Please join us in saying farewell to Cheryl Monroe

Please join us Wednesday, June 28, between 1 and 3:30 p.m. in Carnegie Hall to say farewell to Cheryl Monroe, executive assistant to the Provost, who will retire as of June 30.

Cheryl is a linchpin of Alfred University, beloved by faculty, staff and students alike for her quiet efficiency in getting things done, and making major events, including Opening Convocation, Honors Convocation and Commencement, run smoothly. In one way or another, everyone at Alfred University is touched by what she does on our behalf.

Cheryl has been at Alfred University since 1986 in a variety of roles, including secretary to the dean of the College of Liberal Arts & Sciences and, since 2004, executive assistant to the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs.

She has worked with Provosts Bill Hall (twice, once when he was acting Provost and then again when he took the job full-time); Suzanne Buckley, and for the past four years has been a source of information, guidance and unwavering support to me.

I hope you will stop by our office to wish Cheryl a well-deserved retirement and to enjoy light refreshments.

Rick Stephens, Provost and VP, Academic Affairs
