As our nation struggles to address issues involving police conflicts, Alfred University is trying to build communication between local police and our students (see flyer of programs). AU students are sought to meet with police, every-other Tuesday (coming this week), throughout the semester. These lunch discussions are our opportunity to ask difficult questions and engage in civil discourse about these issues. If students would like to be involved, they are encouraged to contact Dan at d2d@alfred.edu
