

Turkish Representative Is Ceramic Major Here

Inci Altung is a student from Turkey who is now studying Ceramic Engineering at Alfred. Inci was born in December, 1939, in Istanbul, Turkey, where her father is director of Fish Markets of the Municipality of Istanbul. Inci has no brothers or sisters; she lives with her parents in the suburbs of Istanbul.

Inci attended primary school for five years, middle school (comparable to our junior high school) for three years and lycee or high school for three years. Turkish schools place a greater emphasis on mathematics and science and Inci had already studied many subjects on a college level. She has attended Istanbul University as a chemistry major for one year.

Inci first became interested in ceramics when her lycee class visited a ceramics and glass factory. Inci received a Turkish government scholarship to study ceramics at Alfred. Such scholarships are given on the basis of an examination, under Turkish law.

When Inci first came to the United States, she took several courses at the English Language Institute of Queens College in New York City. She then attended summer classes at Alfred.

Inci finds Alfred a very nice place to study but "a little too quiet!" She especially likes the close relationship between students and teachers at AU. Inci's special love is the theatre; she was an avid theater-goer in Turkey and saw several plays in New York. Inci also expects to join the International Club in Alfred.

El Centro Iberoamericano will hold its first meeting Wednesday, September 30, at 7 p.m. in Meyers Hall, Room 29. Old and new members will be welcomed by the club's president, Jerry Pearlman. The Club is open to anyone interested in Spanish culture, customs, and traditions.

Scholarship Trophies Received By Pi Alpha Pi and Tau Delta

Last Thursday, September 24, the first assembly of the year was held. Hank Nester opened the program by introducing President Drake, the speaker.

After a few introductory remarks Drake awarded the scholarship trophies to the fraternity and sorority which had the highest collective index for the past year. This system of awards was established 25 years ago by the faculty to encourage good scholarship among the fraternities and sororities on campus. When a trophy is won for the third time in succession it becomes the permanent possession of the winner. This year Tau Delta Phi obtained the award permanently in the mens division and Pi Alpha Pi obtained it for the second year in succession in the womens division.

Drake said that this year's enrollment shows 1,379 men and women registered for the first semester in all departments. The figures show a slight increase over those of last year. Because of a deliberate effort to keep enrollment down and standards up 400 applicants for admission were rejected last year.

Drake went on to discuss the progress of the new Campus Center saying that the contractors were on schedule and that the building should be completed by December and furnished by January. Thus the beginning of the second semester will be accompanied by the "grand opening" of the new building. Through careful planning lounges, meeting rooms a game room, offices, a kitchen and dining room, snack bar, and a book store have been included within its walls. There will be a director of activities to plan for parties and meetings.

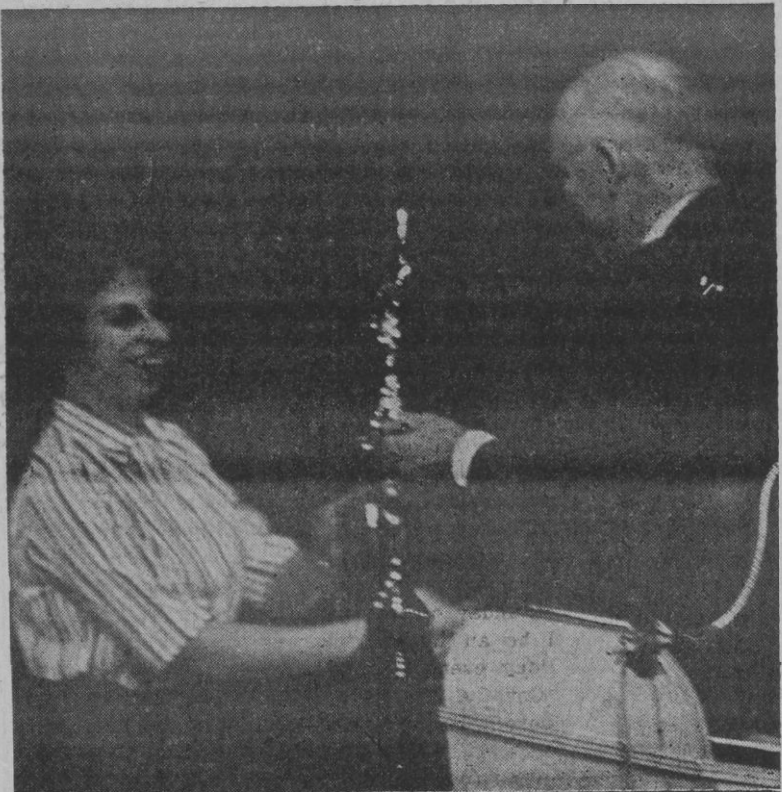

He continued with a historical description of the now demolished Burdick Hall. Plans to raze the building were moved ahead due to the fire last spring and its space is now occupied by a new parking lot. Burdick Hall was constructed in 1846 as a mens dormitory on the site now occupied by Steinhelm and was known as North Hall. In 1869 it was moved to the site on which Kanakadea Hall now stands. In 1895 it was moved for the last time and served in many capacities. At one time the hall was owned by a townsman from who it derived the name Burdick Hall.

Also mentioned were plans for construction by the university. When the new union is completed the old one will be demolished and the parking lot will be extended. The Carnegie Building will be renovated for use as an administration building and a wing will be constructed on the back.

Drake concluded with a message to the freshmen describing the object of a college education. The purpose of a university is to "aid the student to becoming all that he is capable of being" so that he can "lead a full life" as a member of society. He is given an "opportunity for self realization" however like all opportunities it is of no use unless it is taken advantage of.

Student Body's Election Preference Reflected By Public Opinion Survey

by Gary Ostrower

If the 1960 presidential election were to be held today with Adlai E. Stevenson, Democrat, opposing Richard Nixon, a Republican, the former would carry the Alfred student body in lieu of a representative poll on campus. The results at this early date were: Stevenson 50%; Nixon 44%; No opinion 6%.

If the no opinion vote were eliminated, the figures would stack up as: Stevenson 53%; Nixon 47%.

An interesting aspect of the poll concerned an exceptionally high degree of Democratic support for their candidate. Only 4% of those who classified themselves as Democrats preferred Vice President Nixon. On the other hand, 85% of the Republicans supported Nixon while the other 15% backed Stevenson. All no opinion voters considered themselves independent.

No doubt the most striking result of the survey reflected the incidence of independent voters. Of the total group, 30% were Democrats, 32% were Republican, while 38% expressed an independent preference. This independent vote decidedly carries the balance of power.

It must be remembered that this poll has been conducted more than a year before the election. Whether either of the two men will be a candidate is, of course, still a matter of conjecture.

Nurses Back For Senior Year: Nestled 'Neath Sentinel Pines

Alfred's senior nurses are back on campus this semester after spending the last two years in practical training at various hospitals. The largest portion of this period was spent at Corning hospital, where the girls spent ten months studying medical and surgical nursing. At Syracuse, six months were devoted to pediatrics and obstetrics. The nurses went to Willard State Hospital for instruction in psychiatric nursing and to Mount Morris Tuberculosis Hospital for a month's study of that disease. They also spent two months at the Scranton Y.W.C.A. doing outside work in Public Health.

Since their return, the nurses have been busy getting back into the routine of classes outside a hospital and accustoming themselves to the numerous changes which have been made on campus during their absence. This is the final stage in their professional training, and at the completion of their senior year the girls will receive their B.S. degrees.

A.U. Band Sees An Increased Schedule

This year the university band, under the direction of Mr. Smith of the music department, has increased both its membership and schedule of activities.

There is an increase of fifteen new members making a total of thirty instrumentalists. Mr. Smith urges any other students interested in participating in the band to join the group. While any newcomers are welcome, clarinet and coronet players are particularly needed.

Anyone interested in joining the band should contact Mr. Smith either at Greene Hall at 7:30 on Tuesday nights or at Howell Hall during the day. The band rehearses on Tuesday nights.

The band, operating with an expanded concert schedule this year will be playing at the home football games and on moving-up day, as well as giving an assembly program sometime in February.

As the first example of this increase, last Saturday at the football game they played music for the first time before the start of the game. During halftime, to the theme of "Good Luck to the Saxon Warriors," they played such popular tunes as "With a Little Bit of Luck," and "I'm Looking Over a Four Leaf Clover." The program was highlighted by a fire baton solo number performed by majorette Betty Ann Richards.

Democrats to Have Meeting This Week

The organization meeting of the Young Democrats Club will be held this Thursday evening at 8:00 p.m. in Howell Hall.

The Alfred branch of the Young Democrats Club is the local collegiate branch of national party. Active in local, state, and national politics, last year the club gained valuable experience at the grass roots level, during the campaign for Allegany County.

The highlight of this year's activities will be the mock national convention to be held in April. This convention, which is held every four years, is of valuable experience to the student of political science, as well as being significant in the determination of national trends on the young adult level.

During the course of the year, meetings will be held approximately once a month, and will feature speakers, chosen from men prominent in local and state politics, as well as student and faculty panels.

Committee chairmanships will be announced at the meeting on Thursday. All those people who are interested in taking an active part in the club's activities this year are urged to attend this meeting. Club membership is not limited to political science majors.

Frosh Court

All upperclassmen are urged to attend the Frosh Courts which will be held on October 2, and October 18, at 2:00 p.m. in Alumni Hall.

Support the Blue Key Court!

Letters to the Editor

Hazing . . .

Dear Editor:

When the Blue Key welcomed the Freshman class in last week's FIAT, they seemed to play down the great part that frosh hazing plays in the maturation of the new student in Alfred University, that society which is "more mature" than that of high school.

The wearing of the beanie (be it green or gold) is symbolic of the humility which the freshman has as he stands before his more accomplished fellows. It should also be of interest to note that the student enters and leaves the university with his head beneath a cap. Most of all, we should note that the beanie is round and the graduation cap is square. Here we can see physical dramatization of the development of the Alfredian's mind. It is no wonder, then, that our guardians of tradition should see to it that the Frosh wear their beanies.

But even more poignant in the initiation to the mature and studious community of Alfred, are the age-old traditions to be learned by the Freshmen. Such rites and gnostic mysteries can be traced back to the dawn of man's intellectual ability. Can there otherwise be a more sound reason for learning the Alma Mater and the spelling of our illustrious Greek (in both directions) or an indexed command of the Frosh Bible, the divine word of the powers that be?

Obviously, there is no rational reason for making an end to Frosh hazing as some radical units would wish. It is an intimate part of the Alfred Tradition, not to be belittled or sluffed off as trivial. It is a definite and important step towards acceptance by the mature college society. Freshmen should be proud to be the victims of this humiliating period, for it builds up in them the resentment necessary for the continuation and perpetuation of the custom.

There seems to be some confusion over penalties when a woman forgets to sign out.

If a woman fails to sign out and phones the proper representative before 8 p.m., there will be no penalty.

If she fails to sign out and phones the proper representative after 8 p.m., she will receive a warning the first time, and a late-ness every time thereafter.

Paper Written By Professor Smith

At a meeting of the American Sociological Society, which was held in Chicago Sept. 3-5, Dr. Luke M. Smith, Chairman of Alfred's Department of Sociology, in collaboration with two other gentlemen presented a paper entitled "Plant Relocation and Worker Immobility; The Social Structure of An Economic Decision."

Dr. Smith and his associate made the study in Buffalo where the Ford Motor Co. closed down its assembly plant and moved to Lorain, Ohio. The company offered all its employees jobs in the new plant, but it would not assume any moving costs.

Prof. Smith was interested in discovering why some Ford employees were willing to move such a great distance to stay with the company, and why others were not. His final results showed that those who moved had the fewest parental ties in Buffalo, were not very active in local affairs, and probably did not have children in high school. One surprising fact that he discovered was that those who remained behind had the greatest seniority at the plant.

Nyquist to Address Founder's Assembly

Ewald B. Nyquist, Deputy State Commissioner of Education, will address the annual Founder's Day Convocation at Alfred University on October 15.

The event will honor the beginning of Alfred's 102nd year as a state-chartered institution. The charter of 1857 had given a new identity to the educational center that began as a Select School on December 5, 1836 and became Alfred Academy in 1843.

President M. Ellis Drake will confer the Honorary Doctor of Laws upon Commissioner Nyquist at the climax of the ceremony to be held in the Men's Gymnasium at 11 a.m.

Mr. Nyquist has been with the State Education Department since 1951 when he was appointed Assistant Commissioner for Higher Education. In 1955 he was named Associate Commissioner for Higher and Professional Education with supervision over matters relating to colleges, universities and professional schools in New York State, and over regulation of professional practice. He also had general supervision of the State Library, the State Museum and Science Service, the office of the State Historian and the office of the Administrator of the Educational Practice Act.

Since assuming his present post on May 1, 1957, Mr. Nyquist has been the commissioner's chief staff adviser and assistant on state education policy and program development. He has been responsible for coordinating and developing the administration of the Department's many programs and policies and he has coordinated the development of the Department's budget and legislative programs.

A native of Rockford, Illinois, Nyquist graduated from high school there and then entered the University of Chicago where he earned his Bachelor of Science degree and continued study in the field of psychology as a graduate student until 1941. During his graduate years, he was backfield coach to Clark D. Shaughnessy. While a graduate student he also served as clinical psychologist in the Behavior Clinic of the Cook County Criminal Court and simultaneously in the Presbyterian Hospital.

During World War II, Nyquist entered the Navy on a Reserve Commission as an Ensign and served from 1941-45. He now holds the rank of Lieutenant Commander.

Following active service, he became Assistant Director and the Director of University Admissions at Columbia University, the post he held before joining the State Education Department.

Since 1953, Mr. Nyquist has been Chairman of the Commission on Institutions of Higher Education of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, the regional accrediting agency.

A.U.C.A. Will Sponsor Programs On Organized Religion At A.U.

by Peter Elkin

The Alfred University Christian Association, or AUCA as it is more widely known, has been an institution here at Alfred for nearly fifteen years. Formerly known as the Alfred Student Christian Fellowship, it has long sponsored interdenominational programs devoted to the interpretation and discussion of religious principles and ethics; race relations, political responsibilities, and the role of organized religion on the college campus.

The president of the AUCA is an articulate senior named Cliff Scroger, a native of Batavia, New York. He is a student in the College of Ceramic Engineering preparing for a career in the field of glass technology. Cliff told this reporter that he hopes, as part of the AUCA program for the coming year, to see organized an Inter-Protestant Fellowship between Alfred University and the Alfred Agricultural and Technical Institute.

The AUCA has, as its faculty advisor, Dr. James Cox, Alfred's newly appointed Assistant Professor of philosophy and religion. Regular meetings will be held every Sunday evening at 8:00 p.m. However, the place of these meetings was not known prior to the publication of this article.

In addition to the Sunday night meetings there will be an informal open house, Friday evenings, at the home of Dr. Cox, 101 Main Street. The open house will commence at 8:00 p.m., and will consist of informal discussions on problems vital to the individual and the greater college community. Dr. Cox and the faculty member co-host welcome your attendance regardless of your religious affiliation.

Vice-President in charge of rushing and pledging, Stanley Oransky was the next speaker. He gave the new men an idea of the pledge period during which a pledge must put in twenty hours of service to either the school or the community or both.

Any men that are interested in becoming members of Alpha Phi Omega are cordially invited to attend our next open meeting which will be on Thursday, October 1 in the Book-easy in the Student Union.

Harriers Open Saturday With Cortland, Canisius

For the past few days, the Alfred student body has been looking forward to the opening of the football season. At the same time, the cross country team has been quietly preparing for its campaign. Seldom recognized or appreciated by the average student, the 1959 Harrier squad has put in numerous hours of tedious practice grooming itself for its opener with Cortland and Canisius, October 3, at Cortland.

Men Starting Intramurals

This year, intramural sports at Alfred University will be highlighted by the addition of two new teams. These teams, representing the boys' dormitories, will be added to the six existing ones, representing each of the fraternities on campus. One of the entrants will be a combination of both Cannon and Barresi Halls, the other will be a representative of Bartlett Hall.

The one sour note, which arose in connection with the intramural football season, was student griping over the restriction of body contact. The obvious reason for the change is that in past years, "weekend football players," because of insufficient conditioning, were getting into far too many accidents. As a matter of fact, they were involved in more accidents than the varsity.

The other intramural sports which commence this week are bowling and tennis. The bowling teams will meet every Tuesday night at 9:00. The Tennis Tournament received such an overwhelming number of entrants, that the doubles will have to be postponed until spring. All singles participants should check the bulletin board in the gymnasium for the names of the players they will oppose. Any first round matches that are not completed by Friday will result in the forfeiture of both participants' right to continue in the Tournament.

The addition of two new teams plus the overwhelming reception received by the Tennis Tournament should mark the 1959-1960 season as one of the most keenly competitive intramural sports periods in Alfred's history.

Hillel Group

During the next two weeks, Hillel Club will be conducting the High Holiday Services, in Susan Howell Hall. Rosh Hashonah services will be held October 2 at 7:30 p.m., and October 3 and 4 at 10:00 a.m. Yom Kippur services will be held October 11 at 7:30 p.m. and October 12 at 10:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. Following the 4:00 p.m. service there will be an interlude in the fast. Hillel will hold its first meeting of the year on October 17. New officers will be elected and activities planned for the rest of the year.

I.F.C. Meeting Will Be Tonight

The Interfraternity Council held its first meeting on Tuesday at Kappa Nu. Arrangements have been made to hold a meeting of all members of IFC, and president and rush chairmen of all the fraternities at Kappa Psi tonight at 7. Preliminary plans for the Interfraternity Ball were also discussed at the meeting.

Advanced Cadets Score At ROTC Camp In N.C.

This past summer 34 students of the Alfred University ROTC advanced corps attended summer camp at Fort Bragg, North Carolina. Of the 26 Universities and Colleges represented at Fort Bragg, our men had the highest percentage of experts with the M-1 rifle. This year more of our cadets placed in the upper one third of the company than in many previous years. The top three AU cadets were Douglas Klosen, Eric Kluwe and Benjamin Schneider. While at Fort Bragg the cadets were able to put their on-campus learning into practical application. Their program consisted of the firing of both crew served and individual weapons, land mine warfare, map reading, first aid, tactical field training and sanitation. The Distinguished Military Students for the coming year are: Earl Conabee, Stephen Kelley III,

Dr. Sass Returns As Geology Professor

Daniel B. Sass, Professor of Geology, has returned to the Alfred campus after a three-year leave of absence. A native of Rochester, Sass attended the University of Rochester, where he received his B.A. and

M.S. degrees. He taught geology here from 1952-1956. From 1956 to 1959, Professor Sass did graduate work in geological sciences at the University of Cincinnati, where he received his doctorate. His studies there concentrated on paleontology. Professor Sass' major field of interest. Professor Sass did most of his field work in the region of Warren, Pennsylvania, where he studied various fossils in the Corry Sandstone, a rock formation of lower Mississippian age. His thesis concerned his studies made in this area. Asked for his opinion of Alfred, Professor Sass replied that "I like Alfred and am very happy to be back." He is pleased with the changes wrought during the time he was away, among these being the new quarters of the Geology Department, and remarked that "I would like nothing better than to see an expansion of the Geology Department in coming years."

SIGN OF GOOD TASTE

Cortland Defeats Saxons, 12-2 In Season's Opener At Home

by Eric Harrison

Alfred right halfback Jim Kornish skirted right end early in the first quarter Saturday night for an apparent Saxon touchdown; however the 20-yard gallop was nullified by a holding penalty. On the ensuing play, left half Steve Crossman fumbled and Cortland recovered on their own 31. Cortland quarterback Gene Fitzpatrick fad-ed back for a pass, and when he found no receivers open, ran down-field to the right, picking up block-ers as he went along, rambled 69 yards for a score.

This play proved to be the turn-in point in Alfred's home opener at Merrill Field. Outmanned and supposedly out-classed, Alfred con-trolled the ball most of the game and statistically outdid the visitors in almost every category.

Alfred received the opening kick-off with Steve Crossman taking the ball on the five and running it back to his own 28. Following two line bucks, Cornish swept end to the Saxon 46 for a first down. Two plays later, quarterback Dick De-Mott pitched an aerial to Cross-man who was downed on the Cort-land 42 for another first down. A few plays later Crossman, run-ning around right end, fumbled on the 34 and Cortland recovered.

The Red Raiders, unable to pene-trate the Saxon defense, were forc-ed to punt. The Purple and Gold proceeded to march down the field 65 yards to pay dirt. Following the recall of the score and Fitzpat-rick's run, which came at 11:52, the extra point attempt was block-ed. The quarter ended with no further scoring.

Early in the second quarter, De-Mott fumbled on the Saxon 30 and Cortland recovered on the 29. Another quarterback, Thomas Decker, hit left half Fred Kirschenheiter on the 20 with a pass near the side-line; Kirschenheiter ran the rest of the way for Cortland's second score. Attempting the two point conversion, Decker pitched another pass to Kirschenheiter but the play was broken up.

Cortland threatened again min-utes later when they drove from their 38 to the Saxon 11. Alfred's forward wall held gamely and forc-ed the visitors to try a field goal from the 22. The attempt, made by tackle Joe Mayer, was off to the right and the half time arithmetic showed Cortland with a twelve nothing advantage.

Kornish ran the second half kickoff out to the 30. Three plays later, Joe Yannuzzi kicked out of bounds on the Cortland 48. The Dragons moved to the Saxon 30. On a fourth and one situation, Ron Pagan recovered a fumble to squelch the Dragon threat.

With Alfred in possession of the ball, a Kelly aerial was intercept-ed by Decker who took the ball on the Saxon 31. Two plays later, Decker hit halfback Dennis John-son on the Alfred 14. The play, however, was called back because Cortland was guilty of illegal pro-cedure.

Alfred, unable to move, kicked into the Cortland end zone. The third quarter ended with the visi-tors in possession of the ball on their own 24.

On the first play of the final quarter, Crossman intercepted a Fitzpatrick toss on the Alfred 49. The Purple and Gold drove to the 22 but a penalty and a loss put them back at mid-field. Yannuzzi kicked into the end zone and Cort-land got the ball on the 20. The Alfred defense held again and Frank Morris punted to the Cort-land 48 where the ball rolled dead. The ball had to be kicked over again as Cortland was once again guilty of illegal procedure. The following kick bounced dead on the 28 and the Saxons, sparked by some fine runs by Cornish, drove to the 6. Crossman moved the ball to the 3 on two carries and on third down, Cornish brought it to the 2. With fourth down and goal from that point, Cornish was stop-ped at the line of scrimmage.

Cortland immediately decided to punt out of danger. Dominick Co-pozzi, standing deep in his end zone, fumbled the ball and recover-ed it giving Alfred a safety at 12:50 of the final quarter.

The ame ended with a desper-ate DeMott aerial being intercept-ed.

Outstanding for the home forces were right halfback Jim Kornish, tackles Alex Zoldan and Ron Pagan and right end Joe Yannuzzi. For Cortland, quarterback Fitz-patrick, left end and co-captain Charles Prettyman and center Bill Perry gave a fine performance.

The game, though counted as a defeat, must be considered a tri-bute to Coach Alex Yunevich, his coaching staff, and his fighting band of 25 Warriors.

With a couple of breaks going the other way, the outcome could very well have been reversed. A promising season is definitely in the offing with six contests left on the schedule.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

by Neal Gantcher and Ira Rubenstein

The score was 12-2. Although Alfred was on the short end of the score, the Saxons gained more yardage, completed more passes and had more first downs than Cortland.

Excuses after a game never explain or help the situation. Excuses for this game aren't necessary. The A.U. squad played the game with a weak bench against a deep Red Raider squad.

Coach Alex Yunevich had his boys "up" for the game. They were playing as a unit. A few tough breaks were enough to slow the Saxon drives. A recalled touchdown, an inter-cepted pass and a Baltimore Colt-like defense by Cortland on the six yard line were the stumbling blocks.

There should be no shame felt for Saturday's defeat. It was the type of game that could have gone either way. A stronger bench and more experience for some of the players who were playing new positions this year might have been enough to reverse the score. The Cortland game should have helped to give some of the needed experience to the players as individu-als and to the team as a unit.

Speedy halfback Jim Kornish, who was out of action last year turned in a sparkling performance for Alfred. Cutting inside tackle, sweeping the ends or reversing his direction, Kornish kept the offense rolling. Coupled with the other fast halfback Steve Crossman, the A.U. team should show some ex-citing running in future games.

Dick DeMott, the starting quarterback who played his first game at that position showed that he will give a good account of himself in the future. Steve Kelley, who looks more familiar to Saxon fans in track shoes and short pants turned in a creditable performance. Although he is light, Kelley is fast and shifty and should keep the defense guessing as to whether he'll run or throw.

On the line, tackles Ron Pagan and Alex Zoldan were con-stantly cutting through the Cortland defense. As a result of their defensive prowess the Cortland team was forced to go to the outside. Converted end Joe Yannuzzi was another standout for Alfred. Besides snaring two long passes, Yannuzzi crashed through on defense to pin big losses on the Cortland squad.

What should be gratifying to Coach Yunevich and his team is the fact that they have the entire Alfred student body rooting for them. The fans understood Saturday night's game and without a doubt this team is going to get the full support that it deserves.

This week the squad goes on the road as they play Juniata on the latter's field. Although it will be a tough game the Sax-on Warriors undoubtedly will give a good account of them-selves.
