Film Screening

The Art History Division is sponsoring a screening of a new film, "A Woman Like That," about the 17th c. artist Artemisia Gentileschi on Wednesday, March 16. It will be held in Homes Auditorium at 7 p.m.

According to the Web site <http://www.awomanlikethat...>:

Filmmaker Ellen Weissbrod merges her own coming of middle-age story with her pursuit of the truths behind the legends of 17th century female painter Artemisia Gentileschi's dramatic art and life. This unconventional but heartfelt hunt upends typical artist biographies and delivers instead a funny, engaging and all together different kind of documentary.

"a woman like that" is a freewheeling tribute to an artist whose own bold life and inspiring message leaps across centuries to speak to us all. The enduring power of storytelling - in paintings, in films and in our lives is revealed, as the filmmaker learns that who gets to tell the story matters, and that maybe she too, can be "a woman like that."

Think B4 You Speak: Shared Stories

Attention Alfred Students:

Remember the Think Before You Speak t-shirt pledge done last semester to get people to start thinking about how the things they say affect those around them?

This event focused on the usage of the phrase "That's so gay," and other derogatory phrases. There was a survey to go along with the pledge that asked students to contribute a story if they had ever been affected by the phrase, or if they ever used the phrase.

We aren't going to use these stories; although they were anonymous, people didn't know that there was a possibility of them being made public.

That's where you come in. We need your stories. We would like to use them to raise awareness about the usage of these phrases in the context of Alfred University.

If you submit a story it will be completely anonymous, just know that these will be shared with the University.

Please use the attached link to submit stories!
