Hot Dog Day draws hundreds Day's events raise $5,600 for Alfred area charities

ALFRED-The hot dogs were back, and so were the people. Hundreds visited the Village of Alfred and the Alfred University campus Saturday as the community celebrated the 50th official Hot Dog Day anniversary under sunny skies following a two-year, blame-the-virus suspension of festivities.

The colorful parade featured alums Eric "Rick" Vaughn '73 and Mark O'Meara '74, MSEd '78, who led the procession as grand marshals in a spiffy Mustang convertible. Alfred Village Mayor Becky Prophet read a proclamation from the steps of Jordan Hall thanking the two for their efforts in starting the event in 1972, and the day's festivities spread out across the Alfred University campus with games, music, vendors, and of course grilled hot dogs.

O'Meara and Vaughn recalled their idea for the event evolved as a response to an evening fracas that spilled onto Main Street from a local bar and involved students from both Alfred State College and Alfred University. Both young men decided a celebration drawing both campuses together would serve as an antidote for hostilities; they took the idea of a hot dog-selling fundraiser to the administrations of both institutions, as well as the Alfred police department and the Alfred Village Board, all of whom gave them the go-ahead.

"Turned out pretty well, didn't it?" said O'Meara.

This year's Hot Dog Day raised $5,600 on the Alfred University campus, according to John Lewis, Director of Student Activities.

Charities benefitting from this year's celebration include: The A.E. Crandall Hook and Ladder Fire Company, the Box of Book Library, ARC Allegany-Steuben; Alfred Montessori School, Allegany County Mental Health Association, the Alfred Station Fire Company, and the Allegany-Cattaraugus-Chautauqua Fund for Women.

The 2022 Hot Dog Day was supported financially by the Alfred University Student Senate.

Alfred Village Mayor Becky Prophet joins Hot Dog Day founders Mark O'Meara and Eric "Rick" Vaughn, as well as undergraduate David Jensen, coordinator of the 2022 Hot Dog Day festival, on the steps of Jordan Hall following the parade that officially kicked off Hot Dog Day 2022. Prophet read a proclamation from the steps thanking O'Meara and Vaughn for starting the annual spring celebration, which raises thousands for local not-for-profit organizations.

Fifty-three-year-old time capsule opened after dorm rehab

ALFRED-A time capsule placed in the cornerstone of Openhym residence hall on the Alfred University campus was opened Tuesday afternoon, revealing a number of items that date back more than 50 years.

Laurie Lounsberry Meehan '91, University archivist, oversaw the opening of the time capsule in the lobby of Openhym. The capsule—a copper container roughly the size of a shoe box—was encased in the cornerstone on the southwest corner of the building; it was removed during renovation work in 2020.

Among the items contained in the capsule: a green ceramic ashtray made in 1968, to commemorate that year's St. Patrick's Day celebration; Fiat Lux newspapers from Oct. 8, 1968, and Feb. 14, 1969; an April 1969 issue of the Alfred Reporter, the forerunner to what is now the Alfred alumni magazine; photographs of five recent honorary degree recipients; a Report from the Treasurer for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1968; a University catalog for the 1968-69 academic year; and a 1968 penny.

With the penny, Meehan said, was a handwritten note indicating it was placed there by Dan George, possibly a member of the construction crew, or the son of an employee. The note indicated George contributed the coin "so he could brag to his children about it," Meehan related.

The contents of the Openhym time capsule are now on display on the main floor of Herrick Library.

Meehan gave a brief presentation on the history of the residence hall, named for Alfred University alumna Evelyn Tennyson Openhym '24, a former University trustee and generous benefactor to her alma mater.

She explained that construction on what would then be called New Women's Dormitory began in 1967 (the year indicated on the building's cornerstone) and was completed in 1969. The building, on the south end of campus, was constructed—at a cost of about $1 million—to address a shortage in women's f housing. At the time, men's and women's residence and dining facilities were located on opposite ends of campus: men's dormitories were on the north end, and they ate at Ade Hall; women lived on the south end and dined in the basement of The Brick residence hall.

"Not only did the University control your academic life, but it controlled your social life as well," Meehan explained.

A University-owned house was razed to make room for construction of the residence hall, a four-story contemporary structure made of brick and limestone. The first floor had social and recreational areas, and a suite of rooms, which included the residence of a "house mother." The second, third, and fourth floors each held 30 single and double occupancy rooms. At the time, the building accommodated living arrangements for just over 150 students.

Openhym enrolled at Alfred University in 1920 and graduated with a degree in ceramic art in 1924. Her mother attended the Alfred Academy in 1887 and an aunt attended in 1900; Openhym met her husband, a wealthy New Yorker named George Openhym, while the two were studying ceramic art at the University.

Evelyn Openhym joined the University's Board of Trustees in 1949 and was later elected a Life Trustee. Over the years, she supported her alma mater through her philanthropy, and bestowed upon the University a collection of British literature, which is now housed in Herrick Library. Alan Littell, '53 curates the Openhym Collection of Modern British Literature and Social History.

In June 1974, on the occasion of Openhym's 50th alumni reunion, the building was re-named in her honor. Openhym passed away in 1992 at the age of 89.

ter's degrees in education at Mansfield University. For 34 years she taught special needs children. She started in her early years at Steuben ARC and later went to BOCES.

One of her greatest professional achievements was learn-Simblisstics, a new ing innovative way to determine her students' capabilities and give them a way to communicate their needs. Gayle taught this method to many surrounding schools. She also created a parents' club to help those parents who were caring for special

Marcy S. Thacher, 60, Andover, worked at ARA

Marcy worked at ARA in Wellsville and later at ARC in Belmont at the Corbin Hill House as a resident counselor. In 2006 she started working at Dunkin Donuts in Wellsville and retired from there as a manager, after ten years, in 2016.

Along with her husband, Marcy is survived by their children, Kelley Thacher of Wellsville, Russell (Melissa) Thacher of Dilworth, Minnesota, Brad (Rebecca) Thacher of Hardin, Kentucky, Matthew (Jaimee) Williams of Wellsville, and Jaylyn Thacher of Andover; two brothers, Mark (Jessica) Barager of Casper, Wyoming, and Marty (Trudy Miller) Barager of Hunt; one sister-inlaw, Carol Sherwood, who was really her soul-sister, of Wellsville; eight grandchildren, really Collin Byron, Noah Byron, Nadayah Fredricks, Brayden Thacher, Logan Thacher, Blake Geffers, Shelby Geffers, and Brody Williams; four nephews, David, Jeremy, Jerrod, and Scott; two nieces, Jackie and Shawna; Abel Reed whom she babysat and loved; good friends, Raymond "Fred" and Regina Conklin as well as their son, Kevin Wilson; and a dear friend, Brenda Welch.

Marcy was preceded in death by both her father and mother.

Marcy enjoyed baking, especially cupcakes, breads, and cookies. She was delighted to make family birthday cakes and had a special touch with peanut butter frosting. She was also a very good cook.

She had an artsy eye as she was gifted in handcrafting a vast array of items. Most recently she made Easter baskets embellished with terry cloth bunnies, for her grandchildren. She enjoyed creating "Diamond Dot" pictures, many of which Jim framed for her. Her door wreaths were beautiful creations. Many of her works of love were passed along as gifts.

Marcy took great pleasure in growing things. She planted vegetables and canned the bounty from her garden. She also kept many house plants, which she often shared with others, whether growers or not.

Marcy had a very caring heart and was always willing to be a help to others. She loved people in general and she had a generous nature that led her to share her resources. She loved birds, chipmunks, and squirrels. She was thrilled to watch the daily horde that came to the table she spread with seed, corn, and even peanuts. Even with these creatures she displayed her generosneeds children to navigate through their trials. Gayle also helped to seek funding for field trips for her students. One of the highlights of this was attending a Kenny Rogers' concert. She and her students were invited backstage to meet Kenny and he presented tee shirts and CDs to all of them.

During her career, Gayle was instrumental in caring for her parents and raising her newly adopted daughter.

In 2014, she moved to Canisteo from Jasper, to raise her beloved granddaughters. Gayle was a sweetheart to everyone and was compassionate, generous, fun-loving and was dubbed by her nieces and nephews as "Aunt Goofy Gayle."

Gayle loved watching movies, playing cards and board games with her granddaughters, and especially girls' night out shopping and their "mini" vacation getaways.

Gayle is survived by a daughter Dorothy Barnes of Limegranddaughters stone, Stephannie and Kayla Smith, three sisters, Cheryl (Lloyd) Drake of Jasper, Sharon Brewer (James Koegel) of Canisteo, Carrie (Carroll) Wade of Jasper, one brother, David (Vicki) Van-Skiver of Andover. Several nieces, nephews and cousins. In addition to her parents, Gayle was predeceased by a sister Becky Mong, and nieces Jaimie VanSkiver and Venesa Wade.

A special thanks goes out to Yvonne Hunt for her help and for her laughter and to Dee Edmund for her unconditional and true friendship.

Calling hours were from 3 to 6 p.m. Saturday, May 7 at the H.P. Smith & Son, Inc. Funeral Home in Canisteo. A celebration of life will be planned for a later date.

Memorial contributions in Gayle's name in lieu of flowers may be made to the donor's choice.

Black student businesses showcased at Alfred State

ALFRED-The Alfred State Cultural Life Center hosted a black student business showcase in the Student Leadership Center. Six student businesses attended the event with over 100 students attending the event.

The event was organized by Cultural Life Center intern Victoria Lora. Lora worked with students of color that owned businesses and invited them to showcase their clothing or services.

Lora wanted to empower and show love and support to students of color. "Creating this black owned business showcase brought a touch of diversity to a rural area where diversity is scarce. My hopes were to help promote the business ran by students of color and introduce the college community to the variety of talent.'

OBITUARIES

William A. 'Chop' Argentieri, 94, Hornell, celebrated athlete, attorney, patriarch

WILLIAM ALEXANDER "CHOP" ARGENTIERI Attorney, athlete, family man HORNELL-William Alexander "Chop" Argentieri, 94, of Hornell, died Thursday, May 5, 2022, after a short illness and surrounded by his loving family.

A Hornell native and lifelong resident born Dec. 20, 1927, he was the son of the late Silvino and Dorothy (Feeney) Argentieri. Chop was a graduate of St. Ann's School and a member of the Class of 1945 of Hornell High School. After graduating from Alfred University in 1949, he attended the University of Buffalo Law School, receiving his Juris Doctor degree in 1952. He then went on to serve in the United States Army, returning to Hornell in 1954, where he practiced law for over forty years.

He was married Nov. 28, 1959, to Dorothy Ormsby, daughter of Dorothy raised their three children, Judy, Matt, and Kate, in Hornell, later moving to Alfred, where they resided until Dorothy's passing in 2012. Bill returned to Hornell in 2014, remaining there until his death.

Bill/Chop/Dad/Papa was a man of many experiences and interests. As a young man, Chop worked at Argentieri's Meat Market with his father Silvino and his brothers, where he received his nickname "Chop Argentieri" for his work behind the counter. In high school, he ran track and played football and basketball, later being admitted to the HHS Sports Hall of Fame. His athletic success at HHS got the attention of the coaches at Alfred University where he ultimately received a total of 12 varsity letters: four each in football, basketball, and track. In 1975, in recognition of his athletic accomplishments, Bill was selected to be a member of the first ever class inducted into the Alfred University Athletics Hall of Fame.

Bill loved being active. He continued to play recreational basketball at the YMCA until his 60s. He swam and played golf regularly until his late 80s.

After Bill and Dorothy began raising their family, being Dad became his favorite pastime. He was always there, whether it was a football game, basketball game, soccer game, cheerleading Guinevere and Rowland Ormsby event, piano recital, parade, band

The Original Undecided Voter

Mugwumps were Republicans who wouldn't vote for Blaine, That scandal-plagued and politicking Senator from Maine, Their man in 1884's fraught Presidential race-Though Guv'nor Cleveland also had some trouble saving face.

Though contemptuous its origins, more recently its use is Of one who snubs the party line by voting as he chooses— A "maverick", McCain might say ("that RINO-to-the-core!"): What others of his party loathe, he comes out voting for.

One later wit would push the definition even futher:

"They're sitting on the fence-their mug on one side, wump the other!" You could call them "wishy-washy" if you think that makes more sense; Can't decide if I'm a mugwump, too...hmm...I'm still on the fence....

of Alfred Station. Bill and concert, etc., while spending summers at Loon Lake with his family. He served as attorney for the Hornell Board of Education for many years. He was also a member of several local organizations that included: Our Lady of the Valley Parish, the Hornell Association, the Elks Club, the American Legion, the Knights of Columbus, and the Sons of Italy Carducci Lodge.

Along with being a great community and family man, Chop was an avid Buffalo Bills fan, having season tickets for over 30 years. Along with their Buffalo Bills, he and Dorothy cheered on their fave New York Yankees together. Their passion was contagious, making Bills and Yankees fans of their children and -yeseven their midwestern grandchildren!

And as almost everyone in Hornell knew, Dad was a devoted parishioner of St. Ann's Church his entire life. Consequently, whenever Dad missed daily mass, which wasn't often, people checked in to make sure all was well. In his later years, after church he usually could be found at Billy Schu's, the Texas Café or – most likely – Wegmans as he made his daily rounds. Newspaper sales may never recover!

He loved people, finding the in-law, good in everyone. As his family has often noted – he never knew a stranger. His children, grandchildren and sons-in-law knew and loved that about him as he charmed their friends and inlaws from Hornell to Chicago to Crystal Lake to Champaign. He truly was one of a kind. Oh, how we will miss him!

Bill was preceded in death by his brothers, Robert Argentieri, his wife Ginny Argentieri; Francis Argentieri; James Argentieri, his wife Phyllis Argentieri; and Mary Agnes (Argentieri) Crosby and her husband Donald Crosby. In addition, he was preceded in death by his in-laws, Heinz Zydor and Adele (Ormsby) Zydor; William Richard Brown and Alberta (Ormsby) Brown; Elizabeth (Ormsby) Hall; Rowland Ormsby and Guinevere Ormsby; and Robert Rink. His son-in-law, Benjamin Watts, and nephew Patrick Argentieri also preceded him in death.

Surviving are two daughters, Judy Argentieri of Champaign, IL, and Kate (Kevin) Nawracaj of Crystal Lake, IL; a son, Matt, of Hornell; six grandchildren: Olivia Watts, Samuel Watts, Ella Nawracaj, Ethan Nawracaj, Elise Nawracaj and Evan Nawracaj; sisters-in-law Mary Ann Argentieri and Eleanor Rink; brother-William (Teddy)

Ormsby; and many nieces, nephews, and cousins.

Calling hours will be from 5-8 p.m. Friday, June 3, 2022, at the Bishop-Johnson & DeSanto Funeral Home, 285 Main St., Hornell. Relatives and friends are invited to join his family at St. Ann's Church, 31 Erie Ave., Hornell where a Mass of Christian Burial will be celebrated at 9 a.m. Saturday, June 4, 2022. Committal prayers and interment will follow at St. Mary's Cemetery, Town of Fremont.

The United States flag and the Army flag will proudly fly at the Bishop-Johnson & DeSsanto Funeral Home in recognition of Bill's military service.

In lieu of flowers, those wishing may contribute in his memory to St. Ann's Church of Our Lady of the Valley Parish, 27 Erie Ave., Hornell, NY 14843 (envelopes will be available at the funeral home), or to a charity of the donor's choice.

The Bishop -Johnson & De-Santo Funeral Home is honored to assist Bill's family with arrangements.

ALFRED UNIVERSITY Institute for Electronic Arts awarded $15,750 grant

ALFRED–Alfred University's Institute for Electronic Arts (IEA) recently received a $15,750 Immersive Art and Technology Initiative Grant from the New York State Council on the Arts (NYSCA), IEA Director Joseph Scheer, Professor of Printmaking in the School of Art and Design, announced this week.

Scheer said the NYSCA grant will support IEA "as a new regional educational art and technology hub for technologies that are not readily available in our part of New York State.'

Specifically, the grant will support a two-week IEA workshop and symposium that draws members of Western New York's art organizations to the Alfred University campus.

'The symposium will disseminate results of the workshop, discuss the development of strategies for exhibiting this type of work, and foster future collaborations among our organizations in the region," Scheer said.

Following the workshops and symposium, IEA will partner with entities including: August, in both Rochester and Rochester Contemporary Art Buffalo.

Center; Squeaky Wheel Film and Media Arts Center; the CEPA Gallery; and the Burchfield Penny Arts Center, the latter three all located in Buffalo. Scheer said IEA already has been developing new studios in immersive technology; this initiative will enable the leveraging of the existing infrastructure and provide the creation of a new portable system to facilitate the off-siting of future workshops.

IEA's workshop and symposium will be held late July and will be taught by Assistant Professor of Video Art Eric Souther and IEA Research Specialist Yunda Sun. It is designed for a hands-on approach for artists and art educators who do not have access to technologies available on the Alfred University campus. Such access will benefit the artists and the communities they engage and serve.

The symposium will invite representatives from the organizations listed above and members of the greater Alfred community. The offsite one-day workshops will be held in early

Pandemic Escapes The Alarm Clock and The Radio

By SHANMUGAVELAYUTHAM KAMAKSHI SUNDARAM Special to The Alfred Sun

t was 1970s in Neyveli, a lignite-mining town in the south of India, before home appliances were affordable to my lower-middle or rather upper-lower-class family. We, a family of eight without an alarm clock, had creative ways of estimating time. Complementing the mining, there was a lignite – soft coal - power plant that had sirens to mark the start of new shifts at specific times, for example at 5 a.m. Neighborhood roosters, on the other hand, were somewhat unreliable.

My eldest sister had her own version of a sundial clock in our house. The sun's rays passing through a couple of pillars in our porch would cast shadows on the floor. By noting the location and counting the shifting shadows of the pillars, she would be able to predict time to leave for school. She was rarely off. We all followed her call. Then Appa (father) brought home a brand-new alarm clock one day. We were all thrilled. It was the most sophisticated thing we had ever seen. It looked exotic, especially to me and my younger sister, with its hands moving around the blue background of the dial. We kept looking and following the hands in their hourly orbits. As the sun went down and night darkened our home, the hands and the numbers on the dial started glowing bright green due to the radium used in those days. We decided to watch the long minute hand touching the number 12 at the top of an hour. We sat in front of the clock with our faces close to it and watched as the minute hand made a full circle, bringing the hour hand along with it, first to 6 p.m., and then to 7. We looked forward to the hands settling on 8 p.m. It never happened. We fell asleep before 8, perfectly happy, contented and curled up like puppies in front of a fireplace on a frigid night.

But if the clocks were a novelty, radio occupied the upper reaches of technology. To this day, I can remember a time without a radio at home. We would listen to songs from famous movies and devotional singers issuing from a neighbor's radio when played full blast, which our neighbor often did. Disk Jockies would regularly serve up popular hits very loud during weddings and festivals. Decibel levels and noise pollution were unknown in those days. I was the designated singer in our home as I had a soft feminine voice at that time, years before my voice broke into a deep note that did not initially match my face with its thin moustache, a measure of approaching maturity. I would learn many of those songs by listening to them played on the street and reading the book of songs produced cheaply by local publishers. I had memorized and sung some of them to my family, particularly at Appa's request. There were days when Appa would return home after a long shift at the power plant. We had our dinners early around 6. Soon after, he would prepare for sleep so that he could get up in plenty of time for his next morning's shift. He would ask me to massage his legs and feet. Then he would ask me to sing some of those songs. I would carefully reproduce them from memory without missing a word. He would enjoy my recital, often rocking his head and snapping his fingers in time to the beat. Sometimes, other family members would join in to listen. Appa had his favorites, which quickly added up to something of a performance list. I knew all of the songs on that list by heart. Then, one day, Appa brought home a brand new "Murphy" transistor radio, the top brand in the market. It was a beauty, bearing a picture of a with baby curled hair and chubby fingers on the front top corner of the instrument. My family was exhilarated. We started listening to news reports as well as to songs. Sometimes, when no one was watching, I would simply roll the needle of the radio back and forth across the frequency dial of stations and enjoy the cacophony the instrument produced. We planned a picnic to celebrate the arrival of this wonderful addition to our home. Amma (mother) cooked our favorite meal --- a popular variety of Tamil dishes made from cooked rice tossed with different flavors, lemon, sour tamarin, tomato, coconut, and curd, and garnished with mustard seeds, lentils, and curry leaves. We ate them spiced with lemon or mango pickles and accompanied by appalum (chips). My favorite was the coconut rice. On that picnic day, we were all getting ready to eat and to enjoy a musical program on the radio. Then, sadly, came an announcement of the death of the then president of India, Zakir Husain. On an occasion such as this, radio stations -- owned by the Indian government in those days -- would cancel all regularly scheduled programs and play the shehnai

--- a ceremonial musical instrument usually heard during marriages, processions, and funerals. For the rest of the night, we were sad and disappointed.

With the radio in the house, Appa stopped asking me to sing for him. Then, I lost that boyish voice. Singing for me, now confined strictly to my showers. But I never forgot those songs.

Fast forward to today, and Appa has been dead for over a decade. At times I will be in my car alone driving somewhere in upstate New York on a deserted road, which stretches ahead of me like a dark alley. I will accelerate the car to the speed limit. I will then sing one of those songs from my old recital list --- loud --and overpowering the roar of the engine until my throat hurts and my eyes well up with tears.

Because I know --- Appa is listening.

CONCERTS/RECITALS Sunday, April 3, 2:30 pm: The Nunda Historical Society is sponsoring internationally known musician Dennis James in 'Glass-ical Musick, his ninth performance in Nunda. James will present an entertaining ex-ploration of the history of glass music. The illustrated musical lecture-demonstration will fea-ture the glass armonica, a recre-ation of the 18th century musical instrument invented by Benjamin Franklin. Rotating on a mecha-picod opide opd rubbod with nized spindle and rubbed with water-moistened fingers, the glass armonica bowls produce notes and chords of remarkable sonority. Franklin's armonica is thought to be the first truly Amer ican musical instrument. This program is funded by a Restart NY Mini-Grant through the NYS Council on the Arts and adminis-tered by the GV Council on the Arts. This event, hosted by the Trinity Church of Nunda, 30 East Street, is handicapped accessi-ble, free, and open to the public. However, donations are grate-fully accepted. Please plan to join us for this "not-to-be-missed" program.

Mother's Day campaign underway for FFW

ALLEGANY COUNTY-The Allegany-Cattaraugus-Chautauqua Fund for Women (ACC FFW) is excited to announce its 4th annual Mother's Day campaign. After awarding three grants in 2021 and preparing to award more grants this spring (plus an expected additional round of grants to open this fall), the ACC FFW is seeking support to continue expanding its reach, since there is much more work to be done.

The organization's vision is to be a resource that will provide financial assistance and open doors for women who seek continued betterment. Upon witnessing the need in this tri-county area and digging deeper into the statistics (this area surpasses state and national averages for poverty, according to the 2021 NYS Annual Poverty report), the ACC FFW remains committed to being involved.

"We are appealing to donors during our Mother's Day Campaign to honor and remember women who have made a difference in their lives by making a donation to the ACC FFW," says president Melissa Jusianiec.

"Donations will directly fund grants for women with needs ranging from continuing education, to professional development, to supplies needed for a home business, and more.'

For each donation, the ACC FFW will plant a daffodil bulb in a community garden. Gardens will eventually span communities across the tri-county area. The 2021 garden was planted at Minard Park in Fillmore. Donations may be made online (https://www.accffw.org/donatenow) or by mail (ACC FFW, c/o CRCF, 301 North Union Street, Suite 203, Olean, NY 14760).

The Fund for Women exists to invest in the lives of women in our communities in order to promote sustained self-sufficiency. The goals of the Fund for Women are:

• To establish an endowed fund that will support the vision and mission of ACC FFW.

• To award individual and agency grants, on an annual basis, in direct proportion to our endowment, through a thorough review of applications.

• To promote philanthropy by and for women.

About ACC-FFW: The ACC-

FFW was established in 2017 to combat poverty in the tri-county area by providing women the opportunity to seek financial assistance for long-term self-improvement, and by promoting philanthropy by and for women. The ACC FFW is a component fund of the Cattaraugus Region Community Foundation, a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization. Donations to this fund are tax deductible to the extent provided by law.

Nutrition in a Nutshell Bv MARIA BOYUK

Nutritional Therapy Practitioner and Alfred Sun Columnist

Vitamin D: Preconception

hen I first started talking about vitamin D a few weeks ago, I mentioned that I will also share with you specific information on this nutrient within the context of fertility health. One of these reasons is because it plays an essential role in preconception and early pregnancy as it is needed to support embryo implantation and pregnancy viability.

If planning to or trying to conceive enjoy lots of vitamin D rich foods, take a high quality prenatal with vitamin D3, and of course, make sure you get your sunshine! Ideally we can spend about 20 minutes a day in the sun. Midday sun is the best time to absorb your vitamin D.

And it's definitely worth getting your vitamin D status checked. Since we get about 90% of our vitamin D from the sun, winter time can often lead to deficiency. And there are also many cofactors needed for the absorption of vitamin D. (This goes for everyone, not just those trying to conceive.)

If you find yourself deficient, after getting some sun, if possible, supplementation with a high quality vitamin D3 is often needed. Cofactors involved in our absorption of vitamin D include vitamin K2 since it works with vitamin D to maintain proper calcium status in our blood. As well as K2, adequate zinc and magnesium are necessary for proper vitamin D absorption.

Next time I will share with you specifics on vitamin D within pregnancy!

If you have questions or comments for Functional Nutritional Therapy Practitioner, Maria Boyuk, contact her at thrivinghealthNY.com.

2023 Proposed Levy- $133,600

Proposed Median Tax Bill (assessed for $100,000) $64.70.

The total increase to a tax bill on a home assessed for $100,000 would be $14.93. The average home assessment in the Alfred-Almond School District is $80,273.

Do It Yourself Hostess Gift

Things are opening back up and now the parties are finally coming back. Hostess gifts are a fun way to say thank you! But with the spring garden starting to grow it's so simple to cut a fresh bouquet of flowers and DIY up this pretty vase!

What You Need:

- *1 bouquet of flowers
- *1 mason jar
- *1 tea towel
- *Ribbon

First for the tea towel with white so that it's the same as the height of the mason jar. On a table lay the tea towel flat and place the mason jar on the tea towel. Tightly wrapped the mason jar in the tea towel by ruling the mason jar down the tea towel until it's completely wrapped.

Keep your hands on the tea towel so it doesn't fall off and then secure it with a ribbon. Fill the jar with water and your flowers and voilà a hostess gift!

NEWS OF THE COLLEGES llian Flint served as 'President for a Day' on May 2 for University Advancement

ALFRED–Alfred University senior Gillian Flint, a political science and accounting major from Caledonia, served as President for a Day on Monday, May 2

The Division for Student Experience Center for Student Involvement (CSI) and President Mark Zupan's Office started the President for a Day program in 2018 as a way for the student body to interact with the president. Flint, a senior from Caledonia, and Zupan walked in each other's shoes for the day.

Flint was selected as runnerup from among several nominees for the Spring 2021 President for the Day, Director of Student Activities John Lewis explained, and was invited to serve in the role this Spring.

"I would like to be Alfred University's President for a Day to gain insight to what makes AU 'Outside of Ordinary," Flint wrote in applying to be President for a Day. "In President Zupan's tenure he has highlighted the uniqueness Alfred University offers. President for a Day would be a great experience to learn transformed Alfred into what it ing Gillian's morning Advanced Accounting class, taught by Zupan in his office in Jordan Zupan began the day attend-

Rose, Zetwick named SUNY Online Teaching Ambassadors

ALFRED-Alfred State College (ASC) professors Judy Rose and Jenna Zetwick have been named SUNY Online Teaching Ambassadors. The recognition is a SUNY system level recognition of quality in course design, advocacy for the online learning experience, and enthusiasm for promoting student success in online course.

Rose is a member of the Social and Behavioral Science department while Zetwick teaches in the Allied Health department.

Director of Online Learning, Danyelle O'Brien, appreciates the dedication and advocacy both Judy and Jenna display. "I am proud that their efforts have been recognized at the SUNY level. Professor Rose and Professor Zetwick develop their online courses in a way that promotes student engagement and upholds the rigor of an Alfred State education. They explore new technologies, teaching practices, and activities to facilitate an online experience that builds community.

Rose feels it her duty to ensure that learning takes place in a safe, open, and supportive environment that encourages collaboration by fostering positive relationships with others. "The online courses I create are designed to generate enthusiasm for learning because learning occurs when a student is fully engaged in the process, makes a personal connection with the information being taught, and is able to apply the knowledge to a variety of circumstances.

Zetwick, a registered radiologic technologist and a radiation therapist, has always had a passion for helping others. "I love knowing I get to help shape the success of future health care professionals who will hopefully take the experiences I have to offer and use them to succeed in reaching their career goals and find their own passion and calling along the way. I try to keep my online learners engaged by making sure there are multiple methods of learning available to fit the different learning styles of the class.

ALFRED STATE COLLEGE Showmanship competition at college farm

ALFRED-The Alfred State College (ASC) Agriculture and Veterinary Technology Department recently held a successful Showmanship Competition at the college farm. Students showcased horses, goats, and dairy COWS.

The event started with competition in each of the three animal classes. Champions were named in each category and those competitors advanced to the grand championship.

Anna Blessing (Schenectady) was named the champion of the horse competition while Madison Harrington (Elba) took the top spot in the goat division.

Abigail Beidel (Newville, PA), Emily Crooks (Hamlin), Sarah Keehan (Fultonville), and Nicholas Marvin (Lake Placid) advance out of their classes into the championship round of the dairy competition. In the championship round, Beidel and Marvin moved on the championship round

In the championship round, Madison Harrington was named Master Showman while Nicholas Marvin earned Reserve Master Showman honors.

Philip Schroeder, department chair of the Agriculture and Veterinary Technology Department was pleased with the event.

"This year's Showmanship Competition was a great opportunity for our students to show what they have learned and have fun working with the animals. We are very proud of every student who competed!'

Virginia Chamberlain, the college Farm Manager, and Bryce Hamilton, who works on a 65cow dairy farm in Attica, served as the judges.

The event was one of three events at the farm this spring. The College Agricultural Leaders Club hosted a dairy consignment sale of over 100 animals and the farm hosted local high school students for an experience fair. At the experience fair students met with ten agricultural businesses, toured the facilities, and interacted with current students in the Agricultural programs.

Madison Harrington displays her Master Showman ribbon along with judge Bryce Hamilton.

Stay up and watch May 15 eclipse

Alfred Sun Columnist

Once again the moon has come to our aid. In mid-April a full moon gave the extra lift needed (at no cost) to free the Ever Forward - a ship stuck in the mud of the Chesapeake Bay

Come the early evening of May 15, if the sky is clear, the same celestial object will give us a spectacular, long, total eclipse of itself. For us in Eastern Daylight Time (EDT), the show begins at 9:32 p.m., reaches totality at 11:29 p.m., and lasts until 12:52 a.m. So don't plan on going to bed early.

A neat side observation will be the nearby red eye of Scorpio, Antares, and the glow of our Milky Way rising out of the southeast to span the sky in an arc. We on Earth are providing the shadow cast out into space toward our satellite.

If you miss this one, wait until November 8 – the second in one year. This one, though, begins in the middle of the night! Hope for clear skies....

For the Birds (By Betsy Brooks) two events of this past week prove once again how interconnected and amazing the bird world is! A class of fifth grade students from Rochester was dissecting an owl pellet (probably from a Long-eared Owl) they discovered while on a field trip in an owl roosting area at Braddock Bay. As they separated mammal bones from bird skeletons, they found a bird band with a number on it. When the number on the band was tracked down, we learned that the band had been put on a cardinal by Rochester bander Bob McKinney about a mile from the owl roost several years ago! Too bad for the cardinal...but good food for the Long-eared Owl!.. Mr. and Mrs. Brent L. Thursday, May 12

Referring to the War for Independence while addressing the New Jersey State Senate in 1861, Abraham Lincoln said:

"I am exceedingly anxious that this Union, the Constitution, and the liberties of the people shall be perpetuated in accordance with the original idea for which that struggle was made. And I shall be most happy, indeed, if I shall be an humble instrument in thehands of the Almighty...for perpetuating the object of that great struggle."

LOCAL NEWS Lighthouse Christian Fellowship holds 30th annual Senior Sunday

ALFRED-Lighthouse Christian Fellowship Church on Sunday, May 1 held its 30th Annual Senior Sunday for graduating seniors from Alfred University and Alfred State College. This year, LCF honored seven students who were completing various Bachelor, Master's and Doctorate programs at Alfred University.

Lighthouse Christian Fellowship (LCF) actually began in 1979 as Lighthouse Student Ministries, a college student outreach, that eventually grew into its place as a local church in the Alfred community in 1985. Since its beginning, the LCF family has connected relationally with well over 1,000 students and staff from the two schools, with more than 80% of the current congregation alumni of AU and ASC.

The primary purpose of LCF is to be a "home away from home" to students from near and far, with previous members attending from places such as,

S pring is considered a good time to deep clean your home. To really get your house in order, expand the tradition to include tidying your finances. Doing so can help alleviate stress and give you a sense of confidence. Here are five steps to help you organize and polish your financial life.

1. Toss paper and secure passwords. It's easy to get mired in paper, even in the electronic age. Pull out the shredder and dispose of old bills and notices. If you store passwords on paper, consider moving them to a more secure password storage device for improved security. While you're at it, change your passwords to reduce your risk of getting hacked.

2. Assess your financial stability. Review your personal cash flow by preparing a summary of money coming in and money going out to pay bills, fund your lifestyle and handle emergencies during a set period of time. Calculate your assets and liabilities to get an estimate of your net worth. Watch for creeping living costs and look for opportunities to grow earnings, reduce debt, slash spending and increase savings.

3. Streamline cards and memberships. Use those gift cards accumulating in your wallet. Consider eliminating memberships that are not a good value. Close that old bank account if you no longer use it. Revisit rates for insurance policies, cable and phone contracts and other ongoing costs that may be renegotiated, bundled or improved by switching to a competitor.

4. Touch up your estate plan. Update your will or trust to ensure it reflects your wishes. Confirm that your beneficiary designations are current, especially if there's been a divorce, birth or death in your family. Protect yourself further by assigning a power of attorney and creating a living will and advance directive according to your personal wishes and state requirements.

5. Refresh your savings and investments. Make sure your emergency fund is sufficient to handle an unexpected setback. Check in on your retirement savings to determine if you're still on track. If you're earning more, consider saving more. Make saving automatic with each paycheck. If you have a 401(k) with a former employer, a rollover may offer more investment options and reduce your fees. Consider diversifying your investments to better align with changes in your life. Spring is a great time to meet with your financial advisor for your annual review and refine your financial plan based on evolving life goals and circumstances.

Japan, Indonesia, Korea, Saudi Arabia, Mexico, Puerto Rico, Ukraine and China, to mention a few.

A few of this year's graduates commented:

"Even though my experience at Lighthouse wasn't that long, I still felt very welcome as if I'd been there all of my life, even my first-time attending service. Attending service brought a new feel emotionally and religiously, about me as an individual and my relationship with Jesus."

-Sarah, AU 2022 "Lighthouse has been a huge part of my time here at Alfred. I came here with no hope that I would find a church family during my college career, but I am blessed to have met a few friends from the LCF, and from there on I knew that this was the place I was to be planted for a while. I have experienced tremendous spiritual growth from being connected with Lighthouse."

-Merveille, AU 2022 "The members of Lighthouse became my family and community. I have been challenged to grow spiritually and personally... This ministry has impacted my life along with many others. The way they are intentional about pouring into and loving students have created an impact that reaches many generations."

–Jahmila, AU 2022 "LCF is a church that loves on college kids and turns them into mature men and women of Christ. It's a home away from home, a family for when your relatives are hundreds (or a few) miles away. An amazing environment of Kingdom of Heaven teachings and truths. Your college education is just a bonus." –Alex, AU 2022

At present, a second generation of students has begun coming to Lighthouse, whose parents participated in the ministry during the 1990's when they attended college here in Alfred. In this, LCF is fulfilling God's call on His Church to be a "generation to generation" ministry.

"Being in such an academically minded community, we believe that every person should be equipped spiritually as well as mentally and emotionally, to function best in their future stations in life," said LCF Pastor Roger Gardner, "To accomplish this, LCF believes that a personal relationship with Jesus Christ as well as a strong relational connection with a local body of like-minded believers will be imperative to their level of success.

"As each year we send out another generation into the world, we look forward to the next 'crop' that will be coming in the fall, he added, "Shaping the hearts and minds of ensuing generations is a never-ending challenge and yet it's a fulfilling opportunity for those of us who live in such an amazing community as Alfred."

HITS AND MISSES:

The Alfred Saxons softball team (25-14) is off to the NCAA Division III tournament for the second consecutive season after they won the Empire Eight post season championship at Harrington Field in Alfred this past weekend. It took Alfred an "extra game" to finally put away SJ Fisher as the #1-2 seeds played each other three times in the double elimination format. The Saxons eased by Nazareth, 3-2 in their opener in the 1-4 seeded game. As Fisher was taking care of The Sage Colleges, Alfred and the Cardinals then tangled three times. AU won, 5-1 and then lost, 6-2 to set-up the winner take all championship tilt. Alfred drubbed the Pittsford school, 9-0 to secure their NCAA automatic berth. Last year Alfred beat SJ Fisher on the road in the E8 tourney to land the automatic bid. Where is AU headed this week? The "Selection Show" was Monday afternoon ... long after The Janitor was requesting this column. The championship will be held in Salem, Virginia. Janitor Update: Alfred goes to NJ as Kean is host of that pod.

All three of the "local" teams held serve as the host facility in their respective softball conferences as Geneseo and the University of Rochester won league championships. Geneseo won the SUNYAC title with wins over Plattsburgh, Oneonta and in the title game, by thumping Cortland, 9-0. The Knights are a gaudy (34-4) now and perhaps will be a regionally host? (Update: Yes!) No idea what the NCAA requires to do that other than having a solid playing field to begin with. The Yellowjackets of UR beat Skidmore and then RPI twice to win the Liberty League championship. (UR goes to Amherst, MA)

Turning to the Division III conference lacrosse tournaments it was three games of epic blowouts in the E8 men's tourney as Nazareth drilled Alfred, 27-3 and SJ Fisher smashed Hartwick, 23-3 in the semifinal contests. The nationally ranked Cardinals of SJF then won the league trophy/banner with a convincing, 30-11 win over 'Naz at Growney Stadium in Pittsford. The Saxons completed a (10-5) campaign and Fisher (15-2) is off to the NCAA's with the automatic berth. Their two losses were to RIT, the defending national champ and Union from the strong Liberty League.

The brackets are set for the NCAA D3 men's lacrosse tournament and before seeing those brackets would've picked RIT, Salisbury and Tufts as three of the programs to make the "Final Four." After viewing the brackets, that can't happen, as Salisbury is in the lower right portion of the brackets along with Tufts and SJ Fisher. Yikes! The four teams that made the Liberty League semi-finals are also in the NCAA's as RPI will play Wesleyan (CT), St. Lawrence travels to Cortland from the SUNYAC's, Union gets the winner of John Carroll-N. Central and RIT gets the winner of Albion-Dubuque. SJ Fisher plays Catholic in their opener. RIT beat Salisbury at RIT last season to win the NCAA championship and they could meet on that field again in the semi-finals. The finals will be held in East Hartford, CT on a lacrosse weekend that will also have the D2 title game and the D1 men's semi-finals and finals. That will be held on Memorial Day weekend. "Think" Adelphi wins the D2 tourney quite often. Did Syracuse make the D1 field? Think Maryland is the favorite in that division?

The SJ Fisher Cardinals won their 10th straight Empire Eight women's lacrosse championship as they beat Nazareth in the league title game, 12-7. So it was a "double dipper" of losses by the 'Naz men and women to the Fisher men and women in the E8 lax contests. Salisbury is the defending women's D3 lacrosse champion. The Gulls lost in the 2019 title game to Middlebury and the 2020 season was cancelled due to Covid-19.

The banner season for the Alfred State baseball team rolls along as the Pioneers beat PS-Altoona twice on Sunday in the Allegheny Play Better Golf with JACK NICKLAUS

DUGOUT CONTINUED...

Mountain Collegiate Conference and they next get Mt. Aloysius. Guessing that is in the league semi-finals? The Pioneers (20-20) rallied to win their opener, 6-4 and then destroyed the visitors in the second contest, 16-1. PS-Behrend will host the semi-finals and finals this week. Behrend will play La Roche in the other semi-final grouping. Alfred State lost their first 12-games of the season, mostly on their "southern tour," and 15 of 17. Not a bad bounce back!

Coach Tim Mead and his Walsh Cavs baseball team (26-20) out in Ohio won five straight games last week and they secured the sixth and last spot in the Great Midwest Athletic Conference. They will play Tiffin at Prasco Park in Mason, OH in a 1-6 seed contest. Ashland, Trevecca Nazarene, Kentucky Wesleyan and Cedarville are the other teams in the tourney. Cedarville, where Raegan Ryan of Canisteo played her college hoops and she was the conference Player of the Year during her senior season.

Coach Skip Sherman and his Genesee CC baseball program dropped a couple of twinbills last week, to Erie CC and to Niagara County CC to land at (15-21) at that point. After that they took four straight from Broome CC to complete their regular season. Broome CC .. where men's basketball coach, Dick Baldwin gathered in his 500th career win in a game versus Alfred State and the once-legendary Kaz. Baldwin eventually gathered in 876-wins in a career, mostly at Broome and finishing up at Binghamton.

As of Sunday past the Rochester Red Wings (Nats) were tied at the top of the IL East baseball standings with a (17-12) slate. They were joined there by the Lehigh Valley IronPigs and the Jacksonville Jumbo (Bassage) Shrimps. The Buffalo Bisons were one game behind those three and the Norfolk Tides were hanging in there at (14-15) ... with a booming season of sales ahead for Food Service GM, Scott O. Lorow at Harbor Park Stadium. The Syracuse Mets (10-19) were in a last place tie with Scranton WB.

Basketball players are coming and going in the NCAA D1 transfer ranks and the Bonnies in Olean are getting left behind ... perhaps. Their five senior starters are apparently headed elsewhere as Jaren Holmes is off to Iowa State, Kyle Lofton might go to Arizona, plus Osun Osunniyi and Dominick Welch were looking at Florida. And Jalen Adaway currently is in the NBA draft, but that could change. Backup center, Abdoul Kerim Coulibaly is leaving for UMass-Lowell. Inward bound: Kyrell Luc from Holy Cross, (Roger) Moses Flowers from Hartford and Daryl Banks from St. Peter's ... making UK fans happy they don't have to deal with him again! Hopefully head coach Mark Schmidt has a solid frosh class coming in.

Georgetown and head coach Patrick Ewing have landed a transfer from UConn ... Akok Akok. "Guess" they couldn't think of a first-name when he was born? The Hoyas need all the help they can get off a (6-25)men's basketball season.

Have been watching some of the NBA playoffs, although still prefer watching the college ranks (Duke). A casual Celtics fan and it just amazes me in that series how many times Giannis Antetokounmpo basically "bowls defenders over" and there is no call. Obviously he's a great player, but pretty tough to stop when he is allowed to do that. Boston didn't get much help on Saturday past from their co-star, Jason Tatum as he was a dreadful 4-for-19 from the field ... but still kept on forcing shots up, hauling in one rebound ... yes, one and had three assists. With all of that, Boston lost 103-101 in game three. If the Bucks won on Monday past, series over. And in the Memphis-Golden State series, will the officials ever call palming or carrying the ball on Ja Morant? Again, a great player, but yikes!

As a very casual NHL fan. see that the Boston Bruins and Carolina Hurricane were tied 2-2 in their series ... Kaz! Games five and six this week, Tuesday-Thursday. Tuesday past at NC State where the former Alfred State College hoop coach will be attendance. Our Man Frank will not be.

Received a newspaper clip from former Torrey Painting Strider, Derck Frechette last week on the PBA50 National Championship from The Villages in Florida where Parker Bohn III beat Brad Angelo from Lockport in the finals at the Spanish Springs Lanes. Angelo was coming off a season opening win in Ft. Myers the week prior.

Angelo the son of Nin Angelo from the classic Buffalo show, "Beat the Champ," back in the day! Pete Weber was fifth, Walter Ray Williams, Jr. sixth and Rvan Shafer from Elmira was 28th at Spanish Springs. Where was Norm Duke? Backing up to the Oneonta Little Big Man basketball tournament from the column last week and reserves over the years for the Bandits included the likes of: coaches Beyer, Spanny and Kaz. A-A Class of '79 teammates in Taft, Hilly and Cutter. Plus Ivan and the non-dunking Our Man Frank. Stevie Andrews (RPI) would've been a great addition а sprained ankle in the tourn e y halted that. Champs in 1991-92-94. third in 1993 Brian Andrews was the tourney MVP twice and a co-MVP with Billy Bowe the other championship year.

There was a posting on FB last week, something like: restaurants or diners? Well, diners of course! Back in the day when Lauren and I would travel around on vacation, would always look for a diner wherever we happened to be. From then and other times, some I've been to and enjoyed, the railroad cars are the best: Prospect Diner in Lake George, Crazy Otto's Empire in Herkimer, Pete's Legacy in Vestal, the Silver Diner in Fairfax (Va.) and one in Maryland with 3L, maybe the Mountain View Diner? Plus the Highland Park Diner in Rochester. Question was asked by Esther Ormsby, to me on diners. Others: Jay's in Rochester, Steve's in Henrietta, Ma's in Webster, the Downtown Diner in Lake Placid and Walt's in Old Forge. Sure there are others. Actually sat behind Art and Esther Ormsby at the recent Bob Baker memorial service.

Spotted a couple of NYS vanity plates last week: BEN-

GAĽÚV ... get to one Super Bowl and they jump the on band

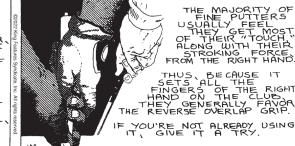

wagon! "Lefty" if living in NYS. Also: PE4KIDS

The Champions Tour of golf will have back-to-back "majors" on their schedule starting this week with the Regions Tradition. Two weeks after it'll be the Senior PGA ... which was at Oak Hill in Rochester in 2019.

Watched a little of the PGA Tour event over the weekend in the rain-swept event from the TPC Potomac at Avenel Farm in Maryland. One sound bite had Sergio Garcia complaining about a "time rule" and probably rightfully so. When doing so, Garcia goes "can't wait to leave this tour." Good-bye!

Not sure if the "Traveling Sports Fan" from Almond was out in Cleveland this past weekend to see a couple of baseball games at Progressive Field? Blue Jays and Guardians of the Galaxy.

Looking forward to this ming wee end as golfing with brother-in-law, Brian on Saturday morning at Twin Hills in Spencerport, dinner with Lauren-Jason-Quinny-Rowy on Saturday nite and then all six of us meeting for breakfast on Sunday morning at Jay's Diner. Getting together some plans for the upcoming summer/fall of travel in an attempt to keep pace with Cody on "not staying at home" too long! Virginia-Saratoga-Old Forge for starters.
