Agreement signed AU may offer degrees in Korea

ALFRED – Alfred University has signed a memorandum of understanding that could lead to Alfred University degrees being offered at Songdo Global University Campus in Korea.

Located in the Incheon Free Enterprise Zone, (IFEZ) – a planned community in Songdo International City, South Korea, that is positioned as a business hub for northeast Asia—the global university hopes to eventually offer degree programs from a number of internationally recognized colleges and universities.

“We are honored to be invited to submit a proposal to offer programs at Songdo Global University Campus,” said Alfred University President Charles M. Edmondson, who visited the site for the campus earlier this month.

“The Global University is intended to comprise approximately 10 universities from around the world, offering their most prestigious programs. Construction of this campus is in its second stage (at an estimated cost of $1 billion). It is designed to facilitate the social integration of students from diverse nationalities and academic programs and to serve as model of environmentally advanced design. This initiative fits in well with our interest in offering international opportunities for faculty and students.”

On hand for the signing on the Alfred University campus was Jong Cheol Lee, commissioner of IFEZ. Other members of the delegation including Soonho Kim, executive director of IFEZ’s Service Industry Division; J.T. Kim, director of IFEZ’s Education team; Helena Jung, project manager for the Education team; Sang Ki Min, director of Ministry of Knowledge Economy of Korea; and Hye Jin Choi, deputy director of Ministry of Knowledge Economy.

He noted the University already has a number of alumni in Korea, most of whom earned degrees in ceramic engineering from Alfred and returned to their country to work in materials-based industries.

When completed, the campus will encompass nearly 73 acres, with more than seven million square feet of space. More than 10,000 students are expected to enroll in the programs.

Under the terms of the initial agreement, Alfred University will prepare a full proposal for review by IFEZ.

“If the proposal that Alfred will develop is approved by all parties in Korea, an academic program might be implemented as early as 2013,” noted Edmondson. The full proposal will require the approval of the IFEZ Committee for Educational Affairs and the Ministry of Education, Science and Technology.

IFEZ will provide the basic facilities and services for the program, rent-free for the first five years. The South Korean government will assist with operational expenses for the first five years.

Villagers’ voices heard at June 14 public forum

By DAVID L. SNYDER
Editor and Publisher

ALFRED—A smorgasbord of issues were served up by the Alfred Village Board to about 25 villagers and others who attended a public forum meeting on Flag Day, June 14 in Alfred Village Hall.

Villagers discussed everything from the excessive tax burden to the shortage of fire company volunteers; from canine crap on the sidewalks to a single Alfred polling place in coming elections.

Mayor Craig Clark opened the meeting with a general overview, noting that the Village Board is trying to keep taxes down. He said the Village Board is working with Alfred University and Alfred State College to see where services might be shared in order to acquire more financial support for the village.

Clark added that the Village Board is also attempting to keep village infrastructure upgraded.

He said there will be new water lines for High Street and North Main Street where four-inch lines will be replaced with eight-inch water lines.

Public Works Superintendent Jim McNulty said that 90% of the four-inch water line has already been replaced. He noted that the New York State Department of Transportation (NYSDOT) will resurface North Main Street, while the Village will resurface its portion of South Main Street.

“Much of Main Street will be torn up a good part of the summer,” McNulty said.

Village Trustee Brad Bowden said the Waste Water Treatment Plant, too, is undergoing a renovation of the anerogic digester. The 300,000 gallon digester is being rebuilt in a project costing about $500,000 in taxpayer money but that a federal low interest loan had been secured.

Deputy Mayor Virginia Rasmussen explained that seven persons serve on the Village Planning Board chaired by Anne Wenslow. She advised those in attendance who were making plans for changes in their homes should submit plans to the Planning Board prior to any meetings. She said there are pre-submission conversations and conversations continue following a formal application.

Likewise, she said, the Planning Board continues to rework, rethink and rewrite the Village Zoning Code on a regular basis. The Planning Board is also involved with carrying out the New York Main Street Program Grant, through which nine properties have applied for projects.

Village Code Enforcement Officer Chuck Cagel is likewise involved with the Main Street Program as properties must be in compliance for approval of grants. He said there are 176 residential properties in the Village of Alfred and that when he came on board, only 37 were legally certified. He said that 87 were now completed, with the Main Street Grant properties taking precedence.

When asked about the fraternity on Terrace Street, he said it is operating as a fraternity. Cagel said that because the building had never been inspected as a different use, there were no grounds to take it to court, as it was “grandfathered in.”

Cagel reported that every Greek house must be inspected every April. He said that the Terrace Street property has been inspected and the interior of the building was found to be in good shape. “There were no violations except a couch on the back porch,” he said.

Village resident Mario Prisco, suggesting that he might simply play a recording of what he’s been saying for the past 30 years, inquired about Alfred State College being able to put some money into the Village coffers.

“Now, 91% of the property in the Village of Alfred is tax exempt, certainly the highest in the state,” Prisco said, “I’m pleased to hear that these conversations are going on (with the colleges) and asked that the village residents be informed of any changes.”

Rasmussen reported on her research on whether there were a law prohibiting Alfred State College from making payments into the Village Budget.

“We can rest assured that there is nothing in the law that says they (SUNY institutions) cannot pay to their communities for services,” adding, “They pay for water. We put everything relating to water in our Water/Sewer budget line that we can.”

She said that, indeed, 91% of village properties are tax exempt, which is highest in New York State, with the next closest being the Village of Cobleskill with 72% of properties tax exempt.

She said the Village has a very large public safety budget for only 1000 permanent residents with six full-time officers and nine part-time officers. She asked a SUNY legal staff member whether the Village could charge a small public safety fee for each student at the colleges. She said the SUNY legal staff member suggested that the Village close its Police Department and turn its needs over to the County.

When a villager brought up the issue of excessive dog waste in the village, Rasmussen said the dog control law is “a leash law and a poop law all in one.”

Next week, an update on the Town of Alfred polling place.

‘Paddy’ to soar at Balloon Rally July 15-17

WELLSVILLE--Keep an eye out for the huge shamrock in the sky during the 36th Annual Great Wellsville Balloon Rally in Wellsville.
“Paddy”, a giant shamrock shaped balloon, owned by Don Edwards, of Albuquerque, New Mexico, will be joining the Great Wellsville Balloon Rally this July. The Irish themed balloon will be piloted by Scott Saxton, of Nicholson, PA, a veteran of the Wellsville Rally.
Scott will also have two of his own balloons, “Belle-Air” and Sky Candy, gracing the skies.
“Paddy” was constructed by Sundance Balloons, LTD in September, 2007. It is 140,000 cubic feet in volume, one-hundred feet tall, eighty feet wide and weighs six-hundred pounds. It should be pretty easy to spot!

Weather permitting, over thirty balloons will fill the sky in a rainbow of color during four mass launches from Island Park at the Great Wellsville Balloon Rally, July 15-17, with launches at 6 p.m. Friday, 6 a.m. and 6 p.m. Saturday and 6 a.m. Sunday. Admission is free. Free shuttle service is also available from designated parking areas.
At the launch site, food vendors will offer a variety of cuisines along with the standard favorites of fried dough, sugar waffles and ice cream.
There will also be plenty of entertainment at the launch site throughout the day Saturday. Mercy Flight and LifeNet of New York & Guthrie Air will be on hand with their medical helicopters for spectators to view and to learn about the life-saving missions the pilots and medical personnel perform.

Kickball tournaments, organized by the Wellsville Football Boosters and refereed by the Wellsville Lions football team will begin at 9 a.m. and run throughout the afternoon. A local Balloon Rally memorabilia collector will be on hand with a display of his “artifacts” for your browsing pleasure and Nick Anderson, a local musician, will be performing. For the kids’ enjoyment, bounce houses will be set up (so they can burn off some of that extra energy) and McDonalds will be bringing in their Prize Wheel.
As a special attraction, spectators will have the opportunity to get up close and personal with Bob Sommers, the pilot of “Topper” from 1-3 p.m. on Lagoon field one in Island Park. Built in 1975, “Topper” is the oldest continually flown experimental hot air balloon in the United States and is the oldest continually returning balloon to the Great Wellsville Balloon Rally, having participated in all thirty-six Wellsville rallies.
Following the Friday night launch, you will be entertained by DJ “Jazzy Jeff” and an Afterglow at dusk. After the Saturday night launch, enjoy live music by “Zoar” and a fabulous fireworks display.

Don’t miss out on the Main Street Festival from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, where vendors will line both side of the streets offering food and merchandise. Wine tasting and live music will also be there for your enjoyment!

BRAIN MISTRUST

Lately I took a short course on the activity of my brain. This was thanks to coverage of the general subject by two PBS offerings on WXXI-TV in Rochester, New York, during the evening of June 29th, 2011. The first was a “Nova” program entitled “What Are Dreams?” Following it was a “Nova scienceNow” episode, called “How Does the Brain Work?” I learned heady stuff.

For scientists who currently study brains, today’s technology and methodology are leading to discoveries which make yesterday’s theories obsolete. Many of Sigmund Freud’s once valued opinions on brain disorders and their treatments seem to be headed out of the archives into the shredder.

It leaves me hoping that brain science will come up with a cure for my own major problem. I have self-diagnosed it as a variation of the common complaint of professors, known as “absent mindedness.”

My case bears a certain resemblance to another widely discussed problem, termed “obesity.” Doctors and other scientists attribute it to several causes, including overeating, choosing the wrong foods, and spending too many hours per day chowing down.

Absent mindedness does not allow time for me to become obese. Instead I spend many hours putting small objects down, forgetting where I last saw them, and searching the same places over and over. Rather than slurping up yummys, I consume months looking for vanished items. One might even be a banana.

Just last week I was preparing a breakfast of cold cereal with banana slices mingled in. I retrieved a banana from its plastic bag and laid it somewhere in my kitchen as I was on my way to fetching an unopened box of Cheerios. By the time I had pried open the box, yanked apart the inner bag, and poured some of its contents into a bowl, the banana had disappeared.

I looked inside the refrigerator to see if I had left it there when I had removed the milk and yogurt. No. I retraced other steps and glanced toward at least six other places and directions which had drawn my attention in the past ten minutes. No banana. Giving up, I sprinkled raisins on my cereal instead.

Upon returning my empty bowl to the kitchen, I noticed the banana on the floor. It all came back to me then. With my faulty hearing I had perceived a dull thud just as I had turned away from operating on the cereal box. I had assumed that it was the sound of fallen scissors which I had used to poke it open.

With hunger making continuation of breakfast preparation of prime importance, I had not given one thought to the immediate retrieval of an unneeded tool. After all, I knew in exactly which drawer another pair of scissors resided.

Not all of my misplaced possessions have a nearby substitute, but many do. Lately I returned from a six day trip. Shortly thereafter I reached into the customary drawer at home where I keep a shoe horn used in putting on footwear for my morning walk. Actually, I keep single shoe horns in three convenient locations. The dark green one which I sought was missing. I knew that it was the one I had taken on my travels.

At first my memory told me that I had seen it once since my return home. However, the more I thought about it, the less I trusted that recollection. Consequently, I searched my purse, my tote bag, and all of my luggage, thinking that I might have thrust it into any of them in my haste to finish packing when heading for Alfred.

After days had passed, I checked the luggage again, including a bag which I was certain had not accompanied me. There I found something quite surprising in a zippered pocket. It was the folding alarm clock which I thought that I had left in a hotel room about a year ago, whereupon I had bought another. Now that I own two, I can keep one under both ends of my pillow.

A day later the shoe horn turned up in my purse! I was probing its depths, not for the first time, seeking one of two small, red-cased, retractable tape measures, recently acquired. I stow one there for checking the dimensions of possible purchases. The other one, normally kept at home as a spare, had also gone missing.

I discovered both tape measures, in different sections of my purse. Their predecessor, which was blue, is still absent. So is my mind.

Great recipe for early zucchini

I love zucchini, especially the early small ones. We eat them raw with a dip or lightly cooked, usually with cheese of some sort.

This recipe is from Recipe4Living and is designed for a crock-pot, but I have used it as an oven casserole, baking at 350 degrees for about 40 minutes, or till the squash is tender.

Easy Cheesy Squash & Zucchini

- | | |
|------------------------------|---------------------------------|
| 1 1/2 lbs. sm. yellow squash | 1/4 c. butter, melted |
| 1 1/2 lbs. zucchini | 1/2 c. seasoned dry breadcrumbs |
| 1 tsp. salt | 1/2 c. grated cheddar cheese |

Cut squash and zucchini into small rounds. Place in bottom of slow cooker sprayed with vegetable cooking spray. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Pour melted butter over squash and sprinkle with breadcrumbs and cheese. Cover and cook on low for 5-6 hours.

Regulation exemption

To the Editor:
Re: Regulation of Marcellus Gas Extraction
We are a nation based on liberty and freedom to develop and realize our dreams. This includes the rights to reap the harvest of land ownership, including natural resource extraction.

If, however, during the exercising of our individual freedoms, we infringe upon the rights, health and safety of others, laws and regulations are necessary to protect all citizens and the environment. When any industry, special interest or movement is made exempt from the law of the land, the stage is set for the loss of individual freedom and increased threat to health and safety.
Federal laws have evolved over the years to meet the challenges of protecting our environment and public health. Benchmark legislation such as CERCLA (the Superfund Program), was established to ensure that parties that create an environmental mess are legally responsible for the cost of cleaning it up. RCRA (the Solid Waste Disposal Act) was created to regulate hazardous and solid wastes. SDWA (the Safe Drinking Water Act) protects against underground activities impacting drinking water, THE CLEAN WATER ACT regulates surface discharge and storm water runoff from industry and land based activities, THE CLEAN AIR ACT monitors and controls sources of air pollution and EPCRA the (Emergency Planning and Community Right to Know Act) requires the reporting of toxic releases.

The Oil and Gas industry is substantially exempted from all the above laws. These exemptions and relaxed environmental regulation have left many landowners, next door neighbors and communities without recourse when drilling has impacted their land, water and air.
The recent track record of gas exploration and environmental pollution in Colorado, Texas, Louisiana and Pennsylvania, is testimony to the need for strict regulation of the Oil and Gas industry. Some suggest that regulation of natural gas production is best left to each individual state. This approach simply has not worked all across the nation and now, is not working in PA.

The Oil and Gas Industry should be required to meet the same aforementioned regulations for environmental protection, as are individuals, business, industry and farmers.

Allegany County Legislator

Auto insurance fraud

To the Editor:
The State Legislature accomplished a lot this year, but one important reform was conspicuously left out – passage of the legislation known as the “Fraud Tax Bill” that would crack down on crisis-level auto insurance fraud in New York State.
No fault auto accident fraud is one of the fastest growing crimes in New York State, yet it is not expressly illegal. It is one of the reasons New Yorkers pay 53% more for auto insurance than drivers in other states. Almost $1 billion has been stolen from New Yorkers in the past five years alone, according to studies, by organized criminal enterprises that stage accidents and run up phony bills with the help of a handful of crooked doctors. But the Legislature refused to do anything about it this year.

The state didn’t even pass a common-sense measure called “Alice’s Bill” that would make staging an auto accident in New York a standalone crime. The bill was named after a 71-year old New York grandmother who was killed when her was struck during a staged accident.
The state legislature is rumored to be returning this summer to clean up unfinished business from the 2011 legislative session. Auto insurance fraud reform must be on that list.
Sincerely,
Rafe Lieber

It’s Time for the End of the End of Time
Or,
Get Me Outta Here – I Can’t Take
All These End-of-the-World Predictions

Harold Camping said the day
Believers would be whisked away
Exactly, truly, was in May:
The twenty-first – a day most grim and sober;
But when that day was come and gone
And life, as normal, went along
Old Camping sang a different song:
“It really won’t take place until October.”

But Harold hardly was the first
To herald days when earth be cursed:
When things will go from bad to worst
While certain ones float off to joy and bliss –
To leave the rest of us behind
Who aren’t of an enlightened mind –
The faithless, spiritually blind –
To never know the bliss we’ll never miss.

Seems every time there’s an eclipse
The talk begins on prophets’ lips
Of aliens and motherships
Or other such scenarios more inane,
Which only serve to fuel desire
To delay our day of brimstone-fire
With super-fire-proof attire –
Or digging up the bones of Charlemagne.

Each ancient and each modern one
To frighten us and spoil our fun
Predicts the day our doom is done:
“Today!” or “In ten years!” – or in betwixty;
Now, Newton’s end-time calculus
Was more agreeable to us
The reason being, is becuss
He didn’t see the end till 2060.

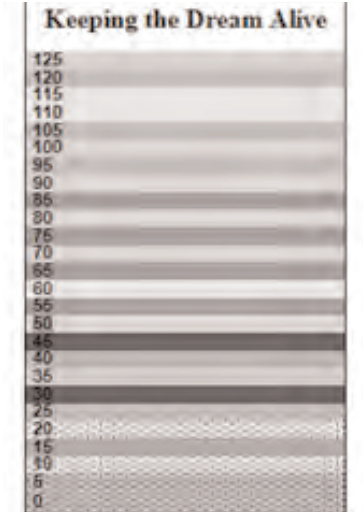

But December twenty-first’s the day,
Two-thousand-twelve, the Mayans say,
This world just MUST be swept away –
Cuz that’s the day their calendar is done –
As though what predicts the ends of ages
Is, “My calendar is out of pages!”
Just like the dimwit fumes and rages,
“I still have checks – I can’t be out of funds!”

Frank Crumb’s Dream Campaign Update
We finally made it!
In 1884, a simple item in the Sun said, “Wanted, one thousand subscribers to the Alfred Sun.” It’s been 125 years since legendary Editor Frank Crumb, with the Sun from 1883 to 1951, set the millenary goal. I, too, set a goal of 1000 subscribers when I joined the paper in 1976.
Eugene T. Van Horn, who owned the paper from 1951-1973, said circulation peaked in the ’60s at 700. It’s now over 900. We’ve now added 125 new subscribers since Jan. 1, 2009.
Keep Frank Crumb’s Dream alive...send your name and address or that of a friend together with check payable to “Alfred Sun” to: Frank Crumb’s Dream, c/o Alfred Sun, P.O. Box 811, Alfred, NY 14802. Thank you!

FROM THE DESK OF DAVID PULLEN
By DAVID PULLEN
Allegany County Legislator

COMPASSION AND SUPPORT
Unlike most sessions of the Board of Legislators, the June 27th session did not appear to have a single unifying theme. The meeting began with the Pledge of Allegiance that was led by former Air Force Sergeant Trina LaFleur. Thirteen Legislators were present, with two absent. A public hearing was held regarding the Modification and Continuation of Agricultural District Number 3 that is located in the northeastern corner of the County.
We received various communications of an official nature. One letter from Assemblyman Daniel Burling acknowledged our resolution supporting Mandate Relief and another resolution supporting designating portions of State Route 19 as the “Corporal Jason Dunham Memorial Bridge” and “Corporal Jason Dunham Memorial Highway.” Another letter was from State Senator Catharine Young regarding the poor condition of both Interstate 86 and State Route 19. Senator Young advised that she is working with the State DOT Commissioner, but confirmed that during 2009 and 2010 Western New York received significantly reduced funding for state highway maintenance. During those 2 years the 3 top state leaders were all from New York City. As a result Albany gave us less than half the usual allocation for highway maintenance. She indicated that the State Senate is now working to address that funding imbalance. We also received a letter from IDA Executive Director John Foels regarding a public hearing on a proposed expansion project involving the Swain Recreation (ski) Center.
The Board then considered 13 separate resolutions. The first 10 resolutions were all adopted unanimously. Two resolutions related to Agricultural District Number 3. The Board approved the environmental impact evaluation and modification and continuation of that “Ag District.” Other resolutions confirmed the appointment of James Galatio to the County Youth Board, corrected errors on tax rolls for prior years, accepted funding grants for the Health Department, accepted donations for the Health Department Cancer Services Account, re-appropriated funding from 2010 for the Early Intervention program, accepted insurance payments for various property damage claims, transferred fund balances between accounts for the E-911 radio towers, and approved a contract with the State Department of Corrections for nutritional services.
The last three resolutions that were considered involved youth and family services programs. These resolutions were adopted by votes of 12 in favor and 1 opposed. Legislator Ungermann opposed all three resolutions. Resolution 107-11 approved the resource allocation plan for special delinquency prevention services. The County will receive state funding of $66,576 that it will pass through to local towns and villages that have developed programs and appropriated their own matching funds. Failure to approve this plan would mean that the State funding would be lost, and these youth delinquency programs closed down. Resolution 108-11 approved several youth development and delinquency prevention programs. Resolution 109-11 approved 8 separate sub-contract agreements with local organizations providing youth services. These programs include drug and alcohol counseling, employment training, Southern Tier Traveling Teachers program, Youth Court, Literacy West, and the First STEP and Special STEP programs offered by Houghton College. No County taxes or money are involved in any of these programs. They are funded 100% by State money or local funding.

A special meeting took place immediately following the Board of Legislators meeting. The Personnel Committee convened a special meeting to consider a request from the Deputies Union to allow other Deputies and Correction Officers in the Sheriff’s Department to each “donate” up to 3 days of their accrued vacation time to a specific co-worker. That Deputy has been taking time without pay to transport an ill child to Buffalo for medical treatment. The Committee reviewed the proposal to make sure that it would not generate any extra expense for the County and then unanimously approved the proposal. This is an example of community spirit that I love. I commend the members of the Deputies Union for their generous and compassionate support of a colleague. What a great place to live.

Cohen Art Gallery hosts Allegany Arts exhibition

ALFRED--To usher in its 4th year on Main Street, The Cohen Center Gallery opened to the community with a show curated by Sandy Greiff and sponsored by the Allegany Arts Association.

The Cohen Center, a gift of Michele and Martin Cohen, serves Alfred University in many ways. Freshman Foundation classes are taught in the barn at the rear of the complex while the house holds two apartments for visiting artists on the second floor and a gallery ready to accommodate a visual or performance exhibition on the first floor.

Kevin Jacobs, director of the Cohen Center, said that an important mission of the space is to give undergraduates real world experience in the commerce of art. Sharon McConnell, Director of the Fosdick Nelson Gallery, teaches an Exhibition Design Class in which students conceive, install and de-install shows in the gallery.

Generally these shows have involved members of Alfred University but Leslie Bellavance, Dean of the School of Art and Design, heartily supports community based art programs and so approved the use of the Cohen Center by the Allegany Arts Association for this invitational show featuring local work.

Jacobs said, "As the director of the Cohen Center, I felt no hesitation in trusting Sandy Greiff's judgment and know that this show will be an elegant success."

Greiff enlisted two other members of the board of directors of the Allegany Arts Association to help her with the show.

Joanne Allen stopped moving work to speak for a moment about Joe Tecza's photograph of an aging home entitled Sentinel.

"The piece is about our rural location. When I first came to Allegany County there was a house just like that on Elm Valley Road. Every time I passed it I thought of the pioneers who made a living here in the not-so-distant past."

felt every time I saw that house. The angle of the photo intrigues me and holds my eye and my mind. It's a wonderful photograph."

Also on hand was Patty Sherman of Wellsville. Patty spoke about two watercolors. "I really like Karen Dickerson's piece, Nature-Trumpet Vine, maybe because I'm a nature lover and a gardener. I think that the painting catches that one moment when the light is on the blossoms in a way that makes them live."

"I also like Karen Lang's piece, Dream in Lilac. It's the colors. They are subtle and relaxing. She often focuses on the subtleties in nature and I find her pieces calming and enjoyable. Her work gives me a feeling that I need in my life just now."

When all the work was hung and the gallery quieted, Greiff sat to look at Hope Zaccagni's painting, Salt Mine with Yellow Train Car.

"I do like this very much," said Greiff. "The colors are muted but the sky is vibrant to draw one's attention. I like the architectural lines and shapes, the geometric sense of the composition. The piece is Hopewesque to me with a feeling of solitude or isolation."

"The triangles, edges and rigid shapes are fascinating to me. I have driven past this scene many times but I never saw it as art."

On tap July 8-9 at Black-Eyed Susan Cafe:

Nick Young, Warren Paul

ANGELICA--Black-Eyed Susan Acoustic Café is pleased to announce the return of Alternative Country artist Nick Young to the Music Room on Friday, July 8. Warren Paul of Springwater will bring his 6- and 12-string guitars and harmonica for an evening of original folk music on Saturday, July 9. Each show runs from 7:30-9:30 p.m. There is no cover charge, but guests are expected to contribute to the musician's tip jar. Reservations for dinner are suggested.

Hailing from Seneca Falls, Nick Young's songs combine power pop hooks with country-tinged roots rock to form an energetic sound that's familiar, yet all its own. His compositions have been called "contagious songs in the alt-country mode, sounding like a cross between Wilco, The Old 97s and vintage Soul Asylum."

Since releasing his debut album "Whiskey & Romances" with his band "Burning Daylight" in 2007, Young has been busy playing throughout the Northeast at such high-profile clubs as the Mercury Lounge in Hope's work is like that. She sees what others do not see."

Also presenting work in the show are Thor Bueno, Val Cushing, Wanda Dean, Alice Deres, Barbara Elsenheimer, Elaine Hardman, Wayne Higby, Bea Jevremovic, Caroline Littell, Stephen Myers, Amanda Parry Oglesbee, Tom O'Grady and Mario Prisco.

The Allegany Arts Association thanks Barbara Greil for assistance in hanging the show and invites the public to this free exhibition. Hours are in July from 11:30 to 4:30 on Thursday and Friday and 5-7:30 on Tuesday and Wednesday with an Artist Reception July 19 from 5-7:30.

Carillon recitals continue Tues.

ALFRED-- Alfred University will once again offer a summer series of carillon performances for five weeks during the month of July and first week of August. The 2011 Wingate Memorial Summer Carillon Recital Series will run on Tuesdays from 7-8 p.m. at the Davis Memorial Carillon on campus.

Admission is free and the performances go on rain or shine. Guests may sit on the lawn adjacent to the carillon. Feel free to bring along chairs and blankets to enhance your listening pleasure.

This summer's remaining featured carillonneurs and the dates of their programs are:

- Toru Takao from Dusseldorf, Germany, July 12.
- Karel Keldermans from Springfield, Ill., July 19.
- Gordon Slater from Ottawa, Canada, July 26

The Wingate Memorial Carillon Recital Series honors Dr. Ray Winthrop Wingate (1886-1968), who was a professor of music at Alfred University for 56 years. After the installation of the bells in 1937, he was appointed the University carillonneur and continued in the position until his death. He arranged more than 5,000 selections for the carillon and composed nine suits. The Margaret Merrill and Ray W. Wingate Memorial Carillon Foundation fund the series.

The carillon at Alfred University is made of a double row of rounded oak levers, called batons (which are stuck with loosely clenched fists), with a pedal board (octave and a fifth). The ground-floor display by the carillon has information on its history. Guests are welcome to climb the 69 steps to the top to enjoy the view and watch the guest artists at work.

WELLSVILLE--Leroy Townes will perform at 8 p.m. Saturday, July 16 at the Wellsville Creative Arts Center. Tickets are $14. Member tickets are $12. Tickets may be purchased online at www.WellsvilleCreativeArtsCenter.com or at the Arts Center Coffee House. For more information visit the website or call 585-593-3000. In The Alfred Sun 50, 25 and 10 Years Ago

Compiled By DAVID L. SNYDER
Alfred Sun Editor and Publisher
FIFTY YEARS AGO, JULY 6, 1961

A luncheon at Andover Central School Friday, July 1, a dance that evening and a parade Saturday evening highlighted a weekend celebration in Andover last weekend. Primary factors behind the celebration were the opening of the new highway through Andover and the cutover of power to the new Niagara Power Project. Miss Ruth Padden, Andover Central High senior, was named celebration queen and assisted in officiating at celebration activities. Major events Saturday included a parade of midget and antique cars and motorcycles, a grand parade at 7 in the evening and an open house at the American Legion Club that evening. At the luncheon Friday noon, Chamber of Commerce President Glenn Bronson acted as master of ceremonies. Mayor Paul Kilbane explained the financial savings to village residents from the power standpoint. He said that it would mean a saving of some $6800 per year to the village, 53% of which would be shared by customers. New York State Senator Harold Jerry in his address to the guests gathered for the luncheon said that if the State Job Development Authority proposals are sanctioned by the voters next November, this area might benefit from $100 million for industrial development monies.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO, JULY 3, 1986

An Alfred boy will be a participant in an historic naturalization ceremony at Old Fort Niagara in Youngstown today, July 3. Zachary James Cornell, two-year-old son of Larry and Lois Cornell of Alfred Station, will become an American citizen during the ceremony. It marks the first occasion in 28 years that the U.S. District Court has conducted a naturalization session outside of the U.S. Court House in Buffalo. Conducted by the Buffalo District of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service and the U.S. District Court, the ceremony is held in conjunction with the nationwide observance of the rededication of the Statue of Liberty in New York City later today. Zachary arrived in Alfred Aug. 21, 1984 at the age of six months, after having been born in South Korea. When asked recently whether he'd ever been put in jail during questioning for his citizenship application, he confessed, "Yup!" There will be plenty of hoopla, as Congressman John LaFalce will be the keynote speaker. Other participants include a 35-member band, a wind ensemble, patriotic civic and military groups and the International Institute of Buffalo...Old Fort Niagara is one of the most significant early historic sites on the Great Lakes and was first occupied by Europeans in 1678 and permanently fortified in 1726. The fort, which has been faithfully restored, was held in turn by France, Great Britain and the United States.

(Photo) Gregory Smyth of Schroon Lake, a 1984 graduate of the NYS College of Ceramics at Alfred University, played a major role in helping to restore the Statue of Liberty as an employee of GSGSB, a New York City architectural firm. Smyth spent a number of days photographing the outside "skin" of the statue. Here he stands on scaffolding near the Lady's face.

Alfred-Almond Central School Class of 1986 Valedictorian Mark Hurd told a capacity audience at the 47th commencement exercises to "fight for the concepts in which you believe." Addressing the issue of international terrorism, Hurd said that terrorism's success is because it successfully instills fear. He suggested that it can be overcome by courage...Of the 67 graduates of the Class of 1986, 19 individuals were members of the National Honor Society and 21 were Regents Scholarship winners, including the top three SAT scorers in Allegany County...

George H. Ormsby, 45, of Alfred Station, died Tuesday, June 17, 1986 at St. James Mercy Hospital in Hornell following a long illness. A native of Hornell, he lived in Alfred Station most of his life. He served in the U.S. Marine Corps and was employed at Mercury Aircraft in Hammondsport for five years. He was later a fork lift driver for the Birdseye Corp. in Avon for 10 years and most recently a bus driver in the Alfred-Almond Central School District. He was a member of the Canisteo American Legion Post No. 846, a past overseer of the Almond Grange No. 1102 and a member of the Alfred Station Volunteer Fire Department. He was instrumental in starting the Junior Fire Department in Alfred Station, which he helped organize. He was a past sexton of the Maplewood Cemetery Association in Alfred Station and a member of the Almond Union of Churches. Survivors include his wife of 23 years, Sally Ann Tucker Ormsby; two daughters, Cindy Edwards of Hampton, Va., and Lori Ormsby at home; a son, George Jr. at home; father, Harold of Alfred Station; paternal grandmother, Mabel Stiles of Hornell; three brothers, Eugene of Wellsville, Donald of Alfred Station and Robert of Mansfield, Pa.; a granddaughter; and several nieces and nephews...

Family Life to broadcast 'Project Reach' to raise funds for five new radio towers

BATH—Family Life will broadcast "Project Reach" on over 70 non-commercial radio outlets in New York and Pennsylvania on Wednesday, July 13.

A one-day fundraiser for Family Life's Christian radio network, "Project Reach" will raise expenses as the ministry prepares to expand its radio operation with five new radio towers, one in New York and four in Pennsylvania.

The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) has granted Family Life five construction permits to build the towers, together increasing the broadcasting reach of the ministry by 50 percent.

The goal of "Project Reach" is to raise the $1 million necessary to construct towers in Silver Creek, New York, and in Wattsburg, Cambridge Springs, Farmington Township, and Laporte, Pennsylvania.

"We find ourselves in a situation that is both exciting and also very daunting," said Rick Snively, president of Family Life. "God has opened the door for Family Life to grow in unprecedented ways, but the clock is ticking."

"It's a big accomplishment to have construction permits in hand, but along with those permits are time restrictions," Snively explained. "If a station isn't 'turned on' within a certain time period, we are forced to discard our investment in that station. That's how the FCC works."

Individuals wanting to make financial contributions to "Project Reach" can call with their gifts between the hours of 6 a.m. and 9 p.m. on Wednesday, July 13. Contributions can be made by calling 1-800-927-9083 and also by visiting www.fln.org.

THE GLORY OF AMERICA

Thursday, July 7

It is thought that Thomas Hooker was born on this day in 1586; it is certain that he died on it in 1647. With John Winthrop, he was the other great Puritan leader in the New World. Hooker felt led by God to take his flock to the Connecticut River valley, there to found a new colony. For him, civil government derived from church government:

"Mutual covenanting and confederating of the saints in the fellowship of the faith according to the order of the Gospel, is that which gives constitution and being to a visible church... Mutual subjection is the sinews of society, by which it is sustained and supported."

Dr. John Mauro earns Gottardi Prize

SHENZHEN, China -Corning Incorporated scientist Dr. John C. Mauro recently earned the prestigious Gottardi Prize for glass research from the International Commission on Glass (ICG). John, 31, is the youngest winner of the Gottardi Prize in the award's 24-year history. The award recognizes his research achievements in temperature-dependent constraint theories.

Created in memory of Prof. Vittorio Gottardi, former ICG president, the prize honors young professionals who have demonstrated outstanding achievements in various areas of glass development, such as research, teaching, writing, and management. John has been with Corning since 1999, where he currently holds the position of Research Associate-Glass Fundamentals. He attended Alfred University, where he earned undergraduate degrees in computer science and glass engineering science and a doctorate degree in glass science with Dr. Arun Varshneya serving as his faculty advisor.

Hundreds of glass industry experts from around the world gathered at the ICG's annual meeting in Shenzhen to attend the award ceremony. While in China, John also gave the opening keynote lecture on "Future of Glass and Glass Research" at the Shandong Glass Symposium in Jinan. He also delivered invited lectures on "Nonequilibrium Viscosity of Glass" at the Wuhan University of Technology and "Quantitative Design of Glass Using Constraint Theory" at Shandong University.

Last year John was awarded the prestigious W.A. Weyl Award from Pennsylvania State University and the ICG. John is the only person ever to win both the Gottardi Prize and the Weyl Award from the ICG. He is a previous recipient of the N.J. Kreidl Award from the American Ceramic Society, Glass and Optical Materials Division.

John is recognized worldwide as an expert in the areas of glass structure, dynamics, modeling, and characterization. He is noted for a series of highly cited papers on statistical mechanical models of glass and glass-forming liquids and for the development of computational techniques to implement his theory.

John is the author of 67 publications in international peer-reviewed journals, including such prestigious journals as the Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences and Physical Review Letters. John is also a frequent conference organizer, serving as chair of last year's American Ceramic Society Glass and Optical Materials Division meeting in Corning, N.Y., drawing the largest attendance in the history of the conference. He also served as co-organizer of the International Workshop on Topology, Structure, and Dynamics in Non-Crystalline Solids in Paris, France. John is the founding chair of the ICG Technical Committee on Atomistic Modeling of Glass.

John lives in Corning, N.Y., together with his wife, Yihong, and daughter, Sofia. He is the son of Ronald and Susie Mauro of Almond, N.Y.

DR. JOHN C. MAURO receives the Gottardi Prize.

AU prof investigates glass vial industry

ALFRED – Matthew M. Hall, associate professor of Glass and director of the Center for Advanced Ceramic Technology at Alfred University, was an invited panelist at a pharmaceutical supply chain conference held recently in Arlington, VA.

The conference was sponsored by Rx-360, a newly formed industrial consortium formed to protect the integrity of pharmaceutical products globally.

The conference topic was delamination of glass pharmaceutical vials, a growing concern in the pharmaceutical community. Delamination occurs when the interior surface of a glass vial flakes off into the pharmaceutical solution. While no specific injuries have been traced to the presence of glass delamination particles, the problem is receiving intensified scrutiny from the US Food & Drug Administration.

Hall presented the experimental design for an upcoming study in conjunction with Gerresheimer Glass, Inc. The purpose of this study is better understand glass delamination and possibly link its occurrence to manufacturing processes employed by the glass vial industry.

Houghton College to add lacrosse, golf, tennis teams

HOUGHTON–Houghton College is pleased to announce the addition of men's and women's lacrosse, golf, and tennis teams to the athletic department as part of the school's transition to NCAA Division III and the Empire 8 Conference. These additions will increase the viability of Houghton's move from exploratory membership to provisional membership in the NCAA, bringing Houghton athletics to a total of 16 teams.

With the addition of lacrosse, Houghton athletes will be participating in a sport that is one of the fastest growing in NCAA and has a rich tradition in the Western New York area. Rachael Snelgrove has been appointed as the head coach for the women's lacrosse team, and she will handle the recruiting for both the men's and women's teams until a men's coach is hired next year. The first season for both the men's and the women's teams will begin in the spring of the 2012-2013 school year.

Recruitment for both men's and women's golf teams will begin immediately with Kevin Austin '81 as recruiting coordinator, and a coach will be hired as early as Fall 2011. The inaugural season for both the men's and women's teams will begin during the 2012-2012 school year.

Both teams of tennis will begin competition on Houghton's six recently remodeled courts during the 2013-2014 school year.

"We are very excited about this move to NCAA D-III and the Empire 8," remarked Houghton College Director of Athletics Harold "Skip" Lord. "The addition of these sports will not only enhance our application for provisional membership in D-III, but will allow us to participate more completely in the life of our new conference and strengthen their programs by doing so. These sports will also provide increased opportunities for more student-athletes to consider attending Houghton to benefit from our strong academic offerings. This is a very exciting time to be part of Houghton College athletics."

Houghton College currently offers other intercollegiate sports to student-athletes: men's and women's basketball, men's and women's cross country, men's and women's soccer, men's and women's track and field, women's field hockey and volleyball, baseball, and softball.

Alfred native awarded scholarship

CLINTON, MS--Mississippi College Leland Speed Library staffer Jeff Sootheran has been given a scholarship to help pay for his master's degree in library and information science at the University of Southern Mississippi.

The Central Mississippi Library Scholarship Committee recently approved the $500 award for the Clinton resident who began his USM studies 18 months ago. Sootheran serves as periodicals associate at Mississippi College's library. All of his USM classes are taken online.

"The decision to choose me as a recipient came as a surprise, but I am thrilled," Sootheran said. "I will use the money to help defray the cost of tuition and to cover other expenses associated with completing my degree."

The 31-year-old Alfred native expects to receive his Southern Miss degree in late 2012. He's worked at Mississippi College for more than five years.

Sotheran is a graduate of Nyack College in New York where he received a bachelor's degree in religion and holds a master's in divinity from Northeastern Seminary.

Council officials notified the Mississippi College staff member of the award in mid-June.

"We want to wish you continued success with your educational goals and plans for the future," said Janet Bishoff, a medical librarian with Baptist Health Systems in Jackson, and chair of the scholarship committee.

Members of the group include libraries at Mississippi College and the MC School of Law, Millsaps College, Belhaven University, Tougaloo College, Hinds Community College, and the University of Mississippi Medical Center.

ALFRED-ALMOND Central School 2011 graduate Piper Chester, joined by his mother, Cathy Chester, is awarded the John J. Murphy Scholarship by A-A Guidance Counselor Matt McAneney. Established through a grant from the Communities Foundation of Texas, this scholarship is named in honor of John J. Murphy, Olean native and former president of Dresser-Rand. This $10,000 scholarship, with $2,500 awarded per year for up to four years, is available to students in the Twin Tiers region. It is also available to students outside the region whose family members are employed by or have retired from Dresser Rand in Olean. HITS AND MISSES:

The annual MLB All-Star game is set for Tuesday in Phoenix and it'll be the AL New York Yankees versus the NL All-Stars. Well, almost anyhow. Starting for the AL from NY, as they had the best record in the league as of Monday morning past, were: Robinson Cano, Derek Jeter, A-Rod and Curtis Granderson. Catcher Russell Martin was leading at his catching position right up to the last few days of voting before getting edged out. He'll still go. Pitcher CC Sabathia might have 13-wins at the break and he is not going. Gold-glove winner Mark Texeira has HR's/RBI's galore but 1B Adrian Gonzalez of Boston might be the MVP of the league. And closer Mariano Rivera will be on hand from NY to close out the NL. One all-star game I still enjoy watching but don't like rule that says all teams must have a representative. If the host city, yes, but otherwise just pick the best. Do like the "final vote" process though. Andre Eithier of Dodgers and Paul Konerko of ChiSox should get those.

Has been an interesting week past for fans of the "AA" Trenton (Yanks) team in minor league baseball as pitcher Phil Hughes and shortstop Derek Jeter have both been there on rehab stints. "Guessing" they set a few attendance marks.

John Cook won the Montreal Championship on the Champions Tour of golf with Joey Sindelar (Horseheads) right up there again this week with a third-place finish. Jeff Sluman, Lonnie Nielsen, Wayne Levi and Mike Hulbert from NYS (originally) were all in the field as well. Where has Fred Couples been?

The annual Notah Begay charity golf outing at Turning Stone was cancelled this week due to the injury of Tiger Woods.

The month of July has "majors" aplenty in golf with the regular British Open on the PGA Tour, the Senior British Open and the Women's U.S. Open ... which is this week. The 50+ circuit has back-to-back majors as the British will be followed by the U.S. Senior Open. Wonder if Tom Watson is going to play in the British Open, Senior British Open and Senior U.S. Open which, I believe, would be three weeks in a row!?

Will the previously mentioned Tiger Woods play in the British Open? Assume he will not but haven't heard anything official yet.

Received a text from Pat Atwell informing me his son, Eric was playing in baseball tournament last week and player from opposing team was named: Dean Long. Fortunately no relation to Dean U. Long ... that he was aware of.

"Marvin" Moses will be playing baseball this summer in Cooperstown with his traveling/AAU team from MA. Guessing "Hilly" Moses will be coaching squad ... either officially or unofficially.

The Batavia Muckdogs (Holmok) of the NY-Penn League, a Cardinals minor league affiliate, are floundering along with a sub .500 mark.

Former Alfred University men's lacrosse coach, B.J. O'Hara has been canned by the Rochester Rattlers of the outdoor pro lax league. O'Hara won a title with the "old" Rattlers in 2008 and previously coached at Hobart, plus many other stops along the way. He was in Alfred for the 1980 campaign.

The Women's World Cup of Soccer is growing strong in Germany as Team USA won its first two games. Sticking with Germany over the U.S. in the finale.

Did not take in the Wednesday soccer game at All-High Stadium in Buffalo last week to see Stephen Baker play for the WNY Flash. His summer team was playing an squad from the English Premier League. The UPenn star didn't start, didn't enter the game until 22-minutes left in the contest and promptly scored a goal. "Solid" coaching there. Hoping to see him in action either July 16th or 17th. Stadium is pretty sharp as SUNY Geneseo women played there this past fall versus Medaille College and had first look at facility.

Was a pretty busy Saturday-Sunday past though. 3L and I hiked the Midnight Trail of the Webster "loop" on Saturday in an attempt to get ready for a big Ithaca hike the next day. Didn't work. Traveled south and took in the Ithaca Farmers Market first. What a place! Ran into some friends that Lauren knew from college. Then set out for Robert Treman State Park to hike around the gorge. Did Buttermilk Falls last spring. A tough-tough-tough hike but the view was spectacular. Five-miles total, the Gorge Trail up and the Rim Trail back. Ran into a guy, his wife two daughters at bottom, near parking lot, Duke fans! He in the Navy. Had a (much needed) cold one with him and chatted. An enjoyable day but beat upon arrival back in Webster.

3L settling into a routine with YMCA work, WSA field marshal duties for her high school soccer coach, taking a kick-boxing class, bike riding, working out for her running events and bummed over missed soccer coaching opportunities due to conflicts aplenty.

An even busier weekend upcoming as 3L and I are headed to a Ravens women's soccer game at Aquinas on Friday nite. Former ORMSBYS EVERYWHERE-- There were Ormsbys everywhere at Locust Hill Country Club in Rochester, all of whom serve as volunteers to help the Wegmans LPGA Championship run smoothly. Pictured from left are Allen Ormsby, who was in charge of Hole #11, Beth Ormsby, who was in charge of the back seven, Bill Ormsby and wife “Teddy”, who were volunteers at Hole #11, Art Ormsby, who worked for the Golf Channel and was driving Val Skinner around in a cart, and Esther Ormsby, who is in charge of the media tent.
