Ward and Deb Votava of Waneta Lake were visiting Jim and Faith Palmer of Sebring, Florida and are seen here admiring a sculpture by Alfred's own Glenn Zweygardt behind the Highlands County Art League, on loan from the Polk County Art Museum. Six various artist's sculptures were installed around town for about the next year.

The Hot Dog Day Parade, sponsored by the village of Alfred, will begin at noon with marchers, drivers, and float controllers assembling on Terrace Street, proceeding down Main Street from north to south towards the village's lone stop light, and continuing onto the Alfred State College campus (ASC).

Those who wish to participate in the parade are encouraged to reply by email to hotdogdayparade@gmail.com.

From 11 a.m.-5 p.m. Lower College Drive on the ASC campus will be the site of the Hot Dog Day Festival with booths, arts and crafts, games, live music, raffles, and the main attraction - hot dogs.

Proceeds from the 2016 vendor fair, which annually switches between the two campuses, will be distributed to: A.E. artist works are on view in the gallery space. Admission is free.

From 1-4 p.m. guests are invited to visit the Schein-Joseph International Museum of Ceramic Art and the Inamori Kyocera Museum on the second floor of Binns-Merrill Hall, on the AU campus.

While a student at AU, Doris learned to play the carillon under the guidance of Dr. Melvin LeMon and Frank P. Law of Valley Forge, PA. Now Doris teaches carillon at the University of Rochester and serves as advisor to the UR Carillon Society, a student group that promotes the Hopeman Carillon and recruits and mentors students to play the bells for the campus.

Visitors are welcome to climb the stairs and talk to the carillonneur. The one hour recital begins at 4 p.m.

Sunday will offer a student recital featuring AU vocalists performing a variety of styles at 3 p.m. in Susan Howell Hall; admission is free.

ALLEGANY COUNTY

Legislators adopt economic development mission, vision

BELMONT—Over the past year, leaders from Allegany County government, higher education, business, and industry in the area have been meeting, researching, and debating a solution for one question that will have an enormous impact on the future of the region, namely: How to retain, expand, and attract employers?

The answer comes in the form of a new blueprint for advancing Allegany County economic development.

On April 25, Allegany County Board of Legislators voted to approve a new economic development mission and vision document that is supported by Allegany County's Planning and Economic Development Committee, Economic Development staff, and Steering Committee that was formed to guide this process.

Alfred State is responsible for implementing the new program that has a detailed outline including three strategies and nine objectives.

"With our colleagues from Houghton College and across the street at Alfred University, heads of business, chiefs of industry, elected leaders, and every resident of Allegany County, we are all in this together for the common good," said Alfred State President Dr. Skip Sullivan. "Dr. Craig Clark has been spearheading the economic development efforts for us and is deeply invested in bringing these plans to fruition. All of us know how important this is for our future growth."

The vision statement is intended to be a source of inspiration and motivation for the future: "To be a sound economic competitor that consistently attracts, retains, and expands local businesses and industries through ongoing local, state, national, and foreign direct investments in Allegany County."

To achieve this vision, there are eight guiding principles for both public and private commitments to enhance economic development.

"Today's legislative adoption of this new economic development mission and vision document moves Allegany County from a planning phase to implementation phase," said Board of Legislators Chair Curt Crandall. "Our economic development team ...will move in the same direction with clearly defined goals."

The mission statement defines the purpose and direction for economic development efforts: "To provide the highest level of economic development services to retain, expand, and attract investment in businesses, industries, and supportive infrastructure." In today's globally connected world, business leaders know how competitive communities can be when trying to attract new companies.

"The competition to land a new or expanding employer is fierce, with communities not just competing against neighbors, but also competing against locations all around the world," stated General Manager of GE's Lufkin RMT John Mulryan. "We are a global operation that manufactures locally in a new facility that we built in Wellsville just three years ago. To invest millions of dollars, we had to believe in this community and the quality of the workforce available."

"A major resource we have here in this County is the three world class colleges and universities: Houghton College in the north, and Alfred State and Alfred University in the southern part of the County," said Jack Wood, Chairman/ CEO Allegany County IDA, "Their presence is a tremendous asset."

COMMENCEMENT

Former Yahoo official to speak at Alfred State

ALFRED—Tim Sanders, the former chief solutions officer at Yahoo and a current sales and leadership keynote speaker, will deliver the keynote address for Alfred State’s 105th Commencement on May 15.

Sanders spent most of his career on the cutting edge of innovation and change. He was on the ground floor of the quality movement, the launch of the mobile phone industry, and most notably the birth of the World Wide Web. Today, he’s gravitated to disruptive change for more than 30 years.

Sanders was an early-stage member of Mark Cuban’s and Todd Wagner’s broadcast.com, which had the largest opening day IPO in history. After Yahoo acquired the company, Sanders was tapped to lead their Value-Lab, which enabled sales teams to close hundreds of millions of dollars of new business through rapid collaboration.

By 2001, he rose to the position of chief solutions officer and later, the company’s leadership coach. In 2005, he founded Deeper Media, which provides consulting and training services for leading companies, trade associations, and government agencies.

Sanders is the author of five books, including the New York Times bestseller “Love Is the Killer App: How To Win Business & Influence Friends.” It’s been translated into more than a dozen languages and has been featured in Fast Company, USA Today, the New York Times, The Boston Globe, Christian Science Monitor and on CNN. His other books include “Today We Are Rich,” “The Likeability Factor,” “Saving the World at Work,” and “Dealstorming.”

Additionally, he is one of the top-rated speakers on the lecture circuit, offering keynotes on leadership development, sales strategy, and human performance. His talks help organizations deal with change, become more agile, and dramatically increase their effectiveness. Time Magazine referred to him as a “public consultant” because of his extensive pre-conference research, leading to a one-of-a-kind keynote with on-point recommendations for attendees. He’s known for blending stories, statistics, and actionable advice in a way that moves his audiences to action.

Sanders grew up in Clovis, NM, the home of the Fighting Wildcats. He attended Odessa College and Loyola Marymount University, where he was a top-ranked debater and national champion extemporaneous speaker. He conducted his graduate work at the University of Arizona. Today, he lives in Las Vegas.

AT WELLSVILLE POST OFFICE

Passport processing event set

WESTERN NY—Ten western NY Post Offices, including the Wellsville Post Office in Allegany County, are hosting Saturday passport events on Saturday, April 30 to help busy families prepare for holiday travels. For children under the age of 16, both parents or guardians must be present at the application process. Saturday passport acceptance makes the task easier.

The Wellsville Post Office, located at 40 East Pearl Street, will process passport requests from 9 a.m. to 12 noon Saturday, April 30.

Customers have the option of applying for a passport book, good for all international travel or the passport card, which is less expensive but good only for land and sea travel between the U.S. and Canada, Mexico, the Caribbean region and Bermuda.

The cost for an adult passport book is $110 plus a $25 processing/acceptance fee; the adult passport card is $30 plus a $25 processing fee. Both are good for ten years. The cost for a minor's passport book is $80 plus a $25 processing/acceptance fee; the minor passport card is $15 plus a $25 processing fee. Both are good for seven years. Customers wanting both the passport book and card are charged only one processing fee. Payments are accepted via cash, check. Credit cards are acceptable for processing and photo fees only.

Travelers are encouraged to apply for a passport several months before traveling overseas. A passport application is normally processed by the State Department within five to six weeks. However, for an additional fee, the State Department will expedite the application and process it within three business days, and for those who need speedy delivery, the U. S. Postal Service offers Express Mail next day delivery both to and from the State Department.

To apply for a passport, travelers need to complete Passport Application Form DS-11 (unsigned), provide proof of U. S. citizenship and proof of identity, submit two identical passport photos and pay the appropriate passport fees. Passport photo services are available for $15. For more information about passport application requirements, visit the State Department's travel website at travel.state.gov.

The Postal Service receives no tax dollars for operating expenses, and relies on the sale of postage, products and services to fund its operations.

Cynthia Culley loved life and people

[Editor's Note: Like most of the recipes she shared with our readers over the past couple of decades, Ellen Shultz's Sunny Side Up columns are worth repeating.]

Cynthia Culley loved life and people and especially everything in nature. An ability to see value and humor in anything helped her raise five children and be a friend to everyone she met. Her strength and indomitable nature sustained her in a long battle with cancer and were an inspiration to everyone around her.

Her family says if she were not found tending to her veggie and flower gardens, you could find her filling the house with the wonderful smells of her homemade banana bread or brownies which she always had on hand to share with visitors, accompanied by a hot cup of her herbal tea and stimulating conversation.

Banana Bread

Cream together:	Sift together:
1 1/2 c. sugar	2 1/2 c. flour
1 c. shortening	1 tsp. salt
	2 tsp. baking soda

Add 6-7 ripe mashed bananas
Blend ingredients; don't over beat. Put into 2 or 3 greased loaf pans. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 to 50 minutes.

Scene About Alfred

By SHERRY VOLK
Alfred Sun Columnist

On a flying trip to Austin, TX, from west Texas this past winter, we stopped at a remarkable rest area. Internal areas were lined with ceramic tile and featured this mosaic, recognizing the significant part the famous "Buffalo Soldiers" played in the history of Texas.

Here copy/pasted from the Texas Almanac (<http://texasalmanac.com/topics/history/buffalo-soldiers-texas>) is a bit about these famous troops:

On July 28, 1866, the U.S. Congress authorized six regiments of black troops -- two of cavalry and four of infantry -- to be added to the U.S. Army. The nickname "Buffalo Soldiers" was given by Indians, who thought that the tightly curled hair of the black soldiers resembled the curly hair on a bison's face.

According to the same source, this was not considered a negative term as Native Americans revered the buffalo.

Careful inspection of the photo's background reveals conventionalized representations of six more men and a horse, in front of stylized barracks.

Letters to the Editor

Mr. Raccoon, unmasked?....Fire number project

Raccoon unmasked?

Dear Editor,

Three weeks ago an unsigned letter appeared in the Letters to the Editor section of The Alfred Sun, in which the author outlined why he supports Donald Trump. In a long, somewhat incoherent letter, the anonymous writer used the analogy of Trump as the "exterminator called in to get rid of raccoons [i.e., politicians] from the basement [elected office]."

The writer claimed not to care anything else about Trump; not his brash statements, or his misogynistic attitude, or his racist comments, or his self-centered nature; he just wanted those "stinking raccoons gone from the basement."(?)

In my rebuttal, I referred to the nameless writer as Mr. Raccoon," and I implored the Editor not to publish unsigned letters.

Fast forward to the day after the NY primary elections. On the Wednesday, April 20, 2016, morning NPR news program, Morning Edition, Carl Paladino, of all people, was interviewed as to why Trump is so successful among Republican voters. Now, Carl Paladino is the sour-faced, always complaining, right-wing would-be politician from Buffalo, who previously ran for governor of New York, but managed only to get elected to the Buffalo school board, where his main task is to cause trouble. And here is a quote from Paladino about why voters like Trump: "They don't care who the exterminator is, they [the voters] just want the raccoons out of the basement."

Hmmmm. Now, in all fairness, that quote doesn't make Paladino the anonymous letter-writer. It is possible that Paladino said this somewhere and someone picked up his quote and wrote the letter. Or, Paladino could have heard it from someone else and said it in the interview. But this is more than a coincidence. Is Paladino, Mr. Raccoon? Perhaps, not. In any case, I am asking the Editor, again, not to publish letters by people who are too cowardly to attach their name to their opinion. Thank you,

Steven Jakobi,
Alfred Station, NY

Support 911 project

To the Editor:

Local Boy Scout Silas Cochran is working on his Eagle Scout Project to put fire numbers on all the properties in the town of Alfred. This will be done in coordination with the County 911 office which assigns these numbers.

In most cases numbers will be on a single fiberglass post in a standard location that can be easily found by ambulance, fire, and police, day or night. These reflective numbers could be essential to community members in need of emergency services.

The town board is supporting Silas and we encourage all residents to do the same.

A Hiccup for Old Hickory Or,

Too Much Sense—No More Waiting for Change

At last we learned what long-departed stranger
Was decided by a high up money changer
Will grace our common notes of legal tender—
Presumably, someone of female gender.

Cuz we knew for sure it wouldn't be a feller,
Nor some old gal whose deeds were less than stellar.
It'd have to be a genu-wine first-class
America-and-freedom-lovin' lass.

We'd voted, written letters and opined,
Took surveys and opinion polls—and whined;
We'd waited for as long as we could stand it
To find out which contestant we demanded.

Sec. Lew, at last, with awe-inspiring vision,
Gave the details of his awe-inspired decision:
That the aged, heartless, gaunt and hollow face
Of Andy Jackson...lost its hallowed place.

What's that, you say? The TWENTY, not the TEN?!
Our ears must have been plugged—say that again!
Oh, there's changes to the five, and ten, AND twenty...
But the one who's cut's the seventh Presidenté.

So Al Hamilton was somehow spared the ax;
The off-Broadway show, must be, quelled the attacks!
It displayed his character traits deserving charity...
Well, it took Eliza pleading with posterity.

Harriet Tubman won the day—she gets front billing—
But others, 'round the back, will be seen milling:
Lu Mott, Sue Anthony...and on a whim,
MLK—a dream come true for him.

Lew promises these new bills are a-comin'
As soon's they get their presses all a-runnin'.
But before it comes to giving them a trial,
Just one request, dear Harriet...please smile.

Guest Analysis

Between a rock and a hard place

By ROBERT A. HEINEMAN

The Tuesday, April 19th, primary in New York revealed a number of facets of the current primary election travail that deserve some extended comment. Overall, it was refreshing to see New York actually having importance in a national election effort for the first time in several decades. Certainly as we all know people were talking about the election and a few have been losing some sleep as a result. But following up on several of the main points involved, we can, I believe, identify three of particular importance.

First, the election demonstrated the power of the Clinton ground game---a ground game which along with her name recognition will, without external disturbances such as negative FBI findings, assure her the Democrat nomination. Keep in mind that she and her husband have run for office twice, and she additionally has individually run twice in New York. Thus, the Clintons have a vast array of individuals and financial resources at their disposal. What, of course, is surprising and must be disturbing to the Clintons is that an exceptionally weak opponent has bested her in face-to-face primaries numerous times.

Second, Hillary is following up on the power of identity politics that helped to send Barack Obama to the White House. Her goal is to become the first woman President, and to this end her ambition is without limit. But from the perspective of American politics the degeneration of policy and political campaigns into crass, and often narrow, interest group claims has tremendous potential to harm the very concept of a "public" interest.

Third, we have seen Donald Trump exploit the media in very effective fashion. Ever since CNN went to 24/7 news coverage and others have followed, the mass media have been strapped for material, and Trump has seen political possibilities that this has provided by being in many cases an outrageous candidate. In this respect the lack of limits on his ego match the lack of such on Clinton's ambition. Trump has seen that the more outrageous his conduct and his speech, the more media coverage he will get, and this has worked exceptionally well for him. Whether this will generate sufficient support to obtain a first-ballot victory and whether he can move convincingly toward appearing to be a more responsible candidate remain to be seen.

So there you have it folks: unbridled ego challenging unlimited ambition. It's almost like being between a rock and a hard place.

FROM THE DESK OF DAVID PULLEN
By DAVID PULLEN
Allegany County Legislator

ISSUES, ISSUES, EVERYWHERE!!!

Some issues get lots of attention, and some issues are ignored. Sometimes the reasons issues get attention, or inattention, are obvious and easy to understand. Sometimes the reasons for the attention, or inattention, are hard to figure out. I want to focus on some issues that I think are important, but that, for whatever reasons, don't get much attention in the media.

SALES TAXES. Sales tax income is an important source of operating revenue for most counties, including Allegany County. Allegany County doesn't have a major shopping hub, so we don't collect nearly as much sales tax as some other counties. In 2015 we collected about $19.46 million. By contrast Erie County collected about $708 million. For the 1st quarter of 2016 our sales tax revenue went down by $120,000, or 2.58%. This is cause for concern. Lower fuel prices probably account for part of that drop. However, savings on fuel should show up in other sectors. Just for contrast I would note that Erie County (Buffalo area) saw an $820,000 decrease. However, their quarterly income was about $176.4 million. Their sales tax income is 38 times greater than ours. Erie County's population is about 19 times greater, which means it collects twice as much sales tax per person than Allegany County. This partially explains why our real property taxes are so high.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT. The County Legislature has identified economic development as one of our most important issues. A task force consisting of business, educational, and political leaders has been meeting to develop a "Mission Statement," development strategies and measurable objectives for economic development. In the near future the County Legislature will hopefully adopt those recommendations as official county policy. We restructured the County Economic Development Office, and entered into a contract with Alfred State College for economic development services. I am optimistic that the next five years will produce significant economic growth.

SOLID WASTE DISPOSAL. Allegany County has operated the County Landfill for more than 30 years. For much of that time the Landfill and transfer station system was heavily subsidized by county taxpayers. The Landfill is now near its capacity, which means that an alternative is needed. We recently approved a resolution accepting tipping fee proposals from three different landfills. The current plan is to continue operating the existing transfer stations, but to transport the solid waste from those transfer stations to one of those three landfill sites. There will undoubtedly be changes, and possibly increased fees for waste disposal. However, those costs will be much less than the cost of constructing a new County landfill. The Legislature will need to re-visit this subject once costs for the new arrangements have been determined.

DERELICT BUILDING ISSUES. Almost every community in the County has one or more deteriorated buildings. These buildings are a safety hazard, as well as being ugly and unsightly. Dealing with these buildings presents significant legal issues, and can be enormously expensive to demolish and remove. When owners fail (refuse) to pay the real property taxes, those buildings can end up being owned by the County. The County then faces liability issues, as well as the challenge of paying for demolition and disposal. If the demolition debris contains asbestos the costs can be significant. Should this be a local community issue, a county issue, or a state issue? Should the State grant waivers from some of its regulatory programs when a local community tries to address these issues? Are there creative alternatives to address this problem? The Legislature is establishing a "Land Bank" that will hopefully receive some state funding. This Land Bank could help us address these issues. However, this problem won't be resolved overnight.

Many of the challenges facing the County are inter-related. Economic development will provide good-paying jobs. Those jobs will attract people to our county. High taxes make us less attractive to businesses and workers. Rundown buildings make a community less attractive. We need to be working on all of these issues at the same time. That's what we are doing.

THE 2016 GREAT RACE

Alfred State students to drive 1928 Model A Speedster

ALFRED—Last year, a team of five Alfred State students and one professor covered more than 2,300 miles in nine days in a 1953 Dodge Power Wagon tow truck for the 2015 Great Race.

This year, while the college is planning to enter the Power Wagon again, it has also partnered with a family from Illinois to enter an historic vehicle in the race - a 1928 Model A Speedster. Automotive Trades Professor Mike Ronan will again be the faculty adviser for the student team.

The annual Great Race will take place from June 18-26, running from San Rafael, CA, to Moline, IL. About 120 classic cars from around the country and the world will compete for a top prize of $50,000 in the timed event.

One of those cars, the Speedster, competed from 1998 to 2003. What makes this vehicle different, according to Ronan, is that it has always been an "X-Cup" car, meaning it was entered by student teams. The vehicle was loaned this year to the Alfred State X-Cup team, and preparations have already begun to breathe new life to a car that is widely known in classic car circles.

Ronan said the Speedster was originally restored by Ken Lumberry of DeLong, IL, whose family had approached the organizers of the Great Race to help find a school team that would enter the car in the 2016 event. The Great Race ends within miles of DeLong, the current home of the Speedster.

Race organizers then approached the Alfred State team that had participated in the 2015 Great Race, and the team agreed to enter the Speedster in addition to bringing the Power Wagon back.

"This car has tremendous significance to those involved in the antique auto hobby," noted Ronan. "Mr. Lumberry was a pioneer in the effort to help young enthusiasts participate in a project that they would remember for the rest of their life."

Ronan explained that although the Alfred State automotive students are more comfortable with computer diagnostics than with carburetors, they are excited about anything to do with cars. Alfred State has its own chapter of the Antique Automobile Club of America (AACA), and chapter members will make up the team that will pilot the Speedster across the country on the historic Lincoln Highway.

The Power Wagon team include Nick Reale, autobody repair, Jamestown; Ryan Valle, motorsports technology, New Windsor; and James Leach, heavy equipment: truck and diesel technician, Dansville. Those driving and navigating the Speedster will be Stephen Krolak, heavy equipment: truck and diesel technician, Palmyra; Nick Shelp, automotive service technician, Endicott; and Kyle Hayes, automotive service technician, Buffalo.

The AACA students are raising their own funds for the trip. For information on making donations, visit <http://www.alfredstate.edu/make-a-gift/giving-opportunities-at-alfred-state#great-race>.

Recently, the AACA announced its 2016 X-Cup Grant Awards and the Power Wagon Team was awarded a $1,000 debit card, while the Speedster team received the 2016 Reliable Carriers complimentary transportation of their vehicle to the starting point in San Rafael, CA, and return to campus from Moline, IL.

The car will return to DeLong at the conclusion of The Great Race, hopefully to be entered again by another X-Cup team in 2017.

Swing dancing hopping here again

ALFRED—Swing dancing is back in Alfred! In an attempt to remedy the lack of dancing in a reasonably drivable distance, a Lindy Hop lesson followed by a swing dance will be held at the Alfred Village Hall. The event will be on Friday, May 20 with the lesson at 7:30 p.m. and the dance running from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m.

The whole event is free, so everyone is welcome and encouraged to come give it a shot! The venue is at 7 West University Street, Alfred, in the theater space on the second floor.

The Lindy Hop lesson will be a beginner session aimed at getting completely new dancers familiarized enough with the basics to enjoy the rest of the evening. No prior experience or partner necessary.

Lindy Hop is an eight-count kind of swing dance initially popular in the 1930s, and often known as the granddaddy of swing dances. There are many related dances within the swing family tree, some of which dancers may encounter at this or other events—including East Coast Swing, Charleston, and Balboa—but learning Lindy Hop is a great way to get started.

You don't need to have a partner to attend the lesson or the dance; attendees are welcome to come as they are and mingle with other dancers. Swing dancing is a social event, and all are encouraged to dance with many different partners in the course of the evening to make this a welcoming and fun experience for everyone.

Dancers are asked to bring clean, soft-soled, non-marking shoes to protect the dance floor.

Whether you've never tried swing dancing before, are hoping to learn a new variety of the dance, or are an experienced dancer excited about the chance to show off your moves, we hope you'll join us!

Any questions can be directed to esclippa@gmail.com.

The DIY Farmer's Wife Approach

By KRISTINA SNYDER

What do you do with leeks?

I am a forager, and this season we are digging wonderful leeks all over the countryside. Leeks can be used in place of scallions or other onions. They pack a lot of flavor in a small root. They are most noteworthy for their role in ham and leek soup, however they are not a one hit wonder.

Finding and Preparing Leeks:

Leeks grow in wooded areas that are not thick with brush and have lots of sunlight. You can first spot them by their straight double leaves usually 6-8" long, quickly followed by the smell of onions. Dig gently around them to release the root. Once harvested I let them dry for a day or two and then easily peel back the outer layer of skin and snap it off at the root bundle. The white portion of the plant is what's most used however the leaves are edible as well.

How to Use Leeks:

- *To preserve store in a freezer bag or Mason jar in the freezer and pull out a few at a time throughout the year.
- *PICKLED Leeks can be made following a favorite dill pickle recipe.
- *Garnish a homemade pizza.
- *Add to soups and sauces
- *Make a pesto with leaves and a few roots

Two Alfred State students cited for assistive technology at NYSID conference

ALFRED—Students at Alfred State expect to apply their knowledge to real-world problems. And for two engineering students recently featured in Albany, there was the added benefit of knowing that their invention will help New Yorkers with disabilities.

As part of the CREATE (Cultivating Resources for Employment with Assistive Technology) initiative, Brian Kazalski, mechanical engineering technology, Sidney, and Jeff Evans, electrical engineering technology, Friendship, are developing a device that helps workers with disabilities at Arc of Livingston-Wyoming perform their jobs smoothly and more efficiently.

"The goal is to find many different ways that our students can take their knowledge and put it to the test, working on actual business and industrial problems," stated Dr. John Williams, dean of the School of Architecture, Management and Engineering Technology. "By evaluating the problem, testing different solutions, creating a design, and then manufacturing a new device, they will be helping workers with disabilities at that non-profit, to realize the satisfaction of a job well done."

The device being developed by the students inserts an instruction package into a very tight roll for a specific work contract at Arc of Livingston-Wyoming. Their ingenuity was included at a statewide showcase of tech inventions focused on improving the workplace for New Yorkers with disabilities. According to event organizers, the Alfred State invention should improve productivity, reduce material costs, and alleviate workers' stress.

CREATE is an initiative sponsored by New York State Industries for the Disabled, Inc. (NYSID). Student engineers and professors across New York State are invited to partner with NYSID organizations to develop innovative and assistive technology that helps these rehabilitation agencies. The inventions enhance work opportunities for New Yorkers with disabilities and improve work flow, while providing applied engineering experience to students.

Students 'Spring Into Action' April 16

ALFRED—Joining with volunteers throughout the US and beyond in celebration of National Volunteer Week and Global Youth Service Day, 220 Alfred State students and students from Alfred University took part in Spring Into Action Day of Service on Saturday, April 16.

The students participated in 25 projects at various locations such as churches, libraries, and service organizations in several communities including Alfred, Alfred Station, Almond, and Wellsville. Examples of service included clearing hiking trails at Phillips Creek State Forest, preparing Little League fields for the season, painting light posts and fire hydrants in the village of Alfred, and preparing and serving food at Wellsville Community Kitchen.

Barbara Pierce, a student activities secretary, who helped found the Alfred Community Garden and who volunteered and coordinated various service projects, said, "It's always a pleasure to have students participate in the days of service with their energy and enthusiasm. The rewarding feeling for the Alfred Community Garden volunteers and the students cannot be measured. Some of the Mu Theta fraternity brothers and members of the Caribbean Student Association request volunteering there every year."

National Volunteer Week, which ran from April 10-16 this year, is "about inspiring, recognizing, and encouraging people to seek out imaginative ways to engage in their communities, according to www.pointsoflight.org. Global Youth Service Day, as stated on its website, <http://gysd.org/>, is "the largest service event in the world and the only one dedicated to the contributions that children and youth make 365 days of the year."

Napolitano to speak in Bergren finale

ALFRED—Alfred University’s (AU) Bergren Forum closes out the 2015-16 season of the longstanding lunchtime series Thursday, April 28 with a look at the 10-year history of the Drawn to Diversity (D2D) program on campus. The forum begins at 12:10 p.m. in Nevins Theater, Powell Campus Center and is open to the public free of charge.

Presenter for AU’s final session of the academic year will be Dan Napolitano, D2D founder and director of Student Activities. In his talk, “Drawn to Diversity Turns 10: AU Social Justice Activists’ Impact Beyond Alfred,” Napolitano will discuss the numerous achievements and outreach efforts of the program.

Founded in 2006, D2D has garnered numerous national awards and recognitions and participants have been invited to make presentations throughout the state and country. The program combines creativity and social justice to promote equality, reduce violence, and strengthen communities.

In 2006, Marvel Comics and MTV provided support for AU students to explore diversity issues through comic books. The yearlong program culminated with a colorful stage show featuring students dressed in superhero costumes and detailing the history of civil rights.

In 2008, diversity jumped off the comic book pages and into the supermarket aisles when Wegmans Food Markets Inc. agreed to partner with the University by allowing educational displays to be launched in its Hornell market. Through this, they were able to explore the history of advertising icons such as Uncle Ben, Aunt Jemima, Chiquita Banana and a dozen other famous advertising creations.

The Bergren Forum is sponsored by the Division of Human Studies, the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, and the Provost’s Office. Guests are encouraged to bring a brown bag lunch; coffee and tea will be provided.

The series known as the Bergren Forum was begun by Rick Bergren, who taught at the University in the ’70s, when he was inspired by learning of the gatherings that AU students in the 19th century were known to conduct in Alumni Hall to discuss community issues. After Bergren’s death in 1974, the University decided to continue the tradition in his name. Various faculty members have taken on the coordinator duties since that time. William S. Dibrell, professor of philosophy, is the current director.

TICKETS AVAILABLE IN ADVANCE

Appleseed Collective will perform at Wellsville Creative Arts Center

WELLSVILLE—The Appleseed Collective will perform at 8 p.m. Saturday, May 14 at the Wellsville Creative Arts Center. Advance tickets are $14, $16 at door. Members save an additional $2. Tickets may be purchased online at www.WellsvilleCreativeArtsCenter.com or at the Art Center Coffee House. For more information visit the website or call (585) 593-3000.

The Appleseed Collective is a four-piece Americana band that’s toured the United States since 2010, serving up songs new and old — barn-burners, old soul jazz, airy mood pieces, bluesy digressions — to crowds hungry for more. Their music is a rich Dixie-Gypsy roots-music melange with a modern twist, a long-simmering stew of old-time, ragtime and bluegrass constantly refreshed with immigrant sounds and international spices.

Each part of the Collective comes together to form an amalgam of complementary and contrasting elements. With a Motown session musician for a father, guitarist Andrew Brown was exposed to pre-World War II jazz on a trip to New Orleans. Shortly afterward, a chance meeting introduced him to Brandon Smith, violinist, mandolinist and improvisatory magician who grew up playing old time fiddle music.

Vince Russo, multi-percussionist, blends influences of funk, jazz and rock n’ roll on the washboard. Eric Dawe comes from a background of choral singing and studies in Indian classical music and provides the bottom end on the upright bass. The whole band sings in harmony.

No Americana sound could ring so true unless it’s been seasoned with uncouncted highway miles. The Appleseed Collective has toured coast-to-coast-to-coast-to-coast, from the Atlantic seaboard to the Pacific Ocean, the shores of Lake Superior to the tip of Florida, recording two studio albums—Baby to Beast (2012) and Young Love (2014)—a live album, Live at the Ark (2014), and most recently a live EP and web series, The Tour Tapes (2016). In 2016 they will record their brand new sound — part everything that’s come before with more than a hint of what’s to come.

The Appleseed Collective is not a bluegrass band. It’s not The Hot Club of Paris. It’s not a ragtime cover band. The Appleseed Collective represents Americana music rooted in traditions from all over the world and from every decade, creating a live experience that welcomes every soul and is impossible to replicate.

Birds...*

By BETSY BROOKS
Alfred Sun Columnist

This has been an interesting spring in the bird world. Rochester area birders have had one of the best and earliest springs in years, while here in the Southern Tier, a lot of the birds moving north just kept on going past us. But then many of them stalled out just south of Lake Ontario before continuing their migration north.

Braddock Bay Bird Observatory’s spring banding began on April 16, and during the first seven days of banding, there were an amazing 698 birds banded, including four species of warblers (Western Palm Warbler, Pine Warbler, Northern Waterthrush, and Orange-crowned Warbler).

By contrast, it was fairly ‘dead’ as far as bird movement down in Allegany County. Most of the birds that were moving all passed over us on their night-time migration north. I think it was still too cold and uninviting here for most of them to stop here.

There have been a few very unusual birds around including a Yellow-headed Blackbird seen in Buffalo recently. I’ve seen 50 species in and around Alfred since we returned from Texas. I’ve watched several single male Wild Turkeys this past week. Most pleasurable was the pair of Hooded Mergansers on the beaver ponds along the Vandermark Road not too far from Five Corners. There is a Great Blue Heron with a nearly completed nest near the top of a dead tree in the same area. The parents raised two young there last year. The beaver along this part of the Vandermark Road have re-arranged their dams so that there is much less chance of flooding at Five Corners.

I was happy to see an adult Bald Eagle at the usual dead-tree perch near Almond Dam. I hadn’t seen the pair since we returned from Texas. Hopefully the female is incubating eggs somewhere.

Interesting recent phone calls to the ‘Alfred bird lady’ included the report of 8 Common Flickers digging for grubs all together in the front yard of a Randolph Road resident. And a gentleman who usually has questions about his bluebirds asked what he could do to stop a robin from spending all his time fighting with his reflection in a window!

I remember years ago, Ann Eisenhardt struggled for weeks with a cardinal who spent all day pecking at his reflection in one of her windows. I had a cardinal one time who kept attacking his reflection on a side-view mirror on my car! It’s one of the most frustrating things birds do to annoy humans! But they’re just trying to get rid of that attractive male rival in the mirror!

Almost every spring weekend, there is a golf tournament on television. I can’t watch without keeping a list of the birds vocalizing in the background. The most common are Northern Mockingbird and Carolina Wren. I gave up on identifying the gulls flying around Torrey Pines near San Diego!

The first Ruby-throated Hummingbird (a male) visited a feeder in Pittsford this past weekend. It might be a good time to put your hummer feeder out. There still are not a whole lot of flowering plants around to provide natural food for any early arrivals.

It broke our hearts to lose you,
but you did not go alone.
A part of us went with you,
the day God took you home.
If tears could build a stairway,
and heartaches make a lane,
we'd walk our way to heaven,
and bring you back again.
In life we loved you dearly,
in death we love you still,
in our hearts you hold a place
no one could ever fill

Growing Up in Alfred

By JUDE FRECHETTE
Special to the Alfred Sun

The Bowling Alley

"Oh look!" I exclaimed to Kathy as we approached the long, one-story building. "It says 'Teach Lanes' - that's just right for me!"

I was five or six years old, and wasn't very good at reading yet. I'd never been bowling before but I was about to learn, and very excited.

"No," my sister corrected gently, "it says 'Tech Lanes,' as in Ag Tech." (That was what we called Alfred State in those days.) "Teach is spelled t-e-a-c-h."

Even in the parking lot we could hear the rumble and crash of bowling balls and pins, but when we opened the door and went in, it was like diving into an ocean of noise, and my heart beat faster. There were exotic smells, too, a heady blend of waxed wood, scented shoe-disinfectant, and just a hint of man-sweat. The lighting was subdued in the entryway and over the gallery area, but spotlight-bright over the lanes, like the stage in a theater.

Kathy led me to the left, to a small room with a service window facing out toward the lanes. We told the man our shoe sizes, which he located and plunked down on the counter, along with a blank score-sheet. We thanked him and went to sit in the gallery to change our shoes and leave our jackets. It consisted of three or four tiers of plain wooden chairs with folding seats, and gave a fine overview of all the action. Backed up to the top row were racks and racks of balls for rent.

Kathy showed me that the lightest balls, ten pounders, were not black like the rest, but brown, which led us to calling them the Tootsie Roll balls. There were only two of them, but neither was in use, so we carried them both to our assigned lane. They seemed pretty darn heavy to me!

We slid into the curved plastic bench, and Kathy clipped our score-sheet to the slanted table, took a pencil from the groove at the bottom, and entered our names. Then she explained how the scoring was done. Around the edges of the paper were ads for all the local businesses -

Jacox's Grocery, the Box of Books bookstore, Peck's Pool Hall, Crandall's Jewelry, the Citizens' National Bank, Bostwick's Dry Goods, Mason's Typewriters, Stanlee Hardware, Glover's Grocery, and others - leaving ample space for arithmetic.

The game itself was obvious. I liked the fact that there was only one rule to remember - don't step on the foul line.

On both sides of us, more experienced bowlers were making graceful approaches, then hurling their balls down the gleaming boards with tremendous force. I tried to imitate them, and got only gutter-balls. My sister advised me to slow down and concentrate on accuracy rather than power, and I started knocking down a few pins.

It was a little embarrassing to play so poorly in front of all those people, but I figured they'd all been beginners once. Besides, they were preoccupied with their own games, not ours.

We played three games my first time out, and I doubt if I scored 50 points in any of them. My sister did better, picking up a few spares, and breaking 100 in one game. Of course we got better over subsequent outings, but with limited funds it was hard to develop any real skill at it. I think my lifetime high was around 135! It didn't really matter, since we were having fun anyway.

When we didn't have enough money to play, we'd split a Coke and sit in the gallery to watch the real stars of the lanes. Those were the ones (mostly men) who consistently scored in the mid 200s, and the competition was friendly but fierce. A few of them were Berwyn Reid, Kenny Snyder, Howard Jacox, Alan Vanderhoef, and Dave Buchanan, among many others. If memory serves me, both Ber and Dave bowled perfect games at some point. Pretty exciting stuff!

In conclusion, it should be noted that Tech Lanes was probably the only bowling alley in the country which didn't serve alcohol. Alfred was still a dry town in those days, which was lucky for us. Had it been otherwise, we wouldn't have been allowed to go there, and I'd have missed that part of growing up in Alfred.

25 Years Ago, May 2, 1991

The name has changed; the purpose has not. What was the Study Collection at the New York State College of Ceramics at Alfred University is now the Museum of Ceramic Art at Alfred. "The way I view it," explained Dr. Margaret Carney Xie, newly appointed director of the museum, "is that this already was a museum, but it was not formally recognized as such..."

What's in the museum? More than ten small, but significant collections actually comprise the permanent collection of the newly recognized Museum of Ceramic Art at Alfred. They include the Charles Fergus Binns Collection of stoneware vessels, created by Binns, the founder of what was then the School of Clayworking; the Col. John R. Fox Collection of Korean pottery; the Charles M. Harder Collection of ancient pottery, used by Harder in his history of pottery lectures; and a collection of more than 1,000 pieces by pottery students, Alfred faculty and visiting artists. Also included are the Rosanjin Collection, donated by the artist, who was considered a Japanese National Treasure, when he completed a visiting lectureship in 1954; the Fannie McEwen Shaller Collection of earthenware cup plates; the Cedric and Daisy Marks Collection; the Spicer Collection of Sevres porcelain; the George Wesp Collection of porcelain by Rosenthal of Germany; and the Cybis Study Collection of sculpture. On display now through autumn are the Roger Corsaw Collection of Functional American Ceramics and the Krevolin Collection of Indian Pottery of the Ancient Americas...

Donald H. King, vice president for Student Affairs, last week upheld an earlier decision to suspend Alfred University senior Thomas Hall for "confrontational and abusive" behavior he allegedly displayed toward the University's basketball coach. Hall obtained a court order enjoining the University from suspending him until his case could be heard in Supreme Court. Acting Supreme Court Justice Wayne A. Feeman, however, determined that the student's legal action against the University was premature...

The Alfred University Jazz Band will perform its annual Concert Under the Stars from 9 to 10:30 p.m. Saturday, May 4 in the Harder Hall plaza. The concert will recapture much of the semester's music, including a lot of the "old standards," 1940s Big Band music, blues, and other styles, according to Director Dr. Thomas Evans, associate professor of music. If it rains or the temperature drops below 50 degrees, the concert will be cancelled.

Editorial On The "Museum Trail"—The establishment of the Museum of Ceramic Art at Alfred University may not be seen as a major event by most area residents. It's merely a change in name from a study collection to a museum. Nevertheless, we welcome the change and are hopeful that its director's aspirations are soon fulfilled. Museum Director Dr. Margaret Carney Xie has set her goal to make the museum as notable as the Corning Glass Museum...In the shadow of the recent announcement of a $75 million headquarters facility for Corning Inc. in the Crystal City, the Alfred ceramic museum development may not seem significant. But we will watch with much anticipation as Dr. Xie initiates steps to reach that lofty goal.

The Alfred Station Fire Company held its annual dinner April 8, celebrating its busiest year ever, responding to 253 emergency calls. NATIONAL DAY OF PRAYER

Two events mark local observance of National Day of Prayer May 5

Since 1988 the first Thursday in May has been set aside as “The National Day of Prayer”. The focus of this day is to pray for our nation. “The National Day of Prayer” is a season for confessing the sins of our nation, pleading the mercies of God and asking that God would be please to grant us as a people, spiritual awakening and revival. This year “The National Day of Prayer” occurs on Thursday, May 5.

A National Day of Prayer is embedded in the history of our nation. In 1775, the Continental Congress asked the colonies to pray for wisdom in forming a nation. Mr. Lincoln’s proclamation in 1863 was for a day of “humiliation, fasting, and prayer. In 1952, a joint resolution by Congress, signed by President Truman, declared an annual national day of prayer. In 1988, the law was amended and signed by President Reagan, permanently setting the day as the first Thursday of every May. Each year, the president signs a proclamation, encouraging all Americans to pray on this day.

On this “National Day of Prayer” the Evangelical Christian Churches of Alfred and Almond invite you to pray: pray by yourself, pray with your family, pray with others. ECCAA is supporting two events to pray with others for our nation. A Prayer Breakfast hosted by the Almond Union of Churches is being held on their campus at 7:00 am (For Information 607-276- 6151)) and in the evening at the Alfred Almond Bible Church a Prayer Gathering to pray for the nation at 7:00 pm on their campus (For Information 607-276- 6700).

Come and pray! Remember to pray for the Nation!

Thursday, April 28

After the war, Robert E. Lee served as president of Washington College in Virginia (today Washington & Lee University). When one of his faculty members harshly criticized General Grant, Lee turned on him and said:

“Sir, if you ever presume again to speak disrespectfully of General Grant in my presence, either you or I will sever his connection with this university.”

Vicki Grant takes first in Poetry Slam; A-A sophomore second, Gayhart third

WELLSVILLE--Who knew? Allegany County has an unusually creative cadre of poets of diverse ages and backgrounds, several of whom gathered at the David A. Howe library last Thursday evening, April 21, for the 9th Annual Poetry Slam. Published poets, young and "older" writers and brand new writers shared their best efforts at the Allegany Arts Association-sponsored event.

First Prize honors and a check for $50 was won by newcomer Vicki Grant of Houghton. Grant has been writing and sharing poetry for years but this was her first foray into "Slam" territory. Young poet Jasmine Schumacher (now in Grade 10 at Alfred-Almond High School) again amazed the audience with her brilliant writing, sharing Second Prize ($25). Also winning 2nd Prize was another newcomer Chuck Wiser of Scio. Wiser's paean to his friend's father, Ken Washburn, entitled "Within His Hands" was memorable.

Adam B. Gayhart of Alfred again won 3rd prize ($15). Adam consistently writes thoughtful and deeply felt poetry, as well as being a published author of “action” novels. Seldom does Adam go home without a prize, having won every category over the years!

New this year, the Allegany Arts' Board decided to award a Fourth Prize because of the outstanding offerings. Fourth Prize ($10) was won by another newcomer, Daniel Fox of Belfast. Honorable Mention (a Robert Penn Warren poetry book) was won by Ronnie Schenkein of Pennsylvania, who shared her passion for nature and animals.

Others whose efforts were appreciated and rewarded with sincere applause were Chris Clow, Karen Dickerson and John Holland. Chris has been a supporter of the Poetry Slam since its beginning and for years has hosted the "Spoken Word" poetry evenings at Black-Eyed Susan Cafe in Angelica, which will find a new venue soon. Gayhart sold and signed his poetry books at the end of the evening.

All poets are invited to prepare for the Tenth Annual Poetry Slam to be held April 13, 2017.

ALFRED UNIVERSITY SPORTS ROUNDUP

Saxon softball team sweeps Naz; will host Fisher Sunday

The Alfred University softball team swept an Empire 8 Conference doubleheader with visiting Nazareth College Saturday afternoon at Harrington Field. AU won the opener, 14-0 in five innings, and edged the Golden Flyers, 4-1, in the second game.

In the first game, Alfred (20-10, 7-5 Empire 8) sent 11 batters to the plate in the first, with the first seven reaching base and scoring, as the Saxons took an 8-0 lead after an inning. AU scored three in the second and third innings and held Naz scoreless in a game stopped after five innings.

In the second game, Alfred scored two runs in each of the first two innings, all with two outs, to take a 4-0 lead. In the first, Maher and Powers hit back-to-back singles with two outs and scored on a triple to right-center by senior second baseman Dana Torchia (Pompton Plains, NJ/Pequannock Twp.). In the second, Passuite reach on an error with two outs and Thompson and senior outfielder Samantha Jauregui (Lindsay, CA/Lindsay) singled to load the bases for Maher, who brought both home with a single.

The four runs were more than enough for sophomore pitcher Kerri Keeler (Jamesville-DeWitt), who held Nazareth off the scoreboard until the seventh, when the Golden Flyers plated an unearned run. Keeler allowed just five hits while striking out five to improve to 8-6.

Maher finished 3-for-4 with a run and 2 RBIs, while Thompson and Powers each had two hits and scored once.

The sweep of Nazareth lifted the Saxons to 7-5 in Empire 8 play, good for fourth place and one game ahead of Stevens (7-7). AU will host St. John Fisher (10-2 in E8) for a doubleheader Sunday, May 1 at Harrington Field. First game starts at 1 p.m. With a win in one of those games, the Saxons will secure the 4th seed in the Empire 8 Tournament to be hosted by Ithaca (13-1) May 6-7. Should the Saxons drop a pair of games to St. John Fisher, a tiebreaker scenario with Stevens will ensue.

Streak extended to eight

The Alfred University softball team swept a non-conference doubleheader from host Hilbert College Monday afternoon. The Saxons (22-10) won the opener, 9-1, and took the nightcap, 11-4, to run their winning streak to eight games.

A doubleheader sweep of Penn College on Tuesday, April 19 began the win streak as AU prevailed, 12-2 and 8-0.

The Saxons followed that up with a 10-3 and 13-3 doubleheader sweep of host Medaille College in Buffalo on Wednesday, April 20. And then AU swept Nazareth Saturday in Empire 8 play.

AU had another doubleheader scheduled yesterday (Wednesday, April 27) when the Saxons were to host Oswego State with games at 3 and 5 p.m.

Men's lacrosse loses to #2 IC
The Alfred University men's lacrosse team (9-4, E8 3-3) fell to No. 8 Ithaca College in Yunevich Stadium 22-11 Saturday afternoon despite holding an early lead.

The Saxon attack came out firing with freshman Joe Fornataro (Rochester/Greece Athena) scoring back-to-back unassisted goals in the second and third

Maher E8 Player of the Week

Nicole Maher (Newark, DE/Caravel Academy), a senior shortstop on the Alfred University softball team, has been named Empire 8 Conference Player of the Week.

Maher was honored for her play in three doubleheaders last week, in which the Saxons went 6-0. In the six games, Maher batted .556 (10-for-18) with 11 runs scored and nine RBIs.

Four of her eight hits were for extra bases, including three doubles and a triple. Her double against Penn College in the first game of the doubleheader Tuesday (April 19), was the 40th of her career, a new school record.

In the Saxons' lone conference action last week, a doubleheader sweep of visiting Nazareth Saturday, April 23, Maher went a combined 5-for-6 (.833) with four runs scored and three driven in.

On the season, Maher is batting .374 with 22 runs and 17 RBIs. Alfred is 20-10 overall with a 7-5 mark in Empire 8 Conference play. The Saxons host St. John Fisher (10-2 E8) in a doubleheader Sunday, May 1 at Harrington Field. An AU win will clinch the Empire 8 Tournament fourth seed for the Saxons.

minutes. AU held possession of the ball in their offensive third for a majority of the first quarter before the Bombers scored 12 minutes into the game. Ithaca knotted the game at 2-2 with 37 seconds remaining in the first quarter.

AU jumped out to another lead when Fornataro reared back and ripped a shot from the slot into the back of the net. However, the Bombers answered a minute later and continued to score three more goals over six minutes to increase their lead to 6-3. Senior Nolan Jessop (Rochester/Churchville-Chili) broke the run when he cleared the ball from the defensive third into Ithaca territory and rifled a laser from 20 yards out into the back of the net moving the game to 6-4. The Bombers scored three more times before the end of the half, earning a 9-4 lead at the intermission.

The Saxons were outpaced 5-3 in the third quarter, falling behind 14-7. AU's goals came from juniors Nick Skibitky (Williamsville East), Derek Bishopp (Livonia) and John Winchell (Vestal). Bishopp added flair with his goal, storming down the center of the field and rocketing a shot from 25 yards out to beat the Ithaca goalie.

Sophomore Jake Lynch (Whitney Point) attempted to spark a rally in the final stanza, scoring back-to-back man-up goals over the course of 23 seconds. However, the Bombers quickly stymied the momentum and rattled off four goals over five minutes. Ithaca continued on to score three goals to AU's two, finishing with a 22-11 victory. Bishopp and sophomore Brett McMichael (Penn Yan) scored the final two Saxon goals.

Fornataro led the Saxons with three goals while Lynch and Bishopp netted two goals each. Bishopp paced AU with two assists in the game.

The Bombers, now ranked #2 in the nation after an 18-16 win over then #2 RIT a few days earlier, were led by John Januskiewicz, scoring a game-high seven goals. Jack Shumway tallied five goals for Ithaca.

Sophomore Drew Gardner (Whitney Point) and freshman Brandon Smith (Queens/Governor's Academy) split time in goal. Gardner collected a game-high 13 saves for the Saxons.

AU (3-3 E8) looked to get back on track on Wednesday, traveling to Houghton, to take on the Highlanders at 7 p.m. A win over the fledgling Highlanders (0-7 E8) will set up a showdown with St. John Fisher (4-3 E8) for the fourth and final berth in the Empire 8 Tournament. AU hosts Fisher at 1 p.m. Saturday, April 30 in Yunevich Stadium.

Women laxers finish 4-13

The AU women's lacrosse team finished its season with a 13-7 loss to Empire 8 foe Elmira Sunday, April 24. Megan Wendt led AU with two goals while also scoring were Morgan Timmerman, Aubrey Fry, Miranda Gilbert, Rachel Ball and Tracy Johnston. AU finished 4-13.

HITS AND MISSES:

It'll be an important two-game stretch in the E8 conference for the Alfred Saxons (9-4) men's lacrosse team as they complete regular season play and attempt to qualify for the league post-season tournament. Alfred should top Houghton with no problem mid-week and then set-up the "winner advances" outing versus SJ Fisher this Saturday at Merrill Field in Alfred. If the Saxons beat Houghton, the Fisher-AU game will pit teams with 4-3 league marks and the #4 slot waiting to be grabbed. Alfred is coming off a loss to Ithaca but the Bombers are beating everyone these days. Ithaca-Nazareth-Stevens are all set for the tourney with an interesting Nazareth at Stevens contest this week as well. They are currently tied in conference action at 6-1. The winner of their game will host the other in the semi-finals of the tournament next Wednesday. Big travel advantage. Ithaca will host the SJF-AU winner.

Coach Jeff Long's Bombers beat previously undefeated and #2 ranked RIT ... at RIT, last week, 18-16 to snap a 53-game home win streak for the Tigers. That must be a regular season mark. Anyhow, Ithaca is now (14-1) and ranked second in the nation in the latest USILA D3 lax poll. Salisbury (18-0) continues to lead the way, RIT falls one notch, St. Lawrence slides into the #4 spot as Tufts lost and is now #5. RPI is 16th while "receiving votes" were: Stevens, Nazareth and Cortland. Guessing RIT will beat SLU to win the Liberty League title, Ithaca will defeat Nazareth to grab the E8 championship and it'll be another RIT-Ithaca game in the NCAA's! Nazareth has a non-conference tilt with RIT this week prior to the Stevens game. Yikes.

In the latest USILA D3 women's lax poll it is undefeated Cortland (15-0) still sailing along at #1 with Brockport 12th, Geneseo 19th and Ithaca 21st. Guessing Brockport and Geneseo will meet in one SUNYAC semi-final with the winner advancing to play Cortland for an NCAA berth.

The talented but big-time struggling Rochester Knighthawks (6-10) dropped another NLL pro indoor lacrosse game this past weekend as the Buffalo Bandits beat them, 19-16. Can't see the K-Hawks making the playoffs this year.

The Alfred Saxons (20-10) softball team gathered six-wins last week including two clutch E8 victories over Nazareth. Alfred will need a split in their two games against SJ Fisher this weekend to take the fourth spot in the E8 tourney. Alfred is 7-5 in league play, Stevens is 7-7 and one of them will land the #4 seed in the league tourney. Ithaca, Fisher and Utica are all in. If Alfred loses both to the Cardinals at home, there will then be a tiebreaker scenario with Stevens as they split their two games this season. The Saxons also beat Penn and Medaille last week.

Coach Joe Q. French and his UMBC Retrievers softball team was at (20-26) with league games upcoming against UMass-Lowell and then Maine on the road. French, the former Alfred State women's hoop coach.

Skip Sherman (A-A) and his Genesee CC Cougars recently won six-straight baseball games to improve to (11-26) on the season.

Tim Mead (Andover) and his Walsh Cavs baseball team were at 20-20 with upcoming games against Ohio Dominican and Lake Erie.

Coppin softball at 4-30 ... ouch.

The Rochester RazorSharks won the screwy Premier Basketball League (again) by beating the Lake Michigan Admirals in the finals (again). It is a threepeat for Rochester in the PBL.

How bad is Steph Curry hurt in the NBA with the Warriors?

Instead of paying James Harden $21 million per year to play for the Houston Rockets, they should just make a statue of Harden, place it on the court when Houston is on defense and watch the statue not stop anyone either!

The New York State Sportswriters Association announced the small school boys basketball teams last week. Liam Ebert made third team for Wellsville in "B" action, Justin Hendrickson (Canisteo-Greenwood) was a seventh-team pick in "C" while Garrett Socolla made the fourth team in "D" from Prattsburgh.

It was a good weekend past for the golfing Piller, husband-wife, family on the PGA and LPGA Tours. Martin finished T4 in the Valero Texas Open and wife Gerina was T3 in the Swinging Skirts Classic.

Pete Rose will be singing autographs at Frontier Field in Rochester on July 21st. Assume the "Traveling Sports Fan" will be there. Rose, a legitimate Hall of Famer, is banned from baseball due to betting and needed to get special permission to do this event.

The 4th annual Allegany County Ancient Order of Hiberians Road Bowling tournament will be held in Andover on June 4th. Contact Brian Cannon or Mike Jackson for further information.

The respective NFL schedules were released recently and look for the Buffalo Bills to go about 7-9, 8-8. Losses to: Baltimore, Arizona, New England (twice), Seattle, Cincy, Oakland (obviously) Pittsburgh and potential splits with the Jets and Dolphins. Good-bye Rex.

A great weekend past in the books as daughter Lauren in town from NYC. We headed to Ithaca on a rather brisk Saturday morning ... scraping the windshield in late April(?). Hooked up with Jess Herbst and Nick Benway at the Lyons

Thruway exit. Next stop was the Ithaca Farmers Market and it was freezing there. 3L and I have been there 2-3 times, always enjoyable but not this outing. Off to hike at Tremman State Park after that as we did both the Rim Trail and the Gorge Trail (illegally) ... Lauren's idea, on an afternoon that turned out pretty nice for hiking. After that it was a late lunch at the Ithaca Ale House downtown. Excellent! Wandered around Ithaca Commons after that, a first for all of us, and eventually hooked up with the SEAL, another SEAL and Max at a coffee shop. "Funny" how that worked out! Solid day. Hadn't seen Herbst in awhile either so good having her along this day. Sunday it was off to the Rochester Flower City Half-Marathon as Lauren really wanted to surprise Meg "Pam" Verdino who was running her first-ever H-M! Mission accomplished. Met up with her and Laura Verdino (mom) prior to the race, saw photographer Leo Nealon as well, plus the Beasley's from Webster along with former Geneseo soccer teammates Shannon Spusta and Michelle Barnum. The Beas coached Cass Beasley and 3L in travel hoops plus the Gus Macker tournaments. Lauren and I broke away for breakfast at the Village Bakery on Culver after the race started, hooked back up with the Verdino's at the finish line, saw Coach Wiley there and had a great, early lunch with the Verdino's at a place called Blue Wolf on Park Ave. In between/around all of that, 3L and I watched our Criminal Minds marathon, plus had the standard trip(s) to Wegmans when she is home. Really good weekend despite the unseasonable cooler weather! "Ungawa" ... "Later, Much!"
