Alfred gets $325,000 Main Street grant

By LINDA LEWANDOWSKI
Alfred Sun Reporter

ALFRED--The Alfred Village Planning Board, chaired by Anne Wenslow, expressed enthusiastic appreciation to Amanda Burns, principal writer of the grant, and Justin Grigg, board member, for the proposal which was successful in obtaining a $325,000 Main Street Grant Award from New York State.

Ms. Burns and the Board also wish to thank community members who contributed to the process, including Village Clerk Kathy Koegel, Calista McBride and Karla Back of Alfred State College, Mark Sabella of Neighborworks in Olean, Phil Prigmore, and Anne Acton of Alfred 21st Century Group.

The funds are allocated for improvements in structures, store-fronts, and energy efficiency in the business district . More information about the grant can be found at www.nysdhr.gov. The board, acting quickly on the matter, approved two actions regarding the administration and oversight of the fund as follows:

ACTION 1

The Planning Board recommends the Village Board form a Main Street Grant Administrator Search Committee. The Search Committee will, through a fair and efficient process, identify an individual to fill the Main Street

Grant Administrator position. At the conclusion of the search process, the identified candidate will be recommended by the Search Committee to the full Planning Board and then the Village Board. The Search Committee will consist of two (2) members of the Planning Board and a local resident. The Village Clerk-Treasurer will act as a consultant to the Search Committee. Members of the Search Committee may not apply for the Main Street Grant Administrator position.

ACTION 2

The Planning Board recommends the Village Board form a Main Street Grant Advisory Board. The Advisory Board will oversee all activities related to the Main Street Grant. The Advisory Board is responsible for taking those actions necessary to ensure a successful project. Primary Advisory Board responsibilities will include oversight of the Grant Administrator as well as decision making on the local application for funding, distribution of Main Street award funds and project timeline. The Advisory Board will report to the Village Clerk-Treasurer and Village Board. The Advisory Board will consist of three (3) members of the Planning Board as well as two (2) local residents.

Persons interested in serving in any of these capacities are encouraged to contact the Alfred village office or any Planning Board member.

In other business, the Board gave partial sign application approval for BB Shenanigans, a restaurant opening soon at 7 N. Main Street, pending additional information to be submitted regarding the window sign. A larger sign, which will be placed on the front of the building, was approved as written.

Approval was also given to an application for two signs to be placed on the new SERVU Credit Union building at 180 N. Main Street.

The next Alfred Village Planning Board meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 7 in the Village Hall.

ALFRED--Alfred State College recently hosted two visitors from Italy: Archeology Professor Ilaria Tartaglia and her colleague Maria Chiara Giovenco. Following a campus tour, Tartaglia gave a presentation regarding her work, both as an archeologist at Pompeii and as an adjunct professor at the Sorrento Lingue International Language Institute in Italy, to a packed house. Accompanying her talk on the history of the region was a slide show illustrating her work at the excavations of Pompeii. Additionally, she discussed the course she teaches to Alfred State's study abroad students at Sorrento Lingue International Language Institute where she serves as an adjunct professor. The course, "Cities of Fire," focuses on the rich heritage of Roman antiquities in the Sorrento area and is very popular with students because of frequent class field trips to the numerous archaeological and geological sites around the Gulf of Naples. Pictured here, Tartaglia, far right, is introduced by Jeff Johnston, assistant professor, Computer Imaging and Architectural Engineering Technology at ASC, and Valerie Nixon, vice president for administration and enrollment.

faculty in 1962 and soon began teaching a course on the environment. In the 1970s, he taught a popular ecology course that was held in one of the largest lecture halls on the College Park campus.

He wrote more than 100 scholarly papers, and his wide-ranging academic interests included agriculture, international development, nutrition, population growth and preschool education. Among other work, Dr. Foster conducted some of the first analyses showing the long-range social benefits of preschool and early childhood education for low-income students.

In the 1980s, Dr. Foster began teaching a course on food supply, demand and agricultural productivity, particularly in Third World countries. He was the principal author of The World Food Problem, a textbook now in its fourth edition.

During academic sabbaticals, Dr. Foster spent extended periods of time in India, Australia, Algeria and Colombia, and he was among the first U.S. scholars invited to lecture on economics in China. From 1968 to 1971, he wrote, directed and produced a documentary film about a village in rural India and its struggles to adapt long-held traditions to modern life.

Phillips Wayne Foster was born April 26, 1931, in Ogdensburg, N.Y., the son of Eddy and Alice Phillips Foster. He came to Alfred with his parents when his father was hired to teach the first course in conservation at Alfred State College. Phillips was graduated from Alfred-Almond Central School in 1949. An outstanding French horn player during his youth, his family said he turned down a scholarship to the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, to study economics at Cornell University.

After graduating from Cornell, he was a Fulbright fellow, and in 1958, he received a doctorate in agricultural economics from the University of Illinois. He taught at Michigan State University before coming to Maryland.

Dr. Foster retired in 1994 but continued to consult for several years with the Philippine government on agricultural development.

He lived in College Park and was a member of the Rotary Club and Paint Branch Unitarian Universalist Church in Adelphi.

His 50-year marriage to Mary Denzine Foster ended in divorce. Survivors include three children, David Foster of Cabarete, Dominican Republic, Dean Foster of Philadelphia and Shanti Foster of Tucson; and a sister, Cynthia Foster Clements of Gainesville, FL.

JENNIE LOUISE VINCENT FOOTE
Grew up in Alfred
CARLSBAD, CA--Louise Foote, age 97, died peacefully in her sleep early Friday morning, August 28, 2010 in Carlsbad, CA, near two of her nephews, their families and her sister, Warda, who had passed away in 2008.

She was the last of five generations of the Vincent family that had their roots in Alfred, beginning with David Vincent who migrated to Alfred in 1809 at the age of 11. She was born May 19, 1913 in nearby Leonardsville, the third of five children. In her early years she made it clear that she preferred to be called Jane Lou or Louise, eschewing the name Jennie which name was shared with the family's milk cow. To this day her nephews and nieces and their children refer to Louise as Aunt Jane Lou, or AJL for short.

She grew up in Alfred, attending grade and high school there and received her B.S. in Applied Art at Alfred University in 1934. She was a member of Alfred's Seventh Day Baptist Church and maintained an interest in that church throughout her life.

When she was six she lost her older brother, Avery, sister Amy, and grandfather, Thomas Vars Rogers, in a tragic motorcycle accident. Four years later, her father, Nathan Wardner Vincent, passed away from complications due to an earlier bout with Rheumatic Fever. Her mother, Mamie Emeline Rogers, then went back to school to earn her teaching certificate to support the family. While her mother was attending school it fell to Louise to help with the chores and oversee her two younger sisters, Warda and Beth. These were the formative years for the caring, and loving responsibility that embodied Louise throughout her career, family life and retirement.

After graduating from Alfred, Louise moved to New York City where she became an occupational therapist with the Department of Hospitals, working with the adult blind on Welfare Island. She married Robert Foote in 1939. After her husband completed his medical schooling he enlisted as a Navy doctor. After the war and their service requirement was over, Louise and her husband worked together to set up his medical practice in Bakersfield, California. They had an active life in Bakersfield, made many good friends, and developed a successful medical practice. But in 1957, they were divorced.

After the divorce, Jane Lou went to work developing her career as an elementary, secondary and high school teacher of the blind. She earned a Masters degree in Special Education from San Francisco State College in 1961. She taught the visually handicapped in Corona del Mar and South Coast School of Special Education. She moved to Ventura County in 1962 and taught in the Port Hueneme School District - Special Education-Visually Handicapped for 17 years. She developed close friendships with many of her students and their families, and still received personal notes and news of their progress after being retired for over 20 years. In 1967 she was honored as Teacher of the Year for the Ventura, California School District.

Following her retirement she stayed active with travel, volunteer work, and family history. She became an accomplished organist and played her organ daily. She had a strong thirst for knowledge, and often availed herself of historically oriented Elder Hostel programs in travels with friends. She served as a docent at the Ventura Museum of History and Art, working primarily to catalogue the museum's extensive collection of historic photographs and articles.

Her avid interest in family history, influenced no doubt by her mother's similar interest, encouraged a genealogical pursuit by other family members. She kept close tabs on her ever expanding family, filling well annotated albums with pictures and articles of her 12 nieces and nephews, 12 great nieces and nephews, and 8 great, great nieces and nephews.

She was a strong, independent woman, always sharing her enthusiasm and wit, and encouragement to others. She was determined to maintain responsibility for her own affairs, keeping actively engaged in life long beyond others of her generation. Even at age 97 she made sure that her apartment was in proper order before going to bed for the last time. Louise was a perfect combination of pride, independence and humility. "Egads", she exclaimed in awe and bemusement, as she received congratulations on her most recent birthday.

Louise's ashes will be interred at the Alfred Rural Cemetery next to her relatives and ancestors. Donations in her memory can be sent to the Alfred Seventh Day Baptist Church, P.O. Box 821, Alfred, NY 14802, the Alfred Rural Cemetery, Route 244, Alfred Station, NY 14803, or to the Museum of Ventura County, Historical Archives, 100 East Main Street, Ventura, CA 93001.

An occasional column inviting readers to identify the scene and appear at Tinkertown Hardware with the correct answer, the first of whom will receive a monster cookie. The identity of the event or scene will appear in the next edition of the ALFRED SUN.

There are two things of interest in this photo; the first is a new restaurant in Allegany County, the second is the birds who have built nests in its eaves. Please identify both.

Last week's cookie(s) were won by two Davids. David Chamberlain and David Haggstrom, both Angelicans, who recognized "The Cave," on County Road 2 east of Angelica on the way to West Almond. What is "wrong" with the skull mounted on femurs is that the display includes deer antlers wired onto a cow skull.

A return to blueberries for a Maine Cake

I need to go back to the blueberry theme for just one week because Donna Rogers brought me a Maine Blueberry Cake recipe. It came from the Maine's Jubilee Cookbook that she bought when they lived in Rockland, Maine back in the 1970's.

As we head to Maine, I will take along this blueberry cake.

- Maine Blueberry Cake

2 c. sugar	2½ tsp. baking powder
1 c. shortening (1/2 butter)	½ tsp. salt
2 eggs	2 tsp. vanilla
1 c. milk	2 tsp. nutmeg (freshly grated if possible)
3 c. flour	1 pint blueberries

Cream sugar and shortening together then beat in eggs, milk, flour, baking powder, salt, nutmeg and vanilla. Fold in the blueberries. Bake in two 9"x9" or one 9x12 greased pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes. Check center for doneness, then increase temperature to 375 for 10 minutes more if not set.

Let cool, then drizzle a bit of confectioner's sugar frosting over the top. It doesn't need much, but it looks pretty. (Donna says she used the smaller pans and they were done in 40 minutes.)

Home energy workshop Sept. 20

By SHERMAN CLARKE
Sustainability Working Group
ALFRED--A Home Energy Workshop is planned for 7 p.m. Monday, Sept. 20 in Alfred Village Hall. This is part of a series of workshops sponsored by the Alfred Alive Sustainability Working Group.

Our first workshop on organic gardening was held July 19 and featured Kasey Klingensmith, professor of biology and environmental science at Keuka College and Five Corners resident. She spoke about the new state law that prohibits pesticides on school grounds and athletic fields, and brought along equipment to test soil samples for acidity or alkalinity. Followup articles in the Sun about organic gardening and lawn care are planned.

In August, we joined with others involved in Alfred Alive in organizing the Dessert Social and Ping Pong Regatta, held August 16. Dozens of people visited tables sponsored by Alfred organizations and visited with neighbors and friends.

Speakers at the Sept. 20 workshop will include experts on making your home more efficient and weather-tight, on incandescent, CFL and LED bulbs and their relative efficiency, and on vampire loads of electricity. Vampire loads are the result of those electronic devices that stay on even when they're not being used and which can represent up to 20% of your electric use. We plan on having plenty of time for discussion and some hands-on materials for you to look at.

In October, we are planning presentations on Small Scale Alternative Energy Awareness by Alfred State Wellsville Campus faculty. The date has not been finalized but will probably be Oct. 18 or 25.

If you are interested in joining the Sustainability Working Group, we are part of the Alfred Alive initiative formed after last October's Main Street fire. We meet every two or three weeks to talk about sustainability and co-operative measures. There are also working groups for programming and economic development. To get on the mailing list or to join a group, e-mail: alfred.ny.alive@gmail.com.

Quite frankly, we want to keep the Dream Alive!

Back in 1884, a simple item appeared in the Alfred Sun that said, "Wanted, one thousand subscribers to the Sun."

That goal suggested by Sun co-founder and legendary Editor and Publisher Frank A. Crumb, was met before the new millennium. But now we'd like to keep the dream alive. So we've set a goal of 125 new subscribers to mark the SUN's 125th anniversary.

During Frank Crumb's Dream Campaign, we offer new subscribers 13 months for the year's subscription price of $27 ($30 outside of Allegany County). That's $25 off the news stand price. And you'll read hometown news and interesting stories found nowhere else!

Vote for Chief Whitney

To the citizens of Allegany County,

I am a retired New York State Conservation Police Officer. I have lived and worked in Allegany County for over 25 years. I am writing this letter to ask you to join me in supporting Bolivar Police Chief Rick Whitney in his candidacy for Sheriff. I have worked with all of the local, county, state and federal Law Enforcement agencies in our area. I have found Chief Whitney to be highly qualified, professional, and an effective police officer and administrator. It is of particular importance to me that he is, and has been for over thirty years, a certified police officer in the state of New York. He has earned the trust, admiration and respect of the people he has served as well as those with whom he has worked and supervised.

I do not ask you to simply join me in my support for Chief Whitney, but I urge you to become aware of the issues in this fall's election. Please consult with your friends, neighbors, and relatives, particularly those who work for agencies that regularly deal with the Sheriff's office. This includes current employees of the Sheriff's Dept., local police agencies, firemen and fire police, rescue squad members and members of the State Police. These men and women will be able to tell you first hand why we need a competent and experienced many of Rick Whitney's caliber to replace the current "leader" of our County law enforcement agency.

Please educate yourself regarding the issues of this campaign for Sheriff. I urge you to visit Chief Whitney's website: www.rickwhitneyforsheriff.com. Please evaluate the educational and service accomplishments of the candidates. We need the best trained, most experienced and best qualified person to serve as our Sheriff. In my opinion, that person is Chief Rick Whitney.

Sincerely,
Dan Ward

Jail administration facts

To the Editor:

Allegany County constituents are hungry for the truth about our Jail operation and just how well the Sheriff and the Jail administration are currently managing the situation? Here are the facts, you decide.

The Sheriff's success with housing inmates brought in 2.4 million dollars in 2009, which more than pays the debt on the facility. Immigration and Customs Enforcement, (ICE) Assistant Field Office Director Hester recently stated that "The Buffalo Field office maintains a very professional and effective working relationship with all staff at the Allegany County Jail." And further, "All facilities housing ICE detainees are required to be in compliance with the standards and the Allegany County Jail has received excellent marks during their reviews."

Lastly, "The performance based National Detention Standards measure and demonstrate how well a facilities protocols, procedures and practices are achieving the desired result. The Allegany County Jail has received excellent marks in these standards. This has and will continue to facilitate a healthy working relationship between ICE and the staff at the Allegany County Jail."

The State Commission of Correction commends our program for reducing costs by growing food, repairing clothing and providing meaningful labor. Our Jail has not had any lawsuits filed by inmates during our current Sheriff's tenure. Sheriff Tompkins is taking further steps to reduce liability by seeking additional certifications that Allegany County is running the best and safest possible Jail for the employees and inmates.

In summary, the facts indicate that Sheriff Tompkins and his Jail administration are competently meeting and creatively surpassing the requirements and expectations for the office of Sheriff in Allegany County. As a result, we have one of the finest run jails in New York State.

There are some facts voters in Allegany County should know before going to the polls and selecting a Sheriff for the next term of office.

When Sheriff Tompkins was first elected, he promised to do what was right for the citizens of Allegany County, and he has kept that promise.

The financing for the new jail requires an annual bond payment of $1.6 million. Sheriff Tompkins has met strict guidelines, regulations, and criteria through his leadership which has enabled Allegany County to re-

Frank Crumb's Dream Subscription Campaign Update

82 down, 43 to go

Back in 1884, a simple item appeared in the Sun that said, "Wanted, one thousand subscribers to the Alfred Sun." It's been 125 years since legendary Sun Editor Frank A. Crumb, with the Sun from 1883 to 1951, set the millenary goal.

Not knowing of Frank Crumb's Dream, I, too, had set a goal of 1000 subscribers when I joined the paper in 1976. That goal was finally reached in January 1999. But we want to keep Frank's dream alive.

The late Eugene T. Van Horn, who owned the newspaper from 1951 until 1973, told us one time that circulation peaked in the 1960s at 700. It's now over 900. We've added 82 new subscribers since Jan. 1, 2009.

After regularly reading this newspaper for about a month, a new subscriber said, "I feel so much more connected to the Alfred community."

There's a good reason for that. This newspaper is a local community paper. It is "Of the Community, For the Community, By the Community."

Get connected to this community. If you would like to contribute to Frank Crumb's Dream, send your name and address or that of a loved one together with your check payable to "Alfred Sun" to: Frank Crumb's Dream, c/o Alfred Sun, P.O. Box 811, Alfred, NY 14802. Thank you!

THE IMPORTANCE OF THE SHERIFF'S ELECTION

Last week I attended a meeting of the North-East Allegany County Coalition ("NEACC") in Belfast. This organization is made up of local officials from towns and villages in the northern portion of the County. Both Rick Whitney and William Tompkins addressed the NEACC officials. In my opinion both candidates were articulate, courteous and informative. However, they are very different, with disparate backgrounds, qualifications, goals and visions. The voters have a clear choice. I do not intend to tell you how you should vote. I don't believe that is the proper role of a County Legislator. However, I would like to identify some issues that I think are important. I encourage you to think about these issues, and other issues that you find important. Hopefully we (as voters) will do our homework and make an informed decision.

The Sheriff's Department is one of the largest departments in County government. Its single largest operation involves running the County Jail. Staffing is a huge responsibility. The jail runs 24 hours a day, 365 days each year. Compare that with most other departments that operate for only 8 hours each day, 5 days a week, with some occasional overtime thrown in. In addition, the Sheriff's Department has responsibility for the 911 Emergency System, the Sheriff's Civil Section, and for the Emergency Dispatch Center. The Sheriff must also respond to crises and emergencies, and provide specified security services for other county agencies. Electing someone who can manage all of these programs well is extremely important. Which candidate will be the best manager?

About 8 years ago the State forced the County to build a new jail facility. The County took a bit of a gamble and built a facility that was almost twice as large as was then needed. The idea was that it would handle growth over the long term, and permit us to "house-in" federal prisoners for pay in the short term. Fortunately this plan has worked well. Having a state-of-the-art jail has enabled the County to stop "housing-out" local prisoners, and to start getting paid for housing federal prisoners. In 2009 we received almost $2.4 million from federal agencies for housing their prisoners. This money was used to make the bond payment for the new jail of approximately $1.6 million. It also provided another $800,000 to reimburse the County for expenses the County had advanced before we started collecting money for outside prisoners. If the County should, for some reason, lose that $2.5 million in federal revenue it could cause local property taxes to increase by almost 10%. That would be catastrophic. Voters should seriously consider which candidate gives us the best chance of maintaining or enhancing that outside revenue. Who will be the best money manager?

The County Sheriff's Deputies and Corrections Officers are unionized. The Board of Legislators and Sheriff are jointly responsible for negotiating a new contract. We have been engaged in negotiations with the Deputies Union for about 3 years. I have participated in almost every negotiating session. By mutual agreement neither side of the negotiations can discuss the details of those negotiations. However, I can confirm that management has made several significant offers. They have not been accepted. We have also identified several critical areas where we hope to reduce expenses and improve efficiency. We are currently at impasse. The State has appointed a mediator to help resolve the impasse. Whoever is elected will have to work with the Board to conclude these negotiations. Wages and overtime are the single largest component of the Sheriff's Department budget. Who is best suited to handle those negotiations?

True leadership takes more than education, experience, or good ideas, though those can all be quite important. Character and integrity are indispensable. Good leadership can make a crucial difference. Please do your homework before casting your vote in this important election for Sheriff of Allegany County.

ceive revenue from housing out-of-county inmates to finance the cost of our annual bond payment. I believe for his track record on this issue alone, Sheriff Tompkins should be re-elected.

For a number of years, overtime has been an issue within the Sheriff's Office. Simple solutions to the rising cost of overtime turn complicated when you factor in the labor contract. Sheriff Tompkins, through innovative methods, is looking to reduce the overtime in the Sheriff's Office by $300,000 this year. With the implementation of a computer based scheduling program, Allegany County will save serious money in the future thanks to Sheriff Tompkins.

He has implemented many other ideas that have saved us money and made a positive impact on those who have entered our prison population for various reasons. As a voter and taxpayer of Allegany County, do what is right and return Sheriff William Tompkins to another term as our Sheriff. As promised, he will continue to do what is right for the citizens of Allegany County.

Letter from the mayor

Letter to the Editor:

This letter shall serve as a "Thank You" to the Business Community and as a reminder for all to "Please Pick up after your Dog."

It is the end of summer and the community is looking good. Thanks to everyone that makes the community a great place to live.

We all need to thank the businesses that suffered from the fire for their determination and hard work to relocate and rebuild. We appreciate the efforts of Marty and Phil Curran and Kathy Snyder in relocating the West Side Wine & Spirits and Sports Center businesses, and of Marc and Carol Rawady in rebuilding the Kampus Kave. We also want to thank John and Chelly Ninos for the expanded Jet. Please make sure you support all of our local business owners by patronizing their stores and restaurants.

We have been asked to remind the community that it is good community practice to clean up after your dog as you walk your dog. There have been some complaints from residents that not all are following the law. Thank you for your anticipated help in this matter.

Craig Clark
Mayor of Alfred

Snyde remarks

By DAVID L. SNYDER
Editor, Publisher and Janitor
alfredsun.news@gmail.com

What would Alfred be without its downtown?
That would have been a theoretical question several years ago. But today, it's real enough to seriously ponder.

Times are tough everywhere, but they are especially hard on small, family-owned businesses, like those lining Main Street in Alfred or along Rt. 244 in Tinkertown and Alfred Station. High taxes and decreasing retail traffic are shuttering stores all across New York State. No downtown is immune. Including ours.

Prior to the October 29, 2009 fire that destroyed arguably Alfred's oldest commercial structure, taking with it three storefronts and damaging a few others, there was evidence of decline in our business community. There were several vacant storefronts. With the introduction of the "new" Collegiate Restaurant downtown and the relocation of the Alfred Sports Center and West Side Wine and Spirits, our downtown has some new life. Work is underway to open BB Shenanigans, a late-night eatery, in the former Collegiate. The Kampus Kave has reopened, joined by Tim Koegel's College Suppliers. Uncle Alfred's Sub Shop opened this summer. Fox's Pizza Den replaced Sonora's some time ago.

But the question in my mind is, "Can all these new businesses survive or will vacant storefronts reappear in our community?"

The New York Press Association, the New York Conference of Mayors, and the New York Economic Development Council, among others, are collaborating to do something about it this September 25th. The organizations have created a statewide citizen initiative called "Spend $25 on the 25th" to put a few extra dollars into the cash registers of Main Street merchants across New York - and to remind all citizens how much charm, character, value, sales tax revenue, and community support these shops provide to our communities.

It's simple concept: If you want to pitch in, you are asked to spend $25 at a local store on September 25th. Many shops offer special discounts, which will be noted with "Spend $25 on the 25th" logos affixed to their store windows. Check this newspaper in the next weeks to see some special deals being offered by participating merchants, although even non-participating stores are worth supporting.

The "$25 on the 25th" campaign will not solve all of New York's problems. That's going to take a far bigger plan. But it may help keep some Main Street doors open just a little longer, until the economy gets stronger and they can get back on their feet. And it will serve to remind us how precious our downtown is. Without our small businesses, Alfred would not be the same.

Missing "Miss Anook"

If you live in the Alfred area you may recognize the face below as one of a highly publicized local K-9 celebrity. Anook MacCrea is the daughter of Fion and Kim MacCrea and has been sorely missed by her family and friends after having run away from their Sherman Road home on Tuesday night, August the 24th. Anook is a two year old Australian Cattle Dog or "Blue Heeler." She was last seen on Hartsville Hill Road on Thursday morning, August 26th. She is predominantly grey/blue in color with upright ears and a full length tail. Anook's most notable feature is the black raccoon-like mask over both eyes. She weighs approximately 45 pounds and stands 18-20 inches at the shoulders (smaller than a German Shepherd!). Anook is friendly, but aloof with people she doesn't know.

Anook came to join the MacCrea family in November of 2008 and quickly became a beloved companion and competent farm hand. The Scottish Highland cattle will be moved from the Acton's summer pasture back to Locustbrae on Waterwells Road at the end of October and Anook's help would certainly be missed!

Please continue to keep an eye out for Anook and if you see her, call Fion immediately day or night. Please do not try to catch her, as she may become more scared and run. The response to the missing dog posters has been absolutely fantastic. A situation such as this serves as a perfect reminder of why we choose to live in a small rural town. Anook and the MacCrea's are blessed to be surrounded by so many caring, compassionate, and helpful people.

More photos and information are available on Facebook.com. A $500 reward is to be offered to anyone with information leading to her safe return! Call (607) 661-7515.

Allison Midgley still scribbling at Albright-Knox

By ELAINE HARDMAN
Alfred Sun Reporter

BUFFALO—The Sol LeWitt Scribble Drawing continues to advance with more than a hundred hours of pencil contact to the walls of the Albright-Knox Art Gallery each day. One of the people penciling this historic piece is Wellsville's Allison Midgley, Technology Coordinator at the David Howe Library and mixed media artist.

Midgley's on leave from the Library for 8 weeks during each of which she will practice 42 hours of precision drawing flowing from first one hand and then the other.

Midgley said, "The drawing is about our ability to collaborate, coordinate and communicate. Each artist works in an area for some hours and then moves to another area. In this way each artist has the chance to give the work a personal impression while we also blend the many styles into the whole."

The drawing was commissioned in 2006 by gallery director Louis Grachos. Sol LeWitt (American, 1928-2007) finished the design, producing an artist sketch, computer generated plans and a maquette (model) before his sad death in 2007. Following his vision, work at the Albright-Knox began this August.

The process involves drawing chaotic, rounded scribbles across the 2200 square feet of wall to create LeWitt's intertwined pipes. The piece is the largest of LeWitt's 1261 wall drawings.

While working, the artists look closely, many of them holding a shop light in one hand and a pencil in the other. They lean forward moving the light and turning their heads watching and evaluating as they trail graphite over the wall. They stand or sit on floors or scaffold boards or reach through spaces to contact the different parts of the wall – in some places 22 feet tall.

They examine the work up close and from a distance. The piece is about chaos making precision - about small becoming great. The team of artists and artisans blend their hands into a single work of art. In the end scribbles become pipes bending, pushing out from and stretching across the 3 interior walls of the stairwell – including 2 inside corners - another unique feature for this work.

From a few feet, the lines present disarray but stepping back the lines advance with continuous gradations somehow changing into crisp divisions where the "pipes" meet at right angles and diverge with clear boundaries. Boundaries made of controlled chaos. They do it by always drawing with the same amount of pressure and the same line quality but by changing the density of the lines. The layered lines create texture and become reflective surfaces.

Midgley said that it's been interesting to see how the lead use changes. "On the first days, each person went through several leads or pencils daily and then as the density of lines within an area increased, it took less lead to make more apparent change. It's a study in contrasts."

"Honored," is the word she uses when she muses over her role in the drawing. Midgley received her undergraduate degree art from the University of Dallas in 1988 and moved to Wellsville in 1990. At the Library she coordinates computers with patrons, staff and materials. During off time she makes mixed media art, rides her bike and practices yoga.

"Yesterday," she said, "I just looked around and thought, I'm part of this. I'm involved in this."

So, is every line important? "Yes," Midgley said. "If you pulled one out, you'd see where it had been. Each line builds on preceding lines. They are all part of the whole, part of the texture. We look at the small area but think of the large. Each line matters."

It is estimated that the artists will put pencils down early in October and that, possibly, on October 12 clear sealant will be applied to protect the delicate graphite lines. Then the plastic will come down and scaffolds will be removed and the warren of steel pipes that seem to pull the walls into rounded, burrished steel forms will be open to visitors from around the world.

Until then, at the bottom of the stairs, there is a sign stating that the crew includes "painters, printmakers, illustrators, architects and one librarian."

By mid October all of their names will stand proudly for decades as this industrial image shines in one of the country's premier modern art galleries in this old, manufacturing city.

Support for the Albright-Knox Art Gallery's exhibitions and installations are provided, in part, by the Seymour H. Knox Foundation, the John R. Oishei Foundation and the Margaret Wendt Foundation.

Davey O to perform at Creative Arts Center

WELLSVILLE-Davey O will perform at 8 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 11, at the Wellsville Creative Arts Center. Come early for dinner (served 5-9 p.m.). Tickets are $12 advance purchase/$14 at door. Member tickets are $10 advance purchase/$12 at door. Tickets may be purchased online at www.WellsvilleCreativeArtsCenter.com or at the Art Center Coffee House. For more information visit the website or call 585-593-3000.

Singer-songwriter Davey O is a resilient artist with a career that has not been of the skyrocket variety. It's been a slow steady climb, a ten-year journey of learning to scrape away anything that smacks of cliché and turn the raw experience of life into songs that cut straight through to a place of sunlight and tears. The struggle has paid off in a collection of songs that are justly earned--no hackneyed storylines, no insincere polish, just an unflinching poet's look at life.

His style is pure Americana--a mix of back porch folk and beer hall rowdy. You've already met his characters: the home-loving troubadour wondering if it's worth the long miles in an anonymous landscape; the brilliant but wild boy whose heart drowns in life's hurricane; the pretty girl at the bar whose sweet smile looks like a promise of redemption. "Raw, rustic, rootsy and melodic, Davey's songs endear themselves to you quickly. It's pretense-free Americana that's worthy of your attention."

--Jeff Miers, THE BUFFALO NEWS

Armed with a classic troubadour's Gibson, battered straw hat and a powerful-yet-sensitive voice, Davey O has entertained attentive, diverse audiences throughout the Northeast and Midwest both as a solo artist and in collaboration with his musical partner Jeffrey Mikulski. He has been recognized with seven ASCAP Plus Awards, five nominations for the Buffalo Music Award, and in 2004 he won the WNY People's Choice Award.

Davey is currently touring in support of his fifth release, "The Long Way Home" and his previous release, "thirtyninedollarview," has received airplay throughout the Northeast and in Europe.

"After over a decade of writing, touring and performing, it's no surprise that Davey O's latest release, THE LONG WAY HOME, is a powerful collection of songs that stand shoulder to shoulder with the best of such writers as John Hiatt, Bruce Springsteen and Bob Dylan."

--Allen Foster,

DAVEY O will perform at 8 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 11 in Wellsville.

BACK TO SCHOOL DAYS

During August I enjoy beginning an adult type conversation with children I know by asking if they are eager for school to start. Depending upon their answers, I pursue the reasons why or why not.

One recently replied with an enthusiastic “Yes.” That beaming response was clarified when she told me what elementary school grade she was entering and who her teacher would be.

When I was her age I was very reluctant to give up my vacation activities, despite the southwest Missouri summer heat which had limited my outdoor time. Instead, cooled by electric fans, I would often be playing board games or working jigsaw puzzles with friends inside their houses or mine. If no playmates were available, I could be found in my own family’s living room, often engrossed in a book. To my father, an avid reader himself, I would sometimes appear to be doing too much reading. He would put a halt to that session by roaring, “You’re going to put your eyes out!”

So, I might shift to the rug and play different types of solitaire, some of which supposedly helped me practice arithmetic. I can still count, and add and subtract numbers, up to thirteen. Sometimes my mother would play jacks with me while we sat on the cool marble hearth of our fireplace. I think that was supposed to improve my eye and hand coordination. Her adeptness remained superior to mine, as mine has never advanced noticeably.

Nowadays, anyone who knows me or sees me frequently has guessed that when it comes to my garb, comfort trumps appearance. For all of my life keeping up with a current style, or any at all, has never rated even a second thought. Therefore, I regarded the annual shopping trip for new school clothes as a doomsday conclusion to summer vacation.

My mother would drive my big sister, Jeanne, and me from our home in small town Joplin, Missouri, to much larger Kansas City, Missouri. There she had favorite stores with many suitable clothing choices. One was Emery, Bird, Thayer, & Company. Another was Harzfeld’s. Fortunately, Poor Old Mother, or “P.O.M.” as she came to be known, could count on Jeanne’s interest as she tried on clothes in the fitting rooms. That had to make up for my droopy indifference to posing for the two of them, the saleslady, or the mirror.

There were a couple of activities during those shopping days that I did enjoy. One was the visit to the two story Wolferman’s establishment in downtown K.C. We would have lunch in the upstairs Tiffin Room, which would always include their trademark, butter-dripping, toasted English muffins. On our way out we would stop in the downstairs baked goods section, and purchase various yummy items for hometown consumption.

The other acceptable part of the day was the stop at Mrs. Stover’s, later Russell Stover’s, store where they made chocolate, or other flavor coated, bonbons. A salesperson would pack individualized boxes with candies picked by the customers. I had no difficulty holding my head and shoulders high for peeking into the glass counter and making my choices.

The caloric consumption these dietary preferences of mine imply had no effect on my weight. My height continued to grow much faster than my breadth well into college. Observers often called me “skinny as a rail.” One time the visiting school nurse who annually checked on height and weight ratios came up with an alarming one. It seemed to indicate that I belonged to a poverty stricken family unable to afford sufficient food for its children. That probably cemented my dislike for making involved mathematical calculations and created my reflexive distrust of widely believed statistics.

During high school my summer vacations evaporated almost entirely. My father saw to it that I was either enrolled in summer school or taking a correspondence course, so that I completed the customary four year routine in three. Then I was enrolled in college for summer school beginning ten days after my high school graduation. The year round schooling continued, but for one summer trip to Europe. Three years of courses, plus a stint of practice teaching, found my bachelor’s degree requirements completed.

Having survived those accelerated youthful experiences, I unhesitatingly sped into early retirement from my job as a librarian. Now I put my eyes out, work jigsaw puzzles, play solitaire on a computer, and avoid stepping on jacks, regardless of the season.

Joann Vaccaro will perform at Black-Eyed Susan Acoustic Cafe

ANGELICA—Joann Vaccaro is a folk singer known for her witty lyrics, comical approach to connecting with an audience, and sincerity in song. Her music is influenced by Ani DiFranco, Pete Seager, James Taylor and Joni Mitchell. She has recorded three albums under her own independent label. Her newest release, "What I'd Cook 4 u" (2009), was voted Rochester's best new album of 2009 by readers of CITY Newspaper.

Black-Eyed Susan Acoustic Café will present guitarist-singer-songwriter Joann Vaccaro on Saturday, Sept. 11 from 7:30–9:30 p.m.

As a solo performer, JoAnn has shared the stage with national recording artists Dido, and Teddy Geiger. When not performing solo, she keeps herself creatively occupied by performing in several professional musical ensembles. In 2005 she joined the Boston based musical group Hypnotic Clambake as a guitar player, harmonica player, kazooist and back-up singer. Hypnotic Clambake has shared the stage with Johnny Winter, Phish, Left Over Salmon, and Public Enemy, among many others. In addition to Hypnotic Clambake, JoAnn also performs with Zydeco Vacation and The New York Klezmer Orchestra. Learn more about her at www.joannvaccaro.com

Don Ash of Black-Eyed Susan remarks, “My first opportunity to hear JoAnn came in 2002. She was playing an electric guitar with such grace and style that she mesmerized her audience. I enjoyed her original songs and her versions of other popular material. I remember her take on “Blue Moon” during that show. She did a terrific job with that old Rodgers and Hart standard. JoAnn has done much fine songwriting since then. We can expect an excellent performance by this Rochester musician.”

JoAnn’s flamenco strumming patterns and flare for poetry--coupled with her love for fish and disdain for dependency on foreign oil -- make for an entertaining show. Her performance begins at 7:30 p.m. but if you arrive earlier, you’ll be treated to Jim Schwartz singing ballads, popular standards and folk tunes. Jim starts at 6 p.m.

Black-Eyed Susan is open all day Saturday, from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. for lunch, dinner, specialty coffees and desserts, with music beginning at 6 p.m. There is no cover charge, but guests are expected to contribute to the musician’s tip jar. # After six decades, Tom O'Grady still creating

Local artist's works collected throughout the world include Wellsville Balloon Rally posters

ANDOVER--After more than six decades of painting, local legend Tom O'Grady is still creating art, and keeping it as fresh as ever.

An Opening Reception for O'Grady's new exhibition, "As I See It," will be held at 6 p.m. Friday, Sept. 10 at the Artist Knot Gallery in Andover. This catered event will feature live music by John Lang.

Although O'Grady is probably best known for his watercolor paintings, his new work showcases his versatility with various media and subject matter, while still demonstrating his signature style and masterly handling of several mediums. On display are nearly 30 works of assorted sizes. Regardless of size, there is everywhere the sense of a compulsion to ecumenically mete out hues. The result is enlivening, to be sure; a long careful look reveals a sure and seasoned hand.

A native of Allegany County, O'Grady has exhibited worldwide, having shown nationally from the Governor's Mansion in Albany to the Portrait Gallery in Washington, D.C., to the MGM Gallery in Las Vegas, and nearly every state in between. Internationally, he has exhibited in various places, from Rome, Italy to Canberra, Australia.

His work is found in permanent collections across the globe, including the private collection of former President Jimmy Carter. O'Grady has also worked as an artist for the Smithsonian Institution. Locally, Tom is especially well known for having initiated the Great Wellsville Balloon Rally poster and creating this annual poster for 24 years.

According to Gallery Director Amy Brown, "This exhibit really showcases Tom's talent. Some of the pieces are easily identifiable as "an O'Grady," while others present a different look that might make some people search for the O'Grady signature for confirmation purposes."

Brown went on to explain that O'Grady's fondness for poetically resonant details is finely balanced by generous areas of well-crafted washes and quiet corners.

"Overall," Brown stated, "the works in this exhibition show a poise and authority that is nothing short of remarkable."

"As I See It" opens at 6 p.m. Friday, Sept. at the Artist Knot Gallery in Andover, and will run until Oct. 29. The Gallery is open Tuesday-Saturday 10 a.m.-5 p.m., until 7 p.m. on Thursday, and by appointment. Visit them at 36 Main St., or on the web at www.artistknot.com, or contact directly at 607.478.5100.

WORKS BY TOM O'GRADY such as is pictured above and below, will be featured in a new exhibition, "As I See It," which opens at 6 p.m. tomorrow (Friday, Sept. 10) at the Artist Knot Gallery in Andover. The catered event will feature live music by John Lang. O'Grady, probably best known for his watercolor paintings, demonstrates his versatility with various media and subject matter, while still demonstrating his signature style and masterly handling of several mediums. Box of Books

Now Open 1-4 p.m. Sundays

The technology it is a changing...and so is the Box of Books. Technology is such a wonderful thing, it has offered us movies, music, audio books, computers, Wii gaming systems and many more. The challenge that we are facing at the Box of Books is; how to grow with all these changes and stay within our walls? A solution that we found is to discard our VHS and audio cassette tapes. This process will allow us the space we need to expand our audio books and our DVD collections.

The Box of Books is a resource for many families who utilize our movie collections but fewer and fewer are utilizing the VHS collection. VHS tapes are still available through the STLS interlibrary loan system, and in the STLS rotating collection. The VHS tapes will be for sale in our Annual Book Sale on September 25th, those not sold will be donated to other libraries in the STLS system who have expressed interest in them. We at the Box of Books understand that this may be a hardship or inconvenience for some of our patrons, and we will work with you to keep your needs met to the best of our abilities.

AU community faces ‘A Day Without Shoes’ Sept. 16

ALFRED—Have you ever scored a two-for-one deal on your favorite pair of shoes? Did you give away that second pair to a child in need? On Thursday, Sept. 16, students, faculty and staff at Alfred University will lose their shoes to raise awareness about the impact a pair of shoes can have on a child's life during the first-ever 'Day Without Shoes at AU.'

The AU community members will bring their bare feet together on the 16th to participate in events across campus, and gain an appreciation for their shoes. This day will help them to further understand the importance of providing shoes to children in need across the world. This idea, inspired by TOMS shoes, a Los Angeles-based shoe company, is celebrated each year across the nation and was brought to AU by senior marketing student Jessica Marble of Wellsville.

Marble interned at Buzztone, a marketing agency in Los Angeles during summer 2010

BATH—For a refreshing time of worship and ministry with Allan Hall, Todd Smith and Amy Perry, Family Life will present Dove-award winning, Selah, in concert. The show will be held at Family Life on Friday, September 17 at 7 p.m. Family Life is located at 7634 Campbell Creek Road, off Route 415 in Bath.

Tickets are $19.50 for premiere seating and $15.00 for general admission. To purchase tickets, please call 1-800-927-9083 or visit www.fln.org.

Selling more than two million albums, Selah blends inspirational pop and soft country with rich, harmonious vocals. This musical trio, known for appealing to a wide cross-section of listeners, reinvents original hymns and breathes new life into classic worship songs.

Last year, Selah marked its 10th anniversary with album number seven, You Deliver Me, featuring a mix of inspirational hymns and newly-composed music. You Deliver Me is Selah's most personal album to date, reflecting how after great tragedy, faith in God can bring peace and healing into hurting lives.

where she worked closely on a TOMS shoes campaign. After learning about the company's values, she was inspired by the 'One for One' concept and decided to share her passion with her alma mater, serving as a TOMS campus representative.

Beginning Monday, Sept. 13, members of the community will be able to demonstrate their commitment to go a day without shoes by signing a pledge banner on campus. This banner will then be displayed on the 16th at the Powell Campus Center, to inspire others to show their toes for the cause.

On Wednesday Sept. 15, Marble will host two, one-hour screenings of the TOMS shoes story, for community viewing. The programs will run at noon and 8:45 p.m. in Nevins Theater, Powell Campus Center.

Marble, a graduate of Wellsville High School, is a daughter of Jim and Janet Marble of Wellsville. She has been active on the AU campus in a number of capacities including membership in the Women's Leadership Academy, as president of the Students of Marketing at AU-American Marketing Association, and serving as co-chair of the campus Passionately Pink for the Cure breast cancer awareness campaign.

VENTURING CREW—Rafting down the Cattaraugus River on a Saturday was an exciting enterprise Venture Crew 19, a co-ed branch of Boy Scouts, eagerly undertook this summer. ## DOT wins award for Belmont bridge

ALBANY—The New York State Department of Transportation (NYSDOT) had two department highway projects receive awards in the prestigious 2010 America's Transportation Award

Northeast regional competition.

The awards – one for the State Route 19 project in Belmont, Allegany County, and the other for the U.S. Route 62 project in the village of Hamburg, Erie County – were given in June at the Northeast Association of State Transportation Officials (NASTO) annual meeting in Wilmington, DE. The $4.25 million replacement of the State Route 19 bridge over the Genesee River Dam in Belmont, Allegany County, received an award in the Under Budget, Small Project category. The project, the second in that area to receive such recognition in the past year, replaced a 75-year-old structure over the Genesee River Dam located in Belmont.

If there’s ‘nothing on your plate, join church for Sabbath worship

ALFRED STATION--So what are you doing this Saturday? Your friends at the Alfred Station Seventh Day Baptist Church, “A 3 C church: Connect- Care- Community,” invites you to join them "if there is nothing on your plate" this Sabbath, Sept. 11 in worship and study. The Sabbath Worship Hour begins at 11 a.m. and lasts to about 12:15 p.m. During the Worship Hour we sing the hymns of the faith, affirm our Faith beliefs and hear from the Bible through the sermon.

This Sabbath we will pause and remember the significance of this date in the life of our nation and remember the tragedy and loss of 9/11. Pastor Ken’s sermon titled “Love your neighbor” will focus on the Seventh Day Baptist General Conference memory verse for September that tells us to “love your neighbor as yourself.”

Preceding Sabbath Worship at 9:45 a.m. is Sabbath School with classes from nursery through

Unitarian Universalists to meet at Marino’s Saturday, Sept. 11

The meeting will begin with an ingathering ritual, “The Gathering of the Waters.” Members and visitor are encouraged to bring water which represents summer. This will be added to a communal bowl and opportunity will be provided to share summer’s highlights. The ritual will lead to our first discussion, the First Unitarian Universalist Principle: We value the inherent worth and dignity of every person. Fully rely on God

By LINDA STAIGER

ALMOND--So we came into church on the last Sunday in August to find frogs everywhere in the church: in the vestibule, on the walls.....and lined up on the pulpit! So what's up with the frogs you ask? Well it is a new tradition in our church--this is the 2nd year of...wait for it..."FROG Sunday"! (Confused?..Call the "hoperator"..)

"Frog Sunday": Fully Rely On God. In 1 Samuel we see David, for one, who completely trusted that God was with him. Remember, he's the one who was a boy with a slingshot and he persuaded the King to let him fight Goliath. Well, it worked. David defeated Goliath--he knew God was with him and he Fully Relied On God. But if you read 1 Samuel you will see that following God will sometimes get messy---it doesn't always go easily. 'Messy' often brings on lack of trust, faith that things will work out. Paul knew this, but he kept faith even in the worst of times. He knew that if he survived all the trials he would go on serving; if not, he would die relying on God.

So, the short of it is this: in all that you do 'FROG'--Fully Rely On God and He will be with you. And, oh yes..'TOAD'.. "Then Observe Answers Develop."

‘Gospel According to Dunkin Donuts,’ Acts 9

By LINDA STAIGER

ALMOND--This is one of Pastor Steve Dygert's best messages and, sad to say, it is his last Sunday message to us before he and his family move to Florida to help his Dad. I only hope that I can do justice to his message in this article.

In Acts 9 we read of Brother Saul having his sight returned--scales fell from his eyes, he received some food and immediately regained some strength. He was baptized as Paul and went on to become a strong believer.

Saul/Paul had been a devout Jew--he wanted to keep it pure so that's why he had persecuted Christians. He spent his life going after Christians, but once he changed the Jews wanted to kill him. All through his persecuting times he knew who Jesus was. He had heard the stories about Jesus in Galilee, the feeding of the thousands, the crucifixion and resurrection. He had Knowledge of Jesus. But at this point in his life he did a 180 degree turn and became a Christian. At this point he spent the rest of his life preaching and teaching about Jesus--he had a personal relationship with God.

So what's the difference between Knowledge of Jesus and Personal Relationship with Jesus? (Are you ready? This is where it gets good!) Do you know "Dunkin' Donuts"? It's a company with 98% name recognition in the US.

Think about it: pretty much everybody knows Dunkin' Donuts--no question about it. Here's what you didn't know: its headquarters is in Canton, MA. You can even go online at DunkinDonuts.com and you will find the location, the history and nutritional information. You know---number of calories has 6, 7 or 8 digits! List of vitamins with zero numbers (LOL).

Bill Rosenberg opened his first D.D. store in 1950 to sell his own perfectly blended coffee which could ONLY be found there. It has grown to serving 3 million people per day with 52 varieties of donuts. For instance: the kreme-filled--fill it with cholesterol and cover it with chocolate! Then there are sprinkles--sugar and fat, but complicated with sprinkles... But of course, there is nothing like a glazed donut, warm from the oven.

(At this point Pastor opens the donut box he has been holding...picks up a glazed donut ...and takes a bite! Congregation mmmms!) "But seriously --if I can use that word in a sermon about donuts--what would happen if you went online to tell D.D. all you learned about them in Almond Union Church?" Do you think the Board of D.D. would go around saying "Hey, did you hear what happened in Almond? They learned everything about D.D."? When you get right down to it, they don't care about how much you know about them--they only want you to experience the donut!

You have Knowledge about Jesus, but have you experienced Him? This is the moral: know all you want about Jesus, but let yourself truly experience Jesus and let Him into your lives.

I hope you have enjoyed this brief report of Pastor Steve's message. He is definitely a man of God with a great deal of faith. He Fully Relies On God as does his family and know that God goes with them when they leave us. I imagine that they will stop at Dunkin Donuts on their way so I hope Pastor gets to experience the glazed marvel fresh from the oven. So, to our beloved Pastor Steve, Sandy Stewart and Sarah...Go With God. And remember: we'll leave the light on for you.

Village of Alfred awarded $325,000 Main Street grant

ALFRED-- The Village of Alfred has received notification of a $325,000 award for revitalization of its Downtown Business District from the NYS Office of Community Renewal.

This funding will provide additional incentives to leverage private investment in the Downtown Business District, and to assist building owners with restoring their historic buildings. Three percent of the grant will be used for streetscape improvements, and a portion will be set aside for administration.

Mayor Craig Clark is very pleased that the funding will help the business owners, many who were greatly impacted by the large fire last fall. The Main Street funds will be joined with $177,000 in private owner investment, and will include renovation of historic facades and improvements to interior commercial spaces. Property owner funding includes an option for up to $50,000 in low interest loans provided by NeighborWorks Home Resources.

"Amanda Burns, under the direction of the Village Planning Board, did an outstanding job writing this grant application. While working through an internship program at Alfred State College, she researched and developed the application while maintaining effective communication with local business owners and government officials," said Clark.

Anne Wenslow, Chair of the Planning Board, said, "The Planning Board is very pleased that the Village received the Grant. We look forward to working with the business owners as they develop their projects."

THE DOG CART, also known as the University Diner, was the Ninos' family's first restaurant in Alfred, purchased in 1949 from Snady Cornelius. It was located on Church Street where the Union University Church Center is now located. When it burned in 1954, Bill Ninos bought "The Beacon" in Hornell.

Days Gone By

Remembering Alfred in the 1940s

By DAVID A. CRUMP

Many cows were kept in or near the village. State Farm's large herd and Dighton Burdick on North Main Street; a herd on West University Street and the Snyder farm out South Main Street.

The jewelry store was operated by a short man who was known for giving very short answers, sometimes tainted with imitation. Sometimes kids would go into the store, probably in search of the shortest answers.

The old Collegiate was perhaps the icon of all Alfred businesses. It was operated by the Kamakaris family and owned by Nick Moriarti of Hornell.

About the fall of 1949, the village ran out of water. The University sent everyone home for a week or so.

Shortly after Pearl Harbor, a national plan was installed to prepare against air raids. Volunteers would function during night time blackouts—air raid wardens, communicators, even kids on bicycles as messengers. Windows had to be tightly covered if any light was on in a room. Street lights were off during the infrequent practice exercises. But, volunteers served 24/7 as air spotters on the tower of old Kenyon Hall. Any air activities was reported at once by phone to a center in Buffalo.

About 1940, an amazing display of Northern Lights occurred in early evening. People were in the village streets to observe the brilliant streaking and movement of blue and green colors.

One time, Ray Wingate, the carillonneur, made the mistake of locking himself in the tower complex. After repeated attempts to free himself, he was quoted as saying "I put my pride in my pocket and called for help."

In 1939, Ernest Snyder's barn burned in early evening, lighting the fall sky. Many students walked out South Main Street to the site. Next day, the Fiat Lux placed a basket in the old Post Office to collect support money.

Paul C. Saunders, chairman of the Chemistry Dept., raised six children, kept a large hen house, a cow, was the official weather recorder, and was renowned for his Liquid Oxygen Demonstrations, which he presented to over a thousand schools and groups in Western New York. The license plate on his car read AX5.

In the summer of 1943, the University welcomed 500 GIs in the Army Student Training Program. It was quite a sight to see columns of soldiers marching on Alfred streets. Realizing there would be need for recreation, J.E. Whitcraft, professor in the Business Department was asked to form up a dance band for Saturday night dances in Alfred Firemen's Hall. The band was a 12-piece outfit with vocalist, with students, GIs, professors and a few high school students. It continued for nearly ten years and played all over Western New York State.

The only elevator in Alfred was located at the rear of Reuben Armstrong's hardware store. It was operated by pulling ropes and and carried freight to the third floor. Reuben never seemed to mind youths dropping in to operate the elevator.

About 1948, the University Librarian, Clarence Mitchell, upgraded the library's encyclopedia and offered me the old set. I moved all 30 volumes of Encyclopedia Britannica into eight successive houses and finally gave them to a non-profit 60 years later.

During World War II, the University Library received a copy of Life magazine every Friday. I would leave the AACCS bus downtown and go directly to the Library in order to look at Life. It had the best, most recent photos of the war from both theatres, the real precedent to television.

During World War II, the nation was urged to plant "victory gardens" to raise vegetables. A sizeable tract was plowed south of Theta Chi and many families planted and harvested.

In the early '50s, a prominent faculty member was discovered participating in a wild student party. One of the few immediate dismissals followed.

The Alfred Telephone Co. was housed in one room of a house at the corner of Main and Church Streets. The switchboard was worked by one operator who connected parties with plug-in cables. Also, the Western Union machine and the only phone booth in town was located in that room. The Bassett family owned and managed the company and maitained the wires and poles.

The Ag-Tech dairy processing building was located across from Davis Gym and handled all the State Farm's abundant milk including ice cream manufacture. The building had a second entrance which gained view through indoor windows to the lower level working dairy operation. The ice cream machine was directly below the one window that opened above that machine. How many times I looked down at the student operator with a plea—sure enough he would take a small paper plate, load it with a six inch tower of ice cream, stick in a spoon and hand it upward to me, having made sure Professor Myers wasn't in the area.

In the early '40s a student organization hired Wester Union to set up a wire to connect Alfred with a distant Saturday afternoon varsity football game. A large white cloth gridiron was set up on Alumni Hall stage; the operator and ticker were seated in the wings with Dean Schrekengost, professor of ceramic design, was announcer, calling the plays as relayed from Western Union. Small pen lights behind the cloth screen portrayed the game play by play. University cheerleaders urged the sizeable audience on.

Alfred University ranked 20th in 'new measure of ranking'

ALFRED—A new measure for ranking colleges places Alfred University 20th in the nation among master's universities, according to Washington Monthly magazine.

Washington Monthly uses different standards that it says measure how service-oriented the schools are to determine the rankings, dividing its criteria into three categories: social mobility, research and service.

"[W]hile there were plenty of guides out there that help students and parents decide how to spend their tuition dollars wisely, there wasn't one to tell citizens and policymakers which colleges were spending their tax dollars wisely," explain the Washington Monthly editors in the edition that hit the news stands Aug. 24.

"This new ranking system attempts to address other guides and rankings tend to ignore: what an institution actually does to help its students improve," said Alfred University President Charles M. Edmondson. "Most of best-known rankings concentrate on little more than the exclusivity of an institution, and by doing so, often reward institutions more for how many students it turns away than for how well it serves their needs. Imagine rating a hospital or a restaurant merely because it refused service to someone. Yet, that is sometimes the net effect of most rankings."

"Even though Alfred University fares well in those rankings, I take more personal satisfaction from The Washington Monthly ranking because it affirms that "We really do what we say we do," said Edmondson. "From our founding, the real focus of Alfred University has been to help young people fulfill their potential regardless of their background. We care more about where they can go in life than where they started."

The criteria used by Washington Monthly include the percentage of students who receive federal Pell Grants, the assistance program that allows low-income students to attend college, and the difference between the anticipated graduation rate, predicted on the basis of SAT scores, and the actual graduation rate for those students. At Alfred University, 28 percent of the nearly 2,000 undergraduate students are eligible for Pell Grants. The anticipated graduation rate is 59 percent; the actual rate is 67 percent.

Another set of measures looks at the amount of research dollars, and the percentage of graduates who go on to receive the highest degree in their fields. Alfred University's research expenditures are $5.4 million per year, it ranks third in the nation among the master's universities for the percentage of students who earn advanced degrees.

The service component looks at the number of graduates who enter the Peace Corps, the number who are involved in the Reserve Officer Training Corps, the percent of federal work-study funds spent on service projects, the percentage of students involved in community service and the number of hours they volunteer, as well as the number of service-learning courses, community service staff and financial aid support.

Also out Aug. 24, Parade magazine offered it "A list" of colleges. Alfred University was among the top 25 in the country for its School of Art & Design. Parade asked for recommendations from 43 guidance counselors to compile its lists.

Recently, Alfred University learned it was ranked third in the North among masters' degree-granting institutions as a "Great School at a Great Price" by US News and World Report, which also ranked the University 20th overall in the North.

Forbes.com and Princeton Review earlier included Alfred University in their listings of the top schools in the country, and Fiske Guide called AU one of the best buys in the country.

For the Birds...

By BETSY BROOKS
Alfred Sun Columnist

It has been one of the best summers I can remember for birds. After some lingering cold weather in early May that negatively impacted early nesters like Tree Swallows, the nesting season was the best in years.

I documented 55 nests of 14 species, including 15 robin's nests, which was a record for me. Out of those 55 nests, 40 successfully produced one or more young. A 73% nest success percentage is unusually high. But if you think about the conditions this summer, we had no prolonged cold spells, only one flooding thunderstorm that I can recall, and good vegetation growth to provide cover for nests, etc., so it makes sense that it was a productive breeding season.

The most interesting nest I studied was in our own chimney ... a nest of an unknown number of Chimney Swifts. I had seen a few pairs circling over the house and vocalizing in June in the early evenings. Later, in early July, I was concerned about a weird noise coming from the wall, behind my computer, near the chimney and I thought it sounded like an electrical connection problem of some sort. Very quickly I put two and two together and began to read up on Chimney Swifts and their habits.

In my 36 years of bird banding, I've only banded one Chimney Swift and that was years ago, at our old house, when I came in from shopping one day and found one sitting on my kitchen sink! It obviously fell down that chimney and it left my kitchen, no worse for wear, with a shiny new band on its leg.

Swifts are amazing! Every afternoon in late July I would begin to hear the young chattering, and soon the adults (I think there were at least two pair nesting inside) would rise straight up out of the chimney and immediately take off like a bomber straight down our hill and off up into the sky to catch insects. Five or 10 minutes later, they'd be back and drop down the chimney and the young would begin chattering like crazy.

One time, something obviously was wrong because the chattering was different. I could only describe it as the very loud rattle of a giant rattlesnake on steroids! It certainly got my attention!

When I knew it was about time for the young to fledge, I sat for hours watching the chimney, in hopes that I would see the young come out in preparation for their first flight. But I missed it ... and one day, they were gone for good. I've learned that Chimney Swifts gather in huge flocks, after the breeding season, and can sometimes be seen entering and leaving large chimneys before they leave the area for good and migrate all the way to South America.

People report seeing flocks of a hundred or more diving into the big chimney at a school in York, NY, where they rest until sunset when they fly out to hunt insects at night.

Saxons roll past Widener, 37-0 in FieldTurf debut

ALFRED--The Alfred University football team opened its 2010 season with a 37-0 shutout of visiting Widener University Saturday afternoon on the new turf at Merrill Field.

More than 2,000 fans watched as the Saxons held Widener to 210 yards of offense and forced six turnovers. Junior quarterback Tom Secky (Bemus Point/Maple Grove) threw for two touchdowns, both to junior tight end Adam Schutz (Geneva), and ran for another as the Saxons produced 332 yards of offense and 15 first downs.

AU opened the scoring with a 38-yard field goal by junior Eric Rockwood (Allegany-Limestone) with 9:44 left in the first quarter. Junior Nick Clark (Canisteo-Greenwood) intercepted a pass just before the end of the opening quarter and returned the ball to the Pride 3-yard line. On fourth-and-one, freshman tailback Chuck Beckwith (Victor) plunged in for the score, putting AU up 10-0 five seconds into the second period.

Secky connected with Schutz on a 37-yard scoring play midway through the second to cap a six-play 63-yard drive and AU went into intermission up 17-0. Alfred added 13 points in the third. Secky hit Schutz with a 35-yard TD pass 1:17 into the third period to end a four-play 85-yard drive. Freshman tailback Austin Dwyer (Hornell) took a direct snap and went 50 yards during the drive and finished his collegiate debut with 53 yards on five carries.

Secky put AU up 30-0 with a two-yard run with 4:08 left in the third and Clark closed out the scoring with a two-yard run 32 seconds into the fourth, capping a seven-play 30-yard drive that began after an interception by junior free safety Alec Currier (Peru). AU defenders had four interceptions on the day and forced two fumbles as the Saxons held the Pride to 63 yards passing.

Senior wide receiver Ryan Thon (Victor) had a game-high eight catches for 73 yards for AU and Schutz had five receptions for 94 yards and two touchdowns. Dwyer added three receptions for 29 yards.

Sophomore tackle Mike Raplee (Dundee) had a game-high 11 tackles, including two for loss, and broke up a pass to pace the Saxon defense. Clark had seven tackles (one for loss); junior linebacker Wes Smith (Turberville, PA/Muncy) had eight stops; and junior end Marcellus Jones (Lancaster) had two sacks among his six tackles.

Clark, Currier, frosh cornerback Chris Gibbs (Whitesboro) and junior cornerback Roland O'Brien (Hoosick Falls) each had interceptions and junior linebacker Brady Bonaquisti (LeRoy) and junior cornerback Matt Mazur (Marcy/Whitesboro) each forced a fumble.

The Saxons are "off" this week. AU will travel to Canton to face St. Lawrence Saturday, Sept. 18.

AU men's soccer team wins Oswego Tournament

The men's soccer team (1-1-1, 0-0-0 Empire 8) won the Oswego Tournament last weekend. The Saxons tied Grove City, 1-1, in the first round, advancing on penalty kicks to the title game, where the Saxons knocked off Oswego, 2-1. Earlier in the week, AU lost to Hobart, 6-0.

Grove City got on the board first with a goal 21:40 into the game. Alfred answered when freshman midfielder Zachary Kraneveldt (Millville, NJ) scored on an assist from senior defender Nick Schneider (Liverpool) at the 74:39 minute mark. After a scoreless 10-minute overtime period, the game went to penalty kicks. AU got shootout goals from sophomore forward Frankie Mannino (Elmira Free Academy) and junior forward Ean Kelleher (Plattsburgh), junior midfielder Tony Gai (Burke, VA/Lake Braddock) and sophomore forward Rigel Johnson (Little Valley) to while Alfred sophomore goalie Elliot Thorpe (Highlands Ranch, CO/Thunder Ridge) stopped two of Grove City's attempts for a 4-2 win.

The Saxons won the Oswego State Tournament, defeating the host team 2-1 in Saturday's championship match. Mannino scored both the Saxons' goals and was named tournament MVP. Mannino opened the scoring at the 22:39 mark of the first half on an assist from Gai. Oswego tied the game 1:19 later. The game remained tied until Mannino netted the game-winner 11:25 into the second half on an assist from Kraneveldt. Thorpe made two saves in goal for Alfred and was named to the all-tournament team.

In the Hobart game, Thorpe made eight saves in 81 minutes in net, and freshman Samuel Guy (Binghamton) played the final nine minutes and making one save.

AU hosts Marywood with a 4 p.m. start on Saturday, Sept. 11.

Lady Saxons win a pair in AU soccer tournament

The women's soccer team (2-0-0, 0-0-0 Empire 8) won games against visiting Pitt-Braford (2-0), and Hilbert (2-1) in the AU invitational tournament.

In the Saxon win over Pitt-Bradford, Alfred jumped out to a quick lead, with junior midfielder Alicia Schuler (Elba) tallying an unassisted goal 28 seconds into the game. Senior forward Erin Crandall (Alfred-Almond) scored on an assist from senior forward Liz Graham (Wellsville) at the 13:57 mark and the Saxons led 2-0 at half-time. AU outshot Pitt-Bradford 18-7 and held an 11-4 advantage in shots on goal. Senior goalie Shanna Ewoldt (Tuscon, AZ/Waubansie Valley) made four saves to earn the shutout.

Alfred opened the scoring against Hilbert on an unassisted goal by Graham 10:52 into the game. Junior defender Kaitlyn Ross (New Berlin/Unadilla Valley) scored an unassisted goal from 40 yards out with just over 16 minutes left in the half and AU led 2-0 at intermission. Alfred outshot Hilbert, 20-5, and had eight shots on goal to the Hawks' three. Ewoldt made two saves in goal.

The Saxons host Elmira at 7 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 11.

Volleyball team gets first win

The Saxon volleyball team (1-2, 0-0 Empire 8) opened its 2010 season at Pitt-Bradford, suffering a 3-0 loss Wednesday evening. AU split a pair of matches in a tri-match at Hamilton College, defeating Green Mountain College 3-0, and losing to Hamilton 3-0 Saturday.

The Saxons lost to Pitt-Bradford by scores of 25-17, 25-14 and 25-1. Freshman Chelsea Hall (Grand Island) led AU with six kills, three digs and a block. Junior Emily Crosby (Fairport) had four kills, seven digs and two blocks; freshman Tara Barone (Derby/Lake Shore) had a team-best 12 assists; and freshman Paige Jensen (Weiser, ID) had four kills and four digs.

The Saxons (1-2) lost to host Hamilton 3-0 (25-15, 26-24, 25-12), then rebounded to beat Green Mountain College in three games (25-17, 25-20, 25-15). The Friends of BOB (Box of Books library) are planning the second annual wine tasting and silent auction benefiting the library on Saturday evening, October 9, 2010. Alfred's own Westside Wine and Spirits will provide the wine tasting. Your support last year created an event that was such fun and we hope to have your participation again this year for an equally successful evening.

Your contributions for the auction could take many forms. Below are some suggestions and we are open to any others:

- A treasure from your attic
- A certificate for a scrumptious dessert or dinner to be held in the future
- A piece of china from Aunt Betty you never use
- A lesson in gardening, art, baking
- A weekend at your cottage or cabin
- A ride in a classic car
- A work of art or handcraft
- Sterling flatware or jewelry you hate to polish

We would like to collect these items during the month of September. Pat Edwards, Sharon Burdick and Carlyn Yanda will pick up/receive the donations. Call Pat at 587-8470, Sharon at 587-9344 or Carlyn at 247-4009

HITS AND MISSES:

The Alfred University Saxons football squad rolled out of the starting blocks for the 2010 campaign as they blanked Widener at Merrill Field, 37-0. Coach Dave Murray's team appears to be ready to compete for the E8 title again and possibly a trip to the NCAA's. Taking AU to go (8-2) minimum, not knowing anything about Frostburg State or how strong RPI is this year! Have to believe SJ Fisher and Ithaca will be two toughest tests on slate, both are in Alfred this year and not on consecutive weekends. Advantage Saxons. The Cardinals of SJ Fisher drubbed Brockport over the weekend past and have to believe the Bombers smacked St. Lawrence in their opener. Alfred is "off" this weekend and returns to action on September 18th at St. Lawrence against the Saints.

Stephen Baker (McQuaid) had a rather impressive debut to his collegiate soccer career at UPenn as he tallied a goal in a win over St. Joe's of Philly and netted two more plus an assist in a victory over LaSalle. The two versus LaSalle were in the second half as he was forced to attend a "frosh seminar" prior. Yikes. For his efforts, Baker was named Player of the Week and Rookie of the Week in the Ivy League conference. Baker was the 2009 AGR Player of the Year in high school soccer, an All-American and is off to a great start at UPenn. The son of A-A Hall of Famer, John and Colleen and grandson of former Belmont High basketball coach, Bob and Barb. UPenn plays George Mason and Lafayette this weekend. George Mason is in the "backyard" of Mixer and the Quakers will be there next year.

Christy Kaznowski continued her scoring ways for the Western Carolina Catamounts women's soccer squad as she netted a goal in a 3-2 loss to UAB. First three games as a frosh ... three goals! The Catamounts were blanked by Auburn after that, 3-0. Some tough competition for WCU. The daughter of the once-legendary Kaz, ex-ASC hoop coach and owner of the Upper Deck restaurant (and others) in the Cary-Raleigh, NC area. Team is now 2-2 on the year. Guessing Kaz and Patti are making a few road trips here and there.

The University of Vermont Catamounts women's soccer team is now (1-2) on the season after dropping a 4-0 decision at UMass this past weekend. Jess Herbst (Webster Schroeder) is currently nursing an ankle sprain and is out of action. Haley Marks (Penfield) has moved into a starting spot as a frosh. UVM plays at Army this weekend against Florida Gulf Coast and the host school.

Spotted a few NYS vanity plates here and there: SEE FAME, NYY1ST w/Yanks logo ... obviously, JULY4 45, TOPHER and ANU USA. With Vermont plates: SKISTOW.

Perhaps a little "off" on naming all the teams that will make the NL playoffs in MLB as the San Diego Padres suddenly can't win at all, the Giants are about ready to overtake them and Colorado might be headed for one of their patented late season runs as well. Atlanta, Philly, Cincy and either the Pads or Giants should make the NL post-season. The AL is probably set with the Yanks, Rays, Twins and Rangers with only the ChiSox a possibility to nip Minny instead. All the teams have various weaknesses but would take the Phillies right now as the WS favorite with their pitching.

A (rare) correction from last week as it is the Rochester Rattlers that moved to Toronto in outdoor, pro lacrosse action. The Rochester Knighthawks are the indoor lax team.

In WNBA semi-final play it was Sue Bird and the Seattle Storm topping Diana Taurasi and the Phoenix Mercury, 2-0 in games in the West Conference playoffs. Probably the best two teams in the cage league. Bird and Taurasi are ex-UConn teammates that won NCAA titles together and have Olympic gold for Team USA as well.

The USA men were still undefeated in the FIBA World Championships of basketball heading into "round of 16" play against Angola on Monday past. Assume the USA will stomp them.

Ted Schulz won the First Tee Open golf tournament on the Champions Tour over the weekend with a 202 total. Fred Couples ... whom I still think should be on the Ryder Cup squad was at 205, Jeff Sluman (210), Mark O'Meara ... not of Alfred (211), Joey Sindelar (214) and Mike Hulbert from Elmira at (218). Guess Bernhard Langer, who'll be Player of the Year, took the week off from com-

Baker sweeps Ivy honors in Penn debut

PHILADELPHIA--Stephen Baker was a force up top for Penn in its opening week of play, scoring three goals and adding an assist in his first two collegiate games. For his effort, he swept both weekly honors in the Ivy League as he was named both Player and Rookie of the Week.

On Friday, Baker notched his first collegiate goal in the 40th minute of a win at Saint Joseph's. The goal came on one of his 10 shots, a mid-air boot that was in impressive showing of agility.

On Sunday, Baker and his classmates spent the majority of the day in a mandatory freshmen seminar on campus. The seminar forced Baker to miss the first half of Penn's game against La Salle, but the freshman made up for lost time in the second half. After checking in following the break, Baker went off for two goals and an assist as Penn downed La Salle, 5-0.

Baker has taken the early lead in the Ivy League points race, with seven. His point total after two games in 2010 would have ranked him fourth on the Quakers last season.

His selection as Player of the Week is Penn's first since Loukas Tasigianis was selected in November of 2008. Last year, Garon Smith was selected Rookie of the Week while manning goal for the Quakers.

STEPHEN BAKER, son of John and Colleen Baker of Fairport, swept the Ivy League Weekly honors, after scoring three goals and an assist in his debut at the University of Pennsylvania. Stephen is the grandson of Bob and Barb Baker of Alfred. (Photo courtesy of Penn Athletic Communications)

Alfred State tops Apprentice, 22-7

ALFRED--Sir Aaron Taylor (West Chester/Lincoln Hall) returned the opening kickoff of the second half 86-yards for a score to break a 7-7 tie and lead Alfred State to a 22-7 victory over the Apprentice School (Newport News, VA) in their 2010 season opener.

The Builders, an NCAA Division III program, got on the board first with 3:29 remaining in the first when Johnathan Jones returned a fumble 30 yards.

Cody Scepaniak (Vestal) tied the game up early in the 2nd quarter (14:03) when he scampered in from eight yards out to cap an eight play, 35-yard drive.

Neither the Pioneers or the Builders could get much offense going but ASC took advantage of great field position due to a 77-yard punt by Colter Johnson (Warren, PA) that pinned Apprentice back on their own 1 yard line with 5:27 remaining in the contest.

On the next play, Emmanuel Wells (Erie, PA/Strong Vincent) and the defensive line tackled the Builder rusher in the end-zone for the safety to give Alfred State a 16-7 lead.

Markese Pullium (Erie, PA/Strong Vincent) put the game out of reach with 2:47 remaining when he returned an interception 35-yards for the score.

Scepaniak finished 11 for 27 for 117 yards in his first start for the Pioneers. Josh Griffin (Englewood, NJ/Dwight Morrow) led the receiving core with six catches for 78 yards while Rory Spain (Tully/Tully Central) led the offense with 56 yards rushing on one carry. ASC was held to just 134 total yards (17 rushing and 117 passing)

Nick DePofi (Endicott/Union Endicott) led the defense with petition and winning!

The NFL starts this week with a great Thursday collision, the Minnesota Vikes traveling to New Orleans in a rematch of the NFC title game from last season. Favre from the Vikings, Brees with the Saints. The Purple and white are hurting at the receiver position. New Orleans by 10-points.

It was off to St. Lawrence last weekend to watch the SUNY Geneseo women's soccer team in action at the Lotto Classic on the SLU campus. Ventured up there with Beale from Penfield and it was 92-degrees and muggy for the Friday Geneseo-Clarkson contest. Yikes. The Blue Knights beat the Golden Knights, 5-0. Had a chance to chat with the SLU coach, Franco Bari after that game. An alum of the school. Asked him if he knew Pete Randolph? He smiled and said, "he is a legend here!" Good guy. Great meal with team and parents at Mama Lucia's in Potsdam afterwards. About 60-strong. Parents galore made journey for season opener as we stayed at the Comfort Inn, Canton. Saturday conditions were 57-degrees and windy the entire game. Ouch. A disappointing, 1-0 loss. Games this week versus Elmira, at Medaille and at Pitt-Bradford.

Tried calling Randolph on Saturday morning, got in touch with him, he chuckled and said ... "I'm in Alfred." There helping his mom who recently had back surgery. The best to her! Then prior to the Saturday game I ventured over to the SLU book store that Bob Randolph manages and he was off for the day! Yuk. No connecting with the A-A grads. No talking to them but did secure some great chocolate chip cookies from Julie Jock ...awesome.

The Pigskin Picks contest starts this week and will be showing "Foolish Farley no mercy this season.
