

All are welcome to attend annual Reunion Weekend Craft Show and Sale

5/27/15

The community is invited to stop by Alfred University's annual Reunion Weekend Craft Show and Sale, Saturday, June 13 in the Health and Wellness Center at the McLane Center where more than 30 artisans and collectors from throughout the region are slated to present their works/collections from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. Visitors will find a wide range of art works and products running from terracotta bakeware to stained glass, to paintings and pottery, to quilted items, jewelry, and hand-crafted chocolates. Parking will be available behind the McLane Center gymnasium. To date, some 35 participants, including a number of alumni - Richard Lang of Alfred Station, AU Class of 1973, showing his functional studio pottery; Jude Frechette '76 of Alfred Station with Alfred memorabilia; Linda Huey '93 of Alfred Station displaying pottery; Peter McClain '00 of Alfred with his innovative card game; LuAnn DiPaglia '10 of Almond, bringing jewelry and paintings; and Bethany Dickerson '14 of Johnsonburg, PA, with soaps, bath products, jewelry, prints, and paintings - will be on hand with their wares. There will also be representatives from the Allegany Artisans group including Hanna Juekoff of Rexville and her ceramic wall pieces and jewelry; Peter Midgley of Wellsville with his pottery; Kay Brooks of Belmont and her pottery; Elaine Hardman of Wellsville with pottery, upcycled earrings, and sculptural pieces; Eugenia Frith Meltzer of Alfred Station with jewelry; Len Curran of Alfred Station also exhibiting jewelry; and Karen Tufty-Wisniewski of Andover with terracotta bakeware. The artisans/collectors represented in the show are coming from as far east as Elmira/Corning and Hammondsport, from Salamanca on the west, Holland to the north and Rexville and Johnsonburg, PA to the south.
