OFFICIAL NEWSPAPER OF TOWN AND VILLAGE OF ALFRED AND ALFRED-ALMOND CENTRAL SCHOOL DISTRICT

Vol. 134, No. 10 Alfred, Allegany County, New York State, U.S.A. 14802 Thursday, March 7, 2019

Sen. Cathy Young resigns

Young to lead Cornell Center of Excellence for Food, Ag

ALBANY—State Senator Catherine M. Young (R,C,I-57th District) on Thursday, Feb. 28 stepped down, releasing the following statement:

"Serving the people of our region for the past 23 years truly has been the deepest honor of my life, first as a Cattaraugus County legislator, then as a New York State Assemblywoman and Senator. I often have reflected about that sunburned and freckled-faced kid with pigtails who spent so much time working and playing on our farm, always having big hopes and dreams but never realizing that I would someday have the opportunity to find my passion of helping others as a Senator.

"Reaching out a hand to people and communities, growing the economy, nurturing agriculture and being a champion for upstate New York always have been at the top of my priorities. That calling has inspired, driven and fulfilled me, and there have been countless successes over these many years.

"More than anything, people need good-paying jobs to support themselves and their families. Upstate New York needs thriving businesses to provide those jobs and to revitalize our communities. And our farmers need innovative ways to boost profitability.

"Now, there's a new and exciting opportunity to carry on my public service, by not only continuing to work hard for Western New York, but to advance economic growth and prosperity statewide by leading the Center of Excellence for Food and Agriculture at Cornell AgriTech.

"Farming and food manufacturing always have been the bread and butter of our region. To grow New York's food, beverage and agriculture economy by linking them with the incredible innovation, expertise and resources at Cornell AgriTech so they can expand and flourish is a natural extension of my work that I have done as a Senator. We have many outstanding food manufacturers in our region that I have helped grow over the years, and I will continue to work hard to expand all of New York State agriculture economy.

"Cornell University holds special and personal significance to my family and to me. My grandparents toiled and struggled during the great Depression, raising four children on the farm in the hardest of times. In spite of tremendous adversity, they made sure that each of their children focused on getting a good education so that they would have better lives. In 1949, my father went off to Cornell University, and he and his siblings were the first generation in our family to graduate from college.

"My Dad not only showed through his example the vital importance of tenacity and hard work, but he also instilled in me a deep admiration for Cornell. Leaving my job in the Senate – a job that I love – has not been an easy decision and it is bittersweet. I have put my energy, heart and soul into working hard for my district and getting results, and as I travel throughout the region from Ripley to Livonia and everywhere in between, the progress we have made is visible.

"There is no greater privilege than to help others, whether it is comforting and finding aid for those whose homes and businesses were ravaged by flood waters, ensuring that a toddler with a brain tumor received the medical expertise and treatment that she needed, or pinning a long overdue medal on a veteran's chest – these are the experiences that have given me so much and enriched my life.

I have met so many wonderful people along the way and have developed friendships that I treasure. Our brave firefighters and first responders who save property and lives, veterans who have given their all to protect our freedom, outstanding law enforcement who put our safety ahead of theirs, senior citizens who have life experiences that provide lessons for us all, health care workers who provide excellent care, teachers who make sure our children have the best learning opportunities, captains of industry who invest in our economy, small business owners and farmers who are the backbone of our region, citizens who work hard

Alfred State holds drive for animal shelters

ALFRED—From chew toys, to blankets, to treats, and much more, Alfred State College recently collected many different items for local animal shelters in need of food and supplies.

Last month, Jennifer Chiaino, a dispatcher with the State University Police at Alfred State, saw a news story about a local shelter that had taken in a large number of endangered pets.

Chiaino wanted to do something to help, so she began to look around Alfred State for people and organizations who would be interested in partnering with her and the Police Department to do what they could to help. She quickly found three partners: Agriculture and Veterinary Technology Assistant Professor Kathleen Bliss' students, the Psi Delta Omega fraternity, and the Office of Civic Engagement.

"These students really jumped at the chance to help, be present, spread the word, and keep this campaign in the public eye, and it made all the difference in the world," said Chiaino.

Titled "Share the Love," the food and supply drive was designed to collect food, supplies, toys, and funds that are desperately needed by local shelters for the animals in their care. The groups and individuals involved publicized the event using social media and posters around campus.

Additionally, volunteers staffed tables and accepted donations for three days in the Student Leadership Center. At times, they had help from some very friendly dogs from the SPCA who were on-hand to interact with students.

Over the course of the three-day period, the group raised $150 in cash, and collected dog food, cat food, toys, heating pads, blankets, collars, garbage bags, leashes, treats, newspapers, puppy pads, laundry detergent, tissues, chew/tug ropes, food bowls, tennis balls, dog harnesses, biscuits, and bones. All donations were split among the Allegany County SPCA, Hornell Area Humane Society, and the Finger Lakes SPCA.

Chiaino noted, "It felt great to see so many items being delivered to these local shelters. Animals are innocent, they cannot provide for themselves, so I believe that we are charged with the responsibility to do what we can for them."

Phyllis R. Mattison, 88, organist, music teacher, lived to serve others

PHYLLIS R. MATTISON
Lived life in service to others
WHITESVILLE—On Sunday, Feb. 24, 2019, the Holy Spirit wrapped His arms around Phyllis R. Mattison, who had contracted pneumonia, and softly carried her to her eternal home.
Born to Clifford Truman and Edna (Norton) Burdick on the family dairy farm in Andover on Easter Sunday, April 20, 1930, Phyllis' life was centered primarily in Allegany County for the remaining 88 years of her earthly life.

Phyllis attended a one-room schoolhouse near the family home until entering Andover Central School after 6th grade. There she excelled in music. During her youth she was active in Junior Grange, 4-H, and Dairymen's League. Phyllis showed cattle at the Allegany County Fair and was proud of her Victory Garden. One of her 4-H projects still stands today as a grove of evergreens that she planted on the farm.
Phyllis graduated from SUNY at Fredonia in 1952 with a B.A. in Music Education, and later accumulated over 70 graduate hours. She began her teaching career at Rushford Central School, and through the years taught in Whitesville, Wellsville, Alfred-Almond and Richburg Central Schools. Phyllis led classes, bands, and choirs in countless concerts and parades, and conducted All-County Choir. She accompanied many Andover students at Solo-Ensemble Festivals. She loved her school children, especially those she felt were most vulnerable. She retired in 1985.

Phyllis was an accomplished organist and pianist, beginning her career at age ten at the Andover Seventh Day Baptist Church, a position she held until its close in 1956. She transferred her membership to the Alfred Station SDB Church where she remained a life-long member. There she was active as church organist and choir member, also serving as Sabbath School Superintendent and several other positions over the years. Later in life, after retirement and moving to Whitesville, Phyllis enjoyed her involvement with the Chenunda Creek Mennonite Fellowship in Independence, when health permitted.

On August 1, 1953, Phyllis married L. Reid Mattison of Greenwood, at her home in Andover. The two lived in Farmersville Station, Rochester, Ft. Collins Colorado, Tip Top, Andover, Wellsville, and finally in Whitesville. During those years Phyllis employed her many talents from sewing clothes to decorating her home.
Phyllis lived her life in the service of others, being very involved in her community. Her soprano voice rang like a bell, and she was an early member of the Genesee Valley Chorus. She played piano and sang for numerous weddings and funerals. Phyllis was a long time member of the Maple Twig of the Jones Memorial Hospital Auxiliary.
Phyllis loved her Savior Jesus Christ and was a devoted daughter who cherished her family's heritage. She loved her husband all of their 65 years together while they watched over their growing family. She gave of herself fully, being well known and loved by all.

She is survived by her husband, L. Reid Mattison, and children Yvonne Bee of Palmyra, and Christian R. (Rebecca) Mattison of Whitesville; her four grandchildren, Maureen L. Wilsey, Whitesville, Rebekah (Caleb) Schauer, Papillion, Nebraska, Kaitlin (Nicholas) Lee, Guthrie, Oklahoma, and Evan R. Mattison, Whitesville. Phyllis cherished her five great-grandchildren Dayton, Lila and Dawson Schauer; Lorelei and Addelyn Lee.

Phyllis was predeceased by her parents and by her brother Carrol T. Burdick; her sisters, Lorraine Burdick, Jane (Burdick) Sisson; and her son-in-law, Rev. Dr. Ernest K. Bee Jr.
Calling hours will be held from 2 to 4 and 6 to 8 p.m. Friday, March 8 at Baker-Swan Funeral Home in Andover and from 10 to 11 a.m. on Saturday, March 9, followed by a funeral service officiated by Rev. Stephen Richard at the 1st Presbyterian Church of Andover. Phyllis will be interred at Alfred Rural Cemetery. Online condolences may be offered at www.baker-swan.com.
In lieu of flowers, the family suggests donations may be made to Hospice and Home Care, 194 N Main St, Wellsville, NY 14895 or to St. Jude's Children's Hospital, P.O. Box 1000 Dept. 142 Memphis, TN 38148-0142.

COMMUNITY NEWS

Yarn Over event to aid Hart Comfort House

ALFRED STATION—A Community Making Project organized by Yarn Over and to benefit Hart Comfort House is underway now through the end of March.

All makers are invited to participate: knitters, crocheters, quilters, sewers, etc.

Yarn Over is a new yarn store in Alfred Station. Formerly Alfred Knitting Studio, the store was re-opened in August 2018 and is now owned by Amie Acton.

•Yarn Over will be collecting handmade teddy bears and lap robes for Hart Comfort House in Wellsville.

•Teddy bears are for residents and their families and bring comfort to a difficult period of life

•Yarn Over has knit, crochet, and sewn bear patterns available for free to participants

•Lap robes are a specific request to keep residents warm and cozy while sitting upright in chairs or beds

•People can make a whole lap robe by themselves or with a group of friends or send in squares that measure 9"x9" to Yarn Over

This is the first of hopefully many such projects the store hopes to organize. Finished items can be dropped off at Yarn Over: 569 State Route 244 in Alfred Station, just down the road from the Canacadea Country Store. They can also be mailed to the same address.

People who want to get in touch with the store can do so at 607-587-8002, yarnoveralfred@gmail.com, www.yarnoveralfred.com, or through Facebook or Instagram

At the end of March a tally will be made of all items collected and will be delivered to the Hart Comfort House.

Scene About Alfred

By SHERRY VOLK
Alfred Sun Columnist

About two miles out toward our three-miles-out destination, Cattail Falls in Big Bend National Park, we encountered a National Park survey crew. They were looking at plants, animals, and conditions in this area of the Chihuahuan Desert. This woman, who posed so pleasantly, was carrying a life vest, so, of course, we asked her why. National Park rules require, as she said, "...that if there's even a glass of water, there must be a life jacket." The crew was returning from Cattail Falls, where they had measured the depth of water in the small pool there, so they carried that life vest six miles in the hot, dry desert. It was not used in the ankle-deep water.

Str8 Eight tourney set March 8

ALFRED—February saw local high school student, Ben Carstens, storm out with strong scores in the first two rounds then coast into the final round with a commanding lead.

But, that is when his luck ran out as Andover resident (and mother-in-law of the game's inventor), Linda Sootheran, who started the evening with a negative first round score, came all the way back to snatch the gift card with an extremely Alfred total of 587 points!

Can Linda defend her title this month or will Ben be able to put together four solid rounds of Str8 Eight? Come on out to the Terra Cotta Coffee House at 8 p.m. on Friday evening, March 8 to find out or see if you can topple them both and go home with the $25 gift card.

Visit <http://str8-eight.com> for more information on how to play.

SUNNY SIDE UP

A bean soup simmerin' in the crock pot

[Editor's Note: Like most of the recipes she shared with our readers over the past couple of decades, Ellen Shultz's Sunny Side Up columns are worth repeating.]

How about a bean soup you can assemble in your crockpot and then forget about it all day and come back to a delicious meal that night? This came from the Better Homes and Gardens magazine for February 1992. It calls for a 3 1/2-4 quart crock pot, but even with that I find the soup boils over. I am printing the recipe as it was written, but I use only 2 1/2 c. water and 1/4 c. wine and still have to set my crock pot in the sink when I leave it because of the bubble over. I skim the fat from the soup before serving.

Tuscan Sausage and Bean Soup

1 1/4 c. dry great northern beans 1/4 lb. Italian sausage links
4 c. cold water cut in 1/2 inch slices
1 (14 oz.) can beef broth 1 med. onion, chopped
1 (14 oz.) can whole Italian style 1/3 c. dry red wine tomatoes, cut up 1 clove garlic, minced
1 med. yellow summer squash 1/2 tsp. dried Italian season-or zucchini, sliced (2 c.) ing, crushed
1/2 of 10 oz. pkg. chopped spinach

The night before: Rinse beans, soak in the water in a covered container overnight. In the crock pot combine and undrained tomatoes, beef broth, squash, sausage, onion, wine, garlic, and Italian seasoning. Cover and chill overnight. Place the package of spinach in a bowl and chill overnight to thaw.

The next morning: Drain beans and rinse thoroughly. Add to tomato mixture in crock pot. Cook covered, on high setting for 6 to 8 hours or on low for 11 to 12 hours or until beans are tender.

To serve: Squeeze excess liquid from spinach. Stir into soup before serving. If desired, sprinkle with Parmesan cheese.

JANITORIAL
On Saxon Warriors!

By DAVID L. SNYDER
Editor, Publisher and Janitor

They did a lot of good for Alfred and for Alfred University. The 2018-19 Alfred University men's basketball team was good. Real good. But we aren't just talking about the fact that this bunch won more games (24) than any other AU men's basketball team, (excepting of course that fabulous 1985-86 team that won in the first round of the NCAA Division III National Tournament.) This group is good on the court and off.

Back in September, the team volunteered as officials for the first annual Almond Community Day Greg's Game 3-on-3 Basketball Tournament. The Greg Norton Memorial Park Committee sponsored the tournament as a fund-raiser and to raise awareness of the committee's plans to rebuild the park.

As a participant, I don't remember any of their calls being contested or argued. They were good. They got them right. I remember being called for a foul by Scotty Stopera after I shoved the bigger opponent out of bounds. "That's a push," Scotty said after blowing his whistle. "Well I thought it was a pretty good push, don't you think?" I answered.

But to get to the point, this team-focused bunch captured the hearts of the Alfred University and the Alfred Community. One friend has told me repeatedly, "They're such good shooters!" That same friend brought his wife and son to games and he said that it lifted them from the seasonal depression many experience during these dark wintry days.

Thank you to each and every member of the team and the Empire 8 Coaching Staff of the Year led by Coach Russ Phillips. Well done, Saxons! Congratulations on a great season!

"I also have been blessed with outstanding staff who have tremendous accomplishments in helping our constituents, and I am thankful for their service to the people in our region.

"And finally, I need to give my heartfelt thanks and love to my family – my husband, Dick, and my children – Maureen and Jerry, Patrick and Sydney, and Rich and Kait and grandson Rowan – who have been very supportive and have made sacrifices along the way. Being a Senator has been a labor of love. Thank you to everyone for allowing me to have the most rewarding experience of a lifetime."

Allegany County Legislative Board Chairman Curt Crandall issued the following statement in regard to her resignation:

"The Allegany County Board of Legislators shares a sentimental, mixed-emotion, response to the announcement made by Senator Cathy Young that she will be stepping down as New York State Senator from the 57th District.

"While Allegany County is saddened to see Senator Young leave her current position, at the same time they are excited for her and her new position knowing that the decision by the Senator was not made lightly. Senator Young has been a passionate and effective advocate of issues important to Allegany County citizens. From our veterans and senior citizens, to our first responders in the Fire and EMT Departments, to our roads and bridges, cancer services, health matters, highway and infrastructure issues, and agriculture, there was nothing that Cathy Young wouldn't take on for the people of Allegany County.

"We are going to miss Cathy Young a great deal" Crandall continued, "She has gone to bat for our County so many times it's impossible to describe the gratitude we have for her. She has been an integral part of all major projects since she first became Senator as well as our Assembly Representative before that, and we are so proud of her.

"While she will certainly be missed as Senator, Allegany County is glad to know that Cathy Young's new position as Director of the New York State Center of Excellence for Food and Agriculture at Cornell AgriTech will keep her in a key position tied to economic development through agriculture which is so important to them and those in the farming community as well higher education and existing food processing sectors in the County," Crandall said.

ALFRED UNIVERSITY RUSSELL LECTURE

'Mississippi 1966: Birth of Black Power Movement'

ALFRED—Aram Goudsouzian, chair of the History Department at the University of Memphis, will present Alfred University's annual Russell Lecture on Monday, March 18, at 7:30 p.m. in Nevins Theater, Powell Campus Center. Goudsouzian will give a lecture titled "Mississippi 1966: the Birth of the Black Power Movement.

Goudsouzian's research is in 20th century American history, with a focus on race, politics, and culture. The majority of his books and articles have examined the era of the Civil Rights movement from a variety of angles. He has taught courses on the Civil Rights movement, the modern United States, and the history of American sports, as well as survey courses on African American history and the United States since 1877.

In his lecture, Goudsouzian will discuss the beginning of the Black Power Movement in 1966, which followed the attempted assassination of James Meredith, an African American student who integrated the University of Mississippi four years earlier. Meredith was shot by a sniper shortly after embarking on "The March Against Fear," a civil rights march that was to take him from Memphis to Jackson, TN, in an attempt to encourage voter registration by African Americans in the South. The episode is chronicled in Goudsouzian's 2015 book, Down to the Crossroads: Civil Rights, Black Power and the Meredith March Against Fear.

Following the attempt on Meredith's life, other civil rights activists, including Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and Stokely Carmichael, continued the march on his behalf, which ultimately gave rise to the emergence of the Black Power Movement.

The Black Power Movement centered around the belief among many African Americans after 1966 that the actual application of black power backed by the threat of violence – as opposed to the non-violence promoted by Dr. King – would be necessary to persuade white America to grant equal rights to all citizens regardless of race.

The Russell Lecture, sponsored by the Alfred University College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the Division of Human Studies, has been conducted annually since 1970. It honors the memory of Willis Russell, former historian and department chair, who taught at AU from 1926 until his retirement in 1964. Each year, the lecture brings a nationally recognized historian to campus to deliver an address.

DAVID A. HOWE PUBLIC LIBRARY

Sci-Fi book club offers monthly meetings

WELLSVILLE—The David A. Howe Public Library is starting a science fiction themed book club, which will lead into this year's Summer Reading program, a "Universe of Stories." The book club will be bouncing between classic titles and more contemporary books.

First up is Isaac Asimov's 1954 detective story, Caves of Steel, with a meeting at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 26. That will be followed by Andy Weir's 2017 Artemis at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 30, with more books to follow.

Isaac Asimov was a giant of science fiction, especially in the 50s, with his Foundations series. Throughout his career, Asimov won dozens of awards, and he won the Hugo Award for Best Novel twice for The Gods Themselves and Foundation's Edge. Asimov believed that science fiction could be adapted into any genre of storytelling and he used the Caves of Steel, a futuristic detective story, to advocate this belief.

The David A. Howe Public Library has a robust science fiction and fantasy collection that provides adults with a wide variety of choices. Popular modern authors, such as John Scalzi, Kim Stanley Robinson and Brandon Sanderson are constantly updated, and the library carries a large amount of series, such as George R.R. Martin's A Song of Ice and Fire, James S. A. Corey's The Expanse and Andrzej Sapkowski's The Witcher series.

You can also find new award winners, like N.K. Jemisin's Broken Earth trilogy and Liu Cixin's Three Body Problem. They also are constantly bringing in classics of the genre and, with access to libraries all over the Southern Tier, can provide readers with a galaxy of options.

To see upcoming book club dates, times, and selections, please visit the library website at davidahowelibrary.org, contact them at (585) 593-3410, or feel free to stop by the library main desk.

Eric Mikols and Nic Gunning of the David A. Howe Library show off some of the Sci-Fi Book Club selections for this year.

Glass professor has work exhibited in Ireland

ALFRED—Karen Donnellan, assistant professor of glass in the School of Art and Design, Alfred University, will have some of her work exhibited in an upcoming show in Navan, Ireland.

The show, "Music + Maker," opens Saturday, March 9, at the Solstice Gallery in Navan, and runs through May 24. The show is a "contemporary collaboration of artists and musicians/composers who come together in diverse ways," according to show organizers with the Solstice Gallery.

"Complementary disciplines that enable the creation of new forms of knowledge ultimately assist us in understanding more about the world around us, and ourselves. It is natural then, given their innate sympatico, that many collaborations and joint projects in which the visual and sound combine to form a coherent whole, have evolved from partnerships between artists and musicians. Music + Maker here speaks both of collaboration and relationships that are sometimes ephemeral, sometimes augmented over years, but ultimately are created with a sincere poetic grace and mutual understanding."

Donnellan collaborated with composer Alma Kelliher for the Music + Maker show. Other artists and musicians who are participating include Alice Maher, David Sylvian, and PJ Harvey.

Donnellan, a native of Ireland, has exhibited internationally, at venues including the Irish Museum of Contemporary Art, Dublin; Tushanwan Museum, Shanghai; and the Burchfield Penney Art Center, Buffalo. She is a past recipient of the Langley Kenzie Endowment Award.

A Case for Conviction and Hope: Epigenetics Part 3

The study of epigenetics has shown that our environment has a huge impact upon how genes are expressed. Thus, our health can be devastated or restored, depending on the types of stressors in our life. For this reason, epigenetics provides a case for conviction. However, any negative effects can be countered, and even overpowered, with the truth that we can dictate how we respond to our environment. When we choose to be proactive, we walk in hope and grow in health.

To further establish this hope, I will highlight how our environment governs our heritage and our legacy of health.

First, our epigenome (control center for our genes) is influenced by our parents' environment. This is because the environment that influenced their epigenome and thus their genes, impacted the vulnerability of our genes to our current environment. For example, if parents eat a diet devastating to their blood sugar system, they may weaken their health and develop diabetes. This has the potential to influence their offsprings' gene vulnerability to diabetes.

On the contrary, if parents choose whole foods over processed ingredients, they will equip their body with robust gene health. Additionally, a mother's lifestyle during pregnancy impacts the epigenome of her developing baby. And, because a female baby's lifetime supply of eggs is created when she's growing in her mother's womb, it can also impact these eggs, and eventually the children they may become. In this way, the activity of the pregnant mother can even touch the lives of her grandchildren.

This provides conviction for parents to eat healthy, with the hope that by doing so, they will empower their children's health. However, regardless of the heritage of health we've received from our parents, we now have the opportunity to build our own legacy of health.

I have laid the groundwork in previous writings for a thriving lifestyle. [1] We greatly determine our level of health by our habits of nutrition, sleep, exercise, recreation, relationships (emotional health), and life purpose (spiritual health), etc. Know that such choices can determine not only our gene expression and the health of our offspring, but may affect multiple generations!

If bearing children is not applicable, do not think that your impact on the next generation has ceased. On the contrary, you can always be a voice for the restoration of health in today's culture. You do this primarily by example. As people watch the way you "walk," they are impacted by the level of freedom they see in your health.

We are influenced by our past, but not bound by it. Allow the conviction of epigenetics to motivate you to execute change for yourself, and those you love.

‘Matter of Balance’ program will address ‘fear of falling’

BELMONT—Do you have friends, family members or clients/patients who turn down a chance to go out with family or friends because they are concerned about falling? Do they have a fear of falling? If so, A Matter of Balance: Managing Concerns About Falls is a program for them!

Fear of falling can be just as dangerous as falling itself. People who develop this fear often limit their activities, which can result in severe physical weakness, making the risk of falling even greater. Many older adults also experience increased isolation and depression when they limit their interactions with family and friends. A Matter of Balance can help people improve their quality of life and remain independent.

A Matter of Balance is designed to reduce the fear of falling and increase activity levels among older adults age 60 years and older. Participants learn to set realistic goals to increase activity, change their environment to reduce fall risk factors, and learn simple exercises to increase strength and balance.

Ardent Solutions offers the course “A Matter of Balance: Managing Concerns About Falls,” with sessions beginning Monday, March 18 and ending Wednesday, April 10. Classes will be held from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays at the St. Philips Episcopal Church Parish Hall, 12 Willets Avenue, Belmont. Classes are open to the public. Do It Yourself Corned Beef

DIY CORNED BEEF

Here's What You Need:

1 gallon water
1 cup Himalayan Pink/ Sea salt
3 Tbsp pickling spices (you can make your own or buy a pre-made mix)
2 bay leaves
1/2 cup brown sugar
3-5lb Organic Beef Brisket (locally sold at Sunny Cove Farm)

Combine water, salt, spices, sugar in large stockpot. Bring to boil over high heat; stir until salt and sugar are dissolved-3 minutes. Remove from heat and cool to room temperature. Select container to cure the meat in--glass Pyrex works well but avoid using anything plastic or metal. Place brisket in container and pour cooled brine on top. Weigh the brisket down with a heavy plate to ensure it's completely submerged. Cover, transfer to refrigerator. After 4 to 6 days, remove brisket from brine and discard the brine. Rinse brisket well in cold water and cook according to your favorite recipe! I love making boiled dinner or Reuben sandwiches and the leftovers freeze nicely.

ALFRED UNIVERSITY

Pamela Lavin Bernstein Center for Advising opens

ALFRED—Alfred University's Pamela Lavin Bernstein Center for Advising officially opened its doors during a grand opening Thursday afternoon. The Center, made possible by a gift from alumna Pamela Lavin Bernstein '71, will strengthen student retention by combining the efforts of faculty and professional academic advisors.

The Center for Advising is located on the third floor of Powell Campus Center, in renovated space that houses four offices, a computer lab, and reception area. It is staffed by Executive Director Nadine Shardlow, who also serves as director of the University's HEOP/EOP opportunity programs, and a team of three professional academic advisors: Kassie McCarn, Shelby O'Rourke and Mariah Evans.

"It's wonderful to have this resource. We at Alfred owe it to our students," said Bernstein, who was on hand for the opening. "It truly enhances their experience."

The academic success coaching program has been operating since the beginning of the 2018-19 semester; it was housed temporarily in Scholes Library before moving into the new space in Powell Campus Center. Academic advisors are serving as coaches to a portion of the University's first-year students, helping them to stay on track to complete their degrees on time.

"The academic coaching model is not unique to Alfred, but it's particularly well suited to us, so the Strategic Retention Council made this recommendation two years ago to increase student success and graduation rates," said Kathy Woughter, vice president of Student Affairs.

When working with students, the academic advisors will coordinate with the Career Development Center, Financial Aid Office, and the Center for Academic Success, as well as the faculty advisors, to help students identify the appropriate path to a degree, and ultimately to a career. Woughter explained that the program is running as a pilot this year, with approximately half of first-year students participating. Ultimately, it will be offered to all first-year students, with plans to offer student-to-student peer advising.

"We expect the Center to serve as a great training opportunity for graduate students who want a career in student affairs/advising," Woughter said. Alfred University offers a master's degree program in College Student Development, which helps prepare future student affairs professionals.

Woughter thanked Bernstein, a longtime supporter of initiatives aimed at helping Alfred University students achieve success, for making the Center for Advising a reality.

"We are thrilled that Pam Bernstein shared our vision and made both the physical space and the staffing possible for us as part of a broader set of strategies to enhance success," Woughter commented. "Even though her background is not in higher education, Pam is more of an expert in student success strategies than most professionals in the field at this point! I couldn't be happier to work with a great partner like Pam."

Through her previous gifts to Alfred University, Bernstein has created scholarships, provided travel grants and leadership gifts that help students benefit from applied and experiential learning opportunities. As a charter member of what is now the Judson Leadership Center's Advisory Board, Bernstein has been tireless in her efforts on behalf of the leadership program. She also created the Pamela Lavin Bernstein Women of Influence Speaker Series that allows the University to bring in high-profile speakers who are leaders in a wide variety of professions.

Video of ArtForce 5 feature now online

ALFRED—The NFL Network has posted video of a program featuring Alfred University's Art Force 5. The special edition of the NFL Network's Emmy-nominated NFL 360 series, titled Black and Blue, recognizes the city of Atlanta's first African-American police officers.

Art Force 5 is a program at Alfred University that uses community-based art to inspire discussion on topics of equality and social justice. A group of current Alfred University students and alumni representing Art Force 5 spent parts of two weeks in January in Atlanta, host of the Feb. 3 Super Bowl, working on a project honoring the city's first African-American police officers, who were hired in 1948.

Trent Cooper, a 1992 Alfred University graduate and producer of original content for the NFL Network, directed the segment on Art Force 5, which invited members of the Atlanta community to paint canvas tiles that were used to create mosaics depicting the eight police officers.

Timbrook Camp Scholarship awarded

RUSHFORD—Kylie Montague of Swain has been selected as recipient of an environmental camp scholarship created in memory of Emily Timbrook.

Emily was a former Camp Rushford attendee and volunteer from Alfred Station who died tragically in a car accident in April 2009.

Emily's parents, Barbara and Tim Timbrook, worked with the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) and the National Heritage Trust to establish a summer camp scholarship fund in Emily's name to encourage other young people to get outdoors and appreciate nature as Emily did. Funds are used for "camper-ships" to send one returning camper to Camp Rushford for free. Kylie was selected from an essay she wrote about her first-year experience at DEC's Camp Rushford in Caneadea last summer.

A-A senior awarded scholarship for Students Inside Albany program

ALMOND—Mikaela Wisniewski, a senior at Alfred-Almond Central School, has been selected to attend this year's Students Inside Albany program sponsored by the League of Women Voters of New York State Education Foundation, Inc. This scholarship entitles Mikaela to attend the conference completely free of charge. Transportation costs to and from Albany are also included by the local League.

This 19th annual conference will take place from May 19-22 and will bring 60 students from across the state to Albany to get a first hand education about their state government.

The program is designed to increase high school students' awareness of their responsibility in representative government and provide information about the tools necessary for meeting that responsibility.

While at the conference, students will join their peers in a hands on learning experience about how state government works. Students will participate in a series of interactive lectures on topics such as the state budget process, the role of lobbyists in the legislative process, citizen rights to access government information, the role of media in politics and the move to reform state government.

While in Albany, the students will have an opportunity to tour the state's Capitol. The highlight for most students is the opportunity to shadow their Senators and Assemblymembers for an afternoon session on the Chamber floors.

For more information on the Cattaraugus and Allegany Counties chapter of the League of Women Voters, please email cattarauguslww@gmail.com or call 716-904-1327. For more information about the NYS League, please visit www.lwvny.org (Photo) British author-scientist C.P. Snow and United States Senator Claiborne Pell (D-RI) will be the principal speakers March 26 at ceremonies dedicated a $2.5 million science center at Alfred University. Both will receive honorary degrees of doctor of science in “recognition of distinguished attainments” and will take part later in the dday in a symposium on science education for the 21st century...

The problem of safety on Jericho Hill Road in Alfred was found not to have a single cure, at a meeting of local residents, town board members and county highway officials in the Administration Building at Alfred Ag-Tech. Residents on Jericho Hill met with town and county officials to discuss the problem and to propose improvements...

“St. Pat Shoots for the Moon” is the theme of the 36th annual St. Pat’s Weekend at Alfred University March 14 and 15. Since St. Patrick is the patron saint of ceramic engineers, the weekend is sponsored by the College of Ceramics and the St. Pat’s Board. Classes will be cancelled on Friday afternoon as the weekend festival will open with a parade on Main Street in Alfred at 1:30 p.m. The parade will feature floats submitted by fraternities and sororities, the queen candidates, and several bands. St. Pat makes his dramatic appearance each year during the parade. The manner of his arrival is a well-kept secret. In past years, he has arrived in a police car, has parachuted into town, driven in on a brewery wagon and a fire truck and even climbed up out of the sewers....

Gerrit Benjamins of Alfred, a junior at Alfred University, is a member of Alfred’s St. Pat’s Board, a group of students who plan the annual St. Pat’s Weekend, a tradition originating in Alfred’s College of Ceramics. Alfred Tech, boasting a 20-6 overall season’s record, will clash with Monroe County Community College this afternoon in the opening round of the Region 3 Junior College basketball tourney in Binghamton. The eight-team field will be matched in four games today on the Broome Tech court. After the 2 p.m. opener involving Alfred and Monroe CC, Canton Tech will fact Chamberlayne Junior College of Boston, Mass., at 4 p.m. Tonight, Johnson and Wales College of Providence, RI will tackle Fulton-Montgomery CC at 7 p.m. and then host Broome Tech will meet Niagara CC at 9...If Alfred gets past Monroe it will face the winner of the Johnson and Wales vs. Fulton-Montgomery battle in the semifinals. The Pioneers defeated Monroe CC by 17 points during the regular season and, in fact, it was this victory that started Dick Giedlin’s club off on a 14-game winning streak...It’s possible that the regional finals could be a re-match between the Pioneers and the Broome Tech Hornets. They locked horns last Saturday in a hectic struggle that the Hornets won to capture the Empire State Conference crown...The tourney winner will earn the right to represent Region 3 in the National Junior College Athletic Association competition in Hutchinson, Kansas.

“Shake the chill of winter” by attending the 28th annual flower and garden show at Alfred State College set for Saturday and Sunday, March 19-20. That’s the invitation being issued to winter-weary Western New York and Northern Tier Pennsylvania residents by horticulture students at Alfred State. As in past years, thousands are expected to attend one of the earliest floral exhibits in the East—scheduled two weeks before Easter. This year’s theme is “A Land of Enchantment”...

Notes from Palmiter Hill (By Rev. Albert N. Rogers) Sorting over my books I discovered that I have two large dictionaries. Obviously I need only one, so I have taken the second to the PAL bookstand on West University Street hoping someone will take it and make use of it. The other books I have taken there have all been picked up...Last week I finished cataloging the letters of my grandmother sent to her daughter in New York City and later in the suburb of Great Neck. It is a fascinating story of life in the suburbs of New York City and the good life they had, coming to our upstate village every summer for a vacation. A few years in Alfred helped her of course...The old deacon would habitually repeat his favorite Bible verse in the church prayer meeting, “I’d rather be a doorkeeper in the house of the Lord than to dwell in the tents of wickedness.” A bored boy added under his breath, “that’s better than being a doormat.”

Service Notes: Navy Seaman Apprentice Ronald H. Cornell, son of Ronald O. and Christine J. Cornell of Route 1, Andover, recently reported for duty aboard the guided missile cruiser USS Lake Champlain, homeported in San Diego. He joined the Navy in August 1992...Air Force Airman Chad B. Mothersell has completed the inventory management specialist course at Lowry Air Force Base, Denver. Mothersell is the son of Kerry J. Mothersell of Alfred Station and Bruce R. Mothersell of Andover. Mothersell is a 1993 graduate of Alfred-Almond Central School.

Snyde Remarks (By David L. Snyder) There have been many technological changes in the production of a weekly newspaper over the past 32 years. Some I have eagerly embraced; others, quite frankly, challenge me. I have balked at the move to on-screen page production...but I’m hoping to hurdle that in the months to come. It seems like just yesterday that I began with the Sun and used a typewriter to prepare news copy for the paper. The late Gene Van Horn took my typewritten copy and, using his state-of-the-art Compugraphic typesetting computer, typed the stories onto a coded ribbon of paper. That ribbon of coded paper was then fed into a huge computer that, based on Gene’s coded paper, justified the copy and printed it onto photo paper, which was then processed and hung to dry. Corrections were noted, lines retyped and pasted over the errors. Soon, Sun Publishing acquired a Compu-graphic 7500. By then, I had assumed responsibility for typing all of the Sun every week and also set up commercial print jobs for Sun Publishing. With the advent of “desktop publishing” and the personal computer, production of the Sun went through more changes. Now, I am able to produce the paper from my home office. And now working at Herrick Library for the past eight years, I have found that the typewriter has become somewhat extinct. On rare occasion, a patron will ask if there is a typewriter for public use with which to fill out a paper application. Typewriters have become a rare find...All this talk of typewriters takes me back in time. Also taking me back in time was this week’s news of the death of 90-year-old radio newsman Paul Harvey. I have the fond memory of sitting at my grandparents’ kitchen counter at lunchtime, listening with “Bepa” to Paul Harvey News and Comment on WLEA on his tabletop transistor radio. Harvey had a knack for reporting on the day’s headlines, offering his own common sense observations, pushing Bose radios, and always leaving his listeners with a laugh and his distinctive radio signature...Good Day!

THE GLORY OF AMERICA

Thursday, March 7

Chaplain J. William Jones, accompanied by Stonewall Jackson's chaplain, B.T. Lacey, visited Robert E. Lee in his tent. As they were about to leave, Mr. Lacey told the General that all the chaplains were praying for him. According to Jones, tears came to Lee's eyes, as he replied:

"Please thank them for that, sir--I warmly appreciate it. And I can only say that I am nothing but a poor sinner, trusting in Christ alone for salvation, and need of all the prayers they can offer for me."

‘Prayer Works’ theme of March 10 event

SCIO--How prayer has worked in remarkable ways to help grow a local church and expand its outreach to the community, unity of purpose with several other Allegany County churches and common themes for community transformation and revival will be the focus of a Sunday, March 10 Journey to Transformation prayer, praise and worship gathering of Alle-gany County churches and interested individuals.

Prayer Works! will be a theme of the Mission Genesee Valley coalition of churches, other Christian organizations and individuals 6 to 8 p.m. March 10 event at Knights Creek Church, 2987 Knights Creek Road (County Road 9), Scio. A time of fellowship and refreshments will follow.

Short videos also will be presented on the impact of prayer and community transformation and revival in other U.S. locations.

Rev. Carl Kemp, church pastor, says that members of the congregation started a year and a half ago joining in prayer from 6:30 to 7:30 a.m. every weekday for individual, family, church, other churches, community, county, state, national, and world concerns.

Soon thereafter, he said, the church started to see God moving both within the church and the broader community, leading to a multitude of happenings that continue to evolve.

Not only has the church seen significant overall growth in the past several months, he said, but its efforts in the community have been enhanced, both as a church and with other churches.

The pastor said "it is nothing we have done, other than to be obedient to what God has put on our hearts as a church."

Pastor Kemp said the church is being blessed by its emphasis on prayer and how to use its resources for God's purposes, of which the church is a part, rather than focusing on the church and its programs.

"God is connecting each one of these pieces in different ways," he said, "blessing us by being a blessing to others."

Journey to Transformation prayer gatherings for host sites, communities and other concerns also will be held from 7 to 8 p.m. during the month, including March 8 at the Hope Center, 4194 Bolivar Road - Suite 5, Wellsville; March 15 at First Trinity Lutheran Church, 470 North Main Street, Wellsville; and March 29 at Alfred Almond Bible Church, 6751 State Route 21, Almond.

Alfred State Archery on target at Indoor Nationals

ALFRED—Nine members of the Alfred State Archery team recently traveled to Lancaster, PA, to compete in the 50th USA Archery Indoor National Championships. The team held its own against colleges from around the country, and ended up with several strong finishes in both regional and national competitions.

The championship event is held over a three-day weekend and contested at different regional sites throughout the US. The combined results determine national awards.

First-year student Nathan

Summerville, mechanical engineering technology, Fulton, led the way with a first-place finish in men’s compound at the regional site, and a national finish of sixth place (national combined results not certified yet at time of release). Senior Joshua Harp, surveying and geomatics engineering technology, Farmington, finished third in men’s compound within the regional competition, and 11th in the national combined results.

First-year student Robert “Jay” Lawrence, surveying and geomatics engineering technology, Fort Ann, finished second in Lancaster and eighth in the nation. The indoor championships are a target round shot from 18 meters at a vertical target face featuring three round, colored bullseyes. Archers shoot 60-arrow rounds over two days (120 scored arrows total).

In addition to Summerville, Harp, and Lawrence, Alfred State Archery team members Jacob Pollock, mechanical engineering technology, Franklinville; Jacob Houseknecht, culinary arts, Candor; Jacob Patanella, mechanical engineering technology, Churchville; Tim Moran, mechanical engineering technology, Syracuse; Reice Woodward, criminal justice, Oakfield; and Tristin Brown, electrical construction and maintenance electrician, Cincinnati, also competed in the Indoor National Championships.

Coach Greg Sammons (USA Archery Level 3-NTS) was proud of the team, adding, “I’m thrilled with the performances of the team. Archery performance requires a strong mental program to work in concert with physical skills and a solid equipment setup, and our first-year Pioneers really responded with a lot of mental grit in their first national tournament. This is exciting for the trajectory of Alfred State Archery over the next few years.”

The Alfred State Archery Team is a member of the USA Archery Collegiate Archery program. The team has upcoming regional shoots before traveling in April to the USA Archery East Regional Outdoor Target Championships being hosted in Harrisonburg, VA.

The stately home of Col George Williams was once a landmark in the town of Portage. Its story is part of a historical program to be given at the Nunda Historical Society March 13.

Genesee Valley Greenway topic of Nunda program

NUNDA—The Nunda Historical Society has announced a change in topics for its March 13 program. The originally scheduled “History of Cartwright’s Maple Tree Inn” is postponed until later in the year. Instead, local historian Tom Cook will present “Rambles Through History – Exploring the past along the Genesee Valley Greenway in the Town of Portage.”

Hiking along the Greenway not only takes you through nature, it is also a journey through time. Tom’s program will explore the fascinating history of the lands along the Genesee Valley Greenway in the town of Portage from the days of the Seneca People through the early 20th century. Using maps, newspapers accounts, early photographs and local folk lore, Tom will share stories of canal and railroad days, noted residents and houses, local disasters, the Underground Railroad, a local murder and much more.

Information on George Williams, whose small family cemetery lies hidden on Short Tract Road and the nearby “haunted house” that once belonged to John Barber will also be included. The program begins at 7 p.m. at the Nunda Historical Building located at 24 Portage Road in Nunda (next to Kiwanis Park.). Admission is free and visitors can also visit the Nunda Museum and Rose Shave Art Gallery before and after the program. There is plenty of parking and the building is handicapped accessible.

For more information, including the 2019 schedule of the Society’s historical programs and activities, go to www.nundahistory.org or call 585-465-0971.

ALFRED UNIVERSITY SPORTS ROUND-UP

Saxons defeat Ramapo, 92-76, fall to host CNU, 88-53

NEWPORT NEWS, VA—Senior Dom LeMorta (Scotia-Glenville) surpassed 1,000 points in the NCAA men's basketball second round, scoring 28 points as Alfred University men's basketball's (24-5, 14-2 Empire 8) historic season came to a close against #9 Christopher Newport Saturday evening.

The Saxons finished the season with the second most wins in program history (24) and tied a program record for consecutive wins (14). The 2018-19 squad is only the second team in program history to advance to the NCAA tournament second round, joining the 1985-86 team as the only teams to win a game in the NCAA tournament.

LeMorta led the Saxons offensively for the second consecutive night, scoring 28 points against the eight-ranked defense in the nation. Fellow senior Scotty Stopera (Scotia-Glenville) chalked up 12 points to accompany four rebounds and three assists. Senior Sage Brown (Cortland) had a team-high five rebounds to go with four points.

The Saxons came out of the gates slow, falling behind the Captains 22-5 in the opening seven minutes. AU finally settled in towards the end of the half but still trailed, 49-26. LeMorta led AU with eight points while fellow Scotia native Stopera poured in seven points.

The Captains took advantage of the long ball shooting 12-of-20 (60.0%) in the first half while the Saxons shot just 10-of-28 (35.7%) and trailed CNU 49-26 at the half time

LeMorta opened the second half with a bang, hitting from three-point land, surpassing 1,000 points in his career. He was not finished as he went on to score 17 more points in the half, getting to 1,018 points for his career. LeMorta moved to 20th on the all-time scoring list in AU history. He wrapped up his year with 591 points after scoring 427 points in his previous three years. Following the highlight from LeMorta, the Captains increased their lead down the stretch to take the victory, 88-53.

"It means a lot to me," LeMorta said about scoring 1,000 points and being one of the top scorers in program history. "But as these guys [his team] know, I just want to win and that was the biggest thing for me coming here freshman year. We wanted to set a culture here. When we left here, we said we wanted to give it everything we had and make this program better so that when we left it was only going to get better. And the guys that are on the team right now, we believe in and they are going to be great players."

Over the course of the game, CNU shot 31-of-66 (47.0%) from the field, including 16-of-34 (47.1%) from behind the arc. The Saxons ended the evening on 22-of-64 (34.4%) shooting.

AU will say goodbye to the senior class of LeMorta, Stopera, Brown and Pat McLamore Jr. (Greensboro, NC/Aquinas Institute). The group is responsible for a 62-44 (0.585) overall record in the last four years. In addition to LeMorta joining the ranks of the top scorers in school history, Brown moved up the ranks of the best rebounders in school history, finishing his career 12th all-time with 641 rebounds. Stopera finished his career with 318 total assists and 705 points in his career while McLamore scored 143 points and 61 assists in two years.

"The seniors set the foundation for the team and hopefully the young guys can keep competing for league titles year in and year out," Head Coach Russell Phillips said recapping what this season means for the AU men's basketball program. "We want that to be the expectation, where just making the playoffs isn't the goal anymore."

Brown commented after the game when asked about how he wants to be remembered, "I want to be remembered as the kid that went out there and gave it his all every day. I don't think I was better than a lot of kids, but I just gave it my all and that's how I want to be remembered. And I wanted to go out a champion - and we were Empire 8 champions. I'd rather be known as a team player. I would rather win than worry about statistics. Winning the Empire 8 championship was our goal when we came in as freshman and we got it done."

Papin gets E8 tennis honor
Junior John Papin (Rochester/Harley School) was named the Empire 8 Men's Tennis Player of the Week on Monday afternoon.

Papin had two of the most convincing wins during AU's 8-1 victory over Pitt-Bradford.

He first helped the Saxons sweep doubles as he teamed with fellow junior Reeder Bruffey (Corning-Painted Post) at #3 doubles for an 8-2 win. Then, in singles, Papin swept his opponent at the #4 lineup spot, 6-0, 6-0.

Diver in NCAAs
The Saxon divers finished the final day of the NCAA Division III Regional Championships at Rochester Institute of Technology on Saturday.

Senior Chris Deaver (Warwick/ Warwick Valley) led the way with an eighth place finish on the 3-meter board. He scored 463.50 points on Saturday while scoring 453.95 points on the 1-meter board on Friday to take fifth. Junior Victoria Cramp (Hornell) took 23rd on the 1-meter diving board with a score of 344.75 to round out Saturday's action.

"Chris [Deaver] and Tori [Cramp] had a solid day. Tori got her first taste of post-season activity and responded well, she will build upon this as she looks towards the future," Head Coach Brian Striker said. "Chris's first few optional dives were great and he was as high as fourth or fifth going into round 10. Despite a sub-par finish on his last dives, his eighth place spot today and his fifth yesterday will send him onward to finish out his career at the highest level!"

Deaver will next look to compete at the NCAA Division III National Championships in Greensboro, NC on March 20 through March 23 as the national meet only takes the top seven divers from each region.

Indoor track teams compete
The AU men's and women's track & field teams completed the All-Atlantic Regional Track & Field Conference Indoor Championships on Saturday.

The top Saxon finish was the men's 4x200-meter relay as the group of Wesley Burke (Chili/ Churchville-Chili), Jackson Trimboli (Arkport), Rashid Abuelmaali (Latham/Shaker) and Alex Spicer (Corning-Painted Post) finished 16th with a time of 1:35.73. Saul McCoy (Queens/Bayside) had the next top spot in the shot put as he finished 17th with a toss of 12.76m.

On the women's side, the 4x200-meter relay team of Megan Alper (Belmont, MA), Sierra Wilson (Youngstown/Lew-Port), Danielle Perry (Leicester/York Central) and Megan Sadowitz (Hopewell Junction/John Jay) took 19th with a time of 1:55.59. Madison Palmer (East Aurora) represented the women's field athletes as she took 26th in the weight throw with a toss of 12.76m.

The Saxons' indoor track & field season is now over while they will look to jump into the outdoor season at the Coastal Carolina Invitational on Friday, March 15.

Saxon men beat Presidents
The men's lacrosse team kept its high powered offensive attack rolling on Saturday afternoon at Washington & Jefferson College. The Saxons (2-0, 0-0 Empire 8) defeated the Presidents by a score of 18-5.

Cale Donegan (Corning-Painted Post) had another huge game, accounting for seven points with four goals and three assists. Jack Chapman (Elmira/Notre Dame) also had an impressive showing for the Saxons with six points, including four goals and two assists.

Patrick Brewer (Bath-Haverling) recorded a hat trick for AU while Joe Fornataro (Greece Athena) and Zack Gibaud (Greece Athena) scored two goals each.

Kyle Landrigan (Canandaigua), Anthony Ricotilli (Cortland) and Noah Soriano (Valley Cottage/Nyack) all scored one goal while Jake McNaney (Corning-Painted Post) assisted on two goals.

Garrette Briggs (Horseheads) went 17-23 on face offs and picked up a team high 13 ground balls. Shane Weber (Hull, MA) grabbed six ground balls and Ian Chedzoy (Watkins Glen) caused two turnovers.

Gage Ponsetti (Penn Yann) picked up the win in the net for Alfred, going 45 minutes and finishing with 12 saves and just three goals allowed.

AU jumped out to an early lead and never looked back. Five Saxons scored in the first quarter, helping Alfred out to a 7-0 lead.

Washington & Jefferson broke through early in the second quarter making the score 7-1 but the Saxons responded with three unanswered to end the half with a 10-1 lead.

AU extended its lead 12-1 in the third quarter until the Presidents netted two goals within one minute in the later minutes of the period making it 12-3.

Brewer and Chapman each scored to close the third quarter and made it a 14-3 game after three.

The Saxons scored four more goals in the fourth quarter and allowed two more from the Presidents in the final 15 minutes.

AU was scheduled to host Thiel College yesterday (Wednesday, March 6) and will host Ohio Northern at 1 p.m. Saturday, March 16.

The great run by the Alfred Saxons men's basketball program came to an end in the second-round of the NCAA D3 tournament as they fell to host Christopher Newport, 88-53 in Virginia. The E8 champs ran over Ramapo in their opener, 92-76 to advance to the next contest in a true away game.

For the Saxons, the team posted the second-most wins in school history with a (24-5) mark as only the solid 1985-86 team won more and that was one more! That squad was paced by AU Hall of Famers Mike Wing and Brian Andrews (Hornell) that went about 8-9 deep for Coach Ron Frederes. They too recorded an NCAA win, a thrilling last-second victory over Nazareth in Potsdam, before being crushed by the Bears the next nite. "Winger" heaved a halfcourt shot in as time expired for that win.

That 1985-86 team was fun to watch as I went to all but two of their games that season, traveling to many away games with Dan Cook. Besides Andrews and Wing, the Saxons had firepower from Tim Burkhart (Hornell) who played his final college campaign in AU togs after starring at Alfred State, plus one season at Buffalo State. Paul "Truck" Amrose was tough on the boards, Jim Stremich came off the bench on numerous occasions to score quickly, Mike Kobis and Nick Azzara were hard-nosed guards. John Dagon (Hornell) was on that team after injuries sidelined him the previous year. His son, Sam Dagon was on the team this season.

Only saw a couple of AU games this year, both against SJ Fisher late in the season, but what impressed me most was their total teamwork. Always looking for the open man, solid defense and someone always seemed to step up when needed. A testament to Coach Russell Phillips and his staff. The E8 Staff of the Year, by the way!

Dom LeMorta was first-team E8 and MVP of the conference tourney at Alfred. Sage Brown gathered in Defensive Player of the Year honors and a second-team E8 spot. Brown was also the Saxons Sportsman of the Year. In addition, Elliot Bowen was the E8 Rookie of the Year and Scotty Stopera was named on the honorable mention conference list. A total team effort indeed.

HITS AND MISSES:

Had the opportunity to do the radio for that Alfred-Nazareth NCAA game years ago at Potsdam, along with the late Bruce Emery, on a Wellsville station, probably WLSV. Cutter and Oscar courtside on press row. Great game to watch.

Christopher Newport next plays Hamilton at the Scott Field House this Friday. Hamilton from the tough NESCAC conference as they fell in the finals to Amherst before nipping PS-Behrend in the opening round of the NCAA's and then Moravian. Oswego State of the SUNYAC's is also still alive as they play Marietta next. The Lakers beat Salem State and Baldwin Wallace to advance to the Sweet 16.

In other D3 men's basketball action in the tourney it was defending champion Nebraska Wesleyan being stunned at home in round two versus St. Thomas as they only scored 58-points in the loss. It was the lowest output in the Dale Wellman (ex-AU) Era as the Prairie Wolves coach. Coach Curle and Plattsburgh lost to Gwynedd Mercy, UR split games and Middlebury (Griffin Kornaker) lost to Nichols with Coach Kornaker (AU) at the game.

Thomas More, which won the ACAA tourney at Alfred State, is still alive in the NCAA women's hoop tourney after two wins. Geneseo beat Vassar in round one and then fell to Amherst. Doesn't Amherst win this about every year?

In high school sectional boys basketball action, Mount Morris won the D1 title over #1 seeded Avoca, Belfast grabbed the D2 championship by beating #1 Prattsburgh and Wellsville is the champion in B2 as they beat Wayland-Cochocton.

Over on the girls sectional hoop bracket it was Fillmore beating Prattsburgh-Avoca in the D1 championship game. "Tough weekend" for Prattsburgh and Avoca! Elba won the D2 title over Whitesville and Dansville (22-0) stopped Wellsville in the B2 finale.

The Bonnies are coming on in D1 college hoops as they went above the .500 mark (15-14) with a road win at George Washington on Saturday past, 64-58. The "Traveling Sports Fan" from Almond and Mike Bassage of Hornell went to the game together in DC. A late A-10 tourney run by Bona to secure an NIT berth after a sluggish start to the season?

The UB Bulls men's basketball team (26-3) rolls along with a win over Miami of Ohio with games up next versus Ohio and Bowling Green. The Bulls were ranked #21 last week in the AP poll.

It'll be the Arnold Palmer Invitational this weekend on the PGA Tour with a strong field expected. Including the likes of Tiger Woods and guessing Justin Thomas, Jordan Spieth, Rickie Fowler, Jason Day, Bryson DeChambeau, Brooks Koepka, Rory McIlroy, Phil Mickelson, Justin Rose, Steve Stricker and Bubba Watson. Went to this tourney twice, thinking 2011-12, along with Obie, Waffle, Simbo, Jake Taft, probably Our Man Frank, maybe Mr. Timmer and perhaps "Swanson." Great course and always a solid field.

"Congrats" go out to Josh Mix who posted an all-time wrestling record at his PVI high school in Fairfax (Va.) with 167 wins after a stellar 52-7 senior campaign. Wait a minute ... he can't be a senior! His 167 wins are second-best ever at the school and he recently competed in the National Preps tourney at Lehigh University, making it to the fourth round. Just a "few" more wins than his father, Mark had during his A-A wrestling career on the Eagle mats. Mixer though was a two-time county champ and believe in the same weight class that had honored grapplers like, Smitty in the past. Great job ... Josh Mix!

Mark and Barb (Nelson) Stuckey took in the Syracuse at North Carolina men's b-ball game at the Dean Dome last week as the Tar Heels prevailed. Hoping for a Duke win this Saturday in that building! Lauren and I are, not Barb!

Off to Florida next week, heading down with Jim Simboli and then hooking up with the likes of: Taft, Frankie of "Unique Five" status, Scummer, Brownie, maybe "Swanson" plus Obie and Waffle. All of us golfing together 3/16, some to the Yanks-Phils spring training game 3/17. Hoping to hook-up with Bob Baker one day to golf, maybe even next week? Also, a lunch outing with Big D and Janis King at the famed Ramshackles Cafe in Leesburg, plus NCAA action at the Courtside Grille. St. Patty's Day in Florida ... minus McDrip? Doesn't seem right. The Sumo Tour South back together on a limited basis!

Really good (busy) weekend past as Lauren-Jason-Quinn up from NYC. Dinner at The Pub 235 in Webster on Friday as Nick and Jess (Herbst) Benway joined us. My Mom's memorial service in Almond the next day, a stop at the Cook's in Almond and then the Lorow's up to Uncle Butch and Aunt Cass' house in West Almond. A few visits on Sunday, seeing Meg Verdino and Josh Newman plus a stop over to see Ellen Lindahl and Tom by Lake Ontario. Breakfast Monday and off to the airport after a visit with Gordie Semmler and his daughter, Kathy. Packed in alot over the long weekend. Saw 3L-the SEAL-Q last over Christmas weekend in NYC. Granddaughter is quite the character.

"Many thanks" to those at the Almond Union of Churches, Jimmy Dagon, Donna Ryan and others. To Cheesy Eddies of Rochester. And good to see four former A-A classmates in attendance, plus four good friends from the Class of '79. Others ... like Obie, "Foolish" Farley, the Volleyball Official and many more at the risk of forgetting some. A good service headed up by Pastor Charlie Emerson ... so thank you again!

Finally this week ... a very Happy Birthday to Lauren Lydia Lorow of Webster/Geneseo/NYC fame!
