Pianist To Play For Assemblies

Miss Joyce Barthelson, composer, conductor, and pianist, is scheduled to present a lecture-recital, "That Eighteenth Century Drawing Room," in the Ag-Tech and University Assemblies at 9:00 and 11:00 o'clock, respectively, Thursday.

The music of Mozart, Haydn, and Gluck; and the minuets and jawnnes of the seventeen-hundreds will be discussed and illustrated, on the piano, by Miss Barthelson.

As a composer Miss Barthelson is best known for her "Overture in A Minor," which has been performed by the Denver Symphony Orchestra, and her "Ballad for Hossy," a program work for the piano and orchestra. Her other compositions included many choral works and songs.

A protegee of Mrs. Edward McDowell, widow of the composer, Miss Barthelson has appeared with many of the famous American musical organizations during the past ten years. For two seasons she has been a member of the celebrated McDowell Colony in Peterboro, N. H.

Joyce Barthelson's music is considered by many critics as definitely belonging to the "American School" for it has a distinct and unique idiom of its own.

Game Broadcast, Money Allotments Planned by Senate

The St. Lawrence-Alfred football game to be played November 1, will be broadcast to Alfred from Canton. The Student Senate has voted to grant a partial allotment for the broadcast, and other student organizations will do their share in bringing the events of the game to the students on campus.

A committee of five senators, with Arthur Petri as chairman, was appointed to go over the appropriation forms submitted by the various organizations and to draw up a temporary budget. Members of the committee are Barbara Hill, Paul Pettit, Douglas Beals and Alfred Austin.

Representatives from the various campus organizations will be allowed to come before the Senate, Wednesday, October 22, and a permanent budget will be drawn up at that time.

French Club to Sponsor Drive for Used U.S. Stamps

Old, cancelled stamps may mean health and happiness to a victim of the German oppression in France.

One million used United States stamps can provide a bed in a French hospital if they are sent to the proper authorities.

The French Club is sponsoring a drive to collect the stamps which will be sent to Miss Ann Green, sister of the French author, Julian Green. Miss Green, who is now in America, is urging American students to do this slight, but effective bit, to aid the war-burdened French people.

A box will be placed outside of the post office in which cooperative students are urged to drop the stamps after getting their mail. Women living in the brick may leave their contributions in the hall girl's office. Any student of French is urged to collect stamps from his friends so that Alfred may amass enough to support the worthy project.

Two Former Ceramic Students Organize Extensive Local Pottery Industry

What is more fitting than that Alfred, having one of the foremost Ceramic schools in the country, should also have a Ceramic industry of its own. The location of the "industry" is on North Main Street, directly off the practice field.

Mr. and Mrs. Glidden Parker are the industrialists. Both are former students of the Ceramic school. During the past year between 2,000 and 3,000 pieces of pottery have been made and sold. They do all of the decorating

Fraternity Rushing Season To Start; Freshman Men To Meet Greek Groups

The Frosh men are getting ready to enjoy themselves for the next few weeks, because fraternity rushing starts this coming Friday night.

The fellows will be divided into four groups of about twenty-five each. On Friday of this week all Frosh will receive a card inviting them to attend a certain fraternity house from eight 'til twelve. They will be shown around the house; they will be able to ask questions about the cost and such; and entertainment will be provided by the fraternity men.

Invited To All Houses

Each Friday night they will be invited to a different house until they have seen them all and have met all of their members. On the fifth Friday night the frosh can visit the house that they liked best and the one that they wish to pledge.

On the next morning, Saturday, each will receive a card in the mail on which are the names of the four houses which were visited, Delta Sig, Klan Alpine, Kappa Psi Upsilon, and Lambda Chi Alpha.

The fellows will show their preference by numbering each one. These cards have a return address on them, and must be in the mail by six o'clock of that same day.

Must Keep Silence

From the last Friday night until the following Tuesday night no freshman is allowed to speak to any fraternity man except for the customary "hello". This is known as the "silent period". On that same Tuesday night all frosh must be in their rooms from 7:30 until 8:00. Prospective pledges will be ushered to the various houses where the Pledge Ceremony will take place.

Kappa Nu will rush the Jewish boys all during the five week period.

She will be assisted in the office by Mrs. Margaret S. Bond and Mrs. Ruth Norwood Dennis '35.

$100-$150 Damage Done By Church Street Fire

Firemen were called a little before one o'clock Saturday afternoon to extinguish a fire at the Belovsky home on Church Street. The fire apparently started in a waste basket near an outside stairway.

UB-AU Game, Dances To Be High Spots of Annual Homecoming

Varsity Team to Meet Buffalo Bisons Saturday Night for 22d Time

Highlighting the social side of the annual Homecoming celebration this year will be a Tea Dance, Saturday afternoon, October 25, from 3:30 until 5:30 p. m.; and a Victory Dance, which will start immediately after the Alfred-Buffalo football game. This will continue until midnight. Both dances will be held in the college gymnasium.

Schuster Indicted For Gross Contempt Of Frosh Court

Indicted for the most dastardly crime to date was William Schuster, junior, Sunday night in the second session of the Frosh Court.

Schuster was charged with gross contempt of court. He pleaded not guilty to the charge and elected to defend himself. He was unsuccessful in convincing the egregious judiciary of his innocence although the court room was plunged into hysterics several times by the antics of the accused.

Although the sentiment of the spectators was apparently in the side of Schuster the court found him guilty and sentenced him to recite a poem. Schuster may take his case to the supreme court of the land.

Also on the docket were: Richard Blackburn, who was sentenced to wear fifteen ties, paste cardboard ears on his own, wear a barrel; Douglas Cohen, who was sentenced to tie a string on each finger, wear a rope-bow on his neck, wear "Hello" sign, wear one roller skate to class; Richard Reid, pull a "peachy" wagon, wear a football outfit, wear a sign "All-American Reid"; Robert Howard was acquitted because he couldn't buy a cap when they were all out of them; Jack Bader is to wear 6-inch block of wood under one foot, carry 6-foot pole with hat on top, carry sign "I am upholding Alfred traditions".

Donald Mundenback is to push a baby-carriage between classes, wear baby bonnet, carry nursing bottle under arm, wear sign "I am a Big City Boy"; Irving Greenburg is to wear a sign "I am a Hatrack" wear a hood to cover face, wear dress over clothes, wear one black and one white shoe; Mr. Glazer must wear a sign of a girl around his neck with a sign "The One And Only"; Frank Cornish is to wear a sign "I am a Wise Guy," drag books to class in a basket, suspend an auto-tire from shoulders around waist.

Harvest Moon Ball Scheduled at Ag-Tech School

The Harvest Moon Ball, the annual Ag-Tech dance, will be held Saturday, November 29, in the University Gymnasium from 8 until 12.

Committees are as follows: Andrew Nicholls and Byron Worthing, orchestra; Maxim Bobinski and Jerry Smith, publicity; Ethlynn Baldwin and Walter Moshier, decorations.

Roger Feldhausen '42, Student Senate President, recently elected chairman of the dance, points out that "Inasmuch as this is the largest social function of the Ag-Tech, its success will depend upon the cooperation of the entire Institute."

W.S.G. Meets Tonight

There is to be a compulsory W. S. G. meeting for all freshman women and transfers tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Physics Hall, Mildred Pivetz '42, W. S. G. President has announced.

Glad You're Coming

At Alumni gatherings, more than at any other time, undergraduate students realize the vastness of college life. The return of alumni to the campus once or twice a year serves to broaden the undergraduate's view of life. In the first place, the student realizes that a University is not made up alone of regularly enrolled students attending classes daily, but instead that the University is made up both of its students and its alumni. In the second place, the alumni serve as an inspiration. Their successes in many fields and the variety of activities which they pursue indicate to the student what the fruits of a college career may be. One must not assume, however, that success in the chosen fields of endeavor automatically follows college training. More than college is needed.

For the lift you give us, and for your friendliness and sincere interest, we look forward eagerly to the time when you alumni return to the campus which we now hold dear as you do. It isn't often that we can say to you, "We're glad you're coming back," but when we do have that chance as we do for Homecoming, October 25, believe us when we say, "The campus is yours. We hope we can give you a good time while you're here."

Citizenship

The efforts of the young men and women, representatives of the NYA resident centers of New York State, who met at Lima, recently, to discuss and define citizenship, are significant and will surely have a widespread influence. This group which was composed of the officers of these various resident centers met in an attempt to map out ways in which they could better their own contribution to democracy. Their conclusion was that they could best contribute to the country's inner defense by "taking responsibility in their daily work at resident centers."

The sincere, constructive attitude shown by these young men and women may serve as a rebuke to the whole nation for its lack of interest in, and its disregard for, the vital matter of citizenship. Citizenship has been defined as man in relation to other men, and also as an unselfish interest in one's fellow beings. Many persons have felt that citizenship was of no great importance because its basis was too idealistic, and could, therefore, never be a very great factor in life. Gradually, however, a few have been able to see that man's happiness is directly and definitely determined by the happiness of his neighbor, and that eventually, greater happiness will come to each individual if society as a whole is happier.

The Lima youth conference should be the starting point for an intelligent, sincere approach to better, more meaningful living.

Lend-Lease Bill

The desperate efforts of Russia to check the advance of Hitler's armed forces on the Russian capital have a counterpart in the lend-lease bill which was passed by the House, Saturday, with a large majority. The new lend-lease would bring the appropriations for supplying war equipment and food to the nations resisting Hitler to $12,985,000,000. The measure passed by the House will lift any bans on aid to Russia. The Senate appropriations sub-committee began hearings on the bill today and it is thought that the Senate will take it up next Tuesday.

The speedy passage of the bill after a two-day debate by the House should be seconded in the Senate next week. The quick passage of the bill is essential considering Russia's urgent need for help. Whether or not sufficient aid can be given to Russia in time is a definite problem, but at least the passage of the bill will certainly further the whole campaign against Hitlerism.

C.—(ACP)—A 17-year-old North Carolina boy who has made amazing progress since he began playing a piano at the age of five, and a 19-year-old North Dakota girl, who already has won many honors in writing and acting, have been selected as recipients of the first Kay Kyser scholarships in music and drama, recently established at the University of North Carolina.

KENT, OHIO—(ACP)—Concrete tennis courts with a triple purpose are being constructed at Kent State University. In addition to their use for tennis, the courts also will be used as the stage of an outdoor amphitheater seating 10,000 persons and as an ice-skating rink.

Welcome Back, Homecomers!

"Mr. President, would you like to say a word of welcome to the Homecomers of 1941 through the columns of Fiat Lux?" "Yes, Miss Perry, your suggestion as Editor of Fiat Lux is a good one. I shall be very glad to greet them." So here I am, Homecomers, again sending you in advance my cordial welcome to this increasingly popular annual event.

It is a fine time of year to come, although I fear that by the 25th of October some, if not all, of the autumnal glory will have faded from our hill-sides. Dry weather has limited it this year at best. But you will have a grand time here. The campus has been well manicured; some nine hundred young people invaded Alfred in late September—a fine lot; the team while frost bitten a little by the Selective Service Law and other distracting influences is nevertheless making a good showing, and Coach Yunevich is busier than ever. Defeated by Rutgers 33-0, it overwhelmed Hartwick 19-7. You will see a good game with Buffalo.

The Susan Howell Social Hall will open its doors, the Alumni Office will welcome you with open arms, and coffee and the trimmings will be ready. You will see hosts of friends and old acquaintances. They are returning in ever larger numbers. Don't fail to come. Alma Mater beckons you; faculty, students, and town friends will greet you; and I, personally, and officially, am glad to send this advance call and assurance of welcome.

Editor's Mail Bag

Editor, Fiat Lux:

There are two points in the training of a naval aviator that stand out in my mind. First, he is trained primarily to be a naval officer and second, he is trained to be a naval aviator. This is true because a naval aviator is an officer of the line and he must be able to perform the duties of any line officer, a line officer being any officer not in one of the various staff corps, such as the medical, dental, supply corps and the like. They are in charge of the actual operation of the ships whether in combat or in non-combat conditions.

The other point that stands out is the fact that his training is better than that of the army flying cadet. The main reason for this is that during the training period the naval cadet flies the same airplanes that are actually being used in the fleet. This is not done in the training of an army pilot. As much as half of the total flying time is spent in the type of plane used in the particular squadron to which he will be assigned. Altogether about 250 hours of flight instruction is given and about six months is required to complete the course.

However, before he can even begin to fly the cadet must go through two weeks of indoctrination and four weeks of ground school. Then he begins a period of nine weeks in which he flies for one half of the day and attends ground school the other half. When those 15 weeks are completed he is then available for flying the whole day.

He becomes acquainted with fundamentals of the naval service and seamanship during his indoctrination period. The cadet is also drilled for two and a half hours a day in order to prepare him for the time when he shall have to drill a platoon of blue-jackets. He studies subjects concerning airplanes, engines, and other subjects pertinent to aviation in the first month of ground school. These classes run from 0630 until 1545 (using the naval system of marking time) and constitute a heavier schedule than any put out by Alfred University, including the Ceramic College. In order to get this schedule in during the day, reveille is at 0515 and taps at 2100. Reveille used to be at 0500, but since the days have become shorter and darker, and it is plenty dark at 0500, we are allowed to sleep as late as 0515, what a break! In other words we are kept occupied for 16 hours of the day. The other eight hours are permitted for sleeping, another fine break. This heavy schedule is necessary because the training period has been cut down from a year to six months.

The following nine weeks of ground school are used to teach navigation. During the whole time of ground school, radio code, the boon of all aviators, is studied from start to finish. It is the one eternal part of his education and is as eternal as his uniform.

The pleasant side of ground school is that the cadet need not worry a great deal about "busting out". The instructors are here to pass him rather than to fail him, even if it takes two or three re-examinations. Although the cadet may easily be "busted out" by his flying, he is rarely failed because of his ground school.

Aviation Cadet

College Town --By The Editors

We'll have to bow this week to an old grad, a former editor of the Fiat, in fact, as we take stock of this yarn. Ed Creagh '38, now a reporter on the Olean Times-Herald and author of the column "State and Union" says, "Did you know . . . that Alfred University never really got started until a boy kissed a girl?"

"The future University" was meeting in an upstairs room while the village singing school met in a church north of the present village. Both wanted a place of their own, but money was scarce and matters drifted along.

"And then one night it happened. A young man kissed a young lady during the singing school in church. There was a great commotion. It was generally agreed that the singing school would have to find another place to meet.

"So the singing school" and the "select school" pooled resources and for $550 erected the first school building, known to the dignified as the Cadmus and to the others as the Horned Bug.

"Just as Zoe Beckley always says, a kiss is not to be taken lightly; for all you know, it may start a university."

Thanks, Mr. Creagh. It's good reading to say the least.

It's a case of mistaken middle initial, rather than identity, that creates the situation on our campus in which Robert Thomas Williams, a frosh Aggie, and Robert Leon Williams '44, our news editor, both of Rochester, are repeating their confusing actions of several years back at camp.

At that time money for one and packages for the other were confused and given to the wrong party.

Now they meet again and the subject of controversy this time is a bit more personal. Robert Thomas has been receiving mail intended for Robert Leon from a femme (maybe his mother), and Robert Thomas says to Robert Leon, "Prove it!"

Therefore, Robert Leon Williams wishes to hereby make public notice that all mail intended for him should be addressed to Kappa Psi.

Master Singers Encored Here

It goes without saying that a book worth reading is worth re-reading. That is the case also of the Master Singers Quartet which appeared in the Ag-Tech and University Assemblies here Thursday. The third appearance of this group was hailed with as much enthusiasm as were the two former appearances. The number of encores requested by the listeners indicated the group's appeal.

The vocalists, singing for a total of 800 persons in the two performances, Thursday, demonstrated their versatility by their program of popular and classical selections. In addition to the fine group singing, the quartet presented some interesting solos. Outstanding among these were the two piano selections, "Gopak" by Moussorgsky and "Troika" by Tchaikovsky, rendered by the group's accompanist, Harry Pusey.

The program follows:
Cossack Love Song Kountz
Prelude in C Sharp Minor Rachmaninoff

De Glory Road Jack Wolfe
(Solo part sung by Emil Tafinger)
Song of Songs Moya
(Solo by Bernard VanHefte, first tenor)

De Lord's Prayer Albert Hay Malotte
Song of the Open Road Albert Hay Malotte

Donkey Serenade
Gopak From movie "Firefly"
Troika Moussorgsky
Troika Tchaikovsky

Beyond The Valley

by George Hyams

You get quite a kick out of seeing something that you've written printed. Maybe that is why turning out stuff for newspapers is a lot of fun. You pretty well know that the end of your work will be the waste basket or a base for the inside of a bureau drawer. But it is still a lot of fun.

Put a fellow behind a typewriter and he feels rather independent. He's the boss. He's picking the words and stringing them together. And to a certain degree he is saying what he wants to say.

George Seldes will tell you, and it is probably true, that the newspaper writer in reality turns out what his employer, be he Hearst or Marshall Field, desires. The ordinary hack newspaperman probably gets used to following the precepts of the boss and doesn't mind. But once in a while a Broun comes along who kicks up his heels and yells "No" for all to hear.

Most of the stuff that goes on the printed page of a paper is forgotten quickly. Once in a great while a piece will live. The New York Sun's famed editorial to Virginia entitled, "Is There a Santa Claus" and William Allen White's remarks about his daughter Mary White live on and become literature.

Newspapers and newspaper writers have given us some good anecdotes and stories. Maybe it is because of the nature of the business and the people that are drawn into its ranks. You don't find FPA's or Broun's in the shirt business.

Speaking of Broun—When he was a sportswriter he turned in a story covering a ball game and stated that a large and intelligent crowd was present. Other papers reported a small and unresponsive crowd in attendance. Broun's editor telegraphed for an explanation. And Broun telegraphed right back, "Fatty Arbuckle was in the stands. He is large. I am intelligent."

REVEILLE IN WASHINGTON

By Margaret Leach

Do you like history and biography? If you do, then you will enjoy "Reveille in Washington". There are four hundred pages of vivid, colorful description of those days of peril; 1860-1865. In this book we find a true picture of events during the Civil War. Washington, District of Columbia, with its unfinished capitol dome, its mud, dust, politicians, office seekers, and important Americans of whom we at one time or another, have heard. It is not dry history, but an enervating view of those early days in Washington. It is the story of the awakening of a nation, and how it effected our capitol city.

Willard's hotel and bar, where many Americans and foreigners spent many hours, the White House after entree of a new president, and the description of the funeral of Lincoln are only three of the many outstanding pictures presented.

The author, Margaret Leach, is the wife of Ralph Pulitzer and a Vassar graduate. She spent five year on this most worthy and scholarly work.

An appendix filled with important data adds to the interest and practicality of the book. Included in the appendix are a very interesting list of bills for Lincoln's funeral, a chronology of main events, many interesting biographical notes, and four full pages of bibliography.

"Reveille in Washington" has been honored by being a book of the month selection. It is a great book of a worried but not weary city, and of the men and people who worked to make it what it is to-day.

Steinheim Reveals 1886 Woman Suffrage Clash

By Alice Schryver '42

Things found in the Steinheim Museum often uncover or relate interesting stories of Alfred's history. There was for instance, Mrs. Lucy Sweet Barber, "pioneer female voter of Allegany county—" So says a much yellowed newspaper article which Mrs. Flora Groves, Assistant Curator of the museum, has in her possession. The heading of the paper is missing, so it is impossible to tell what one it is. It is quite likely that it is the "Hornellsville Times," though there is no way of establishing proof.

To get back to the story of Mrs. Barber—She was a daring soul. On voting day in November, 1886, without confiding any plans to her husband, she hitched up the old horse and drove to Alfred Center, as it was known then. Straight to the polling place in the old Burdick block on Main street she went. The following is quoted from the newspaper:

Stops At Polls

"What is it is, Mrs. Barber?" asked Isaac M. Langworthy, one of the inspectors, as she stopped herself before the polls.

"I want to vote," responded Mrs. Barber, and then followed another period of staring amazement.

"Why, you can't vote, Mrs. Barber," said Mr. Langworthy after he had recovered from the first shock of surprise. "Don't you know that it's illegal for a woman to vote?"

"It's not illegal," persisted Mr. Barber, "and I intend to have my rights."

Allowed To Vote

Evidently she was not to be argued with, for the account goes on to say that they allowed her to vote. She voted for Congressional, Assembly and County ticket. On the Congressional ticket, it may be noted, she voted for the Prohibitionist candidate.

Irate and self-righteous male citizens couldn't quite see a woman voting, however, and soon there was a warrant out for poor Mrs. Barber's arrest. The case was taken first to Wellsville, but sent on from there to a county court. After considerable haggling, it was decided to allow Mrs. Barber to go free, because "she probably wouldn't do it again," thought they smugly.

In the meantime Mrs. Barber found herself in demand to appear at suffrage meeting for miles around. She and her contemporaries were even urged on by our own Alfred Sun.

Came another election day the following year, and ten ladies lined up at the polls, headed by Mrs. A. A. Allen, wife of the President of Alfred University.

Arrested Again

More trouble. Mrs. Barber was again arrested for her previous offense, and the ten ladies with her. The case was held in Angelica, and 24 hours in jail was the penalty for all.

The article concludes with these words of Mrs. Barber.

"I think that our movement here in Alfred will do something toward giving women the rights which have been denied to them since the founding of the constitution."

women in the home those days, despite the fact that Alfred University was a co-educational institution from the very first. Susan B. Anthony was once prohibited from speaking here at the University and anywhere else in Alfred.

In 1877, however, a Mrs. Caroline Dall, was granted a degree of Doctor of Laws from the University. So at least the staunch citizens believed in female education.

NYA Youth Define Citizenship At Lima

Four members of the NYA Resident Center were among the delegates from youth government organizations of the 15 NYA resident centers in the first citizenship conference of officers of these youth organizations.

Those from the Alfred center were Ellen Barnes '42, Ralph Marallo '42, Nancy Marmino '42, and Louis Smookler '42.

The young people mapped out ways of bettering their own contribution to citizenship in a democracy; they defined citizenship for themselves as "taking responsibility in their daily work at resident centers". In this way they concluded, they could best contribute to their country's inner defense.

Emphasizing the importance of the decisions reached at the conference, Karl D. Helsey, State NYA Administrator, said: "The leadership young people themselves are giving in building a constructive program to fit their own needs in the present emergency and future needs of young people in the post-defense period is a vital dynamic part of the NYA program."

30 Students Register In Graduate School

Dr. Joseph Seidlin has announced that 30 students have registered in the University's graduate division.

Classes will convene with the completion of registration this week.

The following course will probably be given: Philosophy of Education, Social Theory, Latin American History, World Literature, Speech Analysis, and Economics of War.

Students Should Consult Calendar Committee

The Calendar Committee urges that all individuals or organizations who are planning social or other events open to students and faculty register the date in the office of Dean Dora K. Degen. The work and upkeep of this house is carried on for the most part by floriculture students, in their laboratory class and outside project work.

They receive practical knowledge in watering, ventilating, potting, fertilizing and many other phases of the work which will enable them to work in greenhouses and retail florist shops.

Under Construction

A third greenhouse, a lean-to type, attached to the floriculture office building, is under construction. The glass has just been put in, the benches and heating system will be completed in a few weeks.

The purpose of this new greenhouse is for propagation of stock plants, which require a much higher temperature and humidity than plants grown in the other houses.

Saxons Outsmart Dopesters, Tie Clarkson Tech 7-7

Best Line Ever--Coach; Polished Performances By Greene, Trigilio

By Don Wattles

A complete week-end collapse of the country's dopesters was helped to its climax Saturday evening with Alfred's surprising 7-7 tie of a favored Clarkson Tech grid eleven under the lights of Merrill Field in the second home appearance of the year for the Saxons.

A game that stood on dope sheets as an easy victory for the Dwyermen in the face of previous records and Alfred injuries backfired on the experts and might easily have been a win for the home team but for the hand of misfortune which seemed dogs the steps of the Yunevichmen when they tangle with Clarkson out-fits.

Score Early

Scoring early in the first period, the Yunevichmen held their opponents to a lone touchdown in the next frame, piled up 11 first downs to Clarkson's 6, gained 168 yards over the ground to the Engineers' 112, and outpassed the opposition by 12 yards in the totals.

In addition to the edge held in statistics the Purple and Gold threatened to score three times in the second half, striking deep into enemy territory only to lose possession of the leather, twice by fumbles and once on downs.

McKenna Scores

The home team score came as a result of a long march downfield of 56 yards with Pike Trigilio, Jimmy Kehoe and Bill McKenna alternating on carries with McKenna finally totting the pigskin over the final stripe around right end from the one yard line. Trigilio hit End Bob Jolley neatly in the end zone with a forward pass for the conversion.

Clarkson's score was made by their ace-in-the hole Pryzbylowski, who snagged an aerial from teammate Canero on the Saxon 25 and sidelined over the goal line. McLean's educated toe sent the ball through the uprights on a placement for the tying point.

Midway through the third period the Yunevichmen racked up three first downs in carrying to the Clarkson ten yard line, where, with victory in sight, an untimely fumble was recovered by Canero of the visitors. Again early in the last chukker Alfred thrust deep to the Clarkson 25, starting from their own 35, where the second fumble of the evening again stymied the attack.

In the closing seconds of the game a long toss from the hand of Pike Trigilio was taken by Bob Jolley on a long, dodging run to the enemy ten for a first down. With the time running out a line buck by Trigilio and three consecutive passes into the end zone were stopped by the Dwyer charges who took over possession and ran one play as the game ended.

Give Polished Performance

Co-captains Pike Trigilio and Mike Greene were easily the most polished performers on the field all night, but were hard pressed for honor by every man on the team. Reggie Miner, Jim Aina, Bill Hurley, the Kopko duo, Bob Jolley, Jerry Schwartz, Andy Kulakowich all played a brand of ball that brought forth the comment from Coach Yunevich after the game, "That line you saw out there tonight is beyond a doubt the best line I've

Brooklyn Seeks To Avenge Last Year's Defeat

Brooklyn's coming to town—but no McPhails or Durochers or Wyatts will be on the bus when it pulls to a stop down at the Field House. There will be, however, eleven city slickers on hand ready to bounce back from a 12-6 defeat at the hands of Hofstra College under Merrill Field's arc lights at 8:15 on Saturday evening.

The Brooks have ventured forth onto the gridiron twice this season and have emerged with a 50-50 record with a win over Panzer Institute besides the Hartwick defeat on Saturday. Trimmed by the Saxons last year on their home field, the Kingsmen will be out to make their season's record look a little more promising and to even the score with Alfred.

Series Is Young

The Brooklyn-Alfred series is only one game old at this stage, last fall's fracas ending as one of the 6 Saxon victories in an undefeated season, 8-0. Little information has reached the Yunevich bailiwick concerning their opponents, but a defeat by Hofstra augurs no good for the visitors.

The Hempstead college has always been an easy mark for the Purple and Gold, who have pushed over three consecutive victories at the expense of the Long Islanders.

Hopes are high with the Alfred coaching staff that Bob Meyer's trick knee, Red Fenton's bad ankle and Jimmy Kehoe's broken nose will all be in shape for the weekly fray.

Kehoe To Start

Of this trio Kehoe is certain to start and will probably be flanked in the backfield by Pike Trigilio, Ed Chrzan and Bill McKenna. Linemen starting will probably be Bob Jolley and Bill Kopko at ends, Paul Kopko and Mike Greene at tackles, Reggie Miner and Jim Aina at guards and Bill Hurley at center.

Emory university was the first college for men in Georgia to offer training for journalism.

Over the Line, Rather than the Top

Varsity Harriers Lose to Army; Run R.P.I. Next

A well-conditioned Cadet squad soundly defeated a game Alfred University squad last Saturday afternoon at West Point in the Saxon squad's cross country opening meet by the perfect 15-50 score.

Placing the first ten men across the finish line before the first Saxon, the Army men had a relatively easy afternoon of it in subduing the McLane-men's bid for victory. Pacing the field all the way was Joe Rapselle, who snapped the tape of the four mile course in the time of 23:16. Following him were nine cadets, and about a minute and one half later came Ira Hall, Alfred's first man.

Running a very gruelling mile about a polo field, and then cutting out into the hills, the Pointers, who had been working on the course since the middle of August, found little in the way to a smashing victory. Starting fast and ending fast Rapselle had little difficulty in leading the pack in by twenty seconds.

Women's Hockey Expert To be Honor Guest

America's leading women's field hockey authority, Constance Applebee, will be the chief attraction at the hockey playday at Cornell this Saturday. Miss Applebee will watch the different teams play, and then give a brief talk to each team immediately following its own game.

Fifteen Alfred players will be chosen by Miss Creighton, and hockey manager, Millie Pivetz, to attend this event, which will start with registra-

Frosh Runners Expect Duel With R.P.I. Team Saturday

Long, hard running will be the program this week for the Frosh harriers as a final step in preparation for their first meet of the season on Saturday, against the Frosh of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

Although the quality of the Rensselaer team is as yet unknown, the Saxons are expecting a tough dual from the shot of the gun at the Practice Field until the last man has crossed the finish line.

Gates, Zipkin, Ciota, and Weinberg are expected to carry the brunt of the attack against the Institute men, with the rest of the squad keeping close pace.

The meet gets under way at 2:30, a half-hour before the start of the Varsity meet.

tion at 9 A. M., and end with tea at 5 P. M.

Teams will be present from Wells, William Smith, Syracuse, Cortland, Keuka, Elmira, Cornell and Alfred.

RAYMOND SCOTT

Raymond Scott will present his new Band at Majestic on Sunday through arrangements with the Music Corporation of America.

Scott, whose career has been one of the most brilliant in modern music, conducts a distinctly different group which has had wide success since its organization.

Raymond gained fame a few years ago when his uniquely-titled compositions first attracted national attention. His popular six-piece "Quintet" set new standards for "listening" jazz and he was featured on the Columbia Broadcasting System as well as in many motion pictures. He formed a large dance orchestra just a short time ago and his stature as a band maestro has already reached top proportions.

Among his many band innovations is "silent music" a new departure in modern melody. "Time" Magazine devoted considerable space to the Scott rendition of "silent music" plus other features of his decidedly danceable and diverting orchestra.

Among Scott's best-known numbers are "War Dance for Wooden Indians," "In An 18th Century Drawing Room," "Tia Juana," "Dinner Music for a Pack of Hungry Cannibals," and "Power-house."

Featured with Raymond Scott and his orchestra are tenor Clyde Burke, lovely Gloria Hart and "The Secret Seven."—Adv.

Technologist's View Of Religion Explained

"If as a chemist I rely on the laws of God, I want to continue to rely on them, on the constancy of divine law; I do not want to think of a God of whimsicality, of one who relies on exhibitions," said Dr. S. R. Scholes of the glass technology department, in speaking to the Alfred Christian Fellowship, Sunday evening, on the topic, "A Technologist Looks At Religion".

Dr. Scholes stated further that by means of his study a chemist becomes impressed by the scheme of things, by the plan of the universe. He added that "a chemist is more likely to be a pantheist than an atheist; he is more likely to worship the world of matter than a God of the spirit."

Continually reminding his hearers that this was only one scientist's view of religion he declared that "the supernatural side of religion is not necessary, that there is enough that is beyond one's grasp in the reality of religion."

"We must think of Jesus as one who has brought us a picture of God as a loving father, a picture which would have been impossible without him," he stated.

Stressing again the scientist's attitude Dr. Scholes declared that "the chemist must feel that God is law, the principle underlying all other principles."

Graduate Heard On Police Drama

August Roeder '41, outstanding member of the cast of Alfred dramatic productions for the past two years, had a part in a state trooper drama presented over WHAM, from Rochester, Thursday evening.

Roeder will be remembered for his portrayal of the devil in "The Devil and Daniel Webster" and James in "Family Portrait," last year's important productions.

German Club Meets Tomorrow Night

The German Club will hold an informal get-together, Wednesday evening, at the home of Dr. Kaspar O. Myrvaagnes, 16 South Main Street, at 8:15, to discuss plans for the coming year. Dr. Popplebaum, visitor at this meeting, will be the speaker at the club's next gathering.

Robert Young, '44, President of the club, announced that because of great amount of propaganda in the film it has been decided inadvisable to proceed with the German movies, which were held last year.

Dr. Sutton to Address ACR Sunday Night

Dr. Willard Sutton, assistant professor of ceramic engineering and research ceramist, will address an open meeting of the Alfred Christian Fellowship Sunday evening at 7:15 at Social Hall on the topic, "China in the World Today". Dr. Sutton spent several years on the faculty of a Chinese university before coming to Alfred.

Representatives of the A.C.F. will attend the Annual Intercollegiate Conference of the Student Christian Movement of New York State in Utica this week-end. R. Douglas Manning '42, president of the Alfred group and Sally Jane Morris '42 will be among those attending the conference which begin Friday afternoon and ends on Sunday.

The scores:
 Lambda Chi 12 Bartlett Hall 0
 Theta Gamma 27 Kappa Psi 0
 Klan Alpine 19 Burdick Hall 0
 Kappa Delta 13 Delta Sig 7
