Susan B. Anthony letter to AU librarian comes home

ALFRED-In December, Alfred University Librarian and Archivist Laurie Lounsberry Meehan (AU learned that a letter significant the institution's heritage was being offered for sale by an on-line dealer of rare autographs.

Thanks to the efforts of seven members of the University's Board of Trustees, the 117-year-old letter written by noted women's rights activist Susan B. Anthony was soon on its way back home to the AU campus.

The letter was written in 1903 from Anthony to then University librarian Edward Mulford Tomlinson. Tomlinson, who received an honorary degree from AU in 1904, had asked for books to add to the library's collection and Anthony wrote a letter in response, telling Tomlinson she would donate a copy of the fourth volume of the six-volume History of Woman Suf-

The significance of the communication between Anthony and Tomlinson, and the relationship Anthony had with Alfred University, cannot be overstated. Anthony was well aware of the role Alfred University had played in advancing equal rights for women, as the first co-educational institution of higher education both to admit women and allow them to pursue the same full course of studies offered to male students.

In 1888, Anthony had presented the first three volumes of History of Woman Suffrage Jonathan Allen, Alfred University's second president. Abigail herself was a staunch women's rights advocate. Currently, Herrick Library has the full six-volume set.

AU Trustee Mike Carey (AU '99) read about the 1903 letter's existence and came up with the idea of acquiring it. He then reached out to six of his colleagues on the Board: Carolyn Clark (AU '90), vice chair; Greg Connors (AU '92), chair; Steve Heine (AU '81); Kristen Klabin ('92); Kevin Livingston ('93); and Eric Zuckerman ('03).

Together the group of trustees underwrote the cost of acquiring the letter, which was presented to AU President Mark Zupan during last week's Board of Trustees meeting in New York City. Mike transported the letter from Utah (where he lives and works) to New York, keeping it safe in a hand-made carryon suitcase.

The creativity that Mike displayed in making the protective suitcase evidences the soundness of the engineering training that he received at AU while manifesting the institution's Maker Culture.

The Susan B. Anthony letter, framed and protected with UV-resistant glass used by museums, will be on display in Carnegie Hall as part of Alfred University's permanent collection

No one knows how or when the 1903 letter from Anthony to Tomlinson left the University campus, but it eventually

And, thanks to the efforts of Mike Carey and a number of letter is now back where it belongs: on the AU campus, with special thanks to Laurie

NATIONAL AMERICAN WOMAN SUFFRAGE ASSOCIATION MEMBER NATIONAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN

OFFICE HONORARY PRESIDENT-17 MADISON ST., ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 18,

E. M. Tomlinson, A. H.,

Alfred, New York.

My Dear Sir:-

Of course I will send you Vol. 1V, cloth, of the Mistory of Woman Suffrage to complete your set. I do not know, but I rather think I presented the first three volumes to Mrs. Allen twenty years ago.

Have you a set of my Life and Work; you ought to have it so every student could find it on your shelves when he comes to the inevitable moment of writing a composition on the question of woman's rights

Alfred was one of the first places that I visited in 1852 and I have watched your institution with a great deal of interest ever since and I hope now, that its best friends, Mr. and Mrs. Allen are gone, it will proceed on the even tenor of its way. I do not suppose the question of segregating the sexes has ever been thought of in your college It is pitiful to see how chicago University with Dr. Harper at its head is setting an example of segregation. Did you notice that instead of increasing his number or young men of the city and from the East he is 700 short of as many as he had last year? I should think that would be a lesson to him; but none are so bling as those who will not see. suppose he will not charge the lessening of the number of students to his invidious action with regard to women.

Sincerely yours,

Ausar A. Anthony

Wellsville plant to close; Borrello vows to help

WELLSVILLE–Upon learning that the former Dresser Rand plant in Wellsville has announced a closure date of April 24, Senator George M. Borrello (57th District) expressed concern for the employees and vowed to work on securing another manufacturer for the site.

While acknowledging that market changes and Siemens' purchase and restructuring of Dresser Rand were factors in the sale of its government business to Curtiss-Wright and subsequent closure of the Wellsville plant, Senator Borrello also laid blame at the feet of New York's heavy handed "tax and regulate" policies.

"New York is simply not competitive when it comes to attracting and retaining jobs. Its unfriendly business climate, high taxes, unnecessary bureaucracy and overregulation are almost always factors when companies decide to close or move manufacturing to other states," said Senator Borrello. "Curtiss-Wright is moving its production of steam turbines to Charleston, South Carolina, where they can operate more efficiently and cost-effectively.

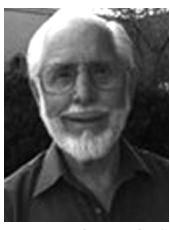

"Fortunately, Siemens was able to transfer many employees from its Wellsville plant to Dresser Rand in Olean. But this closing will still impact 149 employees at the Wellsville site," he added. "These are highly skilled, good paying jobs. Dresser-Rand and its employees have been central to Allegany County's economy for more than 100 years.

"In the coming weeks, I will be working with state and local economic development officials to explore opportunities for attracting another employer to this site. Allegany County has many assets including a skilled workforce, educational institutions that are strengthening its jobs pipeline and a wonderful quality of life. That work starts today.

Str8 Eight tournament set for Saturday, Feb. 8

ALFRED-After a two month hiatus, Str8 Eight tournaments are back with the return of the students. A slight change to scheduling is occurring as the tournaments will now be held quarterly-on the 8th in February, May, August (the big one!), and November.

At the last tournament (in November), Peter was out of town coaching several local Bible quizzers in Ohio so the event was run by Drake Lee. Coincidentally-or perhaps notDrake finished the night at the top of the table and took home the prize. Perhaps there should be a different "guest" host each month to spread the prizes around!

February's tournament will begin at 8 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 8 in the Terra Cotta Coffeehouse, so be sure to come out and play with him for an evening of free, family-style fun! Visit http://str8-eight.com for more information on how to play.

What's Valentine's Day without chocolate? Whenever I decide to make something for Valentine's Day, it has to be chocolate. Here's a really easy recipe that can make some rather spectacular looking candies for the ones you love. It's also fun to make and the children could help.

Hershey's European Style Chocolate Truffles 1/2 c. whipping cream

2 1/2 c. confectioners' sugar 1 1/2 tsp. vanilla 1/2 c. Hershey's European Style Cocoa 1/2 tsp. almond extract (optional)

Melt butter; stir in cocoa. Cool. In large mixer bowl combine cocoa mixture with confectioners' sugar, gadually add cream, vanilla and almond extract, if desired, blending well. Chill until firm. Shape into 1-inch balls. Balls may be shaped around whole blanched almonds. Roll balls in confectioners sugar. Cover and chill until firm o freeze up to 4 weeks. Roll in final coating before serving: combine 2 T. confectioners' sugar and 2 T. Hershey's European Style Cocoa. Makes about 3 1/2 dozen. Truffles can be rolle din other things also, such as colored sprinkles.)

Almond vies for HGTV Hometown Makeover

Dear Editor,

What a busy two weeks this has been, with so many people to thank!

On January 23rd, Linda Staiger posted a notice that Erin and Ben Napier of HGTV are offering a Hometown Makeover. In this, we saw an opportunity for the Almond Library, which needs about $125,000 worth of urgent, necessary repairs and improvements in order to continue serving into the 21st Century, as well as for the entire community to get a facelift. There was no time to waste. Our application, with a write-up about the town, five photos, and a video, must be submitted this week.

I would like to publicly thank everyone who helped! First and foremost, all the community members who regularly support and use the Library, and all who came for our community photo on the front steps. (And to you, Sir,

To the Editor "Only through the open and unhampered clash of contrary opinions can truth be found. -Glenn Fran for a stack of particularly appropriate Alfred Suns to use in the picture-something truly unique about the Alfred-Almond Community!)

Next, Nick Davis of Genesee Valley Media, whose advice laid the framework for the project. Then, all who attended meetings, made suggestions, or agreed to be interviewed, including John Meehan, Mayor, Dan Hegarty, Deputy Town Supervisor, Keith Stanley and Bill Ells from the Planning Board, Donna Ryan, Historical Society Secretary & Past President, Pauline Burnes, Joy Stuart, Barb Welch, and many others.

Natalie and Tom Norris recorded the voice-over script, while Brooke and Lauren Norris assisted with an impromptu recording studio. Both the Town and the Village of Almond provided financial support.

And finally, extra-special thanks to Michael Ilasi, Vav Vavrek, and their students in the Digital Animation and Media department at Alfred College, especially State Matthews, Bryan Miles Schulte, and Devon Wayman, who have taken on production of our video. They have the daunting task of selecting the best of the best from six hours of recording and photography work and condensing it into a cohesive three-minute video.

We are competing with small towns and cities from across the nation. We know that our chances of winning are slim. But "you can't win if you don't enter!

Thanks again to all! Susan Steere, President Almond 20th Century Club

Djya hear? PETA is at it again: Hassling Phil and his kin.

All that reading's not sharp'ning his ears, And might just be giv'n' 'im idears... Such as hiring an agent and lawyer And threatening to sue his employer, And eventually also the state, To continuously fill up his plate With caviar...truffles...foie gras—

Says PETA: "Take Phil by the snout And push the old lazy-bones out To a world that is cold and cruel Where a "feast" is a dish of cold gruel, To a world that is cruel and cold And be forced there to live till he's old In snowy and wintry conditions, His favorite—his go-to—predictions: Of his medicine, give him a taste-Conditions he never has faced. ALFRED UNIVERSITY COHEN GALLERY

Robin Caster Howard's work will be exhibited

ALFRED–The Cohen Gallery, 55 N. Main St., will present an exhibition of ceramic art and drawings by Robin Caster Howard, beginning with a reception Thursday, Feb.13 from 5-8pm and remaining on view until March 1.

Robin Caster was born in Brooklyn in 1951, a descendent of Russian and Polish immigrants. She received her BFA from Massachusetts College of Art in 1984 and her MFA from the New York College of Ceramics at Alfred University in 1986.

For several years, while living in New York City, she developed a jew-elry business, selling her hand-crafted work to museums and boutiques. In 1993, she began working at Alfred University, initially as an assistant to the then-director of the Ceramic Museum of Art and subsequently as Assistant Dean of the School of Art and Design, where she remained until her retirement in 2016.

Since then, she has been working full-time in her Alfred studio. She and her husband, Ben Howard, Emeritus Professor of English at Alfred University, are residents of Alfred.

The rich textures, playful colors and intuitive process in her work are at once fresh and skillful. "For years I have included images of birds and flowers in my work," she says. "I have also explored the themes of death and loss. In the past few years, however, as the presence of an environmental crisis has become more immediate, the presence of nature—and the existential threat to nature as we know it—has become more prominent in

The Cohen Gallery exhibits the work of Alfred University alumni, faculty, and visiting artists and provides Alfred University students with hands-on experience in arts administration, community development, marketing and public relations, design, and management. Students assist in all facets of the exhibitions, from designing the space to preparing promotional materials and acting as docents during the shows.

The Cohen Gallery seeks to create opportunities for students, faculty, and alumni to engage in the professional activities of curating and organizing art exhibitions from the ground up, thus providing valuable experience in the business aspects of art. The Gallery also provides a supportive environment for exhibitions that serve regional constituencies, such as regional arts councils, public schools, and exchanges between regional art programs at the university level.

Cohen Gallery hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday to Friday, Thursday until 7 p.m. and weekend hours from 12-4 p.m.

Nutrition in a Nutshell

Vision for the Season

The beginning of 2020 is a natural time to refresh my vision and plan for Thriving Health. It is, however, not simply the beginning of a new calendar year, but the beginning of a new season for me personally. Many of you read my article, "My Christmas Blessings," in which I shared my engagement news. Entering engagement and now planning a May 2020 wedding has launched me into an exciting new season. It will impact the vision for Thriving Health.

One of the adventures of operating my own business is that it ebbs and flows with my life; contours to my passions and pursuits. This is something I am learning to embrace, as it could be easier for me to plow ahead with past plans that no longer fit a current season. Instead, I intend to purposely grow with the season and allow my business to benefit from change, rather than try to fit something old into something new.

I am learning a fresh excellence as a practitioner as I narrow my focus to maintain and strengthen what I've built, rather than continue to develop new curriculum. The first three years of my business were full of exploration and pioneering. Now, my vision for 2020 is to invest more into what I have already established: weekly nutrition articles, private clientele, 5-week RESTART programs, 3- week Kid's Restart, and an annual special Holiday Dinner Party. You will also benefit from several things that I have been cultivating behind the scenes in 2019, and am now ready to launch in 2020:

My new podcast *Real Life with Maria and Kristina. This is a weekly podcast (which includes a full episode published on Tuesdays and a fun minisode on Fridays) in which we have conversations on real life: nutrition, farming, business, and strengths of our community: herbalism, homeschooling, and more! We have already received fantastic feedback from our listeners and are excited to continue to produce this content!

Specialty in women and family health education (ie: hormonal, preconception, and fertility health). I am working with more and more clients, women and couples, to optimize their health with nutritional therapy for family planning or to support hormonal concerns. My plan is to offer education through classes and workshops in the fall of 2020/beginning of 2021. Some of this will include collaboration with Alfred's clinical herbalist, Mark Tulk.

This second development has definitely been the fruit of the current season. As I get closer to growing a family of my own, my passion for family health has intensified.

Certainly, as my wedding draws closer and I dive into married life, more direction will unfold for my business. Although Thriving Health will change, it will grow because it is an extension of who I am-not just a Nutritional Therapist by vocational choice, but by passion and lifestyle. Even in transitions, who I am will not change. My passion to teach and impart nutrition continues to grow.

I cannot tell you how excited I am for this next season! I anticipate the pleasure I'll have a year from now, when I look back and reflect on how this will all unfold. Thank you for being part of the journey!

The DIY Farmer's Wife Approach

By KRISTINA SNYDER Alfred Sun Columnist

DoItYourself Dusting Spray DIY DUSTING SPRAY

It's been a mild winter for us so far, however we are still running the wood stove and that seems to create a lot of dust. I started using this spray while dusting and it seems to keep things less dusty for longer in between cleaning. Give it a try, also I would love to hear from you what are your best tricks for keeping the dust down in the wintertime? What You Need:

*spray bottle (1 quart size)

*2T olive oil

*1 cup vinegar

*(optional) 10 drops of citrus essential oil

*1/3c water

Pour ingredients one at a time into spray bottle using a funnel. Screw on the nozzle and shake before using. Dust liberally!

If you have a household tip to share or questions for The Farmer's Wife, e-mail: Kristinamariesnyder@gmail.com or write her at: The Farmer's Wife, 1724 Randolph Road, Alfred Station, NY 14803.

AU Athletics to host WinterFest

ALFRED-Alfred University Athletics, in conjunction with Project Play Western New York and the YMCA of the Twin Tiers, announces its inaugural Saxon WinterFest, to be held at the James A. McLane Center and the Joyce and Walton Family Center for Health and Wellness on Saturday, Feb. 15.

For the past two years, Alfred University Athletics has held a free 'Community Day' event, which brought children from across Allegany and Steuben counties onto campus to promote sports and health education, while enjoying the men's and women's basketball doubleheader at the Terry S. Galanis Family

This year, AU has continued its relationship with the YMCA of the Twin Tiers and will team up with Project Play Western New York for a revamped day of free events, leading into the men's and women's basketball doubleheader against Hartwick College, beginning at 2 p.m.

all attendees, runs from 12 p.m. to 4 p.m., and will include sports stations from 12p.m., and community stations throughout the afternoon. The sports stations will give kids a chance to play basketball, football, lacrosse, and track and field-related games with Alfred University student-athletes and coaches. There will also be arts and craft stations, a bounce house, a photo booth and other free play activities for kids. There is also an opportunity for community organizations to set up tables in the McLane Center. For more information and to sign up for a table, please contact AU Head Tennis Coach Jordan Crouch at crouch@alfred.edu before Wednesday, Feb. 12.

During the men's and women's basketball doubleheader there will be in-game contests, raffles, and giveaways, as well as halftime entertainment.

Project Play Western New York envisions a community in which all children have the The event, which is free for opportunity to be active through sports. Every childregardless of location, income or ability – should have access to fun and fulfilling physical activities that build confidence and set them on a path for lifelong success. Project Play WNY is driven and funded by the Ralph C. Wilson, Jr. Foundation's Youth Sports & Recreation focus area, in partnership with the Community Foundation for Greater Buffalo.

The YMCA of the Twin Tiers is a longtime community-centered organization that looks to nurture the potential of youths by promoting healthy living and fostering a sense of social responsibility. Its programs also help to strengthen community bonds throughout the Twin Tiers.

SECURE Act: How Could This New Law Impact Your Retirement Planning?

Rule changes in the Setting Every Community Up for Retirement Enhancement - the SECURE Act – took effect on January 1, 2020. There are various ways these rules could impact your retirement plan. Here's what you should know:

Changes in the timing of contributions and

Two of the most important changes create the potential to build more savings in a traditional IRA and let you keep your money longer in a tax-advantaged account:

 The SECURE Act eliminates the age limit on making contributions to a traditional IRA. Previously, contributions could not be made after age 70½. Effective this year, there is no age limit on contributions to a traditional IRA.

 The age at which you are first required to take minimum distributions from a traditional IRA or workplace savings plan has been raised from 701/2 to 72. This could help your retirement funds last longer and generate tax savings. The rule applies to those reaching age 70½ in 2020 or later. If you reached that milestone in 2019, you are still bound to begin required minimum distributions after reaching

Enhancements for workplace plans

The SECURE Act includes enhancements to 401(k) plans:

• Employers receive greater tax incentives to automatically enroll employees into their retirement plan. Automatic enrollment tends to encourage participation in a plan.

Annuity options can now be offered in more workplace retirement plans. Annuities offer a way to turn retirement savings into a stream of steady income that can continue throughout your life. That tends to replicate the effect of traditional employer pension plans, which are available to fewer workers today.

Workplace retirement plans are now more accessible to part-time workers. Employers are required to offer participation to those who work either 1,000 hours throughout the year or have three consecutive years with 500 hours of service (employees must be age 21 or older to be eligible).

More flexibility for withdrawals

There are new provisions that allow penalty-free withdrawals from a traditional IRA or workplace savings plan of up to $5,000 per parent following the birth or adoption of a child. While such an early withdrawal avoids the 10% penalty, taxes will still be due on the distribution. It may be best to keep this money targeted specifically to meet your retirement income needs, but the new law gives you more flexibility.

Elimination of "stretch" IRAs

Previously, if you inherited an IRA or 401(k), you could "stretch" your distributions and tax payments out over your single life expectancy. Many people have used "stretch" IRAs and 401(k)s as reliable income sources. Now, for IRAs inherited from original owners who have passed away on or after January 1, 2020, the new law requires many beneficiaries to withdraw assets from an inherited IRA or 401(k) plan within 10 years following the death of the account holder. Spouse beneficiaries, nonspouse beneficiaries who are no more than 10 years younger than the IRA owner and nonspouse beneficiaries who are disabled or chronically ill will continue to be able to stretch their IRAs over their lifetime.

Consult with a professional

What do these changes mean for you? Be sure to consult with your financial advisor and tax professional to determine how best adjust your retirement income plans accordingly.

The Upland Gardener By M.L. WELLS A man in his garden never grows old. Thomas Jefferson once wrote, "A man in his garden never grows old." This is very true in the mind, not necessaily so in the body! As one grows older and hopefully wiser, what can we do so we elders can still labor in our gardens?

One obvious chore which can be reduced or even eliminated is tilling or spading. I once turned over by hand all of the veggie garden, 1200 square feet 15 or so years ago. I asked, "Why am I spading the paths?" A few years later, I raised the two-foot wide beds in the garden, tried not to walk on them. By not disturbing the vertical distribution of the life in the soil, all those little creatures remain happy and productive, keeping your soil healthy and productive. Last year I moved the compost heap into the garden - a 7' x 5' space. Now any nutrient run-off enriches the garden and not te adjacent lawn.

For almost forever I have mulched with two to six inches of old hay or leaves or pine needles. This has reduced the time spent weeding and watering.

I used to start many seeds indoors in Mach - move then out to the cold frame come April - finally transplant them into place come May. Now I sow most flowers in place in late April to late May. With the 20-day longer frost free period, there is less need to start seeds so early. Another solution of course, if you can afford it (and find one) is to hire a young thing to do the heavy lifting. What ever you do, giving up gardening is not an option.

50 Years Ago, February 6, 1970

D. Chris Withers, director of alumni programs at Alfred University since 1968, has submitted his resignation effective March 31. He has accepted the post of director of annual giving at the University of Richmond, Richmond, Va. He will take up his duties there April 1..

Snow sculptures, intercollegiate athletic events, a gala ball, and "Your Father's Mustache" are all part of this year's annual Winter Weekend at Alfred State College. Even with Monday's rain there was sufficient snow left to assure that the tradition of snow sculptures, which began in 1948, will continue this year. However, members of the student committee in charge of the big weekend would just as soon three or four inches of new snow later this week to provide a plentiful supply. Through the years, thousands of people have visited the Alfred campus on Winter Weekend to view the ice creations which the students spend long hours perfecting...The judges, Mrs. David Huntington, Dr. Warren Bouck, Miss Pamela Winfield, Alfred Mayor Herman Sicker, and Professor Francis Hogan, will select the top three entries...this year's Winter Weekend theme, "Luv Is..."

Alfredians—Word has been received that Mr.

and Mrs. Wesley Parish have arrived in Scottsdale, Ariz., Jan. 24. They will spend an indefinite time living in a trailer camp there. They visit the Truman Parish family frequently...Mrs. Burdett Burdick is convalescing at her home from a factured knee sustained in a fall on the ice near her home... Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Rase spent the weekend in Rochester where they attended the Children's Concert of the Rochester Philharmonic and visited the Strasenburg "Planetarium."

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Butts of Alfred have announced the engagement of their daughter, Becky Lane, to Craig Allyn Prophet of Waltham, Mass. Mr. Prophet is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Prophet of Waltham. The bride-to-be is a 1966 graduate of Alfred-Almond Central School and is a senior English major at Alfred University. Mr. Prophet is a 1964 graduate of Waltham Senior High School and a 1968 graduate of Alfred University. He is presently earning a master's degree at Boston University in advertising design. A March 21 wedding is planned in the Alfred Seventh Day Baptist Church.

Alfred Station scored its 8th straight win with no losses, with a 59-32 victory over St. Brendan's. Tim Giedlin, the league's leading scorer, scored a career high was 33 points, hitting on 16 of 26 shots. Joe Lemoine also had a career high of 20 points for the losers. In other action, Alfred Union kept its championship hopes alive by downing Almond Union 37-32. Dave Snyder scored 19 and Gary Reid 12, while Al Woodworth scored 14 for Almond, which was eliminated from title play.

In England, lords and ladies are titled. In America, books are now, more and more often, said to be titled (not entitled) thus-and-so. We are courage by this style of dropping a prefix to deavor to liven our prose, accordingly. We become amored, not to say tranced, by the idea. Space will be saved, and diction will be hanced. If one writes, "Closed find check," one is not bothered by deciding how to spell a prefix—it has gone. Perhaps, the Congress will act a law, dropping "en" and letting us joy brevity. However, such a change is not to be visage in the light of the prolixity of today, when we say, "analyzation" for analysis, "miniaturizing" for smalling, and "containerization" for packaging.

Floyd Cartwright, 85, of Hartsville RD 1, died Thursday afternoon, Jan. 29, 1970, at his home. He had been a farmer most of his life. He was a member of the Alfred Station Seventh Day Baptist Church. Alfred-Almond Central School student Hilarie C. Lloyd was recently featured in an issue of "Rock & Gem Jr." as a winner of the magazine's "Coolest Rock Collectors" contest. Daughter of Gary and Mary Jane Lloyd of Elm Valley Road, Andover, the 14-year-old Hilarie was named the 1st place winner in the upper division contest, for ages 12-18. The contest called for collectors to write about their rock collection and send a photograph of themselves...

Notes from Palmiter Hill (By Rev. Albert N. Rogers) A squirrel chewing on maple buds caught my attention. He has four sets of claws and he used all four plus his tail for balance and bracing. Obviously, he finds the buds sweet to taste...Rev. Margaret Henrichsen's book "Seven Steeples" tells of her work in a group of churches in Maine and is as fresh and full of insights as her lectures were when she spoke at the Alfred School of Theology years ago. She loved her parishioners as a good minister needs to do, whatever their special problems or needs may be...Two good friends died this week, Almon Wood who was a hardware dealer in Andover and Canisteo, and Jack Greenfield who was part of our coffee group at Alfred years gone by. Such is life...Going over my professional records the other day I found that I have officiated at 128 marriages. It is always a joy to preside at weddings, but from my point of view they are more solemn and soul searching than funerals. At a funeral we call to mind the good qualities of the deceased, but at weddings you can only hope and pray things will go well and give the principals your blessing...With the increase of our snow on Palmiter Hill our bird feeders are quite popular. The bluejays are piggish as ever, but the juncos and sparrows are more polite. Years gone by there has been one cardinal, and he makes the chore of stocking the feeders all worthwhile...Congratulations to the SUN editor for last week's giant publication. He seems to know his business or where to find it. Incidentally I am surprised when many speak to me about my column. Thanks, everybody, and I know you read the rest of the paper, too.

Alfred State College Athletics Director Stephen L. Babcock has announced the appointment of Hornell native Tim Jones as Alfred State's firstever full-time sports information director.

BUMP THE DUMP 30TH ANNIVERSARY

The Art of Fighting a Nuke Dump

In April 2020, Concerned Citizens of Allegany County will celebrate the 30th anniversary of the "Bump the Dump" protest, a multi-year citizen action that prevented the establishment of a nuclear waste dump. This extraordinary episode in our history was ultimately argued and won in US Supreme Court. In taking a stand against the dangers of radioactive contamination on environmental and human health, thousands of regular folks have become folk heroes. We invite you to learn more about them.

The Art of Fighting a Nuke Dump By SUSAN BECKHORN ow were the arts used to fight the siting of a radioac-Ltive waste dump in Allegany County? Just as David fought Goliath with the only weapon he had, people used every possible means to express their outrage and stop the process. Some were pretty creative. Literally thousands of people asked themselves, "What can I do?" If they had a talent or a skill, they used it.

Like David's small missile, these efforts were on target and effective. Dozens of artists offered work, from Hope Zaccagni (now an accomplished painter) who designed posters and the iconic mushroom masks, to Suzanne Bloom of Cortland County (now a well-known children's book illustrator) who drew many cartoons including the "Loves me Loves Me Not" Daisy-morphing into-Radioactive warning symbol. Many T-shirts, buttons, and bumper stickers were created.

Photography documented events as they unfolded. Kathryn Ross of the Wellsville Daily Reporter wrote articles and took countless photographs. Her work forms an important collection. Steve Meyers, the first chair of the Concerned Citizens group and a professional photographer, produced a legacy of stunning images. An excellent summary of the dump fight was captured for history in Kevin O'Shaughnessy's documentary, My Name is Allegany County.

Using pens as swords, writers contributed mightily. Sun Publishing in Mushroom Mask designed by Hope Zaccagni of Alfred.

Alfred and Vanmark Printing in Wellsville donated paper and printer's ink like blood transfusions and, in the tradition of our revolutionary ancestors, worked long into the night producing posters, newsletters, and of course, the masks. One publication, edited by poet Walt Franklin was aptly named "The Stone and Sling." Novelist Megan Staffel researched and wrote a paper on the connection between radioactivity and dairy, which was distributed to dairy farmers, presented to the governor, and inspiried Dale Meisenheimer's song, "If I was a cow." Staffel's husband Graham Marks wrote an article for The Studio Potter. Anna Eskenazi Bush and John Arden-Hopkins, then editor of the Cuba Patriot, co-wrote a musical, "Bump the Dump," produced at Alfred State College. One of the final choruses resonates today: "Come celebrate, oh Allegany, don't let memories fade. Hold high the torch of history, pass on the truth we've made.

There was more: A beautiful quilt constructed from squares designed and sewn by many hands was put together by Jenny Kelly and Pat Kaake and displayed in Albany and Washington, D.C. Culinary artists created nourishing hot stews made from local ingredients to sustain protestors during the cold "nuclear winters" of protests. They also put together a cookbook as a fundraiser with both silly and useful recipes. There was an abundance of street theater: When the infamous "Information Van" came into Wellsville, it was blocked with tractors and a manure spreader. In Almond, it was escorted down Main Street to the entrance ramp to Route 17 dragging a box of cow manure scattered with mushrooms (referencing a Siting Commission statement that the Concerned Citizens group was "Keeping people in the dark and feeding them s---). A dead skunk was crammed into its heating vent as a gesture which implied that the siting process stank. In Albany, people from the sited areas staged a "funeral march" from the statehouse, where eulogies were read, to the governor's mansion, each county represented by a coffin. Fred Beckhorn built the one for Allegany County. Children dressed as angels helped carry a banner of photos of Allegany kids created by Mary Gardner Ruch. And the Grim Reaper was present at many of the protests in full regalia.

A "Night of Rage," brainchild of Jim Lucey, then CCAC co-chair, was staged at the West Almond encampment on an October evening, advertised by a poster with charred edges. Stuffed effigies of the siting commission were torched. Jack o' Lanterns carved by Glenna Fredrickson with images of Governor Cuomo lit the stage. All non-violent actions were as carefully choreographed as a dance, from the first circles of singing citizens with locked arms to the seniors chained across the Caneadea bridge, backed by a blockade of farm equipment, and a final blockade of horse-

There was music. Says Native American singer-songwriter, Buffy Sainte-Marie (Universal Soldier), "A great three-minute protest song can be more effective than a 400-page textbook: immediate and replicable, portable and efficient, wrapped in music, easy to understand by ordinary people. It's distributed word-of-mouth by artists, as opposed to news stories marketed by the fellas who may own the town, the company store and the mine." Local musicians came together with original songs to form B.A.N.D.I.T.S. (Bands Against Nuclear Dumps In This State). Ed Whitney's Nasty Boys introduced at the first non-violent action in Belmont inspired Cher Appell's Nasty Girls. The two songs served as a warning wrapped in humor: "We fool around with shotguns—they're about our favorite toys . . ." The message was, We're serious. We intend to defend ourselves.

Howard Appell's haunting Caneadea evoked the legacy of the land under our stewardship, as did Irma Howard's "Keep Free the Land." Gary Barteau's Reduce, Recycle and Reuse foretold the way of life humans must adopt to live sustainably. My song Allegany was a channeling of a few phrases: "rise to your feet . . . lock arms and stand . . . no radiation without representation. . ." simple lines, easy to sing and share. The power of the music was clear when my arrest at Caneadea included the seizure of my guitar—clearly a weapon of the people. That moment inspired Never Stop Singing: "when power gives power the right to do wrong, you might get arrested for singing your song

There were those who said the dump was a done deal, it was useless to fight. But we did fight and while there is still no solution for radioactive waste, we don't have a dump. We made a difference. To those who gave creative juices and energy, who have not been mentioned here, please know it was not by intention. I urge you to share your part in history and I personally thank you.

AU looks to rebound after 106-101 loss at Fisher

The Alfred University men's basketball team dropped a 106-101 game at St. John Fisher College Saturday afternoon, the fourth straight Empire 8 loss for the Saxons (9-11, 3-6 E8).

The Saxons were playing catch-up all game after getting into an early 15-4 hole to the home-standing Cardinals.

At the midway point of the first half, Dagon made a pair of free throws followed by a layup to score his 1000th career point as a Saxon.

With that scoring accomplishment, Dagon has become the 22nd men's basketball player at Alfred to break the 1000 point threshold.

For a majority of the first half, St. John Fisher maintained a double-digit lead but a layup with five seconds remaining in the half from frosh Darren Miller (Seneca Falls/Mynderse) followed by a quick steal and a buzzer beating jumper made it a 50-41 game at halftime.

After an early second half run for Alfred made the score 56-50, Fisher went on a 9-2 run of its own to make the score 65-52 with just under 15 minutes to play.

The Cardinals had answers to every Saxon run and jumped out to their largest lead of the game at 17 points with under 10 minutes to play.

Although AU made them work for it, the Cardinals were able to make enough free throws down the stretch to pick up their second victory

Brewster Marshall (Horseheads) finished with 23 points and 11 rebounds on the day while Cole Eells (Ithaca) scored 22 points. Mike Schmidt (Olean) finished with eight points, five boards and five assists.

On Friday night across the street in Pittsford, the Golden Flyers were hot and the Saxons were not as Nazareth avenged an overtime loss at Alfred earlier this year with a 94-66 win. Dagon put up a team high 21 points while Darren Miller continued his string of breakout performances with a career high 20 points. Miller also grabbed seven rebounds to lead Alfred Dagon currently sits at 1,022 career points after Saturday's contest and will look to pass Dan Yeager who sits at 19th all time and 1,098 career points scored. With five more games remaining in the regular season Dagon has the opportunity to continue to climb the all time scoring list at Alfred University, as there are multiple marks within reach.

In an exhibition match, Nick Barrett (Avoca) pinned Jose Falcon in 5:53.

HITS AND MISSES:

Despite some rough games of late, the St. Bonaventure Bonnies (14-8) are still in good shape overall in their A-10 conference standings as they currently sit in the T3 spot behind nationally, top ten ranked Dayton and Rhode Island. There are five men's hoop teams with three losses as of Sunday past in league action and Bona is one of them. After beating George Mason they will host George Washington this week and then travel to Pittsburgh to take on Duquesne. Assume the "Traveling Sports Fan" from Almond has been taking in the Olean action and the Reilly Center.

In Division III men's basketball play the Alfred Saxons are in the midst of a tough stretch as they have dropped to (9-11, 3-6 league) with four straight losses of late. After losing to Utica, AU fell to Houghton ... Houghton?, in overtime, 111-106. Then it was defeats at the hands of the 1-2 teams in the league in Nazareth and SJ Fisher. The Fisher game was a wild, 106-101 loss. The Saxons hope to get back in the win column this weekend in E8 play against Utica and The Sages, on the road. Right now, AU is T5 in league play behind 'Naz-SJF-Utica-Sage.

Coach Tom Spanbauer (ex-AU) and his Cortland Red Dragons men's b-ball team have slipped to fifth-place in SUN-YAC play at (12-6, 6-5) as they trail Brockport-Oneonta-Potsdam-Oswego. Plattsbugh (minus Tom Curle) is in sixth-place

Coach Dale Wellman (ex-AU) and his Nebraska Wesleyan Prairie Wolves are zipping along at (18-2) and were ranked #9 heading into D3 play last week.

Here is the top of the D3 men's basketball poll last week with their gaudy records as well. Swarthmore (17-0), St. John's (17-1), Randolph-Macon (17-1), Elmhurst (17-1) and Colby (17-0) lead the way. #10 is Middlebury (Griffin Kornaker) and with a 17-2 slate then. No "local" teams at all in the Top 25 and only "votes" for RPI and UR, way down the list.

Coach Chris Murphy and his Union College Dutchmen (15-7) men's hoop program is in fourth-place in the Liberty League standings behind RPI, Hobart and Ithaca. The Bombers from the E8 departed a few years back.

On the women's side of D3 basketball, check this out from the NESCAC league, heading into play last week. Tufts (18-0) and Bowdoin (18-0) were ranked nationally, 1-2 and Amherst was fourth! Tufts then stopped Bowdoin in conference action, 97-88. Two "Final Four" teams down-the-road? In that toughest of tough women's conference, those three ranked teams have dominated since 2001 with league titles galore. And, quite often, the championship game loser was one of those three teams. Since 2001: Bowdoin eight titles, Amherst seven and Tufts three. Wow!

Coach Todd Montana and his Lasell Lasers women's program were at (9-10) as of Sunday past as they compete in the GNAC.

Went to (perhaps) one of the craziest, out-of-control basketball games I've ever witnessed live last Saturday nite with Big D, Derck Frechette. It was a boys contest, The Villages at Leesburg. Big D and I used to head to to Alfred quite often from Rochester to watch AU play football/basketball, so nice getting back with him to see a game. Both teams had talent, but it was up-and-down, too much dribbling, crazy passes, wild shots, forced shots and passes and complete with a wild finish and game-sealing dunk by Leesburg, They "survived," 59-56. Most the time the action was just, out-of-control. Was nuts! Leesburg about the size of Victor in NYS for classification and The Villages (maybe) a Wellsville or slightly higher. Perhaps a Cuba-Rushford? Hard to compare. They don't have sectionals here in Florida but Districts, then Regions and then States. Leesburg was a state champ in 2016-17. Their gym about the same size as the old A-A gym, with more bleacher seating

Beef on 'Weck to support Ireland trip

ANDOVER-Recently five Andover Central School high school students were selected to travel to Ireland with a group of other young adults from the western New York area. For thirty some years Eurosport's international soccer program has given young soccer players the opportunity to meet and compete with top level European teams, recently expanding the program to all of New York State.

This expansion enables these young adults from the little town of Andover to become part of the international soccer community. They will travel to Dublin, Ireland not only to practice and play soccer at a whole new level but the trip will be educational as well. Escorted by three high school coaches and adult chaperones, the students April 5-12 will visit historical landmarks and experience the Irish culture as well.

In support of this trip they are sponsoring a Beef on Weck dinner on Saturday, Feb. 15 at the Andover Fire Hall and would greatly appreciate the support of the community. The dinner cost is $10.00 per meal and includes a full meal of a sandwich, baked beans, mac salad, a cookie and a drink.

The meal is available for pick up or eat in from 1 to 3 p.m. There will also be games and items from local businesses raffled off at the Andover Fire Hall. Pre-orders are preferred in order to plan the meals. Any questions can be directed to Lona Cook at 585-808-2543.

Thank you in advance for your support.

The Sherman Shooting Stars

"Congrats" are in order for the Sherman kids of Skip (A-A) and Kristy. They competed in the Regional Foul-Shooting Championships this past weekend after having advanced from District competition. Ty won his group and is off to Syracuse next for the State shoot-off. Miles finished third in his age group and he was a three-time District champion! Young Allie was fourth in a tough bracket. Kristy won the NYS championship twice from her stellar athletic days at Arkport and went to the National Championship one of those years! And Skip ... watched.

"Congrats" go out to West Virginia men's basketball coach, Bob Huggins as well as he recorded his 877th career coaching win to move past Kentucky's Adolph Rupp into seventh-place all-time in D1 action. So, that doesn't count his time at Walsh College in Ohio with the Cavs! Met "Huggy" once, with Fred Taft, at a college "Final Four" in Tampa as we were able to hook-up with Coach Bob W. Beyer (AU) and other coaches that day. Great time as Huggins was telling sto-

Tough Saturday past for the Big East basketball schools as #8 Villanova, #10 Seton Hall and #16 Butler all lost. That is a rarity.

"Great" Saturday of hoops on the personal level as North Carolina lost (again), Kentucky lost and Duke ... won! The Blue Devils survived a hot-shooting Syracuse squad at the Carrier Dome to prevail. No word from Tony Schon on that game.

A great leader board finale at the Saudi International golf tournament as Graeme McDowell won, defending champ Dustin Johnson was second and Phil Mickelson was in at T3.

Allen from Buffalo and our starter was from Orchard Park. Nice course! Played it about 9-10 years ago with Bob Anderson out of the park and a couple other guys, but didn't remember the layout. Attn: Cody ... Allen from Buffalo - 91, Lorow - 92, Gary from Ontario - 92, Craig from Maine - 93.

Going to hit the links this coming Saturday with A-A

Had a fourth hook-up with us,

Going to hit the links this coming Saturday with A-A grads Jake Taft and Mr. Timmer plus Richard Hopkins (replacing Brownie) at Sherman Hills in Brooksville. Unable to attend, ex-Rays fan Jamie Bennett ... hiking and Our Man Frank ... waiting for "points."

Wishing a full recovery to Jim Simboli of Brockport, the coach of our fabled Joker's Wild softball team, a golfing partner now & then and a good friend. Simbo recovery from shoulder surgery and (sadly) unable to join us in Florida this year. Simbo coached football in high school and our softball squad as well. Tom Bedard his assistant.

Was hoping to see John Lynch, now the GM of the SF 'Niners, make the Pro Football Hall of Fame this year. Lynch played for Tampa Bay and Denver during hsi NFL career.

The Alfred-Almond alumni banquet this year will be held July 18th at the Alfred State College dining hall.

Besides the two regular Molokai golf league outings last week, including a first-place team finish on Wednesday!, played a round at Arlington Ridge on Friday.

The alumni band be held July State College.

Back in the states, my
