S.A.V.E. and Child Abuse Workshops

In order to meet NYS Education Department requirements for certification, all education major and minor students must attend a Safe Schools Against Violence In Education (SAVE) Workshop and a Child Abuse Identification & Reporting Workshop.

The Division of Education will offer these workshops as follows:

Safe Schools Against Violence in Education (SAVE) Workshop:

Monday, March 14 & Wednesday, March 16, 2011 from 8-9:15 a.m. - 336 Myers Hall (must attend both days to complete workshop).

March 14 & 16, 2011 from 9:20-10:35 a.m. - 336 Myers Hall (must attend both days to complete the workshop).

Child Abuse Identification & Reporting Workshop:

Monday, May 2, 2011 - 4:10-6:50 p.m. - 228 Myers Hall

Please note: This is the last time these workshops will be offered this semester. If you are an education major or minor student who is graduating in May but haven't attended these workshops yet please attend. The Division of Education cannot recommend you for certification until you complete both workshops.

Math Club Pi-Day Celebration!

JOIN THE PI-DAY CELEBRATION on Monday, March 14, 2011, from 12:20 to 1:10 p.m. in Myers Hall, Room 334!

The AU Math Club Presents "Pi with a Side of Archimedes," by AU's Dr. Addison Frey. We will also present the second annual "Alfredian Pi-dol" during which contestants recite the digits of pi from memory.

Last year, the Math Club held the first "Alfredian Pi-dol," which is a contest in which students recite the digits of pi from memory. Last year, PJ DiCesare blew away the competition by reciting 609 digits, with Michaela Stone coming in a "close" second with 147.

If you'd like to enter the contest, please let Dr. J. Petrillo know (petrillo@alfred.edu).

Pizza, soda, and pi(e) will be served.
All are welcome.

Visiting Artist

Visiting Ceramic Artist Presentation: Neil Brownsword
Monday, March 14 at 5 p.m. in Nevins

Born and raised near Stoke-on-Trent, ceramic artist Neil Brownsword began working at the Wedgwood factory at age 16. He studied ceramics at the University of Wales Institute, Cardiff, at the Royal Academy in London, and received his Ph.D. from Brunel University in London following the completion of his groundbreaking series, Collaging History.

Neil's work draws intensely from his surroundings in Stoke-on-Trent. Growing up there, amidst the decline of the Potteries, he has found a rich source of inspiration and material in the detritus and clay waste that lies beneath the city. By collecting and re-using these various scraps, the fusions and meltings he has found from the factory floor, and assembling them into beautiful abstract amalgams - often further transformed by re-firing - Brownsword regenerates this material into structures and landscapes with various levels of meaning. His work comments on and explores the history and social experience of working in the city's pottery industry.

Mandatory Right-to-Know Training-Deadline March 30, 2011

RTK training is now on BLACKBOARD for your convenience! Faculty, administration, staff, work-study and graduate students are required to have this training.

Please log onto Blackboard and follow the links for Environmental Health & Safety Trainings-Hazard Communication. Remember to take the quiz!

Do not take the Hazard Communication/Right-to-Know training if you are physical plant, maintenance, or laboratory personnel, as you are required to attend mandatory Laboratory Safety/Chemical Hygiene training instead.

Hazard Communication Training, or "Right to Know" as per OSHA Regulation 29CFR 1910.20 is required for all employees.

Employees have the right to know the properties and potential safety and health hazards of substances to which they may be exposed. Such knowledge is essential to reducing the risk of occupational illness and injury.
