

During an informal gathering, a distinguished member of the bar was telling about some of the unusual characters he had met in his long and successful career. Someone asked him to describe the nerviest one.

"There have been quite a few in that class," he recalled, "but the one that stands out the most, I think, is the client who took a taxi to the bankruptcy court and invited the driver in as a creditor."

Winter Carnival Slate Announced By AOC

The final schedule of events for the Winter Carnival was announced this week by the Alfred Outing Club.

Festivities of the big weekend will begin Friday, February 11, with the Sno-Ball, which will be held from 9 p.m. until 2 a.m. at the Men's Gym. At this dance the Sno-Queen will be announced and crowned by last year's queen, Rhoda Young.

Saturday at 10 a. m. the cross-country ski meet will begin at the ski hill, and from there spectators can go directly to Theta Chi pond to watch the speed and figure skating contests. Saturday will also be the day of the snow-sculpture judging, the results of which will be announced at the square dance that night and the prizes awarded. In the afternoon from 1:30 through 3:30 the downhill skiing and slalom races will be held, with Hobart, Rochester, Powder Mill, and Alfred teams competing for awards. The Alfred team will want to see a great many supporters there to cheer them on.

Saturday evening at 7 will see a new innovation for the Winter Carnival. Sno-Bunny contests for unskilled winter sportsmen will be held, featuring cookie sheet races down the ski hill. This sounds easier than it really is. From there a torchlight parade will proceed to the Ag-Tech gym for the Sportsman's dance. This dance will feature square-dancing and a barbeque later in the evening.

All-Campus Band To Give Concert

February 27 has been set as a tentative date for a concert to be given by the All-Campus Band. The concert is to be open to the public and will be held at Alumni Hall.

The theme of the concert will be, "Young American Composers." Included in the concert will be: Two American Sketches by Thomas Grisel; Dorian Overture by Whitney; An American Scene Overture by Clare Grundman; Aurora Overture by Aug Friebe; Eulogy by Joseph Wagner; Main Street USA Overture by John J. Morrissey; and two pieces by Sibelius, "Onward Ye People" and "Finlandia."

The band which is composed of students from State Tech and the University, has fifty-five members. They practice every Thursday evening at Firemens Hall.

Two performances have already been given by the band this year, one during a University assembly program November 18 and the other for a Tech assembly November 30. There will be another concert given on Moving-Up Day, May 5. It will be held at the men's gym.

The band has also performed at all home football games and some of our away games.

Anyone who is interested in joining the band can get in touch with Mr. Cappadonia by calling 3615 or 2175.

News From The Bio Department

Two senior pre-med students were accepted to medical school since the Christmas vacation. George Boll was accepted by Buffalo Medical School and Western Reserve Medical School. He will attend Western Reserve next fall. Richard Goddman was accepted and will attend Bellevue Medical School in New York City. In addition to his acceptance, it was announced that Dick Goodman also received one of New York State's seventy-two medical scholarship grants. The grant based on a national competitive examination is for $3,000.

All those students interested in ornithology will be glad to learn that a course on this subject has been added to next semester's curriculum. Enrollment in this course will be possible during the registration period this week. The subject will be taught by Professor Ogden of the Biology department.

Aliens Warned To Register

District Director Arthur J. Karnuth, of the Immigration and Naturalization Service for this area, today warned all aliens that they must comply with the registration provisions of the Immigration and Nationality Act.

The act requires that every alien who is within the United States on the 1st day of January of each year shall, within 30 days following such date, report his address to the commissioner of immigration and naturalization. Any alien who is temporarily absent from the US during the reporting period shall report his address within 10 days after his return to the country. In case of alien children under 14, or aliens who are mentally or physically unable to make their own reports, such reports must be made by the parent or guardian.

Aliens may obtain address report cards at any post office or immigration office. All items on the card should be filled in, and the card signed and handed to a clerk in the post office or immigration office.

Pat Lattari Given Honorable Mention For Little A. A.

Patsy Lattari, a four year quarterback for the Alfred University Saxons, has been given honorable mention for Little All America.

The 165 pound Waverly, N. Y. senior scored just one touchdown in each of his freshman, sophomore and junior years but expert passing and superb field generalship over largely sophomore teams resulted in only four defeats in four years. Lattari didn't score a touchdown this year but he passed for five and added three conversions the same way.

As a freshman he was as much a receiver as a passer, gaining 46 yard and a touchdown by hauling in the passes of others and tossing three with two completions himself. The Saxons were beaten 6-13 by Buffalo and tied 7-7 by Hofstra while winning six in 1951.

Hampered by injuries and strong competition for all the starting berths in 1952, Lattari saw action in only two games but caught four passes for 23 yards and his second collegiate TD. The Saxons were undefeated but tied by Hobart that year.

Les Goble's running and the arrival of some fine ends pushed him firmly into the quarterback slot in 1953 where he completed eight out of 15 with two interceptions for 150 yards and five touchdowns. His single collegiate punt was for a respectable 40 yards and the Saxons lost only to St. Lawrence.

This year the Lattari passing arm saw real action as he passed 45 times for 20 completions, no interceptions and 268 yards. Ends and backs collected eight of them in pay dirt and won six straight before he left the regular line-up with injuries. The Saxons lost the next two, 15-18 to Kings Point and 6-13 to Hobart. Lattari made the difference.

Transfer from Liberal Arts to engineering in his junior year will keep him from graduating this June but the freshman quarterbacks at Alfred will be happy to have him around to help teach them.

Leading Businessmen Invited To Seminar

More than 160 invitations have been sent to area business men for the 4th Annual Area Business Men's Seminar to be held Jan. 19 at Alfred University, according to Prof. Henry C. Langer, chairman of the department of Economics and Business of the University which sponsors the seminar.

The purpose of the seminar is to review and evaluate area business trends and conditions for the year just ended (in order that sound conclusions and decisions might be crystallized for the coming year. Along with the invitations, questionnaires polling the opinions and attitudes of business men toward various aspects of business were also sent. While primarily concerned with the area business picture, it is obvious that result of the seminar will have wide implications.

Miss America Contest

This summer a "Miss New York" will be chosen in New York City to compete in the annual "Miss America" Pageant in Atlantic City.

This year's "Miss New York" will be chosen from entrants submitted by sororities and various campus organizations.

The girls will be chosen on the basis of beauty of face, voice, diction, intellect, wholesomeness, disposition, general culture, special talents and personality.

Anyone who is interested in staging such a contest on the Alfred campus should go to the Fiat office for additional information.

Grant, O Lord, a right mutual regard between student and teacher in our midst; spare either from arrogance, suspicion, pride, enmity or false parading of knowledge; endue both with humility, trust for each other and such personal concern as reaches beyond course and classroom.

$20,000 Gift To Be Used For Dormitory Furnishings

President M. Ellis Drake has just announced a gift of $20,000 from Mr. William C. Cannon of New York City, for the furnishings of one of the new dormitories being erected on the University campus.

Mr. Cannon has been an Alfred trustee since 1928 and chairman of the Board of Trustees since 1947. He is a member of the low firm of Davis, Polk, Wardwell, Sunderland & Kiendle, n New York. A graduate of Alfred University and of Harvard Law School, Mr. Cannon has been recognized with honorary degrees from Alfred, Seton Hall and Canisius.

The dormitory which Mr. Cannon's gift will furnish is one of two new units for men now under construction on the University campus. Planned to house 80 men each, they will be completed this spring and are expected to be ready for occupancy during the summer sessions. The buildings are modified Georgian in style with brick exteriors and are completely fire-proof. They are located on the north end of the campus adjacent to Bartlett Hall.

Student Play To Be Presented

An assembly program designed to further the student's interest in the possibilities for creative writing on the campus, and provide an outlet for some of the original creative work done by students, will be presented January 13.

Supporting a guest actress from Ithaca, members of the faculty of the English department will present a reading of Mel Millman's one act play, "The Whirlpool." Mel, a junior majoring in English, wrote the play as part of the creative writing course given by Dr. Ernest Finch, chairman of the English department.

Mrs. Lavern Light of Ithaca will read the lead in the forthcoming assembly presentation. Mrs. Lavern has been quite active in the theater playing Lowla in the Circle Player's presentation of "Come Back Little Sheba" a play that was very successful in Ithaca. Some of the other roles she played include leads in "Three Men On a Horse," "Angel Street," and "They Knew What They Wanted." During the last war, Mrs. Light was active in writing scripts for FM radio performances.

Supporting Mrs. Light in the reading of "The Whirlpool" will be Professors Bernstein, Ruoff and Buckley. Miss Gail Gardner, a senior, will also assist in the reading.

Seniors!

Ron Lehman, prexy of the senior class, has announced that at 11 a. m. on Thursday at Kenyon Hall there will be an important meeting for all seniors.

The agenda will consist of nominations and elections of a president and secretary for the class; a financial report; and a discussion on what should be done with the surplus class money.

All seniors are invited and URGED to attend.

Cadet Corps

Cadet Major Nelson Albrecht, R.O. T.C. Cadet Corps' Battalion Executive officer and Cadet Master Sgt. Roland Claus have been selected to spend a weekend at West Point.

Sponsored by First Army, each school in the First Army Area will be able to send two men to "The Point" to spend one weekend as a member of its Corps of Cadets. During this time the men will bide by all of the regulations of the Point and will stand all if its formations. The Eyes Right Club of Alfred University has allocated $40 to subsidize these two selections. These men were selected from volunteers taken from the Junior and Senior classes. Albrecht is a senior engineer and a member of Lambda Chi. Claus is a Liberal Arts Junior majoring in English.

The ROTC rifle team is now busily engaged in final practice sessions designed to bring the team to a sharp edge for their Postal Match this Wednesday. A team of ten men will fire and their results will be forwarded to the participating schools. This match will be between Alfred and Cornell University, C. C. N. Y., Canisius College, Gettysburg College, Niagara University, North Dakota Agricultural College, St. Bonaventure University and University of Delaware.

Plans are now being formulated for an intramural rifle league. More will be announced later.

The statistical tables above review the weather both for December and for the year 1954. Snow lay on the ground for 30 consecutive days from 3 to 7 inches in depth between Nov. 29 and Dec. 29. The temperature dropped below zero to -3 and -5 on the 20th and 21st.

It is interesting to note that only in 1949 were there no zero days. If the winter is reviewed from Nov. of one year through April of the next then there has always been at least one zero day as in the winter of 1931-32 when the only sub-zero of -6 degrees was recorded in March.

Also different snow totals result when listed by a calendar year rather than by the winter months. The greatest winter total snow fall occurred in 1944-45 at 113.7 inches yet the highest calendar year shows 105.3 inches for 1950.

There is very little or no normal or average weather. Weather is sunshine, clouds, rain, snow, cold, ice, wind, heat, humidity, cold and warm fronts and atmospheric pressure. Normal weather means average weather of many years. There is no such condition as an average day and it is doubtful if it would be desirable.

The 41 yearly average rainfall for July is 3.801 inches, yet no July gives 3.8 inches. However, 7 Julys do give between 3 and 4 inches. All averages come from a wide range of entries.

Would it be desirable for crop growth for mother nature to drop 0.1 inch of rain each day to give us a total of 36.07 inches for the year, or 0.5 inch of snow per day in winter for 140 days to make 70.9 inches or a half day of sunshine which is the average for the year? However, average temperatures would be more welcome and comfortable avoiding the extremes. In summer the days would range between 79 and 52 while in winter between 36 and 15 degrees. There is only about 45 degrees difference between summer and winter (67-22) on the basis of average temperature. On the average the snow of winter lies on the ground for 86 days in depth from 1 to 6 inches, the thermometer drops to zero or below 14 times and the annual average temperature is a cool 44.9 degrees.

"Superb Performance" Feature Of Forum

Entremont Captivates Audience With Chopin, Bach, Brahms

by Bert Katz

Again we have had the honor of superb performance of piano played by Philippe Entremont.

His infalable technique and exquisite interpretation together with his varied musical vocabulary made this forum presentation the best since Entremont's visit here two years ago. It was not only the mechanics of piano playing that makes Entremont a symbol of genius, but also his keen sense of the essence of music (and the essence is something one feels). Each piece is considered in terms of form, relationships in music, this is unquestionable on phrased and beautiful.

His rather romantic interpretation of the Bach Partita (Entremont used the pedal to accomplish this) transmitted a Bach still well constructed, phrased and beautiful.

Entremont struck at the heart of Romanticism in music when he performed the Chopin Sonata (Op. 35 in B flat minor). Whether one is fond of Chopin or not, the performance was magnificent. The music is very difficult technically and otherwise. There are many (over 10) changes in tempo, very subtly placed, and in a typical Chopinesque way explored by M. Entremont. What a wonderful understanding of Chopin M. Entremont has. Each of the four movements were distinct in performance and yet retained through the virtuoso's magic a unity and variety of expression. The double trills of the first (doppio movimento) and finale manifested the passions and vicissitudes of this atypical piano work.

I make special note of the "Marche Funebre" because while over played

Alfred Defence Beats McMasters

A sparkling defense that held the opposing team to four field goals during the first half paved the way for Alfred's 63-49 victory over McMasters last Friday night. This puts the Alfred record at two wins and one loss for the season.

Alfred used a man-to-man defense during the first half, but switched to a zone at the start of the second half. The score at half-time was Alfred 32—McMasters 20. A flurry of fast breaks off their zone defense saw the Alfred five leap into a 20 point lead. A crowd of about 500 people saw the McMasters squad close the margin with the Alfred reserves in, but time ran out before they could make a serious dent. The Saxon reserves kept the Canadian five fourteen points off with a fourth quarter man-to-man defense.

Successful

Alfred University again has cause to be proud of the achievements of one of its alumni.

Donald Seaman graduated in 1950 and went on to continue his studies at Purdue. He finished three years at that school, during which time he had a graduate fellowship. Mr. Seaman then won a Fulbright International Scholarship and is now on his way to Australia to study plant physiology.

and perverted by many so called "interpreters." Entremont reincarnated this movement, and perhaps ironically, breathed a new life into the music.

This is not the same Funeral March played by others. This is a forgotten "Lento" movement by Frederick F. Chopin from one of his sonatas. Entremont has found, in this Sonata the true, lost, Chopin, in all the moods and ramifications of a fine work. There are hesitations and small technicalities that are overlooked, slurred over by most "piano players." In fact, Chopin is not easy to interpret or play.

After a short intermission Entremont performed two capriccios (op. 76) of Johannes Brahms. Brahms, so close a friend of the Romantics and so different a composer here has composed two gems, brilliant as they are intricate. Yet the acumen of a young Frechmen pulls from within a meaning understated by time or changed by the compositions' small size. These two so called "minor works" can have great meaning as evidenced by Philippe Entremont's performance.

So direct an approach was achieved by M. Entremont that a strong transition was built for the following 3rd Impromptu of Faure, Alborada del Gracioso (played in Entremont's 1953 concert here) of Ravel and the Roumanian Dances of Bartok, all moderns. In these selections a completely different variety of moods was introduced. In the Roumanian Dances of Bartok the recreation of folk dances, beautifully built by the composer flowed from the hands and heart of the twenty year-old virtuoso.

The Hungarian Rhapsody No. 12, of Franz Liszt concluded the program. Two Chopin encores were played and a valse by Charbrier was the final encore of the concert.

Such definite control of an instrument and complete understanding of piano music both from the purely aesthetic and from the technical makes Philippe Entremont the outstanding young virtuoso of a great generation of musical masters. This perfection in musical expression is the greatest aid to our understanding of Entremont himself and the music he plays. Undoubtedly a most generous contribution of the National Music League and France, to unity among peoples.

We Win Again

Alfred brought its record to three wins and one loss by a 70-53 victory over Toronto last Saturday night.

Bob Corbin and John MacNamara sparked the Saxons in a well played game with 17 points each. The Saxons brought a 24-24 half time score up to as much as a 13 point lead by shooting 75 per cent of their field goals the second half.

Strength in Numbers

The value Americans place upon the life and dignity of each individual is not just social science course platitudes. It is a genuine and unique characteristic of our society.

People who have traveled abroad — as tourists or servicemen — report that in many lands the sight of the miserable and ill, huddled in alleys and doorways, is so common that it passes almost unnoticed. In the United States the life or death of a single person may become a matter of national concern ... a young girl lost in the woods, a kidnapped baby, a child trapped in a well.

We do not attempt to put a price on a single life nor the value of mending it. We know that here we are dealing with the priceless.

Similarly, we refuse to accept the inevitability of disease and suffering. We band together and fight them. An outstanding example of this is the fight against polio through the March of Dimes.

In this fight millions of men and women, believing in their individual importance and in their collective strength, have joined hands in typical American fashion. They move forward with unflinching determination, buttressed by the knowledge that today's research is pointing the way to tomorrow's victory.

The Right To Work

The right to work is no less sacred than the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Laws in 17 states express the will of the people that the right to work shall not be denied any man — because of membership or non-membership in a labor union.

The framers of our constitution may or may not have foreseen that ambitious leaders of labor would one day seek to force all men to belong to unions as a condition of getting and holding a job. But today that situation exists and, in order to protect the freedom of the individual, the 17 states have passed laws to implement and give force to what is implicit in our Constitution — that the right to work shall be guaranteed to all men.

No wonder Secretary of Labor Mitchell's attack on these laws before the recent CIO convention provoked such a storm of protest in so many quarters.

After all is said and done, it is usually the wife who's said it and the husband who's done it.

Some girls spend four years learning how to act in polite society, and the rest of their lives trying to find it.

Letters To The Editor

Blushy Boudoir

Dear Editor,
Gasp, sigh, oh — these seem to be the average outbursts made by the Alfred student upon returning from Christmas vacation and entering the newly decorated Student Union.

There seems to be quite a bit of dismay displayed throughout the student body at Alfred due to the odd assortment of colors that were chosen to adorn the Union walls. It is known to all true Alfredians that the union is the central meeting place for all off-hour fraternizers which include the majority of Alfred students. Realizing this information I find it beyond the dominion of my comprehension as to why putrid pink and bridal bouquet wall paper was selected to adorn the walls of the favorite stamping grounds of Alfredians. Not only is this combination bad enough, but the complete picture including the lime yellow chaise longue upholstery reminds me of that favorite song, "Out of an Orange Colored Sky."

While listening to some of the pet peeves of the students there seems also to be complete agreement in the fact that our former rather conservatively decorated union reminds every one of a glorified powder room, or a bluish boudoir and all that is lacking is fully scalloped chintz curtains.

On the other hand I feel the Union has made some worthwhile and satisfying additions and improvements that may compensate somewhat for its new decorations which is the newly acquired television set and pizza pie maker. Both are quite popular among the student body and there seems to be a general consensus of opinion that although one must squint and rub his eyes twice before entering the union, the pizza is certainly getting better.

Rebuttal

Dear Editor,
It is evident that several inconsistencies have arisen from Mr. Cholllick's latest letter to the FIAT, that of December 14, concerning my views of the future office-holders.

First of all, I was a freshman at Alfred University, the independent senator was not. I can look back upon the officers for the Class of '55 and point out the "doers" and the "non-doers." I can point out why so and so was elected, Mr. Cholllick cannot. He was not at these nomination meetings. Therefore, I speak with the knowledge of being a member of the Class of '55. Because I am not a participating member of the Senate, of what consequence is that?

Secondly, before this foolishness goes further, Mr. Cholllick is incongruous inasmuch as his article, "Senatorially Speaking", states something to the effect that there is a lack of attendance at Senate meetings. To me this means that some of the "workers" are not "diligent" otherwise this organization would not be plagued with absenteeism.

Thirdly, my letter has been misconstrued by Mr. Cholllick to mean that a fraternity man is unable to handle the affairs of an elected office. Such is not the case.

And fourthly, I never said, "all" fraternities put up candidates for officers as Mr. Cholllick implies.

I am sure an unbiased viewpoint would allow the junior senator to avoid incoherency in interpreting my letter of recent date, if he is true to himself.

Washington Outlook

by Marvin Rosenthal

Such events as the firing of John Paton Davies, the dispute over the Dixon-Yates contract, the calling for a parley on European Security by Russia, and the visit of the Queen Mother of England took a back seat this week to the junior senator from Wisconsin — Joe McCarthy.

We were fortunate in being able to actually witness the activities in Washington concerning Joe. In order to be able to observe the Senate session considering censure, it was necessary for us to wait in the line extending from the first floor of the Capitol to the entrance to the Senate gallery for about two hours before the gallery was actually opened to the public. Once we were in, we had to wait another hour before the session was called to order by the President of the Senate, Richard Nixon. After the opening prayer by the chaplain of the Senate, a roll call was taken by Style Bridges, president pro-tempore of the Senate. After another half hour had gone by, the censure debate was ready to commence.

Approximately eight democrats and fifteen republicans were on hand for the debate. McCarthy vociferously voiced his disapproval at the small turnout and said that if he were still a judge, he would call a mistrial. This remark gave us an indication of things to come. McCarthy went further and accused the Watkins Committee of being the "unwitting handmaidens of the Communist Party." When Watkins told the Senate that there were some obvious errors in the committee report such as typographical, etc., McCarthy seized this opportunity to say that there were many obvious errors in the idiotic imbecilic report. It was not uncommon for McCarthy to attach the connotation of being "soft on communists" to every remark made against him.

Noticeable on the desks of each Senator were pink-covered pamphlets entitled "Throw the Bum Out" which contained excerpts from issues of the "Daily Worker" which strongly denounced McCarthyism. It was later learned that these pamphlets were distributed by McCarthy and Co. as a basis for his argumentation that if the Senate should censure him, it would be one of the greatest victories for the Communist Party.

Particularly sickening to this writer was the attempt to put on the stage the fathers, mothers and wives of American fighting men missing and believed to be prisoners of the Chinese Reds. The speakers exploited this situation by stating that the only man who wants to help get these men back is Joe — wild cheers again.

Then, as a big "surprise," McCarthy himself appeared at the rally. The fanatical crowd went into a wild pandemonium. Men, women and children broke loose for the aisles in an attempt to touch their worshipped savior. Naturally J. M. had to further exploit the emotions of his stock-responsive followers. Regardless of what the Senate may do, my fight will go on and on to expose those who would destroy this nation" he remarked in a loud voice with his fist pounding on the podium. After a few more timely remarks by the hero of the evening, the rally ended. The crowd marched out with their placards, banners and flags shouting, "who promoted Peress, who promoted Peress?"

It seemed quite apparent to me that these followers of McCarthyism are a group of fanatical, uncompromising individuals who attach deistic qualities to McCarthy.

Hello again! I hope you're all rested from a strenuous vacation and ready to pitch in on studying for finals, which, believe it or not, are only a week away. In the true spirit of exam time things have been rather quiet around Alfred. There's no lack of news, though, since fraternity pins and engagement rings were changing hands quite frequently over Christmas vacation.

Delta Sig's Thursday Night Club is temporarily out of action due to exams. However, Friday was reserved for a get-together at the White Swan.

Kappa Nu had a Hobo Party Saturday night. Professor and Mrs. Englemann and Dr. Sandnes were chaperones. Professors Buckley, Sass and Zakich were guests for dinner Sunday. Paul Fine, an alumnus, was married December 19 to Sue Kurz, of Syracuse. Al Laperia was engaged.

Kappa Psi had a party Saturday night after the movie, at which Dr. and Mrs. Simpson and Prof. and Mrs. Voss chaperoned. Dick Truesdale was engaged to Diane Wilkens of Pi Nu. Dale Gillman and Dorsey Wier are going steady. Don Weaver and Jean Mitchell, of Pi Nu, have been seeing each other quite often lately. "Jazz" Lindenthal, a senior ceramic engineer at Kappa Psi, received induction papers and left for service January 5. His fraternity brothers gave him a going-away party Tuesday night at the Beacon.

Klan had a party Saturday night, at which the Clarks and the Spellmans were present. Ron Switzer became engaged to Bobbie Mesibov and George Marr to Maureen Del Sito. New Year's Eve, Connie Lefkowitz pinned Max Inselberg, of Theta Chi.

At Lambda Chi, Dick Grassi is engaged to Dahn Stewart, a Genesee graduate. Teddy Merkt is engaged to Joan Duker, from Forest Hills. Bob Jackson and Poofie Fox, of AKO, were pinned, as were Dale Smith and Dolores Reichley, a senior nurse at Philadelphia.

Tau Delt had quite a time in New York over vacation. They had a party with Phi Tau Alpha, a Queens College sorority, at the Grand Ballroom of the Concourse-Plaza in the Bronx. They also had a party at the Gamma Upsilon chapter of Tau Delt at NYU and a skating party at Flushing Meadows. Sol Mayer, an alumnus, was pinned to a girl at the U. of Pennsylvania.

Jan Jarvis, of Omicron, is now Mrs. Fred Gibbs. The wedding was December 20. The Ekdahls and the Klitzkes were guests at dinner Wednesday and the Seidlins Sunday. Lois Judson was at Omicron for the weekend.

Congratulations to Joanie Mendato, of Pi, on being accepted at Westchester Hospital. Carol Steinberg had a big surprise when Eddie Kleban, a KN alumnus, came back to see her last weekend. Pi has had their living room and hallway repainted, and it really looks beautiful.

Barb Frerichs, Sue Olsen and Tinker Forbes were at Sigma for the weekend. Ann Hopkins was pinned last Christmas Eve to a fella named Mike, from WPI in Worcester, Massachusetts.

Marie Mikel, of Theta Chi, is engaged to Shorty Miller, a Kappa Psi alumnus. Renata Reimer and Sally Green were down for the weekend.

Congratulations to our editor who has found himself an editress. That's all the news this week. Good luck on finals!

After what seemed to have been in most instances a very happy vacation, Alfredians are now faced not only with the "shocking pink" featured in the Union, but also with the grim realities of exams, under which even the bravest have been known to buckle.

Exam time is a period of deep cogitation and concentration on the part of the student concerning education. In an effort at clarification, I should add that it is less the scholastic angle, but the approach to methodology and philosophy of educational field in general, that is the main point of concern.

Each student becomes a John Dewey, and, in hopes of achieving last minute success (all scholars know this is scholastically impossible), perpetrates a rashly modern view (progressive has an incriminating connotation). Although all this is done on an individual and highly competitive basis, it is difficult to categorize the conclusions as a whole, since they all indubitably include variations of a program which would eliminate professors, classes and examinations i.e. school as an institution of learning. "Learning is not only preparation for living; it is living," said John Dewey. The latter part of this quotation is absorbed and digested per se by the scholarly clan ... what the heck, it's only money!

Seriously speaking, though, the Alfred student is a unique one when it comes to learning and the retention of facts. One often hears stories of students having nervous breakdowns during exam periods, but not so at Alfred. Isn't it true that these are caused by undue stress, he reasons? To stave off any such occurrence he spends the exam period in a state of suspended animation i.e. waits for the ax to fall. This idea of relaxation manifests itself in the long movie lines during the latter part of January. "Be Prepared" the song goes, and all indications at Alfred substantiate the fact that our students are prepared ... on the other hand ... wear a glove!

The old adage states that everything comes out in the wash ... "but I was one and twenty" ... enough said.

Senatorially Speaking

by Gil Cholllick

A debate occurred on the Senate floor last Tuesday evening, concerning the library hours in effect presently.

The student body is simply requesting an extension of one hour to be added to the evening and weekend sessions. They also realize there would be an additional financial problem facing the administration. However, the student body is prepared to offer a solution that would require no additional funds. By switching the 8 hour to the evening session, such a problem could be by-passed.

The Senate had the Functional Service Committee conduct a library survey, which was performed the two weeks prior to the Christmas vacation. From the two hundred questionnaires answered a large majority were in favor of the proposal.

It is amazing how the administration and the student body can differ so drastically on what seems to be an open and shut case.

The Library Committee, in opposition to the students' proposal has thrown many obstacles in the path of the decision.

It seems the committee is opposed to using the library as a study hall claiming that it should be used solely as a research center. This is a fine idea, in theory only. However with the inadequate housing problem on campus, it would be an almost impossible situation for the library not to be used as a study hall.

A fine example illustrating the impossibility of such an event happening is Rodies Dormitory of Saxon Heights, seven-tenths of a mile from the campus proper. For these boys to take advantage of any spare time between classes would be most difficult without the library facilities at their disposal.

SENATE JOTTINGS:
Paul Goodrich has resigned as treasurer of the Senate. By a unanimous vote Sol Schwartz is the new acting officer.

Swarthmore College has contacted the Senate to back the idea of allowing Soviet school editors to tour the campuses of various schools. They feel that this idea might help the international situation through its different approach.

Intersorority Council

The date of the Intersorority Ball was decided upon at a joint meeting of the University and State Tech Intersorority Councils.

The councils met Tuesday night and agreed that the ball will be held on April 22, a Saturday night. The chairman of the dance is Anita Zeigler and the co-chairman is Mary Jane Villareale.

The University Council also made plans for another meeting with the freshmen in the near future.

At 4:30 on Sunday, January 9th, the Intersorority Council held their second meeting at Howell Hall. This meeting was held in order to register those girls who are interested in sorority rushing for next semester. At that time rushing schedules were distributed and rules of formal rushing and days of rushing parties were explained.

French

The French Club has subscribed to Film House for a movie plan. The plan has been carried into execution and movies have been shown at every meeting. In a recent meeting there were two films presented covering the subjects of French Art and Industry.

During one week in February, the English language will practically disappear from the Alfred campus.

At a meeting tomorrow night, the French Club will make plans for the annual French Week. During that week old customs and traditions of France are revived and relived at Alfred. French is spoken by those familiar with the language.

At their last meeting, the club celebrated La Fete De Noel of Provence. The group started out at the Castle where they sang French Christmas songs. Then they continued on to Mrs. Crottel's house, where they were greeted by Miss Cheval. There was a

Spanish

The breaking of the Pinata at Christmas time is an old Spanish custom which brings joy to young and old.

The Spanish Club met at Kenyon Hall Monday, December 13, to celebrate the Spanish spirit of Christmas.

The program began with the singing of Spanish Christmas Carols, which were tape recorded. The carols were then played back so the general effect could be heard by all.

Mary Ellen Ramsey was chosen to break the Pinata. Blind-folded and with a stick in her hand, she had to aim at a spinning jar filled with presents. When she had succeeded in breaking it, everyone scrambled for

Hillel

At 1:30 p.m. January 8, the Hillel Club held a meeting at Kenyon Hall. They had as their guest speaker Chaplain Bredenberg.

Chaplain Bredenberg spoke about his trip to Holland this past summer where he and his wife were leaders in a work camp. Chaplain Bredenberg showed colored movies of his trip to the assembled group.

This was the last meeting of the club for this semester. There will be a meeting held at the beginning of next semester when those interested may join the club.

Mr. Richmond has been asked to give his talk during the month of March the exact date to be announced at a later time.

What young people are doing at General Electric

Young manufacturing expert pioneers in automation at General Electric

In 1964, our greatest shortage may be working people. This country's demand for electrical goods will be 100% greater than it is today. But there will be only 11% more workmen. How can production per man be boosted enough to close the gap?

For one answer, 31-year-old P. H. Alspach, Manager of Manufacturing Development at G.E., is exploring automation.

Automation: Continuous Automatic Production

Automation is a way of manufacturing based on the continuous-flow concept. Products will be made, inspected, assembled, tested, and packaged by a series of integrated machines in one uninterrupted flow. As industry evolves toward greater automation, more workmen will become skilled machine specialists or maintenance experts able to control complete systems.

Phil Alspach and the men under him now draft layouts for automatic systems, tackle the engineering problems involved, design automation equipment, and even build some.

23,000 College Graduates at G.E.

This is a big and important job. Alspach was readied for it in a careful, step-by-step program of development. Like Alspach, each of G.E.'s 23,000 college-graduate employees is given his chance to grow, to find the work he does best, and to realize his full potential. For General Electric has long believed this: When fresh young minds are given freedom to make progress, everybody benefits—the individual, the company, and the country.

PHIL ALSPACH joined G.E. shortly after graduation from Tulane (B.S. in M.E., '44), has completed G.E.'s Engineering Program, Class of 1945, and its Creative Engineering Course, 1949.

Saxon Spotlight

by Jerry Davis

Let's get behind the front scenes and see who were some of the men responsible for the exciting and rewarding play put on by the team this year. Frank O'Brien and Tom Curtin are the men in question, holding the manager's and trainer's positions, respectively.

Tom comes from Corning but went to Canisius High in Buffalo.

While in high school he played baseball, hockey, football and threw the shot in track. In baseball he covered third base and right field while batting at .309. He played defenseman in hockey and the team was undefeated during his junior and senior years. In his senior year he had the most assists, 32, and the most penalty minutes, 99. He also led the leagues defense men in scoring for that same season, with 16 goals.

To finish his high school story we must note that Tom was president of the frosh class, secretary of the Student Council during his junior and senior years and also president of the Intramural Board.

After graduation from high school, Tom continued his studies and sports actions at Canisius College. While there he put all his sport time in for hockey, making the varsity team in his freshman year. He played right wing and the team played 21 undefeated games. During this time Tom made twenty-one goals and had thirty-four assists. His penalties for that season added up to one hundred and eleven minutes which was a league record. The first half of the second season Tom was in the penalty box for seventy-eight minutes, which at the end of the season would have probably beat out his old record. He also was a member of the Student Council.

Up until the time he came to AU he was the trainer of the Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey League. They walked off with the championship in '51-52 and '53-54 seasons.

During this past year at Alfred he has been the trainer of the football team, where he did a great job. He is now trainer with the basketball team. His career at Alfred, though just beginning has been outstanding. Socially Tom has just become a pledge at Delta Sig and has been seen around Sigma quite a bit.

Having given you all the info we have on Mr. Curtin we will now proceed to talk about Mr. O'Brien. Frank is another one of the boys from Port Washington.

While in high school, he played with Fasano, Teta and Bilanski and was on the football team for two seasons while they were undefeated. Besides playing football he also played baseball and basketball. His basketball career was highlighted by his tremendous set shot. The coach used him as a "minute man," just to win games.

In one particular instance, Port Washington and Manhasset were tied up, putting the game in overtime. In these next five minutes, Frank scored thirteen points to win the game. He also fouled out.

While at Alfred, he has played football, golf and wrestled. While being the only undefeated man on the golf team, things were quite reversed as far as wrestling is concerned. He had the luck of never winning an inter-collegiate match. But, it might be added that to compensate for this he has just gotten pinned socially. — to Pi Alpha Pi.

As a member of Delta Sig he is quite active in inter-fraternity sports and made the All-Star Intramural football team as line backer. While he was a member of ROTC he was a distinguished military student, but regrettably he had to quit. He is a member of the Spanish Club, the Newman Club and of the Men's Athletic Governing Board.

Before coming to Alfred he had a tryout with the Philadelphia Phillies baseball team. During the summers he has been a life guard. He has worked at the Riviera Pool and also at Sea Cove with Nick Teta.

His first year at Alfred he played first string full-back, with Les Goble and Ralph Dimico as the other two backs. His comments on this year's team and its potential for next year were all complimentary. Feeling that the team's possibilities were terrific since they are only losing two of its starting men, Lewis and Lattari.

O. B. is an economic and business major. His graduation this year will send him out into the field of sales and distribution. He now has an application in with the Armstrong Cork Corporation and is looking forward to stepping out into the arena of the business world.

Need I say that the whole school owes its congratulations to these two guys for the great work that they have done behind the scenes.

All sports have their unsung hero. Here at Alfred we have some of our own.

Gruntmen Preparing

The Alfred University wrestling team is now in the midst of preparing for their opening match against Ithaca College on February 5.

Wrestlers are needed. All those who would like to join the squad report to the Men's Gym as soon as possible. Practice is from 3 to 5 p. m. daily.

Disa And Data

by Al Siegel

During the Christmas vacation the latest NCAA basketball statistics were released. Alfred was not listed in these statistics because the bureau doesn't start to list a school until at least four games are played. However, some of our opponents did pop up on the list. Big Bill Chadwick of Ithaca College stood twelfth in the nation's small college scorers with an average of 27.8 points per game. In five games he has 139 points.

Another Ithaca player, Bob Judd, leads the nation from the free throw lanes with a 95.5 average. He has connected with 23 out of 24 shots. As a team Ithaca is seventh from the charity lane, connecting with 72.7 per cent or 133 out of 183 shots.

The Teachers from Cortland State are sixth in the nation in field goal percentage, hitting for 45.2. This doesn't include the two games they dropped at the Hofstra Tournament. According to the NCAA statistics Peperdine College is the best defensive team in the nation with an average of 53.4 points given up per game. Before going on the Canadian trip the Saxons held the opposition to 51.0 points per game.

Speaking of the Canadian trip, a fifteen man party spent Friday night at the Wentworth Arms Hotel in Hamilton and Saturday the team was at the Ford Hotel in Toronto. The group consisted of twelve players, the coach, Dr. Pulos and the manager. Before going on this trip the Saxon team had only four sessions in which to get into shape, after a three week layoff. During this period the Canadian teams were playing.

The newly married Fred Gibbs was in town just after the Christmas vacation, and as usual he was pushing the wrestling team. Tryouts are going on in the gym every day from 3-5 p.m.

There are two groups on campus which get very little publicity but which are doing a good job. The Fencing Club is looking for people who can fence, so that they may build up their group with the idea in mind that in the near future some sort of varsity could be formed. Equipment is supplied by the club. This column has also learned that Jules Jacalow, the president of the group has just ordered himself a new sabre from France.

Jim Chase, president of the Badminton Club would like it known that his group meets every Sunday afternoon from 2:30-5:00 p.m. in the Men's Gym. Equipment is supplied by the club and all are welcome.

Two members of the athletic department were in New York City last week. Athletic director McLane and Coach Alex Yunevich have been attending the NCAA Football Conference.

At an Intramural Board meeting

Tuesday evening a motion was brought up to include rifle in the intramural sports program. At present the houses on campus are supposed to decide if they want to have this sport. The decision should be known at the next intramural meeting. If it goes through it would get the full cooperation of Major Avery and the ROTC. The teams could use the rifle range and awards would be made.

Thursday evening the Intramural basketball season began as Tau Delta Phi met Rhodies House in the opening game. There are two leagues this year. The first one consists of Klan, Tau Delt, Kappa Psi, Lambda Chi, Delta Sig, Kappa Nu, Bartlet Rodies and the Ards. The second league has the B teams of Delta Sig, Lambda Chi, Klan, Kappa Psi and Kappa Nu along with the Domes. Klan Alpine is the defending champion. In the intramural game Rhodies knocked off Tau Delt 51-26. High scorers in the game were John Zluchoski, John Farnan and Paul Katsanpes for Rhodies with 14, 11 and 10 points, respectively. Moe Kotick and Len Fagen were high for the losers with 8 points.
