AU prof's article makes cover of chemistry journal

ALFRED- An article by Geoffrey Bowers, assistant professor of chemistry in the College of Liberal Arts & Sciences at Alfred University, was the cover feature for a recent issue of The Journal of Physical Chemistry

It's a singular honor for a young researcher from a small master's level university; typically, the cover spot is reserved for work by researchers from large doctoral institutions.

'It's very much analogous to being on the front page of a big city newspaper," said Bowers. Major funding agencies, including the National Science Founand the federal Department of Energy, often use "cover stories" and publications in "top 10 journals as a measure of proficiency in research because articles are subjected to rigorous peer review before publication.

The quality and predicted impact of the research is important in selecting the cover story. Bowers said, but also important is the way the author chooses to highlight the "novelty and key aspects of the work" in a visually appealing way.

While it is more than gratifying to Bowers as a researcher to have his article selected, he said it's also important to Alfred University. All three versions of The Journal of Physical Chemistry are highly regarded in the field; are published by the premier chemical society, the American Chemical Society; and have a broad readership within the field, so his article appearing on the cover provides great visibility to the chemistry department at AU. The journal is published 52 times a year, with articles totaling more than 3,000 annually. Thus to be selected for the cover means his article is in the top 1 percent of articles published.

Additionally, the premier placement draws the attention of funding agencies, including the federal Department of Energy, which is funding the research project that resulted in the cover article. "The officer of the grant program that currently funds my work...is very pleased," Bowers said. That's also "good scientific publicity in several venues" where a small university like Alfred would not typically garner attention. "This will be good for attracting new faculty and new students, and increasing the profile" of the University so that faculty will enjoy greater success in their efforts to secure grant funding.

So what is this cover article about?

Bowers describes himself as a "physical geochemist whose interests lie predominantly in realm of interfacial chemistry," which means he looks at such technique." things as the rates at which molecules move near a surface when water comes into contact with soil and rocks, as well as the specific types of motion they can experience.

That sort of investigation is important when looking at the rate and manner in which pollutants travel through soil, or how radioisotopes are transported in an environment. The results can influence the design of effective nuclear waste storage facilities, or the composition of new materials for energy capture and stor-

"It also relates to the way buildings and infrastructure decay, all the way down to why the wax on your car repels water," Bowers said.

In the featured article, Bowers looked at rates and geometries of motion for water and ions near the surface of a clay particle over a wide range of temperatures.

"We actually found and completely described a new structural feature and mechanism of motion for water adjacent to the clay surfaces," he said. "We are the first – to the best of my knowledge – to look at how the motion of ions affects the motion of water, and the way the motion of water affects the motion of ions, using a nuclear magnetic resonance (NMR)

Most people's awareness of NMR is confined to magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) as a medical diagnostic technique, but NMR has many properties that also make it an essential tool in other fields.

In its simplest terms, his research establishes the principle that the motion of ions can be described as "fast diffusion at lower and lower temperatures as the size of the ion decreases and its hydration energy (the amount of energy that is released by surrounding a charged ion with water molecules) increases."

His research, Bowers said, may lead to "a shift in the way we think about motion at interfaces. As least, it provides some of the first experimental evidence supporting those in the community who already believe the hydration/size relationship relates to the likelihood of interfacial diffusion."

Collaborators and co-authors include R. James Kirkpatrick, dean of natural sciences at Michigan State University, and David L. Bish, professor of geological sciences at Indiana University. The United States Department of Energy, Office of Basic Energy Science, Geoscience Program, funded the work. To see Bowers' "cover": http://pubs.acs.org/action/showL argeCover?issue=361602712

Pres. Anderson likes what Zimpher has to say

ALFRED—In response to State University of New York (SUNY) Chancellor Dr. Nancy L. Zimpher's State of the University address, Alfred State College President Dr. John M. Anderson noted recently: "Listening to Chancellor Zimpher's remarks served to confirm my belief that she is the right leader at the right time for the SUNY system.

"She has been able to forge a partnership with NYS Gov. Andrew Cuomo and the state government which will help SUNY take the lead in the economic revitalization of the state. I am honored and excited to be part of this administration."

The Chancellor's plan to "get down to business" following a year of milestone accomplishments, will capitalize on SUNY's "systemness" to lower costs, enhance productivity, and elevate the importance of degree completion within SUNY, the country's largest comprehensive system of public higher educa-

According to Zimpher, "SUNY will tap into that power of 'systemness' to create a more affordable, productive, and accessible university, while doing its part to generate economic development, create jobs, and prepare the workforce of tomorrow for New York State."

"The Chancellor's plan to shift administrative cost savings to instruction through SUNY's shared services initiative is an idea whose time has come. I support the plan to centrally process payroll, benefits, purchasing, travel, and other basic administrative services to allow SUNY campuses to shift a minimum of five percent of their administrative spending

"She has been able to forge a partnership with NYS Governor Andrew Cuomo and the state government which will help SUNY take the lead in the " economic revitalization of the state.

academics and student services over the next three years.

"Additionally, I am confident that the Chancellor's plan to have all SUNY campuses operate on common information technology (IT) data systems will be a great help to students and administrative staff, making record-sharing easier among institutions.

"I also strongly support the Chancellor's plan to eliminate the need for academic remediation over the next decade. Her statistics regarding this (SUNY spends $70 million a year in remediation. All of SUNY's ag/tech campuses combined receive $63.6 million in state support) were eye-opening to say the least, and it makes far more sense not only to spend those resources in other areas, but to better-prepare the students entering college!

"I certainly also commend the Chancellor for her initiative to implement seamless transfer for community college graduates; for SUNY to become the nation's most extensive distance learning environment, giving access to the best in open educational resources; and turning access into completion to ensure that every student who walks through SUNY's doors leaves, on time, with a degree.

Chancellor Zimpher said, "SUNY will continue to marry its academic mission with its immense capacity to serve all of New York State as a driver of economic and workforce development and a partner in the improvement of education from cradle to career. We are fortunate at SUNY to work beside a governor who shares our ambition and with community leaders across the state who are focused on creating a better way of life for all of New York, now and in the future."

"I am certain that Chancellor Zimpher's goals will be met as Alfred State and our sister campuses collaborate in these new ways," said Anderson.

Alfred's Christmas tree

ALFRED--A spokesman for the Alfred Lions Club reports, "In this week's Alfred Sun, Sherry Volk wrote a nice article concerning the Christmas Trees that beautified our village. The tree in front of the Box of Books was presented by the Alfred Lions Club and was given a nice article and a picture of the Lions when it was placed in front of the building.

He continued, "In past years the Lions left the tree and it was removed by one or more persons who took all of the decorations and the tree. In order to avoid another costly mistake the Lions removed and stored all of the decorations for use again next year."

Lads and lassies to gather for Robert Burns Night

in Andover will gather in Andover on the evening of Saturday, Jan. 28 to honor the author of "Auld Lang Syne."

In the year 2000, Robert Burns (1759 – 1796) was recognized by a poll of the Scottish people as the greatest Scotsman who ever lived. While other nations celebrate kings, politicians and warriors as their greatest heroes, the Scots are the only people who annually make a holiday of the birthday of their national bard.

Local Scots will follow tradition of beginning a "Burns Supper" with an appetizer of haggis and neeps, which will be ceremoniously processed into the dining room of the Andover Presbyterian Church by a kilted

The Town Board did not act on the appointment of a Town Attorney. Attorney Andrew Cornell, an associate of former Town Attorney Keith Slep, had met with the board to express his interest in December. Slep was no longer able to serve the Town of Alfred as its attorney because of his recent appointment as Allegany County District Attorney. The Town Board tabled action on the appointment as a letter of interest from Attorney Michael Finn of Wellsville had also been received. Supervisor Mansfield said he would invite Finn to the board's Jan. 12 meeting.

Doug Clarke was appointed Alfred Town Historian.

Steve Kilmer was appointed Codes Enforcement Officer and Zoning Inspector.

Bill Cleveland was appointed to fill an unexpired term on the Town Planning Board, through 12/31/15.

Renee Richardson was appointed to a five-year term on the Town Planning Board, through 12/31/16.

Judson Stearns was reappointed to a five-year term on the Zoning Board of Appeals.

Brad Burdick was appointed to a five-year term on the Board of Assessment Review. The Town Board established 7 p.m. on the second Thursday of each month as its regular meeting time, at the Town Hall.

Community Bank of Alfred and Steuben Trust Company of Alfred and Hornell were designated as official banks.

The Hornell Evening Tribune and The Alfred Sun were designated as the town's official newspapers.

Within the Town Board, the following committees were appointed by Supervisor Tom Mansfield:

- ♦ Highway Jerry Snyder and Tom Mansfield
- ♦ Planning Fion MacCrea and Mary Stearns
- ♦ Financial Mary Stearns and Tom Mansfield

Supervisor Mansfield appointed Jerry Snyder as Deputy Supervisor.

Renee Richardson agreed to serve as chairman on a temporary basis Bill Cleveland indicated a willingness to serve as chair after he has served on the planning board for awhile to get oriented.

The Town Board voted unanimously to approve the Inter-Municipal Mutual Aid Agreement.

The organizational meeting was adjourned at 11 a.m.

Can you fix up this barley soup recipe?

Okay, here's the challenge. I was "surfing the web" for soup recipes and found this one. I love barley and thought I would try this. I was a little uneasy because it called for water rather than stock and included a full cup of barley. But I thought I would try it.

Big mistake! It was the consistency of stew and didn't have much flavor. So, how about if you try it and make your own adjustments, then let me know your success at Alfredsun.news@gmail .com. Good luck!

NEW YEAR, NEW DEVELOPMENTS

The first regular meeting of the Board of Legislators was held on Monday, January 9th, at 2:00 pm. The meeting began with the Pledge of Allegiance led by former Air Force Sergeant Erin Harvey. All 15 County Legislators were present for this session. The Board quickly completed the preliminary activities and proceeded to consider 11 different resolutions.

Many of the resolutions were routine and uncontroversial. Michael Hennessy was re-appointed as County Veterans' Services Officer. Three members were re-appointed to the Office For the Aging Advisory Council. Three members were re-appointed to the County Community Services Board. Five current members were reappointed to the County Traffic Safety Board. Twenty-one members were appointed to serve on the County Fire Advisory Board. Many critical county programs could not operate without the generous contributions of time and skill by these selfless volunteers who donate hundreds of hours of their valuable time to make our County a better

Other resolutions accepted State grant money ($26,586) to outfit the interior of a new records storage building; approved an agreement with Allegany County Association for the Blind and Visually Handicapped, Inc., to provide services and training to indigent blind in our County; approved an agreement with the Allegany County Agricultural Society (County Fair Board) for $8,000; approved an agreement with the Volunteer Firemen's Association of Allegany County relating to operation of fire training schools during 2012; and approved an agreement with NYS Division of Criminal Justice Services involving payment to our County Probation Department for ignition interlock devices installed as part of sentencing in DWI

The only controversial resolution involved approval of the Memorandum of Agreement with Cornell Cooperative Extension Association of Allegany County. This resolution authorized payment of our 2012 appropriation to Cooperative Extension in the budgeted amount of $211,000. Approval of this annual appropriation has been routine in the past. This year Cattaraugus County cut its support for Cooperative Extension, other than a small contribution towards the 4-H Youth Program. This resolution was approved by a vote of 12 to 3, which maintains funding for 4-H, the Agricultural Extension programs, and various home economics, gardening, tobacco education and other important programs. I suspect the debate regarding funding for Cooperative Extension will become an annual event as it is a valuable but non-mandated program. I urge that you talk to your County Legislators to let them know whether you support continued funding for this program.

A special Committee of the Whole meeting was held on Wednesday, January 11th at 2:00 pm in the Legislative Chambers. At that time the Board of Legislators considered a resolution presented by the County Industrial Development Agency ("IDA"). If approved, the resolution would authorize the County to purchase $3.5 million of IDA bonds issued to finance the construction of a water system to serve the area between Friendship and Belvidere. It would also grant an easement along County Road 20 for the proposed water line, and assign certain rights to the IDA. The County IDA has been working for several years to line up developers for hospitality projects in Belvidere and industrial projects along County Road 20.

County purchase of the bonds would represent a financial investment in the County IDA. No county money would be spent until the private developers have given final commitments to actually construct their respective projects. The bonds would be paid off with revenue paid by users for the water service. The primary benefits for the County would come in the form of new jobs, increased sales tax revenue, and possible bed tax revenues (if a hotel is built). After extensive discussion the resolution was adopted by a vote of 14 to 0, with all fourteen Legislators co-sponsoring the resolution. The resolution now moves to the full Board of Legislators for consideration at the January 23rd session. More details about this important project should become available over the next several weeks.

the public. Parents are advised, however, that because of some mature content, the program may not be suitable for children under the age of 13.

Kevin Hurley is an entertainment junkie. His passion for hypnosis, magic, theater, comedy, and current events, combined with audience participation, create an unprecedented performance that will leave the crowd wanting more.

Kevin has performed professionally for over fourteen years. Boasting over 3500 live performances, The Kevin Hurley Show is currently one of the most sought after shows on the college, corporate, performing arts and casino circuits.

Kevin combines hypnosis, sleight of hand, illusion, mental demonstrations, along with his gregarious personality to create a unique experience for audi-

The Kevin Hurley Show is completely organic. No two shows are alike. In the past, audience members have forgotten their last names, flown imaginary airplanes, and danced like they never thought possible, (at least in public), before collapsing at the shake of Kevin's hand.

No worries, though, this is only temporary.

EDUCATIONAL DISHWASHING

Some people seem to be able to save enormous amounts of time by doing two useful things at once. No one who knows me well would credit me with that asset.

For instance, if I am dining in a restaurant with others, I always order water. That is because I am highly likely to tip my own beverage all over the place while passing a dish to someone else.

On the other hand, modern technology has given me the ability to wash my dishes at home while engaging in another rewarding endeavor at the same time. This is not because I have an automatic dishwasher. Instead, it is due to the invention of audio-books.

As the years have increased in number to 2012, the hours I find to sit down and read a book have decreased. I estimate that I now have two thousand more unopened books than when I was twelve years old, and two thousand less hours per year in which to read them.

Sometime ago I discovered that I could multitask successfully by listening to books recorded on tapes while doing the dishes. Belatedly, as libraries began purchasing more items on Compact Discs than on tape, I surrendered to buying a CD player.

This has led to what I recently accomplished during Alfred University's month long winter break. Instead of lending an ear to books as I scrubbed, I indulged myself in a history class on American culture during the 1930's and 1940's. What I heard were "The 60 Greatest Old-Time Radio Shows of the 20th Century," selected by Walter Cronkite. These thirty CD's, checked out from AU's Herrick Library, gave me thirty hours of education and entertainment.

The CD packet contains a 58 page booklet which provides program notes. These include pictures and bits of biographical information about the performers, plus descriptions of major characters portrayed. They also give production details for each show and history about various broadcasting networks.

Cronkite wrote the foreword to the booklet, mentioning details on the invention of radio and the rise of its Golden Age in the 1930's. "Only three decades earlier, many [were] refusing to believe that voices could be transmitted through the air." Dr. Lee De Forest was awarded a prize in 1904 for an early transmission achievement. Two years later he invented an "audian tube" which allowed transmitted sound to be amplified. "Those who sold stock in De Forest's invention were indicted for fraud and imprisoned..."

Although I was aware of many of these radio shows when I was a child, I was never permitted to listen to most of them. I had to get by with "Tom Mix" and "Superman." The latter has successfully made it from Krypton to join these "Greatest."

The hour long program occupying the first CD is, unsurprisingly, the frightening tricky treat about a different landing. Broadcast the night before Halloween in 1938, and introduced by Orson Welles on "The Mercury Theatre on the Air," it was H.G. Wells' tale, "The War of the Worlds." It convinced many listeners who tuned in after the introduction that Martians really were invading New Jersey right

Now, as a historic item which I was hearing over the kitchen sink, I recognized a certain irony brought about by the passage of time. We earthlings have actually been invading Mars with our technological inventions for several years. In 1938 a broadcast describing these arrivals would have been scoffed at by listeners.

Not all of these recorded programs had sponsors. Among the others, the evolution of Americans' attitudes and laws were evidenced by the advertising. The commercials for cigarettes such as Camel, Chesterfield and Lucky Strike, would now be banned. Today those struck me as irritating instead of inviting. For relief, another sponsor suggested Tums, at ten cents a roll, or three rolls for a quarter.

During "The Chase and Sanborn Hour" with Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, broadcast simultaneously with the aforementioned Martian invasion, another bargain was touted. One should cut off the dates from two bags of Chase and Sanborn Coffee, add a dime, and mail them in. The reward would be Charlie McCarthy's Radio Game.

This gimmick stressed the way that brand of coffee distinguished itself from others: each bag was "dated." I forget what distinction Maxwell House Coffee bragged about.

While presenting "Adventures of Philip Marlowe," starring Van Heflin, there were extravagant claims for "New" Pepsodent. But, of course Americans do still choose a toothpaste which will "taste better, make breath cleaner, and teeth brighter."

Oops! I just finished a cup of instant Maxwell House coffee and must brush with Pepsodent.

Alfred State to stage reading

ALFRED—The Alfred State College Drama Club will present a staged reading of The Laramie Project, written by Moisés Kaufman and members of the Tectonic Theater Project. Performances are scheduled for Thursday and Friday, Feb. 9 and 10 at 7 p.m., and Saturday, Feb. 11 at 2 p.m. in the Pioneer Lounge on Alfred State Campus. The performance is open to the public, but due to adult themes, parental discretion is advised.

Cost of admission is $2; proceeds will go to support a charity that addresses how hatred, violence, and harassment impact young people. There will also be a free will offering.

The play is based on an incident that took place in 1998 when Matthew Shepard, a 21year-old gay student registered at the University of Wyoming, was tied to a cattle fence, beaten about the head, robbed, and left to die on a bitterly cold night in October.

Eighteen hours later, he was accidentally discovered by a biker, who had trouble believing that the figure he saw attached to the fence was human. Police and ambulances were dispatched, and Shepard was taken to a local hospital, to no avail. He never regained consciousness and died several days later due to his head injuries. Two local young men were charged with the crime.

Kaufman's goal was to create a play that focused not on the assault on Matthew Shepard, but on the community where such an attack could happen, and how many of the citizens reacted to the crime. The play draws on hundreds of interviews conducted by the theatre company with inhabitants of the town, company members' own journal entries, and published news re-

Structured as a documentary in three acts, the play attempts to reenact the events that occurred on that fateful night. Eight actors portray more than 60 characters in a series of short scenes. It is a powerful look at the different ways a community and the nation reacted to hatred. The Laramie Project is often used as a method to teach about prejudice and tolerance in personal, social, and health education and citizenship in schools.

Imaginations traveled back many years as John Reynolds, local historical writer, vividly described the Almond area as it was 25,000 years ago during the Glacial Period to the members of the 20th Century Club and their guests Tuesday night. Reynolds, who has been interested in Almond's early history over twenty years, noted that Karr Valley was once the scene of a large glacial lake, and Sand Hill was the result of the dumping of glacial debris. Where the Village of Almond stands was also once a glacial lake, according to the speaker... Following Mr. Reynolds' talk, Mrs. Charles Lockwood, hostess, introduced John Paul, who presented his male chorus. The group, made up of Almond residents, sang several numbers including "Good Night Ladies," "Genevieve," and "In the Gloaming." Members of the chorus were Lee Ryan Jr., Nathan Hardy, Donald Lindeman, Vincent Petric, Cornelius Lorow, Charles Lockwood, Rev. The Box of Books Reading Center in Alfred is getting a face lift. The small library, currently without plumbing, central heating, or a telephone, is being expanded and renovated by a group of Alfred State College students. Of the $32,000 estimated construction cost, none will be spent on labor. A special, on-the-job training program at the School of Vocational Studies Trades Department at Wellsville is sending about 17 students to Alfred everyday until the addition is completed and the old building renovated...

Tinkertown. Most area residents probably have never heard of it. Those who have—aren't sure where it begins or ends, or even how it got its name. Tinkertown's residents sem more concerned about perpetuating its name than bickering over such issues...In an interview with the late June Moland, it was learned that an unknown visitor of blacksmith Fred M. Heseltine dubbed the section "Tinkertown." In his visit to Heseltine's foundry and metal shop, the unknown guest watched him improvise as he assembled a corn sheller and was inspired to call the neighborhood, "Tinkertown." "It was named Tinkertown, I am sure, because of about three fellows that were early settlers, Mr. Hazeltine, Abe Penney and Noel Smith," Palmer said, adding, "Hazeltine was the chief tinker." The name was not always met with great enthusiasm. Edwin Bliss, another tinker of sorts, got a petition signed by Tinkertown residents to legally change the name to Mechanicsville, as he did not like the name Tinkertown. Bliss manufactured wringer washers in Tinkertown and because "tinker" also has a negative connotation, he probably thought his business would be enhanced by having a more dignified name for the place of its headquarters. After all, a tinker is also defined as "an unskillful mender, or a bungler."... Despite Bliss' efforts, Alfred Centre folks continued to call the area Tinkertown, it's been told, because of the many little businesses through the neighborhood.

Alfredians—Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Barber, Krista and Kevin, spent the weekend recently visiting relatives in Washington, D.C...The A.E. Crandall Hook & Ladder Co. No dogfights took place when a public hearing was held on Tuesday, Jan. 15, to address the desirability of making the current Village of Alfred leash ordinance more restrictive. Nonetheless, while there was no snarling, neither was there total harmony on the issue. Led by Mayor Gary Ostrower, the Village of Alfred Board of Trustees conducted the half hour hearing prior to its regular monthly meeting in Village Hall. More than two dozen Alfred residents turned out to exchange opinions with each other and the various officials present. Once again Karrie Edwards, as she had done at the December meeting of the Village Board, pled for a law requiring the leashing of dogs seven days a week. She described a vicious Thanksgiving Day attack as justification for her request. The aggression took place while Edwards and another Pine Hill Drive resident were walking their small leashed dogs on Sayles Street. An unsupervised German Shepherd broke loose from its leash, which has been fastened to a shrub, and severely injured each woman's dog. The German Shepherd also assaulted both women as they attempted to rescue their pets, leaving Edwards' hand scarred. The owner of the German Shepherd, who lives in another state, had brought the dog to Alfred during a family holiday visit. The owner paid for the mauled dogs' veterinary care. The Alfred Village Dog Control Law of 1997, currently in effect, only restricts dogs from running loose during the 24 hour "garbage day" period...Richard Stuart, Dog Control Officer, said that he failed to see how any leash law could have prevented the incident described by Edwards. Some spoke on behalf of continuing to walk their well mannered dogs unleashed. However, the majority of speakers favored a more stringent leash law...

A-A students to stage 'Nunsense' this weekend

ALMOND--Alfred-Almond Central School Drama and Music Departments will present Nunsense, a comedy musical by Dan Goggin on Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 21-22 with performances at 7:30 p.m. Saturday and a matinee performance at 2 p.m. Sunday in the high school auditorium. Tickets are $6.00 and will be available at the door for general admission.

With a small cast of only five women, the musical highlights the talents of AACS actresses: Lara Karaalsan, Kaleigh Kenney, Madeleine Dewey, Carolyn Anderson, and newly joining the cast this year, Erica Gillish.

The show opens as the Little Sisters of Hoboken are hosting and performing in a fund raiser/variety show to help with the cost of burying some of their fellow nuns were accidentally poisoned by the convent cook, Sister Julia-Child of God, and her pernicious vichyssoise soup.

Mother Superior (Kaleigh Kenney) who believed that she had enough money from the nun's greeting card business, and who purchased a 72 inch flat screen TV with money meant to help bury the 52 deceased nuns, has came up a bit short. To make matters worse, the board of health could any day discover the four nuns still in the freezer.

Mother Superior looks to her "second in command", Sister Mary Hubert (Madeleine Dewey) to try and help her keep track of Sister Mary Amnesia (Carolyn Anderson) whose name says just how forgetful she can be, Sister Robert Anne (Lara Karaalsan) who loves doing impersonations and is a very streetwise nun, and young Sister Mary Leo (Erica Gillish) who hopes to one day be a world famous dancing nun in a tutu.

Needless to say Mother Superior and Sister Hubert have their hands full!

Fosdick Nelson Gallery 'Good Artists Steal' exhibit to open

Artists ALFRED-"Good Steal: Cultural Appropriation & Identity," an exhibition featuring the work of three artists, will be on display at the Fosdick Nelson Gallery, School of Art & Design at Alfred University (AU), Jan. 27-Feb. 22.

The opening reception will be 7-9 p.m. Friday, Jan. 27, in the gallery, which is located in Harder Hall on the Alfred University campus.

The exhibition, curated by Dale Inglett, assistant professor of art at AU, includes painting, collage and video works by artists Susan Fang, Daniel Finch and Hooper Turner.

'This exhibition is centered around the theme of appropriation," said Inglett. "Each of the three artists appropriates popular cultural icons and media to explore rich metaphors of individuality and identity.

"The title itself is taken from a phrase loosely attributed to Picasso: 'Good artists steal; bad artists borrow,'" said Inglett.

(The phrase is also found as "Good artists borrow; great artists steal.")

Fang was born in Taipei, Taiwan, in 1985 and raised in Atlanta, GA. She attended the University of Georgia and the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia, where she earned a Master of Fine Arts (MFA) degree in 2010 and was awarded the Charles Addams Memorial Finch, born in Orlando, FL, in 1971, now lives in Mechanicsburg, PA, with his wife Carrie and two children, Mira and Dominic. He is an associate professor of painting and drawing at Messiah College. His work has been featured numerous times in the national publication, New American Paintings, and he has exhibited extensively across the country, most recently in Atlanta, GA, and La Mirada, CA. He received his MFA in painting and drawing from the University of Georgia.

Turner began his career as a copy painter in the Louvre Museum, then earned his BFA degree from the University of North Carolina in Asheville, and his MFA from the University of Georgia, where he also instructed art studio foundations classes. His work has been included in group exhibitions in New York, Atlanta, and Los Angeles. He has recently had solo exhibitions in Charlotte, New York and Los Angeles. His paintings, drawings and collages are collected internationally, and his book, Mine Not Mine, is included in the Museum of Modern Art's artists' book collection. He lives and works in New York

In the Fisher game, AU held a 58-54 advantage with 2:36 left in the contest, but St. John Fisher rallied and went on an 8-0 run to pull out the win.

Williamson recorded yet another double-double with 12 points and a game-high 14 boards to pace the Saxons. Senior guard Christina Jordan (Cornwall-on-the-Hudson) netted 15 points sinking five shots from behind the arc and Cleary had 13 points, five rebounds, and three steals.

Wrestling: 3-3

The wrestling team gets back on the mat this weekend at they travel to Cornell for the annual NYS Championships. The NYS Championships features athletes from each of the schools in New York that field a wrestling team. The two-day event features some of the top action of the season.

It was off to SJ Fisher this past Saturday to take in some Division III basketball action as the visiting Alfred Saxons were in town to take on the Cardinals in an E8 showdown. Both AU teams, women and men, fell at the hands of Nazareth the previous evening. Arrived a few minutes prior to the game on a frigid afternoon and spotted noted area photographer, Leo Nealon on the floor getting ready to "shoot" the contest. SJ Fisher still plays their home contests in a gym resembling the old YMCA's of the area or a middle school. Quite the homecourt advantage, usually. Settled in to take in the women's play as Coach Jay Murphy has virtually an all new squad from last season. Freshmen and sophomores galore dot the roster. No Lyndsay Murphy playing anymore as her eligibility up but did get a chance to chat with her after the game. The AU ladies fell, 62-58 in a tight game all the way thru as the Saxons had trouble with the SJF press. The AU men came out firing and stunned Coach Kornaker's (AU) troops, 76-62. Good win for the Saxons on this court. AU at 9-4 overall, SJF at 9-6. Early on virtually everyone is (2-2) in men's conference play except 'Naz. In a quirky schedule, the two teams will meet again a week from Saturday in Alfred at the McLane Center. Planning on heading to the game with Nealon, he on assignment, me "always" on assignment according to Dave Snyder!

The Nazareth Golden Flyers men's b-ball team was at (3-1) after they topped Alfred and Elmira at home for their E8 weekend. Nazareth beat visiting Elmira, on Saturday, 89-36. Ouch. How does a D3 men's hoop team only score 36-points in a game and just 12points in the second stanza? Alfred and Elmira are now travel partners with the departure of RIT to the Liberty League.

Had a chance to chat with Coach Spadoni (Webster Schroeder) at the AU-SJF contest on Saturday as Brett Dennis from the Saxons played his high school ball for Spadoni. Also a brief, late chance to talk to Coach Murphy during men's game. A disappointed Murphy as his team is struggling after a quick start.

Tom Spanbauer's men's cage squad at SUNY Cortland is now (10-4) overall on the season and they are at Brockport this coming Tuesday evening. Should get myself in gear and head over there to watch the Red Dragons. "Spanny" the AU coach during the 1994-95 campaign. Been at his alma mater ever since.

Tom Curle's, the legendary Tom Curle, has his SUNY Plattsburgh men's basketball team at (6-7) now after a very slow start to the current season. The Alfred State College Hall of Famer saw his team win two SUNYAC outings after a return from Florida.

Bob Montana's Union College Dutchmen are now at (9-4) to date as his cagers are in the thick of Liberty League play. Union is at RIT in mid-February and will probably wander on over to see his Raegan Ryan of Canisteo-Greenwood and now the Cedarville (Ohio) women's basketball team scored 7-points, had 6-rebounds and dished out 3-assists in recent win over Notre Dame ... of Ohio. Six-rebounds? Yikes! Team is now 9-6 on year.

Joe Q. French's women's softball team at UMBC in Maryland opens play in Virginia at the Lancer Lead-Off tournament in mid-February. UMBC plays about a 40-game slate (roughly) with about 30 of those at home! The "Qua."

The St. Bonaventure men's basketball team is at (9-7) on the year after a big win over Dayton but followed-up by a loss to Xavier. Bonas topped the Flyers, 81-73 and lost to Xavier, 77-64. No word as to whether the 'Traveling Sports Fan" has been at the Reilly Cen-

A-A seniors shine in home finale

Top relay finishes were turned in by Kevin, Allee von Stackelberg, Maddie and Patrick in the 200 free relay (1:45.05) and the demolition of a decade old C-S pool record by the quartet of Patrick, Nik, Maddie and Taylor in the 400 freestyle relay with a time of 3:34.48.

Senior Kevin was a significant contributor to the team for both competitions with excellent swims in the 50 free (25.28) and 100 fly (1:03.47). In addition the other senior on the team -Leanna Walsh executed some fine dives to add points to the team's 98-80 win at C-S and 61-39 win over Canisteo-Greenwood.

Geneva snaps win streak

Geneva defeat the Eagles 104-81 in a hard fought meet on Saturday. This was the Eagle's first regular season defeat in four seasons. Von Stackelberg did set a Geneva pool record and shattered the Alfred-Almond school record in the backstroke with a time of 56.81. A-A's medley relay of Godshalk, von Stackelberg, Greaney, and Cook won the event with a time of 1:47.45. Von Stackelberg place second in the 200 freetyle with a time of

A-A's Greaney took first place in the 200 individual medley with a time of 2:09.30 and in the 100 butterfly with a 56.95. Mc-Connell took third place in the butterfly with a 1:01.73. The 400 freestyle relay team of Godshalk, McConnell, Greaney, and Nik von Stackelberg placed second with a time of 3:34.26.

A-A traveled to Cuba Rushford Tuesday, Jan. 17 and will face Bath-Haverling and Canisteo-Greenwood in a double dual meet at Bath Saturday, Jan. 21. in their regular season finale.

Dugout continued Del Rio from the position and end up with Mike Mularkey? Sure many Buffalo Bills fans got a kick out of that hire.

Received a text from Jim Simboli last week as he was keeping score at a Brockport High School basketball game, Coach Kristy Sherman on the bench, and Bill "Dish" Bowe was officiating the contest. Scary. Bowe of Alfred State hoops during the Kaz Era at the Orvis Activity Center.

Simbo the new owner at Brockport CC ... along with Chark? The LPGA Championship will be at Locust Hill CC again this year, June 7-10.

The "almost as famous" Sumo Tour South outing will be held in the Tampa-St. Pete's area, March 18-24th week.

Barry Larkin (Reds) a Hall of Famer or just the best during his time at shortstop in the NL? The Yanks traded prize catcher/DH Jesus Montero to the Seattle Mariners for young pitcher, Michael Pineda. They also inked ancient hurler, Hiroki Kuroda to a one-year deal. "Good-bye" AJ Burnett? Pat Atwell, former baseball coach at Quincy with the Hawks, says Pineda is a "stud." Hope so!

Janis King was first in her age group (61-65) and 8th woman overall in the Healthy Strides Lake Sumpter Landing 5K in Florida at the Villages. About 400-runners started the event and Big D (disabled list) was not one of them. Surprising.

Former SUNY Geneseo All-American Melissa Johnson-White took 13th in the U.S. Olympic Marathon Trials held this past weekend in Houston. The Naples native had a time of 2:34:33

Ryan Shafer of Elmira took second-place in the PBA World Championship on Sunday. Shafer ... an "Ungawa" look-alike, last won on the bowling tour at the 2003 Empire State Open.

The Boston Bruins have assigned Yannick Riendeau from Reading (ECHL) to Providence (AHL).

Danny "Ainge" Cook ran into "Buggie" ... Shannon Bugman at Swain recently as their respective daughters were in a ski meet. Bugman a key member of the fabled Bandits hoops team at the Oneonta Little Big Man tournaments.

The Alfred-Almond swim "machine" rolls along with records broken all over the place ... at A-A, Geneva and Campbell-Savona. Including one by Patrick Greaney who topped a 29-year old mark held by Cary Schaeberle. Who probably broke the record of Tim Schaeberle to get that. A star-studded senior class at A-A in the pool.

Ended up going (20-15) in the recent college bowl games. Off year but could've been different. Teams I picked ... Utah State, Air Force, Georgia Tech, Georgia and Stanford lost their five games by a combined 11-points and three of those went to OT! Almost at (25-10). Coulda-woulda-shoulda.

Alabama-LSU ... Boring Game, part II.

Jack Bauer returns! Soon to be in production, the 24 movie. Men's basketball: Florida State - 90, North Carolina - 57. Wow. NFL playoffs ... "guess" the Saints won't win SB over the Pats. How about a New England-NJ Giants repeat of a few years back?
