New Oratorio

The first performance of a new oratorio, "Joseph," written especially for the Annual Spring Concert by Dr. David Johnson, will be performed on Sunday, May 15, at 8:15 p.m. in the Village Church.

The story of "Joseph" is taken from the Biblical story of the young Hebrew who was sold by his brothers into slavery and who later became a prince in Egypt.

Dr. Johnson will also conduct the oratorio. It is written for chorus, brass, organ and narrator. The University Chorus will perform the work. The composition features chants in the old Biblical style and also some choral numbers both accompanied and unaccompanied.

There will be a sneak preview of the oratorio for the benefit of the parents who will be on campus for the weekend. The open dress rehearsal will be held next Sunday at 2:00 p.m. at the Village Church. The public is invited.

and Dramatics Department. Assisting him will be Professor C. Dur-yea Smith 111, department Chairman.

Arena staging will be used. This technique known as "Theatre-in-the-Round", has the audience seated on all sides of the players, as opposed to the conventional in which the audience sits only before the actors. The arena method allows the actor greater freedom of movement and lends itself to the inauguration of both players and spectator.

The cast for "The Beautiful People" is as follows: Norman Simms, Owen Webster; Sue Schenker, Harmony Blue Blossom; Linda Kaiser, Agnes Webster; Charles DiConstanza, Dan Hillboy and Samuel Chororos as Father Hagan.

Set in present-day San Francisco, this typical Saroyan play deals with off beat people who when the play opened the New York Post said: "Mr. Saroyan has a child-like faith in man's goodness. He sees the world through eyes that have not lost their wonder. The doctrine he preaches is love. A love for mankind which has gotten beyond the first step of pity; a love that is all-embracing and warming."

Seniors

All seniors should be in front of Alumni Hall directly following step singing, in their caps and gowns.

A.U. Graduate Suggests Plan to Advance Justice

The Southern Tier should have its own police laboratory said Herbert L. MacDonell of Corning, a consultant for law enforcement agencies, told a meeting of Allegany County officers at the Alfred University Campus Center on Wednesday night April 27.

MacDonell spoke on "Criminalistics" which he defined as "the science of applying other sciences to the investigation of crime." The speaker is senior chemist for Corning Glass Works and a Consultant for several state, county, and local law enforcement agencies.

He told Allegany County District Attorney Norman B. Fitzer and a number of police chiefs that local police laboratories have a "very definite advantage over state-wide coverage by a single laboratory." He said a Southern Tier laboratory would afford police agencies in the area greater convenience, faster analysis of physical evidence, and would relieve the burden of the State Laboratory in Albany.

MacDonell said that local laboratories may be established by joint city-county governments, the offices of District Attorney or Coroner, the Sheriff's Department, Hospitals, Universities, or any combination of those offices, agencies, or institutions.

Wider application of Criminalistics would bring many criminals to justice, he added. It also would result in considerable savings in court costs, he added, because "many cases never come to trial in the face of incontestable incriminating evidence."

MacDonell is a graduate of Alfred University and earned his Master's Degree from the University of Rhode Island. He also is a graduate of the police training course in Basic Criminalistics given by the Department of Attorney General of the State of Rhode Island. He has taught both chemistry and criminalistics at the University of Rhode Island, the latter offered only for law enforcement agencies of the state.

At midnight the Freshmen and Sophomore classes will battle out the struggle between '62 and '63 in the push ball game.

Moving Up Day itself will begin at ten a.m. with a carillon concert by Dr. Wingate. Following this at ten fifteen, the annual Step Sing contest among the sororities and fraternities will take place on the steps of Susan Howell Hall.

Two faculty members of the College of Ceramics were also awarded recognition at the meeting. Dr. Willis G. Lawrence, Chairman of the Department of Ceramic Research, and Prof. Theodore Randall, Chairman of the Department of Ceramic Design, were named Fellows of the American Ceramic Society in recognition of their work in advancing and industry.

The Eta Mu Alpha Initiation and Annual Banquet will be held tonight in Howell Hall.

Knight Enigma May Be Solved

Where is the Black Knight? Why hasn't it made its appearance on the campus yet this spring?

The Black Knight, the symbol of the spirit of the even classes, is a small figure of a knight in armor which was salvaged from the hood of an ancient wood stove by the class of 1910. Since then its been known as the "Iron Knight of Even Numbers."

Traditionally the spirit of the even classes, it was coveted by the odd classes who attempted to capture it every year when the even classes brought it out of hiding for the annual Kanakadea picture. Many hard struggles resulted as classes battled for the mascot.

Following the "big battle of '22, the whereabouts of the Black Knight has been uncertain. Last year, however the Class of 1960 proudly displayed a figure of the Black Knight which they claimed to be the original (despite the objections of certain alumni who shall remain anonymous).

The current knight was dug up in the back yard of Mrs. Richard West in the summer of 1957. Stolen from Dean McMahon, who was guarding it, by the Class of 1959, the Class of 1960 carried it away in 1959.

Where is the Black Knight now? Which members of the Class of 1960 are zealously guarding it? Will it be passed on to the sister Class of 1962? And, most important of all, will it make an appearance at this year's Moving Up Day?

Tradition, fellow students, has returned to Alfred...

Voice of Alfred Past

by Howard Miller

Delving into our morgue, hidden in the dim recesses of Herrick Memorial Library, I have uncovered some fascinating information concerning life in Alfred a quarter of a century ago. The following comes from the Fiat Lux, issue of May 7, 1935.

A discussion concerning the revision of W.S.G. rules was the big news of the week. The rule which said that "any college woman, other than a senior, going out of town limits with an escort in the evening must be accompanied by a senior women" was being considered for revision so that junior women would be allowed to ride in cars without chaperones.

Other proposer changes concerned late permissions and smoking privileges. The women wanted late permissions on movie nights extended beyond 11:00 p.m. so that they could see the entire show, and the possibility of allowing girls to smoke on campus was being discussed. I think it can be admitted that some progress has been made in the past 25 years.

Among other newsworthy events was a riot in the Brick. It seems that the Frosh got restless and invaded the rooms of the Sophs, overturning beds, piling desks in halls, and sacking closets.

In retaliation, the Sophs gave free showers to any Frosh in sight, and the affair ended in "a free-for-all, with combatants scratching, biting, and rolling on the floor, and throwing water." Come to think of it, times haven't changed so much after all.

Klan Alpine held a Spring Formal at Cuba Lake. Favorite numbers played by the band included "Star-Dust", "Chinatown", and "Sophisticated Lady". Sigma Chi planned a Spring Formal for May 11, to be held at the Hornell Country Club from 7:00 p.m. to 12:00 p.m.

Movies of the week were "The Mystery of Edwin Drood", which starred Claude Raines, Douglas Montgomery, David Manners, and "the lovely" Heather Angel; and "White Parade", a portrayal of nurse's training, starring Loretta Young and John Boles.

Just in case you still don't think that these were the "good old days", an advertisement of the "Collegiate" featured dinners for thirty-five cents. With this bit of nostalgia I leave you until another week.

L.B.J. and H.H. are Nominated On Convention Second Ballot

At the Democratic Mock Political Convention held at Alfred University, Alfred, N.Y., on Wednesday, May 27 the Party's nominees were: Senator Lyndon Baines Johnson for President and Senator Hubert H. Humphrey for Vice-President.

L. B. J. won at the termination of the second ballot after a bitter fight with Stevenson forces. Johnson's total at the end of the ballot was 913. A motion was made to make the vote unanimous and was carried overwhelmingly.

The convention was opened by the temporary chairman, Gary Ostrower, a junior from Woodridge, New Jersey. Ostrower proceeded to lash out at the Republicans in succinct speech that brought the convention to its feet many times.

The next speaker was the President of the Young Democrats Club and one of the guiding hands behind the success of the convention, Miss Rosemary McGuire. Miss McGuire, in her role of National Chairman, introduced the keynote speaker for the convention, Mr. Peter J. Crotty.

Crotty is the Erie County Democratic Leader who ran for the post of Attorney General of New York in 1958. In his speech Crotty castigated the Republican administration for its lack of leadership and for its Conservative views in blocking the United States from again returning to the position as the world's greatest power.

The convention owes a great deal of credit to Professor Rene Beauchesne for his invaluable assistance in contacting the upstate Democratic leaders and bringing them to the convention to the able rulings handed down by the Parliamentarian, Martin Unger and to the excellent work done by the Roll-Call clerk Miss Kathleen O'Donnell. Also due credit must be given to the tally clerks who had their hands full when states started to change their votes very rapidly.

The convention drew to a close with the acceptance speech of Humphrey. All the students who participated in the convention learned invaluable lessons on the importance of a nominating convention and how the American political system works.

Senior in College of Ceramics Wins Prize in National Contest

Dennis M. Smith, a senior in the College of Ceramics' Glass Technology Department, was awarded the $100 third prize in the 11th annual Ferro Student Contest in Porcelain Enameling. The presentation was made at the 62nd annual meeting of the American Ceramic Society, which was held in Philadelphia last week.

The prize-winning paper is entitled "A Study of the Surface Durability of Vitreous Enamels." The research on which the paper was based was done at the College of Ceramics under the supervision of Dr. Harold E. Simpson, Professor of Glass Technology. Dr. Simpson explained that Smith developed a test to evaluate the durability of vitreous enamel surfaces by adapting techniques previously developed to test durability of glass surfaces. The enamelled surfaces were placed in a cyclic humidity chamber where they were subjected to alternated fogging and clearing in an atmosphere resulting a 10% solution of hydrochloric acid.

Dr. Simpson said that "the work represents a study that is of vital importance to the entire glass and porcelain enamel industry in regard to evaluating lasting qualities of this glassy finish."

Dr. Joseph Seidlin Will Be Chairman at Meeting

by Susan Clorfeine

The activities of Spanish Week drew to a close Sunday night, April 24, as Dr. Seidlin reminisced over his two months in Chile.

Down there as a member of the State Department he had a "job to do". Along with three other men, Dr. Seidlin was to set up Centralized Institutes for University of Concepcion in Chile. His "field was mathematics" while others were concerned with Institutes in Biology, Physics, and Chemistry.

The University of Concepcion is composed of seven separate colleges, each doing "its own work." Dr. Seidlin was to "build an Institute of Mathematics for the students of all the Colleges in the University." He first "convinced the seven deans" that this centralized system was better than the system they had previously worked with.

Because he was in Chile in an official capacity, his time as a "tourist" was constrained. Also, of his official capacity, his contacts with the Chilean people were subsequently different from those of the average visiting American. He never was the recipient of any anti-American sentiment; on the contrary, he "always received warm receptions."

Regarding his personal reactions, Seidlin called the Chilean tongue "a singing language." He said, however, that it had taken time to attune himself to the sound of "Chileno".

Seidlin spoke about "two classes" of society—the professionals and the poor. "The poor", he said, "lived with an extreme poverty." A strong social security program attempts to "provide for the poorer element."

Speaking about Chilean industry, Seidlin discussed the steel mills—pointing out that they are owned and operated by Chilenos. There are two iron mines, both of which "run into and under the ocean." The country is rich in nitrates, much of which is exported, but surprisingly enough they do not use as much of the mineral as the circumstances would seem to warrant.

The city in which he worked—Concepcion—is a city of between 1/4-1/2 million people. In 1939 an earthquake demolished Concepcion and killed 40,000 but in twenty years "they have rebuilt it into a wonder of wonders."

Seidlin described his stay in Chile as a wonderful experience—he "got to like the place very much" and is "still with them."

These are the silver wings of a U. S. Air Force Navigator. As a flying officer on the Aerospace team, he has chosen a career of leadership, a career that has meaning, rewards and executive opportunity.

The Aviation Cadet Program is the gateway to this career. To qualify for this rigorous and professional training, a high school diploma is required; however, two or more years of college are highly desirable. Upon completion of the program the Air Force encourages the new officer to earn his degree so he can better handle the responsibilities of his position. This includes full pay and allowances while taking off-duty courses under the Bootstrap education program. The Air Force will pay a substantial part of all tuition costs. After having attained enough credits so that he can complete course work and residence requirements for a college degree in 6 months or less, he is eligible to apply for temporary duty at the school of his choice.

If you think you have what it takes to earn the silver wings of an Air Force Navigator, see your local Air Force Recruiter. Ask him about Aviation Cadet Navigator training and the benefits which are available to a flying officer in the Air Force. Or fill in and mail this coupon.

AU Medley Relay Team Scores At Penn Relay; Finnerty Hurt

by Stu Kellerman

Last Saturday, Alfred University's sprint-medley-relay team covered four laps of the University of Pennsylvania's spike-chewed track in 3:44.6 to capture a third place at the Penn Relays.

With Joe DiCamillo, Steve Crossman, Steve Kelly, and Dan Speck carrying the stick, the Saxon squad was edged out by quartets from Wesleyan and Iona.

But the spotlight was stolen from the baton-passing phase of the meet by high-jumper, John Thomas, sprinter, Ray Norton, and hurdler, Hayes Jones.

Thomas, a 19-year-old Boston University sophomore, cleared 7 feet 1½ inches to top the world outdoor mark, set by Yuri Stepanov of the Soviet Union. Norton tied the world record of 20.6 seconds for 200 meters around a turn. Jones ran an amazing up-wind 110 meter high-hurdle clocking of 13.6 seconds.

In the Invitational Half Mile, Alfred University's Frank Finnerty seemed a sure bet to place high in the field of seven runners. But two weeks before, in the Marine Corps Relays at Quantico, Virginia, he injured an ankle while posting a personal best 1:51.4 clocking. Although he wasn't fully recovered, Frank decided to take a chance and compete in the 880 at Philadelphia.

With his ankle holding out for the first quarter mile, the rangy Saxon held first place. But the wear and tear of the race took its toll and all Finnerty could do was gamely hang on to finish last.

The winner, Manhattan's Tom Murphy, was clocked in 1:51.6, followed by Ed Moran of the New York Athletic Club.

Linksmen Third in Triangular Match

Alfred was defeated by Harpur 12-6 and Cortland then beat the Saxons 16-2. Eventually, Cortland beat Harpur.

On Wednesday, the Linksmen will meet the University of Rochester at the Wellsville Country Club, and then will travel to Brockport for a meet with Niagara and Brockport.

The following is an excerpt from the letter received by Mr. Schuler.

Columbus discovers the Winston Hemisphere

"Flavor, Ho!" The Admiral Shouted As He Sighted FILTER-BLEND

From the Captain's Log...

One Day Out. Weighed anchor and set sail in search of a filter cigarette that really tastes like a cigarette. Crew thinks this is wild goose chase.

One Week Out. Have sighted many filter cigarettes and smoked same. Crew still thinks the world is flat.

One Month Out. Discovered New World of smoking pleasure:

Winston! It is the only cigarette with a modern filter plus Filter-Blend—rich, golden tobaccos not only specially selected, but also specially processed for filter smoking. Crew now thinks this is a pleasure cruise.

One Year Out. Crew has mutinied. Refuses to go back to the Old World (non-Winston Hemisphere). I agree. Therefore I am founding a colony called Filter-Blend. Colony's motto will be:

Winston tastes good...like a cigarette should!

Band Will Give Final Concert

The Alfred University Band will make its final appearance of the year on Thursday evening, 8 P.M., in Alumni Hall. There will be no admission charged for the concert.

The program will include marches, light classics, and original compositions for band. Among the most popular of these selections are the "Apollo March" by Bruckner, the "Impresario Overture" by Mozart, and the "Blue Tail Fly" by Grundman.

According to Professor Raymond Smith, director of the band, the concert band, or wind ensemble as it is sometimes called, has been considered an equal of the symphony orchestra by many of our contemporary composers. Feeling that this trend is a significant one, the band will emphasize it in this program by including two major compositions in this vein. These are Virgil Thomson's "A Solemn Music" and Gustave Holst's "First Suite in E Flat for Military Band."

The concert is being presented with the idea in mind that many parents may arrive early for the weeked and so it is expected that this will be the first feature of the Parents Weekend program.
