Gentlemen,

Mr. Krause, of the Krause

Research Laboratory of New York, has given me [penciled ring around the rest of the paragraph with penciled grammar correction at the top "has been give me"] your name as being the proper parties from which to make inquiries with reference to the manufacture of Kaolin tiles, Clay tiles, all glazed in various colors, and all modern up to date information regarding these industries.

Of course I don't want anything for nothing but would be glad to have you recommend or supply any available data or literature in connection with the industry

Would it be practicable for me to take a short course in tilemaking and what would be your terms and time an[??]

to devote to this to obtain a general practical knowledge?

I am a chemist by profession

And understand silica brick

And firebrick making thoroughly.

Any information you may give me I shall be very much pleased to receive

Yours my truly
G. A. J. Burton
