AU ITS Video Conferencing Guidelines

At Alfred University, video conferencing has become a popular, cost-effective resource for holding meetings and conferences. ITS is pleased to support video conference requests for meetings, guest speakers, and other events.

Because of the large volume of requests, users seeking video conferencing assistance must contact ITS five (5) business days prior to the video conference. This will allow ITS to continue providing high-quality service to the campus community.

A complete list of video conferencing guidelines is available on the Web. Thank you for your support.

2-Credit Independent Study Fall 2012

Cross Generational Art Analysis

This class will bring together elderly community members and college-aged students to discuss modern art history while creating our own conceptual artwork. The class will have an emphasis on cross-generational discussion and what we can learn from people who are not in our direct peer circle.

The purpose of this course is to discover more about one's self through creation and shared experience. Our dialogue will explore differing and similar points of views among the age groups in order to highlight generational changes and constants.

Register as an independent study with Dr. Maiden.
