community. It started with an ice cream social, parade and downtown carnival, centered around the "hot dog" that raised funds for selected charities in the community.

A.E. Crandall Hook and Ladder Fire Company and Ambulance Service has been a recipient of those charitable funds over the years. But of late, the ambulance personnel in particular have paid dearly for it.

Crandall Hooks' volunteer fire and ambulance personnel this year logged some 423 hours of service during Hot Dog Day weekend, responding to 13 ambulance calls while also providing support for six scheduled events. Mutual aid support provided by Almond (3 calls), Andover (2 calls) and Amity (2 calls) totaled more than 100 unduplicated service hours during the weekend.

The 2014 event, according to a report to the Alfred Village Board by Crandall Hooks Chief Zachary Hamm, resulted in 20 medical emergencies. He said that based upon the company's annual ambulance budget and the average number of medical calls, each ambulance call costs $220 for supplies, equipment and maintenance.

"On an average weekend, A.E. Crandall responds to 1-2 ambulance calls overnight, 1 medical emergency within the ambulance district, and 3-4 fire calls, usually residence hall fire alarm activations caused by cooking," Hamm explained, "On Hot Dog Day weekend, this increases to 15-25 ambulance calls (alcohol overdose, mental health emergencies, assaults and medical emergencies) and 2-5 fire calls (cooking alarms, pranks, and intentional fires)."

"Overall, the seriousness of patient condition was increased from previous years," Hamm said.

The 20 ambulance calls also put a strain on the emergency rooms of Jones Memorial Hospital (four beds) in Wellsville and St. James Mercy Hospital (nine beds) in Hornell.

"In addition to the seriousness of calls," Hamm reported, "the general atmosphere of the crowd is rowdier and more violent than on other weekends. We see more violent activity, acts of vandalism, and people walking out in the road and disregarding traffic safety."

Alfred Police Chief Tim O'Grady shared similar sentiments at a recent Village Board meeting, noting that injuries were more severe this year.

He said that there are many young partiers from the region who visit Alfred that weekend and stay in the dorms and student rental apartments.

"All of the police on duty along with the Alfred State College police and Alfred University security staff could not deal effectively with the number of people gathering in the village on this evening, should they coalesce into an unruly crowd," O'Grady said.

O'Grady applauded the efforts of AU Student Activities personnel who arranged for an evening of concerts but added, "Sadly, few students attended."

Village residents have also voiced concerns about Hot Dog Day:

- During the festival itself, there is language and amplified music unsuitable for children

- There are not many games and activities for children as compared to years ago

- A number of residents said the event should not receive village endorsement with street closures

- Village liability needs to be considered

- Concern for the health and safety of emergency personnel was expressed

Trustees on the Alfred Village Board commented:

- There are two Hot Dog Days and one of them is a danger to revelers, community residents and our community reputation alike.

- Appreciation is expressed for the many efforts taken by campus offices and students to make this day fun, orderly and safe for all. Unfortunately, other forces undermine those good efforts.

- Barricades erected by police were not always respected.

- Can we have a conversation about how to make the nighttime and early morning hours safer/saner?

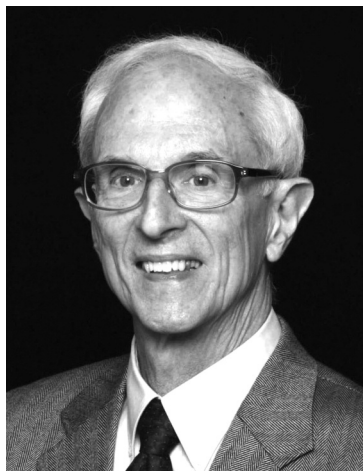

- The idea of a Spring Festival is fine but can Hot Dog Day be refocused and possibly re-named?

- The village is assuming too much risk by granting access to the streets for this event. It has become a draw for "trouble" from the whole region of Western New York!

The future of Hot Dog Day will no doubt continue to be a topic of discussion in the Village of Alfred.

OBITUARIES

Longtime art teacher, studio potter

BRUCE ROBERT GREENE
Hillbottom Pottery owner

ALFRED STATION--Bruce Greene of Alfred Station was born to Kenneth and Thedora Greene of Perry, on September 5, 1939. He died on July 5, 2014 in Wellsville, from the effects of an aggressive brain tumor diagnosed a few months earlier. Bruce is survived by his wife, Susan and his sole sibling, Charles W Greene of Clarence Center.

Well-known for over forty years as the potter-proprietor of Hillbottom Pottery on Main Street in Alfred Station, he is also fondly remembered as the junior and senior high school art instructor at Alfred-Almond Central School from 1971-1995. Upon graduation from Buffalo State College in 1961, Bruce taught elementary art in Corning.

In 1964 he received his MA in Art Education from the University of Illinois. For the next four years Bruce was an elementary art instructor in Oak Park, IL, a Chicago suburb. His last student teacher there, Susan Wiese of Oak Park, walked into his life forever. They married later that year and moved to Alfred where Bruce received his MFA in Ceramic Design at the NYS College of Ceramics at Alfred University in 1971. Bruce took the position at Alfred-Almond, and was joined a year later by his wife who became the elementary art instructor.

Along the way Bruce made pottery sold through Hillbottom Enterprises, which included also a modest antiques business and Susan's short-lived hand weaving business. Upon his retirement from teaching in 1995, potting became his full time occupation. His work was available from select local and regional shops including his own. Hillbottom Pottery also reached the market through craft venues like the Clothesline, Allentown, and Waterfront shows.

From its second year, Bruce was a member of Allegany Artists, a guild of local craftspersons who sold directly from their studios in an annual "tour" event.

After Bruce retired he also taught a summer Elderhostel art class at Alfred University. Later he and a fellow alum campaigned to preserve as much as possible of the original architecture of the historic Steinheim Museum there, during its transformation into the Career Development Center. He helped catalog the Paul Vickers Gardner glass collection.

The Baker's Bridge Historical Association has benefited from his support since its inception in 1976. He enthusiastically contributed to the scholarships awarded annually by the Alfred-Almond Fine Arts Boosters to college-bound arts students.

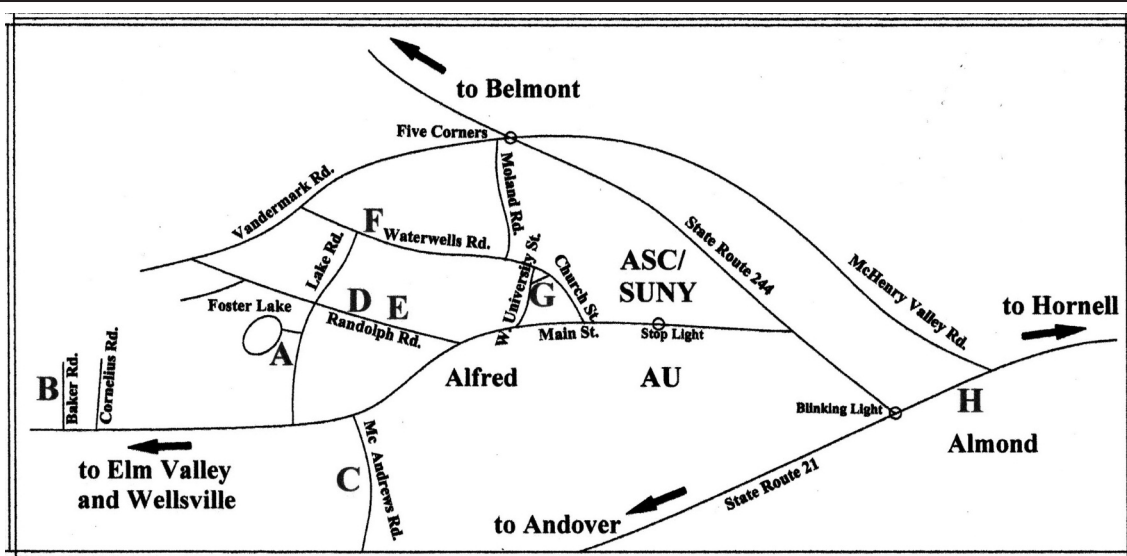

The Greenes had no children but were keen partners in collecting American antiques to furnish their home. That interest branched out into household textiles and most notably, into the specialty of period clothing from about 1780-1880. The costume collection merged their interests in material and cultural history, and became so large that it ultimately went to the Genesee Country Museum & Village at Mumfords, where it is presented as a major primary research resource.

A quiet, peaceable, honest and generous man—always energetically busy—Bruce's influence is enjoyed around the world as someone lifts one of his mugs, pushes flower stalks into an arranger, or switches on a lamp one more time. As professionals, artisans and dabblers, former students have passed on treasured skills and insights they acquired in his classroom. Visitors to the museum marvel at a slice of history made possible by Bruce's eager participation in Susan's later-life focus. Many of us, especially his wife, know we would not have been all we are without his inspiration, encouragement and support.

A memorial service will be held at 11 a.m. Monday, July 14 at the Alfred Station Seventh Day Baptist Church in Alfred Station, followed with a buffet lunch and an open house at Hillbottom Pottery until 1:30 at which Bruce's remaining stock will be offered for sale—all proceeds to go to the Hart Comfort House of Wellsville. In lieu of flowers, please make any contributions to the Hart Comfort House or the Bakers' Bridge Historical Association of Alfred Station.

AU a 'Best Buy' in Fiske Guide again

ALFRED—Once again, Alfred University (AU) has been selected a "Best Buy" by the Fiske Guide to Colleges. The University, which has been included in the publication consistently for more than 15 years, is one of only 21 private, higher education institutions to earn the designation in the 2015 Guide released this week.

For more than 30 years, Fiske Guide to Colleges has chosen a select group of schools, "noted for quality academic offerings and affordable cost," for its annual "Best Buy" list. Most of the institutions included this year fall into the inexpensive or moderate price category and most have four- or five-star academic ratings.

"Value is about more than low cost. It is defined by what a student can experience and how much a student can grow because of the Alfred experience," said University President Dr. Charles M. Edmondson. "Alfred University deserves this recognition because both its educational and residential programs are intended to enhance the overall talents of any student who is committed to intellectual and personal development."

His comments were reflected by Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs Dr. Rick Stephens who noted: "It is gratifying to have Alfred University's value recognized by the Fiske Guide to Colleges. Students and their families can be confident that AU will deliver the highest quality educational opportunity, while carefully respecting their investment and effort in a university degree."

Earl Pierce, AU vice president for enrollment management, added "Alfred University continually strives to provide a quality education at an affordable price. Acknowledgement of this success by reputable publications such as Fiske, and others, validates the value of investing in an Alfred education."

Alfred-Almond Alumni Association awards $47,500 in scholarships to 18

ALMOND—The Alfred Almond Alumni Association presented eighteen AACS seniors a total of $47,500 in scholarship awards at the AACS commencement on June 28.

Butch and Cass Lorow, co-presidents of the AAAA, made these comments prior to the presentation: "The Alumni Association has been giving an award to at least one graduating senior for 54 years. In the beginning a plaque and a $25.00 savings bond was given to 2 seniors. Fifty years ago, in 1964, one award of $150.00 was given. This year the Alumni Association is very proud and happy to be giving 18 scholarships totaling $47,500.00. We have come a long way in 54 years." In further explanation, she continued: "These awards are possible because of the generous donations of the Alfred Almond Central School Alumni and friends. The number of awards given each year is determined by the available funding from these donations. The criteria considered for all of these awards are: academic effort, extracurricular activities and in-school activities, involvement in non-school activities, service to the community, leadership, character, reputation, financial need, child of Alumnus, years as an Alfred Almond Central School student and this important question: Will this student be a good ambassador for AACS?" In the past fourteen years, more than $350,000 has been presented in awards and scholarships by the AAAA to AACS students.

The Juanita Whitaker Pulos Fine Arts Scholarship in the amount of $5000 was presented by her sons, William and Robert, to Olivia Call.

The Lorows presented the remaining $2500 scholarships to the following: The Greg Norton Leadership Scholarship: Sarah Torkaman; Rachael Amato Baldo/Thomas Murphy Health Care Scholarship, Sadie Van Dyke; and fifteen Jean Hanks Palmiter/Dale Lorow Alumni Scholarships which went to Maya Booman-Amico, Jake Chamberlain, Aidan Curtin, Madeleine Dewey, Catherine Dietrich, Meghan DioGuardi, Sarah Elliott, Kevin Fraser, Anup Jonche, Sawyer McFadden, John Mormino, Megan Murray, MeiLing Norfolk, Keri Surita, and Dan Woughter.

The 2014 AAAA 44-page newsletter, the Blue and Gold, was mailed to around 3000 alumni in May. Enclosed in that newsletter was the form to be used to pay dues, make donations to the various scholarship and camp funds, and the reservation form for the 54th annual alumni banquet to be held Saturday, July 26, at Alfred State College. This year's banquet theme is "Beatlemania", recognizing and celebrating the 50-year Beatles anniversary.

Banquet reservations are required, and are due by July 9. Kathy Snyder, treasurer, is taking banquet reservations and donations, which can be mailed to PO Box 1134, Alfred, NY 14802. Special recognition will be given to the 25- and 50-year classes, represented by speakers Kate Albrecht-Fidler and David Porter, respectively. Brent Reynolds will MC the event, at which time Glen Feltham and Lauren Bonfe Culbertson will be inducted into the Sports Hall of Fame, and Lee and Donna Ryan will be inducted into the Humanitarian Hall of Fame.

Honored Classes will include the Class of 1944, 1949, 1954, 1959, 1964, 1969, 1974, 1979, 1984, 1989, 1994, 1999, and 2004. Class coordinators are making plans for reunions that weekend, including picnics and other get-togethers.

Someone once commented that our Alfred Sun is like a community diary. One lovely June morning, while walking north with Becky Prophet on Allen Walk at Alfred University, this lovely family approached from the south. At my request, they lined up for a photo in front of Binns-Merrill Hall. From left; Silas, Eden, Naomi, Jason, Summer, and Gabrielle Tutak. What a blessing and delight to catch them in this moment in time!

Crockpot BBQ Beef Sandwiches

In one of the many newspapers I read last week a food columnist was reminding readers that summer is a perfect time to make use of your crockpot. I tend to think of using mine in the winter for lovely thick stews and soups, but the columnist extolled the virtues of cooking your dinner without heating up your kitchen.

So, I pulled out a couple crock pot cookbooks and had a look with summer time eating in mind. This recipe is from a tiny cookbook entitled Crock-Pot Slow Cooker Recipes, published in 2008 and manufactured in China!

BBQ Beef Sandwiches

1 boneless beef chuck roast (3 lbs.) 1 clove garlic, minced
¼ c. ketchup ¼ tsp. salt
2 T. packed brown sugar ¼ tsp. liquid smoke
2 T. red wine vinegar 1/8 tsp. black pepper
1 T. Dijon mustard 10-12 French rolls/sandwich buns

Place beef in crock-pot. Combine remaining ingredients except rolls in med. bowl and pour over meat. Cover and cook on low for 8-9 hours. Remove beef from crock-pot; shred with 2 forks. Combine beef with 1 cup sauce from crock-pot. Evenly distribute meat and sauce mixture among warmed rolls. Serves 10-12.

History, I'm Repeating Myself

I realized, after submittin',
That the poem I wrote for last week
Was one I had already written –
When I saw that, I let out a shriek.

A draft I was working on must've
Been misplaced somewhere on my computer
And now I must face the disgust of A brain that is lesser astuter.

It's all on account of a memory
That's fast growing weaker with age;
It's the first step towards drool-y and tremor-y –
A less than re-mem' rable stage.

At least it was different this time
Than four years ago's version I wrote;
My dear reader, forgive me this crime...
Huh? Whaddayamean, "no one noticed"?!

Love, life example

To the Editor:

Last week on an evening walk, we saw Dan Rase reading the newspaper to his wife while sitting on the porch of their house. It was probably the sweetest thing that we had witnessed for a while.

With this life where everything goes so fast, it is nice to pause and see that true love and care is still around. For this generation of people who have lived to see wars and went through so much, to see that the affectionate glow remains, feels so warm to the heart to witness.

The same is true for Angie and John Ninos our dear neighbors.
They are the cutest neighbors on Hillcrest. The love, care, and laughter that comes from this house is so contagious!

I did not know that you turned 90 Mr. Rase, it is truly unbelievable! When we see you riding your lawnmower and doing yard work, driving your wife around, it is an inspiration. Our family wishes you a very happy birthday and many more!

Thank you for being such a great example of love and life.

Snyde remarks

By DAVID L. SNYDER

Editor, Publisher and Janitor

alfredsun.news@gmail.com

I saw Dan Rase at the Collegiate last night. Hewas pretty upset with me. Seems everyone in town has been coming up to him and wishing him a belated 90th birthday.

I saw Dan again at the Alfred Pharmacy today. He told me that everytime he sees me, I'm not doing anything. I could say the same for Dan except that he's been retired a few years now so that's exactly what he's expected to do. But me? I'm not retired but hey, it's summer in Alfred and the living is easy!

Marc Rawady was just leaving and warned the pharmacy folks that with Dan Rase and Dave Snyder there at the same time, there would likely be trouble. I assured them that if they could survive an encounter with Marc Rawady, they certainly would be okay with Dan and I.

Gosh, it's deadline time and this is the last page to finish before sending them to the printer. Sometimes I rush through and get my page numbers all messed up. Have you noticed? I'm just grateful there are folks who do. (Thanks, Doug!) It assures me that folks are reading the paper.

Letters to the editor are good indicators as well, especially when they are in direct response to something I've written. I don't know what I was thinking when I threw in that "Sean Hannity rant" a couple weeks ago...it must have been the rush and pressure of the looming deadline. I could have just filled that space with a cartoon, but I know better than to do that.

While I always enjoy letters to the editor, equally appreciated are the notes on subscription renewal forms. Longtime friend of Alfred Robert S. Kenyon, with his check to renew his subscription for another year, said, "I have read the Alfred Sun for at least 80 of my 89 years in subscriptions of my grandparents (W.H. Langworthy), parents (S. Spicer Kenyon) and my own of many years."

That note made my day.

I also received a brief note on the subscription renewal from Dr.
George R. Morgenfeld, retired Alfred State College administrator who I believed, if I'm reading into this correctly, resided in the Alfred-Almond area from 1948 to 1992. He's now 91 years young. Any longtime Alfred area residents who remember George can send him greetings at: 8800 Johnson Road, Apt. 117, The Plains, OH 45780.

I know that he'd enjoy hearing from some of his Alfred friends.

And, one final note, I am pleased that Alfred State College President Dr. Skip Sullivan will be the keynote speaker at the 22nd Annual Allegany County High School Equivalency Graduation to be held tomorrow night at Friendship Central School. The cap and gown ceremony during which diploma binders are to be awarded, was to be followed by a reception in honor of the graduates, one of whom is my youngest child. Congratulations, Cam!

CLARIFYING REAL PROPERTY TAX ASSESSMENT PROCEDURES

Every year there are questions and complaints about the real property tax assessment process. It appears that many citizens don't understand how real estate is assessed or how taxes are set. I would like to try and explain the differences in terms, and clarify the steps in the assessment and tax process.

New York State has decreed that most local government programs (and many State mandated programs) will be financed by real property taxes.
Those taxes are imposed based upon the "market value" of each property parcel. That value is generally fairly easy to determine if the property was sold recently. The value is whatever a willing buyer paid a willing seller. Value is harder to determine if property hasn't sold recently. Legal responsibility for determining property value is assigned to the local (usually town) assessor. Some assessors are elected, while some are appointed. The State has adopted detailed rules that dictate how assessors must determine property values. The value determined by the assessor is known as the "assessment."
The assessor does not determine how much you pay in taxes, just how much your property is worth.

Property-owners can dispute their assessment
by filing a grievance, a "Small Claims Assessment Review" complaint, or a court suit. Ultimately, a final assessment is established. Each local municipality then adopts a budget that represents the amount of money it needs to collect to operate. That money represents taxes. The tax collector determines the "tax rate," which is how much tax money must be raised from each $1,000 of assessment value. That amount is then "levied" on a tax bill to each property-owner. For example, assume a town budget is $100,000, and the total town assessment equals $20 million. The tax rate would be $5 per $1,000 of assessed value. If a parcel were assessed for $30,000, the tax levied upon that parcel would be $150 ($5 X 30). Please note that the assessor, Town Board, and Tax Collector each had separate functions that contributed to establishing the amount of the actual tax bill.

Once the bill is issued the Tax Collector is responsible for sending out bills and collecting payments. Most taxpayers pay their bills in a timely manner. However, each year some taxpayers (for various reasons) don't pay their tax bills. When a tax bill isn't paid to a local municipality (town, school district, fire district or other district) they still get paid the full amount of their tax levy. State law allows the unpaid local tax levy to be "re-levied" upon the County tax bill each January. Essentially, the County guarantees that every local municipality receives every tax dollar. The County only receives whatever is left, which is always less than its full tax levy. Ironically, the County Treasurer and Legislature had no control over the local assessments, budgets, or tax rates.

Each January the re-levied local taxes appear on the annual "County/Town" tax bill. The Town Tax Collector keeps the town levy and pays over whatever is left to the County Treasurer. If the real property taxes remain unpaid for two years the County Treasurer can initiate a tax foreclosure procedure. This allows the Treasurer to sell the real property parcel (typically by auction) to seek reimbursement for the payments made to the local municipalities. It is far better for the County to have taxes paid on time, rather than to have a tax foreclosure.

When it comes to real property taxes, everything begins with an accurate assessment value on each parcel. If the assessed value is wrong (too high) the Tax Collector will set the wrong tax rate.
That rate means the wrong tax amount will appear on the tax bill. Nothing can be done to correct those errors unless the assessment is corrected. Assessment mistakes hit the County hard because it must pay the full tax amount (plus interest and penalties) to the local Tax Collector.

I hope this short review has been informative.
If nothing else, it shows how many different officials are involved in the complex assessment/taxing procedures.

Want to learn about eBooks, e-Readers?

By RIMA O'CONNOR

of the Box of Books Library

Electronic books (eBooks) are regular paper books that have been turned into computer files so that you can read or listen to them on your computer. There are devices, called eReaders, that are specifically made to handle eBooks; you've probably heard about Kindles, iPads, Nooks, and even some others.

You may be wondering, why would I want to use one of those things? There are some advantages to eReaders. One is that the typical eReader is small, slim, and light. It can hold hundreds, if not thousands, of eBooks so if you are going on a vacation that can be very handy.

Also, on eReaders you can change the size of the print and make it really large for tired eyes. Many eReaders can also play Audiobooks, so you can listen to a story at times when reading it would be a bad idea, like if you are driving.

Your local libraries own quite a few eBooks and audiobooks, free to borrow just as you'd borrow a paper book. You need to have an eReader to enable you to access these books. BUT... what if you want to test drive an eReader before you buy one? And how do you put the books onto the eReader? The ePLACE at the Alfred Box of Books Library in Alfred can help you with these questions!

We have several different kinds of eReaders you can examine, and even borrow. We are also offering a free class on Monday July 28, from 1-3 p.m., that will show you how to put eBooks or audiobooks on your device. This includes smartphones! Not good for reading, but great for audiobooks. Just call the Library at 607-587-9290 to sign up for the class or to make an appointment to view the eReaders. You can also email for information at oonorr@stls.org.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO, JULY 13, 1989

Strategic planning and successful implementation of such far-sighted initiatives as the Center for Advanced Ceramic Technology and the Ceramic Corridor venture have secured the NYS College of Ceramics at Alfred University's role as a leader in the advanced ceramics field well into the 21st century. A nationally acclaimed faculty also assures continued prominence in the fields of art and design. Supporting all these College endeavors with unequaled specialized holdings is the Samuel R. Scholes Sr. Library of Ceramics, named for the late dean. To insure that the library keeps pace, with this promising future, the state of New York has approved a new $6.2 million facility (including new furniture and equipment) designed by Hutchins, Evans and Lefferts, New York City. Groundbreaking for the new library is scheduled for early this fall with completion slated for spring 1992...

The Hornell Evening Tribune has selected Jason Burdick of Alfred as the newspaper's Carrier of the Month for May. Jason is the son of Alan and Judy Burdick. Jason has purchased a bicycle with his carrier job earnings. He's now saving most of his profit in his own savings account and is hoping to buy a car when he turns 16. He's also saving for college. The 13-year-old joined the Tribune carrier force in April 1987 but his "newspaper career" began at age 7 when he began working a paper route with his brother for the Youngstown Vindicator in Youngstown, OH. At age 8 he worked for the Alfred Sun in its "mailroom." At age 11, he took a route in Alfred for the Olean Times-Herald and the Tribune. In 1988, the Olean Times-Herald selected Jason as carrier of the year in the junior division in Allegany County. In addition, he won a trip to DisneyWorld. Jason was awarded a $50 savings bond, a sports cap and a knit cap with the Evening Tribune logo imprinted, for his latest honors. Betty E. Matison, 82, of Auburndale, FL, died Sunday, July 4, 2004 at the Tandem Health Care Facility in Winter Haven, FL. Born May 6, 1922 in Lock Haven, PA, she made her home for many years in Alfred where her late husband, Ardean William "Matty" Matison was a barber and general contractor, having constructed numerous homes in the Village of Alfred during the 1960s. The Matisons moved to Auburndale, FL in 1970, where Betty was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Auburndale and involved in the church's Women's Circle. She was also a past president of the Auburndale Lioness Club and, together with her late husband, was a volunteer for Habitat for Humanity. In addition to her husband of 46 years, she was preceded in death by a daughter, Meggi Dean Matison, and a great-granddaughter, Katie Baumer. Survivors include a son, Mickey (A.J.) As the new pastor at the Almond Union of Churches, Pastor Steve Dygert gave his first message which was based on Galatians 5:1, 13-25...

Local tennis player Conner Stephens joined more than 2,000 other athletes June 8-13 at the Empire State Senior Games at the SUNY Cortland campus. The 22nd annual Senior Games, which featured 21 competitive sports, was open to contestants aged 50 and over. Conner, who competed in the first games at Brockport in 1982, had a very successful ninth appearance. Although Conner had 35 years on some of the "youngsters," the sports are divided by age groups. At 84, the spry octogenarian was competing at the upper limit of the 80-84 bracket, but still came home with a chestful of medals. Although he was shut out in table tennis, he earned a gold in badminton singles, a bronze in men's tennis singles, and a gold in tennis mixed doubles. The last medal didn't surprise any of Conner's Alfred tennis friends, as the former Alfred-Almond coach has been more than holding his own in local matches for decades. [Editor's Note: This editor was one of his victims in the Alfred Community Tennis Tournament playoffs some years ago.] Giving Conner a chance to hit one of his sweet forehands is still a good way to lose a point and waiting for a double fault is fruitless. Alfred's inspirational "Mr. Tennis" has persevered through knee, hip and shoulder problems and actually competed at the Senior Games wearing his new lightweight oxygen canister. Returning home, he praised the organization, staff and facilities of the event, having made new friends with his fellow athletes and the volunteers. With a birthday on August 14, Conner will be a "spring chicken" next year in the 85-89 age bracket. Tennis, anyone?

AAUW presents scholarships, essay contest awards

HORNELL—The annual Alfred-Hornell AAUW awards dinner was held recently at The Main Place in Hornell, formerly the Knights of Columbus Hall. This event honors area fourth grade student winners of the essay contest "The Woman I Most Admire" and graduating high school girls who have achieved the highest grade average in math and science.

Mary Jane Lloyd, branch president, opened the dinner by welcoming branch members, honorees, parents, families, and community members. For the fourth year, a $100 scholarship was awarded to six graduating senior girls. In addition to being honored at dinner, they each received an engraved medal, a certificate, a rose, and had their names engraved on their high school Awards Plaque which is prominently displayed in their respective schools.

Program chair, Patricia Soper-Oakes, explained the mission of the American Association of University Women, founded in 1881: "to advance equity for women and girls through advocacy, education, philanthropy and research."

Before the honored guests were introduced, President Lloyd introduced the newest member, Jeanette Clarke, a middle school teacher at the Canisteo-Greenwood Central School. Jeanette joined AAUW under the Shape the Future Program. We encourage anyone interested in joining to use this program!

Lloyd presented a 50-year Honorary Life-Time membership certificate and a bouquet of flowers to Heather Meacham for the occasion. Heather graciously accepted and told about her joining on the recommendation of her mother, 50 years ago.

Election of officers by paper ballot resulted in a new slate of officers for 2014-2016: President, Patricia Soper-Oakes; Program Co-chairs, Kim Gayhart and Ada White; Co-Secretaries, Dani Wassink and Mary Jane Lloyd; Co-Treasurers Penelope Whitford and Mary Smith; Membership Chair, Nicole Hockenberry.

Essay Contest committee member Penelope Whitford introduced each winner and each enthusiastically read their essay "The Woman I Most Admire". The students and their honorees were: Kadence Weaver from Alfred-Almond Central School who honored her big sister Tiara; Hornell Intermediate School's Gabrielle Bailey honored her mom, Tracy Andrus; and Nicolas Button from Jasper-Troupsburg honored his teacher, Mrs. Lisa Mills.

President Lloyd and vice president for program, Patty Soper-Oakes, introduced each of the six area high school seniors who were honored in recognition of their achievement in math and science. This annual event is the highlight of the AAUW program year and supports the mission of "Breaking through barriers for women and girls" since these disciplines, Science, Technology, Engineering and Math, (STEM) are still mainly under-represented by women.

Award recipients honored for excellence in math and science: Alfred Almond Central School, Meghan DioGuardi, who will attend Colgate University majoring in Biology; Andover Central School, Amanda Wahl who will attend St. John Fisher College studying Pre-Pharmacy; Arkport Central School, Lindsey Timothy who will attend D'Youville College majoring in Occupational Therapy; Canisteo-Greenwood, Nicole Freitag who will attend RIT majoring in Biomedical Engineering; Jasper-Troupsburg, Lauren Wyant, who will attend Alfred University majoring in Biomedical Engineering; and Hornell High School, Allison Dinwoodie who will attend Cobleskill and study

Animal Science.

Congratulations and best wishes to all these graduating girls!

Allegany Arc holds annual meeting

Allegany Arc recently held their Annual Membership Meeting. Officers were elected and several people were honored for their contributions to Allegany Arc. Mike Damiano, Chief Executive Officer, welcomed everyone to the Annual Meeting.

Guest Speaker Curt Crandall, Allegany County Board of Legislatures Chairman spoke next. He gave an update on Allegany County and touched on many of the changes and challenges the county faces.

Kristina Sheldon charmed the audience with her personal story of triumph. Kristina currently participates in classes in Day Habilitation's Life Skills Wing. Kristina also volunteers two afternoons a week at the Highland Park Rehabilitation Center. When she is not busy working or volunteering, Kristina enjoys playing on the computer, reading books, playing wii, and helping clean the house. Through her tireless efforts and dedication, Kristina exemplifies the positive impact and value that volunteering brings to the community.

Corinna McKnight, Chief Operations Officer, recognized Melissa Vennard, Director for Quality Management, who was this year's graduate of Leadership Allegany.

The next group honored was Allegany Arc's Leadership Class whose graduates belong to multiple Allegany Arc committees, but have also expanded their leadership rolls into the community by joining additional groups, boards and committees. They include Kim Crouner, Angie Dieter, Michelynn Durgan, Margo Hills, Tracy Lehman, Steve Murray, and Christina Torrey.

Cindy Polanowski, Senior Vice President of Clinical and Program Services, recognized Allegany Arc's Residential Recreation Committee which includes: Maranda Clark, Damiene Collopy, Erica Costello, Carla Miller, Kim Porter, Krista Randall, Ruthie Pounds, LouAnne Werlitz, and Racheal Whitesell. This group works tirelessly to create and help fund exciting activities for people who live in Allegany Arc's residences.

Mike Damiano recognized Allegany Arc's Life Skills Class graduates including Judy Alger, Marlena Bialy, Jeremy Brooks, and Kristina Sheldon.

In a particularly moving portion of the evening, Carrie Redman, Marketing Director, honored volunteers and outstanding performers including Jim Burdick, Larry Hugar, Carla Miller, Barb Ramsey, Cindy and Ed Polanowski, and Marty Updike.

Carrie Redman said, "Life is short. On our headstones will be the etching of when we were born and the date when we died.

For example 1960- 2050. What matters to me are not the two years mentioned. It is the dash. That little dash. That's our life. That represents to me the short time we have, here, to make a difference, or not. And making a difference means so many different things to so many people. But for you, the volunteer, what you do during that dash is most significant. Volunteers generously give the gift of time - one of the most precious resources of our lives."

Carrie continued, "You each volunteer for many different reasons, but for whatever reason you volunteer, you give your time generously without any expectation of reward. A sincere thank you to each of you for all that you have done, and continue to do for Allegany Arc and those we serve."

Joe Semponlinski attended and presented a statement from Congressman Tom Reed's Office. Deb Aumick was also in attendance and provided a statement from Senator Cathy Young's office.

Allegany Arc elected one new member to their Board of Directors, Ed Pekarek. Current Allegany Arc Board members include James Stevens - President; Thomas Talbott Jr. - Vice-President; Deb Thompson - Treasurer; Debbie Button - Secretary; Linda Clayton, Kevin Gildner, David A. Harkenrider, Ruthann McCarthy, Ed Pekarek, Linda Pullman, and Ed Wilson.

Mike Damiano closed the annual meeting by thanking everyone for attending and offered congratulations to all of those who were honored. For more information about Allegany Arc, visit www.AlleganyArc.org.

THE GLORY OF AMERICA

Thursday, July 10

As the founding fathers grew older and looked back upon the glorious drama in which they had played a role, a number of them seemed more aware of the unseen hand of the Dramatist. The 2nd and 3rd Presidents, implacable adversaries during their active political lives, came to be close friends through correspondence in their waning years. Wrote John Adams to Thomas Jefferson:

"I have examined all religions, as well as my narrow sphere, my straightened means, and my busy life, would allow; and the result is that the Bible is the best book in the world. It contains more philosophy than all the libraries I have seen."

AU Head Football Coach Bob Rankl hires three assistant football coaches

ALFRED--Alfred University head football coach Bob Rankl announces Scott Linn has been appointed the Saxons' offensive coordinator, Brent Barnes has been appointed defensive coordinator and Lazarus Morgan has been appointed assistant coach in charge of defensive backs and junior varsity coach.

Linn, who will also coach wide receivers, has roots with AU, having served as a graduate assistant coach two seasons (2007 and 2008) under former Saxon head coach Dave Murray. He comes to AU from Rhodes College, a Division III school in Memphis, TN, where he had been serving since March as special teams coordinator and defensive back coach.

He has eight years collegiate coaching experience, including a five-year tenure as a full-time assistant at Empire 8 Conference rival Hartwick College. Linn began his coaching career as a student assistant at his alma mater, Albion (MI) College, where he played fullback for four seasons (2002-05). At Albion, Linn helped coached tight ends, running backs and offensive linemen.

From Albion, Linn came to AU, where he coached running backs for two seasons as a grad assistant. Under his tutelage, two Saxon tailbacks earned Empire 8 all-conference recognition and one, Vinson Hendrix, set the school's single-season rushing mark (since broken) en route to earning D3football.com All-American honors. His was a member of the coaching staff that guided the Saxons to 4,983 yards of total offense in 2007, a school single-season record.

From AU, Linn went to Hartwick, where he served as a full-time assistant from 2009-2013. He was the Hawks' defensive line coach for two seasons (2009, 2010); the linebackers coach for one (2011); and assistant head coach for two (2012, 2013). During his tenure as Hartwick's assistant head coach, he served as defensive backs coach and special teams coordinator. His duties at Hartwick also included serving as recruiting coordinator, strength and conditioning coordinator, and academic coordinator.

Barnes, who will also serve as linebackers coach, comes to AU from Rhodes College, a Division

III program in Memphis, TN. He served as passing game coordinator and defensive secondary coach at Rhodes from 2012-14 before being named co-offensive coordinator/running backs and tight ends coach this year.

As secondary coach at Rhodes, he helped guide a defense that saw significant improvements in scoring defense, yards per play allowed, third down defense and pass efficiency defense, which helped lead the Lynx to an 8-2 record and Southern Athletic Association title in 2013.

Barnes comes to AU with 13 years of previous coaching experience at six different institutions. He graduated from Rice University (Houston, TX) with bachelor's degrees in mechanical engineering, economics and history. At Montclair State, he earned a master's in physical education.

Morgan, who will also serve in the full-time position as the Saxons' head junior varsity coach, replaces Josh Miller, who left Alfred to join the staff of former AU head coach Dave Murray at Hamilton College.

Morgan comes to AU from his alma mater, Utica College, where he coached five seasons after concluding a stellar collegiate playing career. He served as an assistant in charge of special teams and was wide receivers coach for the 2009 season. He was an assistant coach in charge of safeties from 2010-13, during which time he was also junior varsity defensive coordinator (2010-11 seasons) and junior varsity head coach (2012-13 seasons).

During Morgan's tenure as assistant coach in charge of safeties, the Utica pass defense ranked first in the Empire 8 Conference in 2011 and was second in the conference in 2013.

86 recruits will attend AU preseason camp

ALFRED—The Alfred University football team will welcome 86 recruits when preseason camp opens in mid-August. Among the new players are six high school all-state selections, including five from New York State.

Lambert (6-0, 290) was a Section II all-star as a senior offensive lineman at Queensbury High in 2013.

Other top recruits to the Saxons include:

■ Steven Kadnar (6-4, 170), wide receiver, Our Lady of Lourdes High School, Poughkeepsie. Kadnar was a Section I all-star as a senior in 2013.

■ Chris Szlamczynski (5-11, 250), offensive lineman from East Syracuse-Minoa High School, Syracuse. Szlamczynski was a First Team All-Central New York all-star last fall.

HITS AND MISSES:

The Hornell Dodgers (24-6) continue to set a torrid pace in the summer NYCBL as Coach Tom Kenney's squad takes a "break" for the annual All-Star game. Many in the Dodger blue togs were in Houghton on Tuesday evening past as the West Division leading club sent a staggering 10-players to the festivities at the Kerr-Pegula Athletic Complex. And, Kenney will coach the West squad as well! The Dodgers sit comfortably in first-place in their division followed by: the Geneva Twins (18-10), Rochester Ridgemen (16-13), Niagara Power (16-14), Genesee Rapids (13-8) ... who play at Houghton College, the Olean Oilers (9-17) and the Wellsville Nitros limp in with a (7-21) mark. The Geneva Red Wings are leading the pack in the East Division with an 18-11 slate. Seth Cornell (4-1) of A-A and Houghton College was one of the selectees from the Dodgers for the game.

Did wander over to the Basket Road Complex in Webster a week ago Monday evening with AU photographer, Leo Nealon to take in the Dodgers-Ridgemen contest on a beautiful evening for baseball. Had a chance to chat with Coach Kenney (briefly), Dodgers GM Paul Welker, Ridgemen GM Chris Rainwater, RR Coach Nick Sheffield from Texas plus Bob and Bill Baker up from Alfred/Almond as well as Bruce and Linda Cornell. Took in a game and was able to catch up on "all the news in Almond!" Seth Cornell was indeed on the hill and he was tossing a no-hitter heading into the seventh-inning. High school teammate Jake Kenney was at 2B. The Dodgers won, Cornell pitched a complete game and a solid evening was in the books. Was unable to get the "pitch count" from Linda Cornell to include in this paragraph.

The Des Moines Menace soccer team, with Stephen Baker now on the roster, posted a couple of shutouts over the holiday weekend past as they were victorious over WSA Winnipeg ... twice at 2-0 and 3-0. Baker, who just arrived on the scene a week prior, saw limited duty in the second contest. The ex-UPenn standout said "the league and team he plays on are just a notch below the Rochester Rhinos." The Menace have games left against the St. Louis Lions, Springfield Demize and two more with the WSA Winnipeg club. Perhaps the Demize are from the Springfield in Illinois where the Pat Atwell family currently resides. Des Moines (9-1) should clinch the Heartland Division and be in good shape for the playoffs.

Major League Baseball will have its All-Star game this coming Tuesday as the Minnesota Twins will host all from Target Field. As a Yankee fan was good to see Derek Jeter voted in as the starting shortstop. Would be great to see a Clayton Kershaw (Dodgers) versus Masahiro Tanaka (Yankees) "battle" as the starting hurlers. Unlike years past, when the starting pitcher would often go three-innings, everyone pitches one inning now! Pitcher Glen Perkins ... who played in Rochester and catcher Kurt Suzuki will represent the home team in the game for the AL. Ex-Twins first-sacker Justin Morneau (Rockies) is one of the "final vote" candidates. Be good to see him make it. Current Twins first baseman and perennial catching all-star, Joe Mauer is sidelined with an injury. Will take the NL over the AL, winning pitcher ... Adam Wainwright of the Cards and game MVP ... Troy Tulowitzki of the Rockies.

The Oakland A's completed an exceptional trade with the Chicago Cubs as they landed starters Jeff Samardzija and Jason Hammel to their team which has the best record in all of baseball. The type of trade the NY Yankees needed to make ... if they had a minor league system! The (forever) rebuilding Cubbies landed some prize prospects from the rich Oakland minor-league system so it works out well for both teams and the players.

Meanwhile, the Yankees designated Alfonso Soriano for assignment as he has been brutal this year. Watching some of the games he would swing at pitches you couldn't hit with a paddle much less a bat. NY also moved pitcher(?) Vidal Nuno to the Arizona Diamondbacks for hurler Brandon McCarthy ... who just has to be an upgrade. Now if they could just ship Carlos Beltran back to the Cards and his "robust" .215 batting average plus Brian McCann and his "stellar" .220 average since inking a free agent deal from the Braves. Ouch.

League MVP (always) LeBron James of the Miami Heat just might be headed back to Cleveland. The Cavs have all-star Kyrie Irving (Duke) plus the #1 overall pick in the recent draft in Andrew Wiggins and although young, a better option than a fading Dwayne Wade and erratic Chris Bosh in Florida? Sounds good but would LeBron go back to the Cavs after the way owner Dan Gilbert bashed him four-years back? An owner who should've apologized long ago! LeBron goes to Cleveland, Bosh to Houston and Miami is left with Wade plus a sizeable contract he would want. Could be quite the demise for the four-time East Conference champs.

Jordan Health of Roberts Wesleyan College/Canisius College is playing hoops for the Detroit Pistons summer league team. College teammate Billy Baron of the Golden Griffs is playing with the Chicago Bulls squad. Baron is the son of ex-Bona guard and ex-coach, Jim Baron. Health playing for Coach Beyer?

Jaime Bennett took second-place in the Irondequoit 10K race held over this past holiday weekend. No relation to Jamie Bennett (A-A/Lyons) now residing in St. Pete's, FL ... and moaning about the Tampa Bay Rays.

Some NYS vanity plates spotted in Saratoga last month included: ONLYPL2B, NY BRED ... w/racetrack logo and at the Aviation Mall in Queensbury it was, JWPCAMP.

The Rochester Rattlers (7-3) were tied with the Denver Outlaws in the MLL outdoor lax league standings as of Sunday past as the league breaks for the FIL World Championships in Denver.

The Batavia Muckdogs (Holmok) were one-game out in the Pinckney Division of the NY-Penn baseball league as of this past Sunday. The team plays at Dwyer Stadium.

The Rochester Red Wings (Twins) have moved back into contention in the "AAA" North Division of the International League. The Syracuse Chiefs continue to lead. The Yanks top farm club, Scranton WB, was 11.5 games out. How does the Scouting Director of the Yanks still have a job?

It was 30+ years in the making but Johnny "Spock" Arena finally beat me on the golf course as he claimed a 103-104 victory this past Saturday at the Durand Eastman course in Irondequoit. A five-hour struggle for both of us! Hooked up with two others on the front side, one not bad but the other could've easily shot a (100) for nine. Made Scummer look like the golf pro at East Bay. The back nine we hooked up with a father-son combo who both had sticks. Son the head pro at Chili CC. He could crush the ball. He and Obie would have a good battle. Not Arena and I though. Arena and I have been playing off and on since our days at the J.P. Mead "nut house" we worked at, normally July 4th weekend in Rochester, as he and his family now live in Carlisle, Pa.

Head into my "busy" part of the summer as July is booked like crazy. All good things! Heading to Saratoga this Saturday to get Lauren and after an afternoon there, lunch at Harvey's!, we'll drive to Whitesboro to stay at Doris Springer's place. Hopefully dinner at Cavallo's in New Hartford that evening. Love that place. Jess Herbst of Webster will join us later on. 3L and Herbst running in their second-straight Utica Boilermaker 15K on Sunday morning. Lauren's third over-all. Hoping to see 3L's former SUNY Genesee soccer teammate, Eileen Coyle there but race is so packed it might not happen. Then, Sunday afternoon, Herbst-3L and myself off to cabin #8 at the Lone Birch Motel in Indian Lake. A week of "vacation" that gets tougher each year for me with the hikes. Ouch. Think this will be fourth trip to ADK's for Herbst with us. Lauren and I on our 11th-consecutive summer jaunt.

After the ADK's, some golf is on the agenda, plus other things. July 19th - Stafford CC with Simbo, Savo and Obie. July 20th - perhaps a round of golf with "Ungawa" at Livingston CC in Genesee. July 25th - golf at Hickory Ridge in Holley with the Joker's Wild softball team crew. July 26th - golf at Wellsville CC with Jake Taft, Obie and Brent/Smitty/Waffle? That nite ... the A-A alumni banquet at Alfred State College. Taft and his class celebrating 35th year out. Hope to see Bakes, "Hilly," Cutter, Leek, Gids as well from that class. July 27th - Taft and I depart from Alfred for Orchard Park to see Lauren run in the Lindsay Matthews 5K race. 3L won the women's portion of this race last year that honors her former teammate at Genesee. Looking forward to all in the next two weeks!

Next week ... an interview with new Detroit Pistons assistant basketball coach, Bob W. Beyer ... hopefully !!

Readers of this column may remember its beginning more than 40 years ago.

The decades seem to accumulate at ever gathering speed. With those passing years come experience and knowledge. My present garden has been a work in progress for about 30 years now.

I would like to share some of the tricks of the trade I have acquired over the years. The focus will be on the veggie garden but much can be transferred to other aspects. Learn how to build up your soil, rotate your crops, protecting the earth by using mulch, encouraging the birds, toads and good bugs.

Come see, hear and ask questions at 9:30 a.m. on Saturday, July 26 fight after Betsey and Birds at Foster Lake.

As Jefferson once said, "a gardener never grows old." Of course, in his old age, he had garden help!

When you first drive into the barnyard of New Country Flowers, it is not the twin greenhouses rustling in the breeze that catch your eye but the stunning red and black Studebaker truck. Jim Felip, the all around doer of odds and ends at the nursery is its proud owner. Kathy Felip is the main drive behind the growing of plants; mostly flowers, bedding plants, baskets and patio pots. This is their fourth year nestled on the bottom north east side of the hill. Two greenhouses of 2000 feet each are heated with natural gas and propane. I shudder to think the cost!

When you stop by during "From the Earth" on Saturday, July 26, you will also be greeted by three Dexter cows, an heirloom breed, a pair of alpacas, a rescued alpine goat and a Kunekune pig from New Zealand. Kathy plans to talk on butterfly gardens, with an emphasis on the plight of the Monarch.

New Country Flowers is at our southern edge over the other side of Jericho Hill, County Route 12, just up Baker Road. The Felips, the animals and flowers will be awaiting you...maybe even a few Monarchs!

Like many who came to school at Alfred University, Dawn fell in love with the town and countryside. Like many she returned. This was at the time Jessen and Elliott were considering retirement. How fortuitous.

Since last October, Dawn is the new owner of what we all knew as Kinfolk - now Rogue Carrot.

On Saturday, July 26, she will be part of From the Earth, providing takeout lunches to folks on the tour:

Sandwiches, fruit, cookies and drinks.

The rest of the year, regulars will still find the old goodies: fresh fruits and veggies - those late Thursday specials of fish, cheese, bagels. There are some new items as well: gluten free, non-dairy cheeses, and an incense that is grown locally.

What does Dawn like best about being in business in Alfred? The interacting with the customers and how she never gets bored! Every day is different.
