Zero-Sort Recycling is Here!

Zero Sort Recycling is here at Alfred University! All recyclable materials throughout campus will now be collected in one bin, rather than having to separate glass, plastic, metal, etc.

There will be an informational presentation in Nevins Theater on Tuesday Sept. 18, 2012 from 12:20-12:50 p.m. with a Casella representative.

If you would like more information about Zero Sort Recycling, please attend the session or contact Autumn McLain adm2@alfred.edu.

Zero Sort stickers will be provided very soon for offices to place on bins to identify a designated container. We are also working on a map of the location of zero-sort dumpsters on campus.

A short video on the process is available below.

The Fiat Lux

The Fiat Lux is still alive and kicking. The Fiat Staff understands the growing concerns of faculty, administration, and students alike about the paper.

You may have been noticed our posters advertising our new Tumblr and Twitter pages. The Fiat has moved from a print version to a fully electronic version. The change has been rough and we are still working to smooth things out in order to put out the best paper possible. We will be updating our Tumblr page with new articles and pictures as often as we can and we will be putting up-to-date stories on the page and making sure that events on campus are covered.

We understand that the distinct lack of a printed version of the Fiat is troubling and we dislike it as much as you do but unfortunately we've been forced into this position. We are having budget issues that are preventing us from putting out the printed version. The new staff here at the Fiat Lux is doing all that we can to make sure that our budget is re-established and a printed as well as an electronic version of the Fiat Lux is available for the Spring 2013 semester.

In the meantime we will be doing our best to keep the Tumblr page up-to-date with new articles, pictures, videos and much more. One feature we will be making readily available will be PDF version of the paper. When printing we have to make a PDF of the paper in order for our printer in Hornell to be able to print the paper, so by putting up the PDF version we are giving everyone an opportunity to print the a hard copy newspaper for themselves if they wish. The PDF will be linked to on our Tumblr page as well as on the Alfred Today page soon.

Everyone at the Fiat Lux want to thank everyone on campus who has been supporting us through this transition, and that we will continue to be the Light of Alfred University no matter what.

Lecture: Josef Schtzenhfer, Randall Chair

Location: Nevins

Date: Sept. 19
Time: 5:30-7 P.M.

Josef Schtzenhfer is visiting Alfred University for the second time as the Theodore Randall International Chair in the Division of Drawing, Painting and Photography. He will lecture on his work on September 19 at 5:30 p.m. in Nevins.

He also has a solo exhibition at The Cohen Gallery running through October 12. The show features three bodies of work on paper of politically charged work addressing liberation and indignant police authority in Austria.

Schtzenhfer states, "It is not the foremost role of the artist, lawyer, or journalist to reside in the ivory tower and regurgitate the goods of academia. Instead they are to focus their craft towards the margins of our society. There, everyday, they are to control the bearing of the state, the powers to be, to guarantee that our thoughts are not curtailed, our movements not limited, and our liberties not blocked."

Josef Schtzenhfer (born in 1954 in Austria) immigrated to the USA when he was 19 years old and had 28 dollars in his pocket. He started his art studies at the Cleveland Institute of Art. To keep his head above water, he interrupted his studies and worked as a dental technician for the US Navy for 3 years.

He later completed his B.A. at Old Dominion University in Norfolk, VA. His M.A. was completed at the Maryland Institute College of Art in Baltimore, MD. There he studied under Grace Hartigan and Sal Scarpitto.

In 1996, Schtzenhfer returned with his family to Austria. He works independently in a studio located in the local castle on contractual as well as personal works.

His works and projects have a mission, they are to patrol the peripheries, to confront and test those who think they govern our movement and our space.

For Schtzenhfer, art has a social obligation to ensure that liberties we have attained are not curtailed while they stand unguarded. The artistic stance is a representational one, accessible, approachable- an engagement against political suppression and outrages. It is also a message to promote involvement and participation in all disciplines and on all levels- local, national, or international.

Currently, Schtzenhfer is expanding his "Liberation Project." The goal is to establish a cultural exchange program which involves inviting artists from the allied countries (during WWII) to Austria - specifically to his home turf of Pollau in Styria - to reflect on the continuing reactions of the locals concerning the liberation of Austria from the Nazis.
