

Value Of Written Word Extolled By Houghton Founders' Day Guest Speaker Traces History, Import of Books

by Mel Millman

Commencing at 11:00 a. m. in the Men's Gymnasium, with the traditional march of seniors and faculty in academic costume, Alfred University celebrated its 119th annual Founders' Day observance last Thursday.

The convocation was officiated by President M. Ellis Drake, who, after the invocation by Chaplain Richard R. Bredenberg, began the ceremonies with a welcoming note to the many guests present for the occasion, and then briefly summarized the history of the university.

Dr. Drake then introduced the speaker of the assembly, Mr. Arthur Amory Houghton Jr., president of Steuben Glass, Inc., as a man of wide interest and diversified accomplishments, ranging from a successful position in the business world to accomplishments of importance in aesthetic and humane fields.

Mr. Houghton spoke of the necessity, to young students particularly, of a diversified education in the making of a whole and useful member of society.

"Man's power of recording his knowledge and the wisdom gained from his experience," said the speaker, "is one of the primary accomplishments which places him above the animals, and is a method by which an individual may achieve a kind of immortality."

The written word is inherent in the creation and perpetration of civilization, Mr. Houghton pointed out, since there was no literature each man would have to begin his education with no knowledge of the experience gained by others before him. Progress and learning would cease with the death of the individual, since man does not live long enough to put to full use the knowledge gained through his own experience. Knowledge passed on by word of mouth may be sufficient for a short time, but if ideas are not written down their meanings eventually become too ambiguous to be of any use.

To illustrate the contribution of the written word to the growth of civilization, Mr. Houghton showed how the quality and extent of written communication aided various civilizations throughout history in their growth and advancement. The invention of printing and the consequential enormous increase in literary matter, indicated the speaker, is one of the basic causes for the extensive growth and advancement of modern civilization. The printed word has been a bulwark against the curtailment of the freedom of expression, and the phenomenal increase of literature made possible by the invention has educated many more people to the truth and understanding of their rights and of the world around them.

Much of what has been written in the past has been either lost or destroyed through the ages, said the speaker. It is only through the library that this enormous amount of literature can be preserved for posterity. Libraries such as the Library of Congress have been created for the purpose of preserving all the literature of the time possible. "These libraries," said Mr. Houghton, "are the custodians of our knowledge."

The importance of libraries to modern civilization was stressed by the speaker. The central source of learning in a college, said Mr. Houghton, is in reality the library. Educators are actually more experienced scholars whose task it is to show the student the proper means of getting at the knowledge found in the library and not merely to relate to him their own knowledge.

"The library," said the speaker, "is the centrifugal force binding democratic men together, and since the strength and spirit of democracy comes from knowledge and learning, our libraries are actually the 'arsenal of democracy' and not our military might."

The difficulty however, that we face today is that the libraries are becoming overstocked and the information available is now too extensive for one man to absorb in a lifetime. "There are no universal scholars today," said the speaker. Because of this fact people now find it is necessary to specialize. By working together with other specialists in different fields the overall knowledge of mankind is learned and extended by these specialists.

"This emphasis on specialization however has caused the concept of the value of a broad education to become lost," said Mr. Houghton. The modern man today has only a vague idea of the knowledge outside his own special field as evidenced by the fact that only 10% of the population in this country read 70% of the literature available.

As a solution to this intellectual problem, Mr. Houghton offered the following advice to the college student; since a broad education is the best preparation for a full life, and since specialization, because of the extent of the knowledge available, is the only way to forward progress, the best method of preparing for the future is to obtain a broad education first and upon that basis to build up more extensive knowledge in your individual interests.

The morning's program continued with a very fine rendition of a Saraband and Gavotte by J. S. Bach, played by a small orchestra comprised of students and faculty under the able leadership of Professor William Fiedler, Director of Music.

After the music, the honorary degrees were conferred. The very Rev. Juvenal Lalor O.F.M., president of St. Bonaventure University, introduced by Dean Burdick as a "sincere and inspiring teacher who has earned the respect of his pupils," received the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters. Richard Henry Pass, president of Pass and Seymour, Inc., introduced by Dean McMahon of the College of Ceramics, as a "man who has added conspicuously to the field of ceramics and ceramic education," received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. Arthur A. Houghton, director of the Corning Glass Works, introduced by William C. Cannon, chairman of the Alfred University Board of Trustees, as a "man of truly diversified interests who has not lost the important perspective of a worldly education, received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

After the singing of the Alfred University Alma Mater, the Benediction was given by Father Juvenal Lalor. The convocation was then concluded by the recession of the seniors and faculty to a march by Bach.

The Davis Memorial Carillon was played by Dr. Wingate, University Carillonneur before and after the assembly.

Following the Convocation, a luncheon was held in Howell Hall in honor of the Founders' Day guests. Dr. Drake explained that it was traditional that no speeches be made at these luncheons, but he called on each of Alfred's newest alumni, who, in turn, thanked Dr. Drake, the trustees, and the school for their degrees. The luncheon was well attended by the guests of honor, members of their families, the administration and staff, and several student leaders.

Fine weather helped to make the entire day a very successful occasion.

Strength For These Days

O Lord, hang on the walls of our mind the picture of those men who with foresight and fortitude founded this institution. With our inner eye may we gaze long at the image of those who had nothing to give but themselves, but who readily gave that one thing. Then may there come to us a return of that simple faith and old-fashioned trust in God that made those who left us so great a heritage. Amen.

R. Bredenberg

Receives Degree

Alfred University President M. Ellis Drake received the honorary degree of doctor of laws at Hartwick College's 26th annual Founders Day.

Others receiving degrees included Dennis B. Welsh, consultant on development at the University of Miami, Coral Gables, Fla., and the Rev. S. Franklin Mack, executive director of the broadcasting and film commission, National Council of Churches of Christ in America.

Student Outlook

The U.S. Civil Service Commission has announced the annual examination for junior management assistant for filling positions in various agencies in Washington, D.C., and other areas throughout the country. These positions which pay entrance salaries of $3,410 and $4,205 a year offer excellent opportunities for advancement. Dean Gertz has the necessary application forms. Also available is information concerning the College Student Work and Study Program for scientific and technical personnel. Students with the necessary qualifications can obtain either summer or full time employment with the Potomac River Naval Command and the Engineer Center, U.S. Army at Fort Belvoir.

The New York State Department of Civil Service is offering opportunities for college seniors to enter the career service of the state. The professional and technical assistant examination for the graduating class of 1955 will be held January 15, 1955. At the present time the greatest needs are in the fields of accounting, engineering, statistics and library science. Further information may be obtained from the office of the Dean of Men.

Fall Festival: Eberle; Coming

The eighth annual Fall Festival of the State University Agricultural and Technical Institute will be held at Alfred on November 3-5.

In keeping with the theme "Advancement Through Technical Education," twenty-one major departments of the Institute will hold exhibits that demonstrate departmental activities. This year's festival will give visitors an opportunity to tour the new $1,800,000 Industrial Building that was opened last month.

Wednesday, November 3, will be "Youth and Educators Day." Exhibits will be open from 9:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m. for invited guests. The evening open house will give Alfred residents a chance to visit the Festival.

A speed typewriting contest for high school students is scheduled at 10:00 a.m. in the Industrial Building.

Two luncheons will be held, one for students in the Institute's dining hall and one for educators at the Parish House, where the annual award to the Guidance Counselor of the Year will be given.

Activities for students and educators will be climaxed with a variety show by Institute students at 2:30 p.m. in the State Tech gymnasium.

Thursday, November 4, will be "Parents' Day." Invitations have been forwarded to the parents of 1,150 students. Exhibits will be open from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Activities Thursday include a chicken barbecue luncheon, a horse show, a concert by the Institute's mixed choir, a faculty reception, a charcoal broiled beef dinner and the presentation of the play, "Mister Roberts," by the Institute dramatic society.

Festival week will be climaxed Friday evening, November 5, by the annual Harvest Ball with the coronation of the Festival King and Queen. Ray Eberle, "All American Singing Favorite," and his orchestra will provide music for this occasion. Mr. Eberle achieved fame while working with Glen Miller. His voice graced many of Miller's best popular recordings.

Rifle Range

Does Alfred R.O.T.C. have a rifle range?

The answer is YES, but judging from the response and attendance at the range the answer might just as well be NO.

Last year, everyone in ROTC (the cadets that is) continually screamed for the range and were steaming when they were told that it would not be completed until this year. However, this year Sgt. Thomas (he is in charge on the range) reports that the turnout has been very poor.

The powers that be at ROTC headquarters have scheduled a number of "postal" matches and several shoulder matches with other schools and are once again planning to enter the national matches and the Hearst competition.

These plans are only good if there are enough men to make the team, and as yet these men have not been down to the range which, incidentally, is under Greene Hall.

The range is open every afternoon until five o'clock and is open Thursday evening until 9. Monday night has been turned into faculty night and is open to all faculty members.

One cheerful note on the range is that in its first day of operation the first complete target to be shot was fired by Cadet Major Chuck Dyer and it was a perfect target; a perfect 100.

There has been a series of switches in the stations of some of the cadet officers: Cadet First Lieutenant Paul A. Stillman replaces Cadet First Lieutenant Pete Ramko as corps adjutant. Pete has been assigned to be a platoon leader in "Baker" Company. Cadet First Lieutenants Flipse and Greenberg have been assigned as Company commanders of "Baker" and "Dog" Companies respectively replacing Cadet Lieutenants Davis and Stillman. Cadet Lieutenant Davis was assigned as a Platoon Leader in Charlie Company.

Well, that's about all for now. So I'll close with a reminder that Mass Drill will again be held Thursday at 1100 hours on Terra Cotta Field. It is wise for you to attend.

Noah

The production of Noah, with Rev. Moser in the title role, has been going so well, it is expected that the first two acts will be rehearsed without any books by next Friday.

The players are doing everything they can in order to better understand and grasp their parts. Sallie Martinson, assistant director, saw the Chapel Players perform Noah in the Broadway Tabernacle Church in New York City. Some of the "animals" went to a zoo in Syracuse and brought back sketches of various animals. Some plan to go to the Rochester zoo. The animals (the real ones) were studied so they can be portrayed as realistically as possible.

There has been one cast change so far. Professor Ekdhall is going to play the part of the wolf instead of the formerly cast Dave Harrison.

Watch out, Halloween is coming!

Fall Festival is coming

Wood-Burning Kiln To Be Fired Soon

An educational adventure has been taken on by several of the design students.

Under the supervision of Don McKinley, a wood-burning kiln is now being constructed. Its purpose is experimental. Most kilns are gas operated; this one will use wood as its fuel. The first firing will be bisque firing and is estimated to take about two days. The "unveiling" of Mr. Daniel Rhodes' "brainchild" will be accompanied by a barbecue.

There is a current exhibition of Miss Marguerite Wildenhain's pottery in Ceramics Hall. Mrs. Wildenhain is the noted potter from Pond Farm, Calif.

Those new benches in the corridors of the Ceramic Hall were right from the school's workshop. The benches were designed by the seniors and constructed by the juniors. Here will be eight of them when they are completed. They are made of walnut and cherry.

Thursday, October 28 at 7:15 p.m. the Alfred Student Branch of the American Ceramic Society will present another in the series of their lectures by outstanding men in the ceramic field at Binns-Merrill Hall. Thursday's lecture will be "Starting Your Own Business by Clarence P. Austin, treasurer of the Binghamton Brick Company, Inc.

Seidlin Presides

Dr. Seidlin, Dean of the Graduate School, has acted as chairman of several panel discussions held early in October.

Dr. Seidlin presided over the Southern Tier School Study Council at Alfred, held October 4. Another panel discussion was held the following day at the Southern Tier School Study Council at Corning. The last of the panel discussions, held October 8, found Dr. Seidlin at the State Teachers Association at Elmira.

Dr. Seidlin was president at a discussion on "General Education in Special fields," held at the State University Symposium at Syracuse October 9. Last Thursday, October 14, the Dean addressed a meeting of the Association of Magistrates of Steuben County at Casper.

At the Freshman Orientation Lecture Monday, October 18, Dr. Seidlin urged the students who were not sure of a career to consider the teaching profession. He feels that this field can offer much success. The need for teachers has been rising considerably in the past few years.

Money

The Book Easy will be open, starting today, on Tuesday and Thursdays from 10:00 to 11:00 A. M., and from 2:30 to 3:30 P. M.; and on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays from 2:45 to 4:00 P. M., to pay out money for the following books sold: $44, 863, 1381, 1413, 1483, 1562, 1599, 1621, 1622, 1785, 1808, 1810, 1812, 1813, 1829, 1830, 1845, 1854, 1856, 1857, 1860, 1863, 1866, 1869, 1870, 1872, 1878, 1879, 1881, 1881A, 1883, 1885, 1887 to 1890, 1896, 1900, 1904, 1905, 1910, 1911, 1915, 1917, 1919, 1922, 1924, 1941, 1942, 1946, 1950, 1954, 1956, 1962 to 1970, 1972 to 1974, 1976, 1987, 1993, 1997, 1998 and 2014.

Students are requested to check their book receipts for the above listed numbers, bring them to the Book Easy, and collect their money.

Your help is urgently requested to complete these payments as soon as possible.

Pulos Named To Serve On Mediation Panel

Professor William Pulos, chairman of the University's department of psychology, has been selected to serve on an impartial board to arbitrate an oil lease dispute between George Clark and the Harris Brothers Oil Company of Wellsville.

Other members of the panel are Judge Ward M. Hopkins and Harvey Cochran of Bradley Producers at Wellsville.

The dispute will be heard at the County Court House at Belmont.

A. U. Chem Profs Elected To Posts

At the October meeting of the Corning section of the American Chemical Society, elections were held for the coming year.

Dr. Paul C. Saunders of Alfred University was elected secretary-treasurer, and Dr. C. W. Klingensmith was elected a member of the nominating committee. Dr. Samuel R. Scholes, Jr., of the chemistry department at Alfred, will be the new chairman of the society.

Hard Lineplay, Good Passing Stops Bombers

by Al Siegel

Nothing could stop the Saxons last Saturday night. Playing before a small crowd, which contained high school students from Wellsville, Cuba and Jimmy Ryan's and John Nemo's hometown, Allegany, as well as vets from Bath, the Purple and Gold won everything including the toss of the coin.

Doing the kicking for Ithaca was Ed Stohrer, a tackle. His boot went to Pat Lattari who brought the ball to the 15. A fumble three plays later gave the ball to Ithaca. They got two first downs but then lost the ball on downs to the Saxons on the 14.

First Scoring
After two plays the Saxons again fumbled the ball and Joe Macaluso recovered it for the visitors on the 29. Fullback Dworsky picked up one to the 23. John Flor then tossed a short pass over the line but big Don Carlin batted the ball up in the air and when it came down Chuck Schultz was under it. Schultz grabbed it and dashed right down the sidelines for 70 yards and a touchdown. This came at exactly the ten minute mark of the game. The PAT was missed but Alfred had a 6-0 lead.

After an exchange of punts Ithaca had the ball deep in their own back yard. Flor, the quarterback went back into the end zone to attempt a pass from the eight yard line. Jim Murphy and John Farnan broke thru the line and caught Mr. Flor for a safety and two more points for Alfred.

Here Stohrer again kicked off to Jim Ryan on the 27 and he ran it back to the midfield marker. Jim Hartnett then picked up 11 yards after Ryan had netted 3 to get an AU first down on the 36. Ryan was stopped for no gain as the quarter ended with the score Alfred 8 Ithaca 0.

More TDs
On the first play of the second quarter Jim Ryan went off tackle for 36 yards and a touchdown but an offside penalty against AU moved the ball back to the 41. After a 4 yard gain by Ryan, Jim Hartnett tossed a 37 yard TD pass to John Zucholski and Jim Ryan notched the extra point to give the Saxons a 15-0 lead at the 1:45 mark of the second quarter.

Four plays later the Purple and Gold again took over the ball. On the first play Jim Hartnett with some great broken field running dashed 33 yards to the two yard line. On the next play Jim Ryan dove over the center and the Saxons had another touchdown. John Zucholski went over for the extra point and after twenty minutes of football Alfred led 22-0.

Ithaca lost the ball after four tries to move it and the Saxons once again took over on their 41. The key play to halt an attempted Ithaca drive was a nice stop by Russ Fahey which lost the Bombers 16 yards.

Another Score
On the first play for the Saxons Jay Abbott picked up 2 yards. Hartnett ran for 10 off tackle for a first down and Abbott then picked up 3. After an incomplete pass Abbott picked up 7 yards to the 20. On a quarter back sneak Jim Hartnett broke away and with some nice running he dashed 20 yards and Alfred had another touchdown. Jay Abbott went over for the extra point and the score was 29-0. This was the final scoring in the first half.

Other highlights in the half included some nice tackling and a recovered fumble by Russ Fahey, a 17 yard pass from Hartnett to Farnan and nice defensive play on the part of the Alfred line.

John Schwartz kicked off for Alfred to start the second half. The third quarter saw the Bombers taking to the air and having some good results but nothing to write home about. There was no scoring in this period. Highlights were; a Jay Abbott run of 57 yards and two other Hartnett passes to Abbott for 14 and 13 yards, an Ithaca punt which took a wild bounce and hit Tucker Blanchfield and resulted in a regaining of the ball for the Bombers and a gain of 28 yards, a nice interception by Jay Abbott.

First TD of Quarter
The fourth quarter started with Alfred in possession of the ball on the Blue and Gold 47 as a result of an Abbott interception. On the first play of the quarter Tuck Blanchfield was caught way back in his own backfield on an attempted pass but he somehow managed to get away and he got off the pass to Jim Murphy who was hit and held by an Ithaca man on the 5 but he just kept right on going and carried the Ithacan over with him for the TD. It was a 47 yard TD pass and it came after twelve seconds of the fourth quarter. The PAT was no good and AU led 35-0.

When the Bombers once again got the ball they could do nothing with it and the Warriors again took over, as Abbott made his second interception of a pass in the game. On the first play Hartnett tossed a 15 yard pass to Blanchfield but a fumble on the next play gave Ithaca the ball.

Here Flor tossed a 26 yard completed pass to Tom Carroll on the AU 35 and on the next play he lost 1 as Ace Miller tackled end Stan Weiner after he caught a Flor pass. Two plays later Mr. Miller of Alfred fell on an Ithaca fumble and the Purple and Gold had the ball again.

Tuck Blanchfield picked up 14 on an end run and Hartnett was taken out and Pat Lattari came back in. On the first play Ryan caught a Lattari pass and ran 24 yards for a first down. The Saxons then lost the ball on downs. After getting a first down Flor was hit hard by Johnny Farnan, fumbled the ball and Jim Murphy fell on it, and the Yunevichmen had the ball again, on the Ithaca 49.

At this point of the game Al Moresco made his first appearance after a layoff due to an injury. He took over for Lattari in the quarterback slot. On his first play he picked up 8 yards around end, but a clipping penalty pushed the ball back to the Alfred 46. An offside against Ithaca put the pigskin on the Bomber 49. Switching to the single wing formation Blanchfield tossed a 30 yard pass to Farnan on the 19 for a first down. Blanchfield then lost 6 to the 25. Moresco then tossed a 24 yard pass to Jim Ryan who was downed on the 1 yard line with 40 seconds to go in the game. After Blanchfield was stopped for no gain Ryan went around right end for the TD and point number 41. The PAT was no good and Alfred kicked off with five seconds left in the game.

Besides football the fans had the ROTC Drum and Bugle Corps and the All-Campus band, as well as the AU cheerleaders to supply the entertainment for the game. The half time show saw Mr. Cappadonia and his group offer a tribute to the "March King," John Phillip Sousa. Among the formations were a crown, a musical note, a bell and a flag which saw the finale number, the playing of "Stars and Stripes Forever."

DISA AND DATA—The Saxons picked up 229 yards rushing while the Ithacans held Ithaca to MINUS 7 yards rushing. In the air, Lattari, Hartnett, Blanchfield and Moresco garnered 265 yards while the Bombers hit for only 104. AU completed 11 of 17 passes with no interceptions while Coach Joe Hamilton's crew could make only 11 of 22 tosses with 3 interceptions. Both teams fumbled 7 times and lost the pigskin 6 times. In the first downs AU had 15 while the Blue and Gold had 7.

John Zucholski's rushing lead over Jim Ryan was cut down as John only picked up 20 yards in 8 carries to Jim's 56 yards on 14 lugs of the ball. Zlu has 358 yards run up while Jim has 321. Other big men in the game for AU in rushing department were Jim Hartnett who ran for 71 yards in 8 tries, Blanchfield's 23 yards on 8 tries and little Jay Abbott, who in 10 carries rushed for 78 yards.

In passing Jim Hartnett led the way with seven completions in 9 attempts. The seven passes were good for 150 yards. Lattari, Hartnett, Moresco and Blanchfield have now accounted for 373 yards in the last two games as compared to no yards gained in the air in our opener against Brockport. This has been the big difference.

In the scoring department Jim Ryan's 13 points now give him 37 tallies for the five games as compared to John Zucholski's 27 points. Others scoring for AU this season are Chuck Schultz with 14 points, Abbott and Murphy 7 points and Bill Lewis, John Dennis and Charlie Heimback, who is out for the rest of the season with a broken finger, 6 points. The team has scored 118 points on 18 TD's and 8 PAT's to the oppositions 18 points on 3 TD's in 5 games.

Coach Yunevich's teams over the last three seasons have lost only one game in the last twenty-two outings with one of the games being tied. The team has won all of its five games this year and its last seven and should pull in number eight in a row against the University of Buffalo, at Buffalo before their final home game against Kings Point in two weeks.

Funds Collected

On Tuesday, October 26th, a container for coins will be placed in all men's and women's residences. Funds collected will go to CROP (Christian Rural Overseas Program) to send dry milk to hungry children. Ten cents will send 64 glasses.

The collection is sponsored by the combiner religious groups of Alfred. The containers will be called for after 6:00 p. m., Saturday, October 30 by village children in Halloween costume and wearing CROP pumpkin badges.

Strength To Grow

Several times during the recent Founders' Day celebrations, we heard mention made of the Empire State Foundation of Liberal Arts colleges. This foundation, in a publication entitled "The Strength To Grow," this week has called upon business and industry to join with them (the member schools) as partners in preparing young men and women for leadership in "the most crucial era in the history of mankind."

Founded in 1952, the Foundation consists of 22 member colleges and universities in New York State (including Alfred) joined together, "... for the purpose of enlisting the financial support of business, industry, foundations, estates and the general public, to insure the survival of liberal arts education and to provide for its strengthening and advancement, and to promote its welfare so that our American society may continue to be enriched by college graduates trained in its abundant tradition."

The new publication points out that in order for liberal arts colleges to justify their existence today, they can not merely be storehouses of past knowledge. They must also make the students aware of present problems and ideas and potentialities of the future. "The college must be aware that as the complexity and responsibilities of our society increase so does the need for broad-gauged leadership in business, in the government, in the professions, in the schools, in the churches, in every walk of life."

The basic importance of broad-gauged training in the liberal arts curriculum was stressed by Founders' Day speaker Arthur A. Houghton, a director of the Foundation. "I know of no better place for industry to invest corporate giving than in the schools and colleges that afford a liberal education to the young men and women of this country. A neglected area today, compared with the great technological schools, they are the source of our future growth and betterment."

It is further discussed that although technical tools and knowledge have progressed at a rapid rate during the past fifty years, it is apparent that the education of students as to understanding and perspective has not been able to keep up with this pace.

The members schools estimate that they will be educating some 50,000 students during the next ten years, and appeal to industry to give their financial and moral support in this enterprise. The financial aid is primarily for teaching salaries (which, as stated in the publication, have not increased commensurately with the cost of living), for scholarships, for much-needed plant maintenance and repair, and for other essential needs in the next ten years. The moral support which the Foundation is soliciting is an understanding of the importance of the job they are doing, recognition that the liberal arts college is an essential stronghold for a free and forward-moving society, and the knowledge that business and higher education are truly partners in progress.

Letters To The Editor

Yes

Dear Editor,

I would like to take this opportunity to compliment the Fiat on its general improvements during this year.

I, and many of my friends noticed that the Fiat was first with the forum news; this certainly testifies to a competent staff.

Keep up the good work.

Yours truly,
A friend

AND NO

Dear Editor,

I noticed in your last editorial a small paragraph devoted to, of all things, self praise. Could this be a sign that the FIAT feels the need for some praise, and lacking any from their captive audience, they have to do it themselves?

Furthermore, is it so great a thing that for once the FIAT got some news printed before anyone else? Perhaps if the time spent composing that little bit of "Aren't we great" copy were devoted to extra proofreading, or the writing of some good news and feature articles, little praise would be forthcoming from the student body.

Yours "captivately,"
Joshua West

Feature Writer Asserts Right To Opinionate

Dear Editor,

May I say that I welcome criticism and have a high regard for those who say what they feel. However, I would appreciate it if those who criticize would first avail themselves of the facts and not "Leap before they look."

I would like to take this opportunity to answer the letters written in the FIAT on October 19, referring to the SENATORIAL SPEAKING column of October 12.

First, SENATORIAL SPEAKING is strictly an opinionated column and there have never been any statements in the column to give anyone the idea that it represents the entire student body. If Mr. Shardlow wishes to win an argument so much that he has to reduce himself to such tactics, he may. However, I will once again say that the column is strictly opinionated and represents only the opinions of the writer.

Secondly, I feel that the two letter writers have "leaped before they looked." I did not overlook anyone nor did I slight anyone. I simply compared today's president with those of the past. I did not state that those in the past were not good student leaders; on the contrary they were. However, I feel that I am entitled to my own opinion and will state again that we now have a true student leader.

If you will read the article of October 19, I gave due credit to Marlin Miller in the creation of Alfred's Leadership Conference.

I feel that I am as qualified as the next person to judge those who are at the helm of the Senate. I have been a Senate member for three years and have tried to work as closely as possible with them.

I feel that Mr. Small has immediately taken the initiative in order to get the student body in good working condition. I am glad that you agree that Stan is doing a good job and feel as I do that the future of the Senate is in good hands. Because of these and my own opinions I feel qualified to reassert the statement that appeared in the article of October 12.

"The Craze Age"

by Irene Rosenblatt

Where have all the soft feminine features of our female population at Alfred fled? It seems to me that lately the damsels on this campus are coiffed as manly as can be. Chenois, dungarees, man tailored shirts, bow ties, etc. are the latest apparel for Alfred women.

Gee! what would grandma say to these new fads that are not only attacking our feminine population but all colleges as well. It seems that we girls have really led a revolution in styles, for not only have we resorted to adorning masculine attire, but we have clipped our hair in the most unfeminine manner. Why the other day, dressed in my slacks, manish bob and man tailored shirt, I was surprised to hear some people say to me, while I was not facing them, "Sonny, how can I get to Physics Hall," turning around quite indignantly, I seemed to shock my audience by saying, "Keep walking straight ahead," in the most feminine voice. Just the look on their faces was enough of a hint to me to let the rest of the feminine student body know what they may have to meet up with in the near future.

What are we going to do to counteract this mass disturbance that has hit the male population at Alfred? From general male consensus, we damsels better start looking like maidens once again. All I can say to counteract their dislike if our latest apparels is that "people in glass houses shouldn't throw stones." Why look, what is becoming of our masculine population, pink shirts, red vests, white ties, Bermuda shorts, knee socks, etc; and hair styles that will really make any female jealous, pompadors, long bobs etc. Boys before you resort to ridiculing us you had better take a good look at yourselves.

I would like to assert at this time, the fact that this particular article has not been written to make any drastic solutions or changes, but to make the male population here at the "Mother of Men" aware of the fact that "they ain't what they used to be." As far as the new fads for feminine attire are concerned, I am sure that we girls are going to continue in these new styles as shocking as they may be, for they are very practical and comfortable, and comfort is of complete essence to us.

I am sorry if "we can't please all

Once again, may I say that I welcome criticism, and hope I have answered the questions that have been asked.

Sincerely yours,
Gil Chollick

Clarification

Dear Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to reply to one of the letters in last week's "Letters to the Editor" column.

Just a short bit of information for Mr. Shardlow's benefit. The use of the by-line entitle one to express his opinion. Therefore, Mr. Chollick is perfectly justified in stating his "one-man or one-group opinion," and before Mr. Shardlow criticizes further, he should become acquainted with the privileges of a feature writer.

Discrimination

Dear Editor:

Each year young men yearning for an opportunity to learn to prepare themselves for a fruitful honest life come to Alfred. Here they are told they can find a campus that is friendly in every way and always willing to lend a helping hand.

Do we at Alfred give them the true American chance to fulfill their desires? Yes, we have teachers who offer all that their capabilities permit, but—do we have students who do the same? Does our social heritage contribute as much as our scholastic?

Until last year there were only three fraternities on this campus that offered their services to all the incoming freshmen. These houses, although good in their own merit, could not give to all the opportunity to utilize and to understand the Freedom of Religion and of Equality. Our own alumni are continually entering the armed forces in order to preserve the right of all Americans for an equal chance to make themselves just men of humanity. Why couldn't we at Alfred do our part? Is there any truly legitimate reason why fraternities on this campus must continue to be sectarian? The State, which is a much larger working unit than our own school, is trying to pass a law prohibiting discrimination in fraternities. If it is willing to donate its time and effort to such a cause, why couldn't we at Alfred lend a dynamic helping hand. Are fraternities both local and national, so important a part of college life as to be detrimental to the good and necessity of basic American freedoms?

I beg you not to be passive concerning this matter. Let's all help to remove a situation of social awkwardness which is not in keeping with Alfred's reputation as a friendly, intimate school.

Sincerely,
Bobbie Mesibov

Who's The Author?

Dear Editor,

In answer to your request of finding out who the anonymous ghost writer of "Don't Read This But" is, I, as the rest of the campus, would like to be informed. Who ever he may be, he is certainly doing one swell job of snooping. The comments are very clever and different and certainly leave a lot to the imagination. Keep up the good work whoever you may be, but my curiosity is killing me. Please don't remain a "Scarlet Pimpernel" any longer than necessary.

Your most curious fan,
Irene Rosenblatt

Our victory over Ithaca was an occasion, or rather an excuse, for parties at all the fraternities on campus last Saturday night.

At Delta Sig's party Mr. and Mrs. Reed and Mrs. Orcult were chaperones.

Kappa Nu had a beer blast for brothers and pledges Friday, and a party Saturday night after the game.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Cole and Philip Hedstrom were chaperones at Kappa Psi's open house Saturday night.

Klan's party was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Riegert.

Lambda Chi had a "Cafe Rouge" Party Friday night, and everyone came in French costumes. Sergeant and Mrs. Orr were chaperones. They also had a party Saturday night, at which Mr. Cappadonia and Mrs. Rodriguez-Diaz were present. Frank Virtuoso, a Lambda Chi alumnus, returned to Alfred for the weekend with his wife, Dotty.

Tau Delta had a party Saturday night, at which Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hardy and Dr. Sandnes were chaperones. Steve Lubin was at Tau Delta for the weekend.

Pi Alpha had its Faculty Tea, Sunday. Joanie Mendato went home to Goshen for the weekend and Mary Jane went home to Rochester. Pat Goodman and Irene Rosenblatt visited Corning last Saturday.

Sigma Chi had an honorary dessert Monday night, the eighteenth, and a faculty tea Sunday. Nancy Jackson and Dotty Bellucci Virtuoso were at Sigma for the weekend.

Thursday night, Theta had Dean and Mrs. Fred Gertz for dinner, and Sunday, Dean Beeman and Marcie Mapel's parents were dinner guests. At 7 o'clock Saturday morning, all of Theta Chi got up and painted two sleeping porches and the kitchen. What ambition!

The whole campus will be glad to hear that Beef Childs and Barb Payne, who both fell out of top bunks recently, are completely recovered. Guess that just about covers this week's news.

So long for now.

Senatorially Speaking

by Gil Chollick

Where Do Our Values Lie? Watching the Appropriations Committee in action and being quite impressed with their efficiency and thoroughness in handling the clubs as they approached the committee for money, a rather rare mistake was made. Possibly it happened because the committee is so young that it does not have the experience necessary for handling the treasury. However, I would be conscience-stricken if I did not bring it before you, the student body.

Last Thursday night the Senate Appropriations Committee appropriated two hundred twenty dollars to send the band to Buffalo. Why is such a thing allowed to happen?

To clarify my feelings about the subject, it is a fine and noble gesture of goodwill to have the band accompany the football team to the opposition's field. It shows the guys on the team that the school is behind them and that their efforts are not in vain.

I have always been behind school spirit and I am definitely in favor of this move. However, the Appropriations Committee went overboard in awarding such an exorbitant amount. It is not necessary that we appropriate eighty-seven dollars for food plus the money needed for the transportation. One of these gestures would have sufficed.

The reason for writing about this issue is that in November, New York

University's School of Commerce is conducting a Leadership Conference, and at the last meeting of the Senate it was stated that there might not be sufficient funds to send a representative from this university to the conference. Where do our values lie? Aren't we supposed to get as much benefit as possible from the money so that we are able to look toward the future? A conference such as the one described would be quite beneficial not only to the Student Senate but also to the entire student body.

Senate Jottings

Middlebury College would like to know how we removed "apathy" from our campus. They are presently plagued with it. Are we able to answer them positively... are we the ones to set the example?

I think we are...!

It started last year with the Moving-Up-Day Program. It was evident that the campus was finally working together as a unit, with one goal in mind... a successful program.

It was followed with a highly gratifying Community Chest Drive, which netted four hundred dollars. It continued to conquer apathy with the creation of the Leadership Conference. And this year... standard committees have been formed to coordinate the entire campus.

In answer to Middlebury College... follow us, we'll make it easy for you!

Washington Outlook

by Marvin Rosenthal

Academically speaking, this week saw Washington Semester students begin their intensive study of the Judicial Branch of our government. In addition to reading vast amounts of literature on the Judiciary, we participated in field trips to the Supreme Court, District Courts, and the Federal Communications Commission.

Our Supreme Court Building is indeed a sight that the American people can be proud of. The beautiful white building with large white pillars presents the individual with a magnificent edifice. The eight bespectacled Justices with their long black gowns are seated behind a long bench facing the visitor as he enters the 250 capacity courtroom. In the middle is Chief Justice Warren with Associate Justices Reed, Douglas, Burton and Minton seated to his left in that order. While Associate Justices Black, Frankfurter and Clark are seated to Warren's right. Conspicuous is the black-veiled empty chair of the late Associate Justice Jackson.

Each justice is seated on a well-cushioned reclining chair which each takes full advantage of. While an attorney is presenting his case, it is not uncommon to see a Justice remove his glasses, recline almost horizontally, close his eyes and give the appearance that he is asleep. Justice Clark was in this enviable position for almost the entire session.

An appeal to the Supreme Court is not an automatic right as is an appeal to the Circuit Court of Appeals. The Supreme Court will grant a writ of certiorari if it feels that there is just cause for review. Each side is then allowed exactly one hour — no more — to present its side of the case. Court starts at twelve noon, adjourns at two p.m. and resumes at two thirty until four thirty. On the particular day we attended a session, one of the attorneys was arguing his case and the clock struck two. Without a warning of any kind, the eight justices stood up and proceeded to walk out of the room leaving the attorney dumbfounded, in middle of a plea. The justice who seemed to impress me most was Felix Frankfurter who constantly hammered questions at each attorney and wasn't always satisfied with the answer.

The District Court House of D.C. which also houses the Circuit Court of Appeals is likewise a beautiful looking building. The courtrooms are large modern looking and air conditioned (quite an advantage on this particular day). The procedures followed in this court are very similar to those in New York State Courts. The big difference is in the J.D. Federal District Courts is in its jurisdiction. The D.C. Federal District Court has jurisdiction over all felonies in D.C. This function is usually carried out by state courts. This court also has jurisdiction over a number of types of civil suits involving the Federal Government e.g. one agency of the government suing another agency.

We were privileged to hear a lecture by J. Honig, Hearing Examiner, Federal Communications Commission. We were told of the functions of a hearing examiner and his relationship along with that of the F.C.C. in our Judicial set-up. The functions of this administration and fact-finding are bestowed on the various agencies by congress which, in each case, enacted a statute to create the various agencies. The rules of administrative procedure to which these agencies adhere are set forth in the Administrative Procedure Act of 1946. However, each agency may set down its own rules and regulations of the hearing examiner.

"Hurricane Hazel" had us worried for a little while in Washington but the only damage done was the falling of a few trees and the cutting of our supply of electricity. Making the most of things, we had some card games by candle light (I lost three straight games of hearts).

Of course, all is not work here in D.C. Today our unit had a picnic, a softball game, football game, hors d'oeuvre salad, et al; plus some singing furnished us with a very enjoyable time.

Next week we will continue our study of the Judicial Branch of Government with most seminars being held at the Supreme Court House and the Department of Justice.

Congratulations on your homecoming victory over Albright.

The installation of officers took place in Howell Hall October 24.

It was highlighted by a banquet with approximately 60 people present. For entertainment a play "The Sob Story" was presented with Pete Hammond, Dave Wolcott, Chaplain Bredenberg and Paul Darby in the cast. Joyce Lilley, Janice Moore and Barbara Payne took the group on a Lion Hunt.

President Pete Hammond outlined a tentative program of activities for the year.

Everyone was informed of plans for October 31, which is Halloween night. The ASCF Halloween will be reversed though in name and treat. Instead of playing tricks on people they will split up into groups after meeting at Kenyon and proceed to various residences on campus.

Intersorority Council

The Intersorority Council held its first meeting with freshman women at Howell Hall October 17.

Imogene Bramen, president of the organization, told the girls what informal rushing consists of. Until the beginning of the second semester when formal rushing starts, non-sorority girls are not allowed to borrow or lend money from sorority girls or visit their houses.

Then members of the Council told groups of girls about sorority life and tried to answer some of the many questions in their minds.

The meeting ended at 7:30 with Imogene telling the girls that the next meeting would be held January 9.

A. P. O.

The officers of the fraternity elected at the last meeting Tuesday, 7:30 in Physics Hall are the following:

President, Bill Curtis; vice president, Al Siegal; treasurer, Chuck Maass.

After two years of service to the fraternity in the capacity of president, Aaron Platkin stepped down from office.

There is to be an initiation of new members tonight.

A beer blast was held by the fraternity Friday evening, October 22, at the Rod and Gun Club. Members of every fraternity including those of Ag-Tech attended.

Alpha Phi Omega is preparing to work with Ag-Tech for the Fall Festival.

There will be an open meeting in Physics Hall tonight at 7:30. All interested are invited to attend.

Sociology Club

The first formal meeting of the Sociology Club was held on Thursday.

The initial speaker of the year was Mr. Harder, formerly a student at Alfred, where he got his B. A. He also has an M. A. from the University of Rochester in sociology and an M. A. from the University of North Carolina in City Planning. Mr. Harder spoke about the background and requirements necessary for entrance into the field of city planning.

The question of dues was then discussed and it was decided that the fee will be $.50 for the first semester.

The next meeting will be on November 4. At that time, Miss Frances Kinkaid will speak on "My Life Among American Indians." Miss Kinkaid has worked and lived among the American Indians in New York State, and therefore will base her talk on personal experiences.

It is not necessary to be a sociology major in order to enjoy the various activities of the club. All those interested are more than welcome and are urged to join.

A. O. C.

The week's A.O.C. meeting saw a lot of action, though there was no trip planned for the following weekend.

Sign-ups for the Danby trip to Camp Arrowhead next weekend, a possible spelunking trip next month with the Pittsburgh American Youth Hostel group, and plans for organizing a local chapter of the National Ski Patrol were outstanding among the matters discussed at the meeting.

Particular interest was aroused by Steve Homer's outline of the duties, benefits, and requirements of a chapter of the Ski Patrol, a nationwide organization run by and for skiers. An advanced and a ten hour winter first aid course, and ski instructions by a registered instructor are provided for prospective members. Those interested in Patrol membership need not be members of the Alfred Outing Club. Patrolers are welcomed in ski resorts throughout the country and often participate in ski trips without charge in return for their services.

AOC has also started laying the ground work for the Winter Carnival. It was decided to continue to have a central theme to the carnival. Winter Carnival members will poll students on the subject of the theme.

Leo Ludden of Wellsville will be a snow sculpture judge at the carnival. Plans for co-ordinating Ag-Tech and University publicity are being made.

English

Among the organization on campus there is one whose membership is composed of English majors. The English Club meets approximately once a month for the purpose of having English majors get together and enjoy what they are studying.

In order to maintain an informal atmosphere there is little strict organization. However, there are club officers. They are: Barbara Shartara, president; Bob Littell, vice president; and Rose Constantine, secretary-treasurer.

Some of the projects of the group have been the reading of various scripts and discussing contemporary novels. People are chosen who are to be responsible for a program on a certain date. At the last meeting of the English Club, which was October 8, the group read and recorded "Roland to the Dark Tower Came."

Nurses

Last week was set aside as National Nursing Week, and in observance of it, the School of Nursing held open house for all interested high school students.

On October 15, seventy-three students, eight parents, and counsellors attended the affair. The schools represented were Geneseo, Elmira Highs, Rushford, Campville, Whitesville, Canisteo, Addison, Andover, Wellsville, Franklinville, Harrison Valley, Pennsylvania, and Hornell.

The girls registered at 10:00 a. m. in Howell Hall, and then, in spite of heavy rains, were taken on a guided tour of the campus by the University student nurses. After the tour, which included the exhibits and photographs of hospital procedure, there was a panel discussion on nursing in general and in particular, the course of study offered here.

The social life and extra-curricular activities of the student nurses was also discussed. The panel consisted of Dean Grau of the School of Nursing; Kevin Bunnell, Director of Admissions; Judy Burdick and Elaine Harrington, senior nurses; Renate Riemer, a junior nurse; and Sue Spaldin and Phyllis MacMullen, freshman nursing students.

When the panel discussion was over, everyone went down to the Campus Union for lunch after which there was an informal discussion.

International

All members of the International Club are invited to a buffet supper at the home of Mrs. Howard Brasted in Hornell Sunday, October 31. This has been an annual invitation to the club for several years. Please be at the post office at 5 p. m. Transportation will be furnished.

Uncovered

Due to conditions beyond the immediate control of the FIAT LUX, the complete coverage of John Dos Passos' visit to Alfred University will be published in next week's issue.

their son calls from college!

It's true—when the folks are expecting a call from you, they act like hermits. But after the call! Dad buttonholes complete strangers to tell them what a B.M.O.C. his son is. And all Mom's friends know how well you're doing. Thanks to the folks, you're a hero in your old home town. And all you have to do for this glory is lift the receiver once a week and give them a call. They'll be so happy to get ammunition for their "Our Son" routine they probably won't even mind if you call collect—especially if you call on Sunday or any night after six. Intramural Football

by Al Siegel

The freshmen of Bartlett Hall are on the move.

Half way through the intramural season and they are the only unbeaten and untied team in the league. What's more they haven't had a touch down scored against them. Only four points have been tallied against them, and they were made on two safetys.

The frosh opened Saturday's activities against Klan on Terra Cotta by being caught in the end zone on the opening kickoff for a safety. Then they went to town. Frosh Williams scored their first TD when he fell on a fumble of a kick in the end zone.

Soon after this John McNamara tossed a TD pass to Dick Sturzebecker for TD number two. In the second half McNamara ran for the final TD. Larry Paser kicked the extra point after the first touchdown. The freshmen line once again just seemed to make the difference. Klan had a TD ruled no good when an Eddie McNamara-Bill Ball pass was ruled out of the end zone. The final score was 19-2. In the second game of the day Delta Sig hung on to second place, one half game behind the frosh as they trounced Kappa Psi 60-0. This is the second time they went over the 60 point mark this season.

Scoring honors for DS went to Phil DeGasparo who tallied 43 points. Other scorers were Bob Kennedy with one TD, Norris Harvey with 7 points and Chuck Weisenseal with 5 tallies.

Delta Sig has now tallied 189 points while the opposition has hit for only 12 points.

At noon the Lambda Chi squad downed the Ards 20-0. Don Overbey was the top man for the Green and God as he hit for 2 touchdowns. The third TD was made by Al Celeski. Scoring the other two points for the Greenies was Wimdun-Quin who scored two PAT's.

This game saw the Ards make only one serious threat but an interception by Lambda Chi cut this off.

After the cross-country meet Tau Det met Kappa Nu with the latter victorious 58-6. This game was marked by some poor sportsmanship on the part of a few players.

Scoring for KN was Hank Greenberg who tallied 5 TD's and a PAT for 31 points. Gene Greenberg got 2 KN TD's and 2 PAT's. Others who scored were: Al LePerrua 1 TD and Sobel Jacobson, Althos, Herman and LaPerra 2 PAT's each. The remaining 2 tallies came on a safety. Herman tossed three TD passes.

Tau Det got its score when Al Pollack tossed a 70 yard TD pass to Lenny Fagen. Fagen was injured later in the game. Another outstanding play for TD was a Pollack to Lloyd Berrin pass for 60 yards.

This Saturday KN and Kappa Psi meet at 8 a.m., Tau Det and Klan go at each other at 10, Delta Sig takes on Lambda Chi at noon and the day winds up with Bartlett meeting the Ards.

Saxon Spotlight

A squeeze of the trigger, a startling bang.

They're off — the Alfred cross country team led by Frank Gilbert, trying for another win.

Frank is a sophomore and hails from Middletown Heights. He holds two letters, one for cross country and the other for track. Frank has the honor of holding the New York State Inter-Collegiate record for freshmen in the meet at Brockport. He is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha and another of those happy waiters in the Brick.

Back in high school he was quite active in sports which can best be illustrated by the phenomenal fact that he won seven, yes, seven letters and was voted the best athlete in his senior class. In school he ran track and cross-country in action nine and was the 880 yard champ and the runner-up in the mile for two years. He was cross country champion for one year and the number two man for two seasons.

In the Du-So League he took runner-up honors for two years and was champ again in the mile and the cross country events. In the Perlipre YMCA Turkey Day three mile race Frank came in second. When the Hudson Valley Mile Relay team won four years in a row, our boy Frank was an active member of the squad in all of those years.

While all of this running was going on Frank seemed to find time to get acquainted, make friends accomplish a scholarship record that anyone would be proud of and he was voted the Most Typical Senior, with the best personality.

After leaving high school and coming to Alfred, Frank seems to be continuing along the same lines. Cross country and track, making freinds, and being well liked. A survey of his sports accomplishments here at the University goes something like this, active and hard working member of the cross country team for two years and the track squad for one.

Some of the highlights of his young career are: finishing third in New York State competition, where Hal Snyder finished first; first on a relay team in the Penn State Relays and also first in the Niagara AAU championships last year.

According to Coach Milton Tuttle, Frank is one of the hardest workers he has seen.

The work done by Frank will surely have a long range effect on his running, meaning that by the time he becomes a senior he is expected to be showing records that will compare to Hal Snyder, which is a feat in itself.

In the Homecoming cross country event which saw Alfred lose to Colgate, Gilbert came in second behind Bradshaw of the Red Raiders. Bradshaw holds the mile record here, which he set last year when he beat Snyder in a time of 4:19.3.

Saturday afternoons, instead of taking the hour and a half break for a bull session, how about going down to Terra Cotta Field and cheering the boys on and watch for Captain Frank Gilbert as he leads the squad on?

Buffalo Preview

Who's next? The line forms behind Alfred.

"The backfield that is now wearing the Blue and White is one of the best ever assembled on a U.B. grid eleven..." So I quote from Bob Kager, Sports Editor of the University of Buffalo's student newspaper, the Spectrum.

Truthfully this backfield has in four games scored the amazing total of 12 points. The poor Bulls also have not won a ball game this year. They have lost to Cortland State 20 to 6, Brockport State 19 to 6, Hobart 45 to 0. Not to be out done Lafayette beat the U. of B. 26 to 0. Who's next, the line forms behind Alfred.

Coach "Fritz" Febel of the Bulls will have two regular centers, Dave Nelson and Harry Marinelli and at the guards Norm Pyzikiewicz and Charley Krawczyk. Captain Ernie Keifer and Bob Steffenhogan are at the tackles. Playing the flanks will be John Lageman and Roger Dayer. Most likely in the backfield will be Paul Snyder, Bill Crowley, their big gun, Carm Scarpino and Chuck Daniels.

The Bulls by the way are in very poor shape physically with most of their backs being injured at one time or the other.

It is always a pleasure to play Buffalo, especially with the type of ball they have been playing lately. This will be the thirty-second meeting between the two schools with Alfred winning 15 and tying 4. Last year the Bulls had the dubious honor of being beaten by us to the tune of 47 to 0.

Coach Yunevich enjoys the prospect of beating Coach Febel as they both graduated from Purdue University. Mr. Yunevich graduating two years earlier. Last year the Bulls did not have one of their best seasons. They won only one while losing 5, getting one tie, with little prospect of improving too much on their record this year, with 4 losses already.

It seems that as the years roll by the Bulls kept putting out poorer and poorer teams and I don't think the coaching is to blame. They are having October 19, the nursing students were privileged to hear Dr. Palmerlee, who recently returned from Greece, speak on "The Basic Principles of Public Health."

Dr. Palmerlee, who spent thirty years in Greece and ten years in Turkey as a medical missionary, described the training of nurses in Greece and some of the problems involved, and how they are being resolved.

Because of her outstanding contributions to general health standards and her unselfish devotion to duty for so many years, she was presented with a medal of honor by the King and Queen of Greece.

You know them best as Sgt. Joe Friday and Officer Frank Smith — stars of Chesterfield's award-winning "Dragnet" on TV and Radio. They're now starred in the movies, too, in Warner Bros.' great new picture, "Dragnet."

WHAT A PAIR!

WHAT A BUY! Chesterfield regular and king-size. (Both at the same price in most places).

Jack Webb and Ben Alexander want what you want from a cigarette. Relaxation, comfort, satisfaction. They know where to find it—because in the whole wide world, no cigarette satisfies like a Chesterfield.

Chesterfields are best to smoke because they alone have the right combination of the world's best tobaccos. Chesterfields are best for you because they're highest in quality, low in nicotine.
