Six Students Represent Alfred U. at Model U.N.

An Alfred delegation of six students has been chosen to represent the University at the 34th Annual Mid-Atlantic Model United Nations General Assembly, to be held in New York City from March 24-26.

The students selected are Richard Bernstein, Steve Chaleff, Neal Gantcher, John Stanley, Kathy Taylor, Adrienne Choper. Individuals from this group will attend special committees on political disarmament, the Republic of the Congo, the U.N. trusteeship in Southwest Africa, social and humanitarian problems, the economic development of Africa, and the legal complications arising from the exploration of outer space. The AU delegation will represent Canada.

The Model Assembly is sponsored each year by the American Association for the United Nations and is the chief aspect of that organization's college program. The AAUN was organized by a group of interested veterans during World War II. It serves as a channel for information on the U. N. and provides various activities to increase interest in the U. N.

President's Announcement

The faculties and administrative officers of Alfred University have expressed their concern on occasion over the presence of discriminatory membership clauses in the charters and bylaws of several campus fraternities. Because such clauses are contrary to the democratic principles on which the University was founded and is maintained, the faculties and officers of the University are agreed that they must be eliminated as early a date as possible.

We have always believed that this problem can best be solved through action taken by the fraternities themselves. Undergraduate and alumni members of fraternities having such clauses are expected to make the necessary changes without undue delay.

A recent review of the situation has revealed that significant progress is being made. One fraternity has complied and steps have been taken in the others to bring about the necessary changes. The fraternities which have not complied have been directed to increase their efforts to meet our requirement and it is hopefully anticipated that the next report on this matter will show that no fraternity on the Alfred University campus has discriminatory clauses in its charter or bylaws.

We wish to point out once more that the University does not intend to interfere with the right of a fraternity to select its own members. We believe that since a fraternity is a social organization it must alone be the judge as to whether an individual will be a compatible member of the group.

Five Seniors Chosen As St. Pat Queen Nominees

Word was passed from mouth to mouth. Was it true, people asked? Was there really going to be a new St. Pat's Queen? Old St. Pat stroked his beard and said with a smile, "Yes, there certainly is, but I can't decide among Denise Were, Patricia Baker, Karol Edwards, Jeannie Ciplijauskas, and Kathy O'Donnell."

Miss Denise Were, of Sigma Chi Nu, is President of the Alfred Senior Nurses. She is a 5 foot 4 inch, blonde, blue-eyed senior from Mt. Sinai, New York.

Miss Patricia Baker is a 5 foot 7 inch, green-eyed, brunette from Southhold, New York. "Trish", a Sigma girl, is N.S.A. Coordinator, and a member of the Psychology Club.

Miss Karol Edwards is a sociology major from Yardley, Pa. Karol

a 5 foot 6 inch, blue-eyed, brunette, is a member of Omecron and president of W.S.G.

Miss Jeannie Ciplijauskas is a history major from Great Neck, N.Y. Jeannie is a blond, 5 foot 2 inch, and has, of course, blue eyes. A member of Theta, she served as rush chairman this year, and is a member of senior court.

Miss Kathy O'Donnell, a 5 foot 7 inch English major from Allegheny, N. Y., is a brunette with brown eyes. Kathy is Editor-in-Chief of the Fiat Lux, President of Theta, Women's Vice-President, Secretary of the Political Science Club, and Vice-President of both Pi Delta Epsilon and the Young Democrats.

Which one will old St. Pat pick? Well on Saturday night, March 18 we'll let him tell us himself.

Student Gov't. Elections, March 13

On March 13, campus-wide elections will be held in the Campus Center. It is imperative that the student body vote and support the student government.

The following have been nominated for office:

Student Senate
President—Alex Zoldan
Vice-President—Stephen Gordon
N.S.A. Coordinator—John Guiterrez, Fred Silverstein

W. S. G.
President—Rose Ciullo

ROTC Band

A ROTC Band is being formed now at AU. Any interested men should contact Mr. Richard Lanshe of the Music Department.

Footlight Club Presents Rashomon, March 10, 11

The Alfred University Footlight Club will present the play "Rashomon" at Alumni Hall on March 10 and 11 at 8:15 p.m.

The play by Fay and Micheal Kanin is based on the famous stories of Akutagawa. It is a tense drama about the wife of a Samurai officer who is assaulted and whose husband is killed by a roving bandit. At the trial three different and contradictory versions of what happened are given, the bandit's, the wife's and that of the dead husband, who speaks through a medium.

The New York Times review of the Broadway production commented: "Pure art of the theater . . . out of a legend it conjures a mood." The New York Mirror said, "It gripped the attention of the first nighters like a vise."

The role of the bandit will be played by Bob Klein, a junior from New York; the wife by Regina Shamus, a senior from Syracuse; and the husband by Harrison Gilbert, a senior from Elmira. Other members of the cast are: Stephen Chaleff of the Bronx, Roy Glassberg of Brooklyn, John Guerrini of the Bronx, Richard Dienst of Brooklyn, and Carol Gilbert of Canton.

The play is being directed by Prof. C. D. Smith III, with Prof. Ronald Brown as Technical Director and Joanne Wendover, a junior from Schenectady, as Assistant Director.

Costumes are being borrowed from the Mint Museum Drama Guild of Charlotte, N.C., through the courtesy of Herbert Cohen, a graduate of the Ceramics College who worked in dramatics at Alfred. Jane Henckel is chairman of the costume committee.

Harrison Gilbert designed the set for the production. Sally Schlatter is in charge of the construction and decoration committee.

Sound effects will include music from the New York production and a tape of special effects. Harrison Gilbert heads the audio committee.

Other committee chairman are Sandy Genzelman, props; Fred Lindauer, lighting; Fred Baskind, publicity; and Joanne Wendover and Julie Levin, make-up.

“The Choice of a Candidate”

Except for the competition provided for the office of NSA coordinator the choice of student government officers has already been made for you. To say the least, this is an unique situation. Never before have three candidates run unopposed for such important offices on the Alfred campus.

This is not to say that the candidates nominated are “the best of all the possible.” But under the circumstances these people are the best ones available. They are the only ones with the necessary qualifications; length of service and practical experience included.

It is unfortunate that the residences do not take more of an interest in their student government by first electing interested representatives and then keeping them in their positions so that they will accumulate the qualifications to run for office. Too many candidates on the Senate now, although on the most part they are capable and are doing a good job, do not meet the minimum qualifications to be candidates.

The first step in effective student government is the election of qualified officers. Theoretically and practically this has been done for you. The students have a right to expect that action will follow up positions taken by the new leaders.

Only an imaginative and creative program instituted and directed by the new Senate officers will successfully continue what the present Senate has begun, and what they will be elected and expected to do.

This does not mean that the burden of responsibility rests solely on the leaders shoulders. An effective student government cannot operate without effective student participation. The government leaders can stimulate, suggest and organize but it is up to the representatives and in turn the students who they report back to to first understand the problems and then participate in the activities.

The present Senate has laid the groundwork for an effective student government. Intense interest, hard work and general understanding of campus problems on the part of the students and their representatives as well as a cooperative rapport with the new officers will determine the success of the new Senate as well the Women's Student Governing Board.

The student body can start to carry out its responsibilities by voting in the elections on March 13. It is important that we show our support for the new officers. This will help give them the confidence that we the students want them to help us help ourselves. It is very difficult, psychologically, to run in an unopposed election; let's not make it an unnoticed one also.

Although in the past the checks and balances of our governmental system have been sporadically dormant, responsibility provoked by conscience, should always be a concern to those involved in the system.

It is the job of a college newspaper to not only be a forum for discussion and suggestion but also to remind Pinocchio that Jiminy Cricket is always present. The Fiat Lux will not shirk from its reactivated consciousness of responsibility on both of these counts.

DAKOTA

by Neil Drossman
Fred N. Grayson

We sat uncomfortably in the hard chairs, our notebooks out, as if preparing for a lecture. But this was no ordinary lecture. This was about life, about jazz, about the blues.

Dakota Staton is no ordinary lecturer. She is one of the five top feminine vocalist on the contemporary jazz scene. Born in Pittsburg Pa., Dakota grew up with the likes of Earl Hines, Ahmad Jamal, and Errol Garner. She began singing at the age of seven, and remained with big bands for the next thirteen years. In 1954 she recorded her first single recorded her first single record for Capitol. Her big break, however, came with her first album; “The Late Late Show.” Since then she's performed at Newport, Randall's Island, (“That's cool”) Playboy Jazz Festival in Chicago, Australia, and Boston. She's recorded numerous albums, but her favorites are the last two; “Softly” and “Dakota, Dakota”, because as she says, “I'm back with big bands, and this is where I belong.”

Miss Staton is a big woman. She sat opposite us in a chic gray herringbone traveling suit, her fur tossed casually over an unoccupied chair. In the background, the members of the trio were variously occupied. Norman Simmons, the leader, when not studying arrangements was talking about the Bird, about jazz, about audiences, most of whom “prefer foot stomping music and ‘Stardust’ to intellectual jazz.” The Bass player, who missed his wife in Bayside, was reminiscing with the Drummer about their High School days. Any remaining formality was quickly eliminated when Dakota's husband (who is her manager) shouted, “Come on Dakota baby, just talk to ‘em — answer their questions.” And talk she did, almost as well as she sang.

When we asked her whether she considered herself a jazz singer or popular singer she answered with a shrug of the shoulders, “I just sing.” Then she told us about the blues, and her eyes took on a new light, as she obliviously scratched her calf. “I sing the blues. I sing swinging blues and story blues. I sing happy blues and sad blues. The only blues I don't sing are the earthy blues, like Ray Charles. I can't sing them 'cause I haven't felt them. I've felt other blues. You have to feel the blues. You had to have the hard knocks. Ella's great — the greatest but she doesn't sing the blues.”

Later, Dakota told us that she is doing a study of the blues. “There are various forms of blues: sophisticated, (like ‘Stormyweather’) footstomping, and the earthy. The blues are different all over the country. Each state has a different tempo. There's Kansas, New Orleans, New York, and Chicago. Ray Charles hires most of his drummers from New Orleans.”

“The blues are different from Rock and Roll. They tell a story and Rock and Roll is primarily hillbilly music. When I was down South, I saw all the white musicians trying to feel the blues by hanging around in jam sessions. The singers slur their words trying to effect the blues, but they can't feel it.”

Dakota said she liked college concerts and was looking forward to this one. At this point she was informed that it was time to sing, and she invited us back during intermission.

Dakota sang as she spoke — with feeling and sincerity. When she does the blues, her voice

Letters to the Editor

Letter to the Editor

The lack of competition for some of the high Senate offices this year is regrettable. The immediate reason for these uncontested elections is the lack of eligible Senate personnel. The high turnover in some quarters of the Senate's membership has cut the number of those eligible to hold office, since among other qualifications, office seekers must meet length of service requirements in the Senate.

Anyone who has worked both under Mr. Pearlman and his predecessor can attest to the difference of the mood in the two Senates. In one year only a ground-work can be laid and this Mr. Pearlman, by his hard work and inspiring leadership has done.

There is, however, it seems, a time lag between the realization in the Senate that they are accomplishing things and the knowledge in the student body that the Senate is doing things for them. What the Senate can do can be increased if the houses and dorms would send more qualified, interested representatives who would faithfully report back to those they are representing what is happening in the Senate. I would hope an increase in the number of qualified representatives would improve the Senate by facilitating communication from and to the Senate and increasing the number of those eligible to hold Senate offices.

Although we have a serious lack of candidates, those we have are all qualified and have had the beneficial experience of serving in a Senate where the prevailing mood was one of optimism, and optimism that student government can be effective.

It is important that in spite of the absence of competition in some contests that we vote. Not only do the unopposed candidates need a vote of confidence but also other important races are being decided at the same time.

Dear Editor:

Maintaining a good rapport with the Village of Alfred is and should be a concern of the university administration. That the “dining room scandal” was a source of embarrassment there can be no doubt. Therefore, to prevent repetition of such allegations it might prove advantageous for the Administration to clarify the matter. Certain daily minimum nutritional requirements are recognized as necessary for good health. Surely, the resident professional dietician who carefully plans and revises the weekly meal schedule is aware of this. Were the nutritional value-tables for any one week published, all doubts would be perforce dissolved. As for tastiness and quality of the food being served, it is owned that Alfred, so far as “institutional cooking” goes, succeeds more than most colleges. Student complaints as to the unrecognizability of certain foods are in themselves admission of immature ignorance. One may very easily learn what he is eating by asking the boys who serve the meals. As in the leading restaurants, the particular name of a dish can be known only by observing the menu: that is, if one is not a gourmet.

Conservatism

Dr.'s Luke Smith and Frederick C. Englemann will discuss “Conservatism” in the Campus Center on March 14.

FiveCollegeAssociations Proposed For Alfred U.

The Administration of Alfred University is considering a proposal that it become a member of the University Center of the Finger Lakes. A non-profit, educational institution, the Center would consist of colleges and universities located in or near the central section of New York.

The proposed University Center would provide for exchange lecturers, a research center, and seminars for various departments. In addition, the Center would circulate a calendar of public events such as concerts and lectures at all the member colleges; sponsor summer conferences for faculty members for the interchange of “scholarly ideas”; established a teaching-aids center that would provide such things as visual aids; arrange for the sharing of libraries and museums; undertake an exchange of students and professors in highly specialized fields; and arrange for extended stays on the various campuses by artists and scholars.

The establishment of the University Center would, according to its sponsors, enable the member institutions to achieve their separate aims more effectively and efficiently, to afford certain projects that no one school could do on its own, to enlist the cooperation of other area educational institutions in program beneficial to their whole region, and to develop and promote projects in support of their own programs.

It should be emphasized that the University Center is not a merger of institutions of higher learning. It is a voluntary association of “independent units for activities in which each is free to participate or not.”

The proposed founding schools are Alfred, Corning Community, Elmira College, Hobart and William Smith Colleges, and Mansfield State College.

embraces the lyric, giving the song a quality of earnestness, a haunting reality. In the jump tunes, she can become cute and sassy. Our favorites in this category were “The Party's Over”, “The Late Late Show”, and “The Simple Life.” Above all, Dakota maintained that inimitable quality of hers — a misty after hours sound “copied from no one.” The best of the blues, we thought, were “Misty”, “Ain't No Use,” and “When Sunny Gets Blue.”

Later, Dakota said that the audience was wonderful: “I wish that they had been down in Vegas with me. The people there seemed to be more concerned with drinking than listening.” When asked about her favorite performers, Dakota mentioned Ray Charles, Jimmy Rushing, Oscar Brown Jr., and Muddy Waters. (“He's a real oldtimer”). At the present time, her plans include a stint in Milwaukee, several one-nighters, and a new album — “Along About Midnight.”

Dakota Staton is much heavier than she used to be. She wears a lot of furs, cosmetics and jewelry. This is her, success! Beneath it is the blues. We know she felt it. We heard her sing. And then there is Dakota — an Indian — “friend.”

Candidates' Platforms Announced

Senate Pres. Alex Zoldan

"Student Apathy". Have you heard this expression before? Of course you have! This is the traditional "scapegoat" for every activity flop on campus. I am running unopposed for Student Senate President. This too may be attributed to this phenomenon known as "student apathy." This term "student apathy" refers to the indifference of the student body. Is it logical for students to be apathetic to their own problems and the methods of solution? Naturally not! From whence then does this apathy originate? Our only alternative is the Student Government.

Could it be that our Student Senate is not concerning itself with the main problems of the student body? I hardly think so. At present the Senate feels the pulse of the student body through their representatives from the dorms, fraternities, and sororities; through their representatives from the classes, from letters to the Fiat and from the student who accidentally walks into a Senate meeting. Structurally the Senate is more than adequate to work as a responsible agent for the student, but does the student want of work with the Senate? Our problem is not primarily one of student apathy, rather it is the lack of student understanding of its student government. A gross error of a majority of the students is the feeling that by electing Senate officers and representatives they assure themselves of smoothly functioning Student Government. The Senate cannot function independently of the student body. It must have the support of the student.

Upon the announcement of my candidacy for this office I was deluged with student suggestions for Senate consideration. I asked why these hadn't been suggested beforehand. My answer: "That's your job, not mine!"

With a few exceptions, the representatives to the Senate have been responsible people. They are active on Senate committees and readily offer suggestions for Senate activities. Of what value are these suggestions if they do not come from the student body? As previously mentioned the Fiat is a reliable source of student opinions. Are we so inarticulate as to have only three or four persons presenting their opinions?

If these were a problem of apathy the solution would be simple—forget about student government completely. I happen to know that the students are interested in student government. They are interested in their campus and its activities. Were all this not so I would not be running for the presidency. I feel that through newly developed channels of communication, the Senate is capable of becoming a highly effectual organization. The student however, must communicate his opinion and in the same instance must support actions taken upon it.

The greatest drawback to running unopposed in an election of this nature is the prevention of a full student comprehension of issues which would customarily come to the fore. The greatest asset to this campaign is that it will be an honest one. The reality of the Senate's conditions and objectives will not be veiled by the normal anxieties of election time.

I have many ideas both new and old. These will be revealed later during the campaign. I believe, however, that before the Senate begins channeling itself in a new direction, it should firmly establish itself as the responsible agent of the student. This requires a reciprocal agreement. The Senate will do its part. Will you?

Senate V.P. Stephen Gordon

I, Stephen Gordon, have submitted my candidacy for the office of Vice President of the student government at Alfred University, UNOPPOSED. A classmate, Alex Zoldan, is the candidate for the presidency of same organization, also running UNOPPOSED.

The appalling culmination of events, reaching such proportions here at Alfred, is indicative of modern societal, and especially collegiate, deficiencies encompassing conformity, apathy, and a total lack of individuality. I refer to the unconcerned, unopinionated, unquestioning, and unimaginative American student. He is a problem far outweighing, in the long run, the Cold War, the race in outer space, and unemployment. These secondary problems will never be overcome without the maximal taxation of the potentialities of this unindustrious, possible contributor to the history of our civilization.

As indicative of the impending crisis, the Fiat Lux you are reading now may be set apart from all those which have preceded. By virtue of the fact that elections and campaigning cannot take place, the Fiat Lux must shamefully admit to the world, that at Alfred, the democratic process is ineligible to continue. Of the 1300 college degree seekers in attendance at this school, is the percentage desiring election to the school offices supposed to be less than 1%?

We are impairing the success and stifling the growth of our own college community by encouraging sterility and the impotency within our group to elicit the full talents and capabilities of the individual. Worse yet, we even lack a nucleus of students large enough to compete for the important positions of leadership and responsibility to possibly offset, to some degree, the aforementioned discrepancies.

No government can be effective or responsible if there are no people capable of becoming the governors; and the greatest asset of any government is an active, educated, and informed electorate. Therefore, our Student Senate, or any representative body for that matter, must have capable leadership in conjunction with an informed and questioning student body.

If Alfred University has been the mother of men, it now seems apparent that we divorce ourselves from her apron strings. We must leave mother for a while and tap the reservoir of intellectual dynamism and achievement. We must channel our newly procured knowledge to attain a full measure of self-utilization. We must wage the war against the status quo! We have to make a conscious effort to begin. We must think, question, and analyze. Soon the tide will turn, and the war will be won.

N.S.A. Coordinator John Gutierrez

Princeton, Harvard and Alfred—does this trio seem incongruous to you? If it does, it shouldn't; and with the proper guidance, it won't. The N.S.A., or the National Student Association, is a body of some 400 member colleges and universities whose joint aim is to better the welfare of the student, not only in the United States but also abroad. The theme of the N.S.A. this year has been "Project Awareness," a most fitting suggestion for the Alfred Campus. N.S.A. in the New York region is in its formative years. The regional convention this year is being held here at Alfred, and with the proper incentive Alfred can become an outstanding member to the New York State region, in the same manner as Harvard is of the New England region and Princeton is of the New Jersey region.

At Alfred, especially in the year to come, the N.S.A. coordinator must be a person willing to devote a copious amount of time to the project of building not only N.S.A. on the Alfred Campus but also in the New York State Region. He must be able to present to the student body, in a fluent style the ideals of the NSA. On other campuses throughout the country the N.S.A. plays an integral part of student life. Students traditionally take part in matters of national importance as well as their own campus problems. With "Project Awareness" a central theme, we at Alfred may become a sounding board of surprising significance in the problems that face students on the national and international level.

Of supreme importance in the proper fulfillment of this job is interest. The N.S.A. can be whatever the campus coordinator desires to make it. In previous years there have been many personal advantages offered by the N.S.A. that you as students did not realize simply because of a lack of publicity. An example of this might be that travel discount books that you may obtain through N.S.A. if you have made any plans to visit Europe or Asia. If you belong to any organization on campus and have encountered a problem in its administration the N.S.A. may be consulted, and if no adequate solution is given, at least the experience gleaned from the organization of similar clubs or other campuses can be obtained.

These are but two of the many ways an effective N.S.A. coordinator can simplify your life at Alfred. Having had little experience in the N.S.A., and working in close conjunction with the rest of the Student Senate organization, I feel that I could be of assistance to you if elected to the position of coordinator for the National Student Association.

May I again remind you of the growing importance of the N.S.A., and in hoping that if nothing else you as students will become aware of the N.S.A. here at Alfred University; I respectfully submit my platform for the office of N.S.A. coordinator.

John Gutierrez

Fred Silverstein

The main function of the National Student Association is to deal with the problems which confront students on a local, national and international level. The 350 member schools from all over the world pool information and ideas in order to solve common problems. This association is of interest to Alfred in that it offers a source of information about what other campuses are doing and what their student opinions are. It also gives us a chance to make our opinions heard.

In recent months the NSA has been faced with many pressing national and international problems. During the intergration issue in the south, the NSA took an active part as it is now in the South African student problem. This includes expressing the student's opinions both with petitions and economic support.

The New York State regional NSA is very ineffective and weak. If elected, I plan to run for the chairmanship of the region in the forthcoming conference to be held at Alfred. I sincerely believe that Alfred students are concerned with current affairs and world wide problems. If I succeed in being elected, I hope to strengthen our region so that our ideas and opinions may be heard by other schools. Besides action on the international level, I will try to further the work the Senate has started his year. This includes elimination of out-moded restrictions on men's apartments, the student court, the honor system, etc.

There is a great deal of potential for Alfred's NSA. If elected, I will try to see that current information from the NSA is published along with articles about our own student problems. I will try to work in close cooperation with the newly created Student Affairs committee by learning other school's solutions to problems and seeing action taken on our campus. I have served on the Senate for one year as a representative and have served on several committees. I feel this experience will help me in strengthening the NSA and serving the student body of Alfred.

W.S.G. President Rose Ciullo

My qualifications for the office of WSG president must necessarily fall into two categories. I have served on the Council since my freshman year and at present I am treasurer. But, more importantly, I feel that I am qualified because of my sincere interest in seeing an improvement in the structure which now governs the social life of the Alfred University coed.

During the past year, the WSG Senior Court introduced several programs (for example, two o'clock permission for senior women one Saturday per month) and made suggestions for further liberalization, as well as the modernization of the WSG on campus. Some of these are still being debated but the regulations and their enforcement appear too complex to be practical. This, I feel, need not be so. Why not have less governing through rules, and more governing through "self", based on the integrity of the individual. Why not develop a social honor system? (I don't mean to imply that an academic honor system is undesirable, but only that it is out of my specific range.) At the present time the honor code which appears in the WSG handbook exists in words only. Since an honor system is based on the integrity of the individual by remedying the existing condition, we will be taking a step toward "governing through self." Perhaps, then, we

by Harriet Fain

The Junior Class presented a "talent" show at the March 2nd assembly. According to Alex Zoldan, class President, the purpose of the assembly was to provide entertainment and to inculcate new spirit into the classes at Alfred. One of the many problems associated with the planning of the show, was the apparent overabundance of talent in the Junior Class. In keeping with Mr. Zoldan's proclaimed purpose of injecting new spirit into all the classes, the Junior Class was forced to limit its representation to one act. Just in case anyone might be disillusioned into searching for a serious purpose, Mr. Zoldan quickly assured them that they were "nuts" by quoting from Mark Twain, "Persons attempting to find a motive in this narrative will be prosecuted; persons attempting to find a moral in it will be banished; persons attempting to find a plot in it will be shot."

Jerry Zwickel, '61 honored St. Pat Decked out in tails, Mr. Zwickel appeared as a man whose emotional problems have been solved. It seems that as a freshman, Mr. Zwickel was profoundly worried about his height in relation to that of the rostrum. How would he reach the rostrum if he should become valedictorian? However, the Alfred professors, true to form, came to Jerry's rescue. Now a senior, he no longer worries about his height; his professors have made him secure with the knowledge that he'll never be valedictorian.

Turning from his own problems, Jerry proclaimed his intention of adopting an epistemological approach to the more serious side of St. Pat's Weekend. To launch the festivities, the Civilization Panel, not wishing to be accused of lacking school spirit, will give its annual pre-St. Pat's quiz.

No one knows when or where St. Pat will arrive, but Mr. Zwickel suggested that we all keep an eye on the Davis "temporary" Gym. Everyone comes to the St. Pat's festivities: students, professors, villagers, dean, Uncle Johnny (from the Collegiate) and his brother Bill (from the guiding light down the road), and all the bartenders from Hornell. Before leaving, our knowledgeable senior assured us that there is one person who, above all others, has been looking out for St. Pat's welfare. Our ever watchful constable has, as usual, been methodically dispensing speeding tickets.

Dave Martin, serving as emcee, introduced as the Junior Class talent representative Bob Klein and Mike Weiner. In spite of Mike's "technical and personal discomfitures", they managed to sing "When I Fall In Love" and "Midnight Special".

Freshman Jeff Wells, followed by classmate Gloria Weinberg, entertained with his vocalizations. Gloria sang two Rodgers and Hammerstein selections.

Then followed an act especially for those who were at least a little mentally unhealthy. Madam Caryn and her Swinging Five took us to Hawaii with their impressions of Island dancing.

Just in case anyone had forgotten that St. Pat's was approaching, Joel Moskowitz appeared on stage. He informed the audience that St. Pat would not arrive to host the annual S. Pat's Weekend unless he had the backing of the entire student body. A resounding "Erin Go Bragh" was his answer.

Now completely satisfied, Joel related some of the adventures of St. Pat. Once upon a time, St. Pat was a mild-mannered Alfred University student. The only time our hero revealed his true identity was when Lois Loser, who suspected the truth, was captured by gremlins. Coming to Lois' aid as Superman, our hero got his first date to St. Pat's Weekend.

In his next adventure, St. Pat is disguised as Robin Pat, leader of the Rogues of Sherwood Forest (sometimes known as the St. Pat's Board), who live in Jericho Forest. Robin Pat will stop at nothing to get a ticket to St. Pat's, but, alas, in the end, the Rogues decide that they will have to buy tickets.

The final adventure took place in the late '20's. Elliot Pat of the unmentionables, assisted by Harry Handcuffs, was visited by a "dame" with equilibrium troubles.

The assembly drew to a close as members of the St. Pat's Board passed out cigars and stickers to the audience.

I would like to see the WSG work in conjunction with the Student Senate and the Student Affairs Committee in order to achieve a thorough going government by which the above will be accomplished and in which every student, and more particularly the women, may feel a part.

Dr. Greene said that the money will be used for apparatus in the glass laboratory for measuring viscosity and for studying the behavior of bubbles in molten glass.

A similar grant was received from the firm last year under its program of support to higher education.

Rashomon And Oriental Prints Were Seen As Part of Exhibit

On Sunday, Feb. 26, and Tuesday, Feb. 28, the Campus Center Board presented as the main feature of their Japanese exhibition in the movie "Rashomon". In addition, a collection of contemporary Japanese prints appeared in the Exhibit Room of the Campus Center.

While this phase of activity has passed, the Board is not idle. It has just been announced that there will be a Singles and Doubles Men's Intramural Table Tennis Tournaments in the Center beginning on Monday, March 13.

Registration for both tournaments must be made on or before this Thursday, March 9, in person at the desk of the Campus Center. Pairings and scheduling of matches will be posted on Friday afternoon.

New Ceramics Lab Is Planned

An air-conditioned laboratory for graduate research will be built by the State University of New York at the College of Ceramics here this year, Dean John F. McMahon has announced.

Work is expected to begin this summer on the $113,000 two-story structure of concrete block and steel. Plans call for its completion by the first of the year. The building will be located behind Binns-Merril Hall adjoining the existing garage and expanded shale laboratory.

Dr. W. H. Lawrence, Director of Research at the College of Ceramics, said that the building will be air-conditioned "because of the character of research to be done by graduate students." He explained that constant room temperature is necessary to assure proper operation of sensitive electrical measuring instruments and controls and other precision equipment.

The research laboratories will be located on the ground floor while the basement floor will house a machine shop and glass blowing facilities important to the fabrication of elaborate vacuum and pressure laboratory systems.

March 10.

All contestants must play their scheduled matches or forfeit points for their respective teams.

The Campus Center Program Council has announced plans for several Duplicate Bridge tournaments. The Center tournaments are open to undergraduates, graduate students, Faculty, and Housemothers.

Each tournament is to be held at 2 p.m. on the following dates: Sunday, March 12; April 16; Sunday, April 30; and Sunday, May 21.

No advance registration is necessary, there is no fee. Contestants may simply appear at the tournament. In the event that there are any questions you may contact Ed Horning, Tournament Director.

Space-age Talk By Tinklepaugh

James R. Tinklepaugh, assistant to the director of research at the New York State College of Ceramics at Alfred, addressed the Canisio Rotary Club concerning "The Materials Engineer in the Space Age" on Wednesday, March 1.

Matmen Bow to Clarkson and U.B. Daignault and Oliver Stand Out

by Eric Harrison

Alfred's wrestling team closed out their regular season on a losing note as they bowed to Clarkson 21-11 at Potsdam.

Alfred forfeited the 123 lb match 130 pounder Herb Oliver won his fifth in a row, decisioning Gene Misercola; Oliver picked up 2 points in each of the three periods, while Misercola was able to pick up only one.

Dave Frey was decisioned 2-1 by Clarkson's 137 pounder Mike Rose giving the home team an 8-3 lead. In the 147 lb class Alfred's Ted Linder went into the third period with a 4-2 lead against Shelly James only to have James pick up 5 points to his 2 to loss a 7-6 heartbreaker.

Clarkson picked up 10 quick points as John Babcock pinned Ernie Shaw and Ron Parrot pinned Alex Horowitz in the 157 and 167 lb classes respectively.

Dick Gross closed out his college wrestling career in excellent style as he decisioned Clarkson's Bill Meyers, St. Lawrence County Champ, on two reversals and a takedown. Two weeks ago Gross achieved his first pin against Allegheny.

Heavyweight Dave Daignault finished his career and the season with a devastating second period pin over Dick Ernest. Before pinning his opponent Daignault rolled up nine points. Daignault finished the year with the best record on the team, six wins and two defeats.

by Larry Schechter

Last Wednesday the Saxon grapplers dropped their fourth match of the season to powerful University of Buffalo squad by a score of 23-13. An unfortunate automobile accident which occurred en route to Alfred put five Buffalo freshmen and one varsity man out of action for the night.

Although the frosh match was canceled, there were three individual exhibition matches. One hundred and thirty pounder Bill Wilkinson reversed Joe Aiello in the third period to win a 4-2 decision. Dick Dawson started out like a house on fire with a take down and a near pin in the first period. He won a 5-0 decision over Buffalo's Dick Komarmi, Arland Hanning reversed Bud Wellman in the last second of the match to win the decision. Hanning is undefeated this season.

The frosh team as a whole has shown tremendous wrestling ability and they should be a big boost to the varsity next year.

In the varsity match Dave Martin was pinned by Bill Blalock. Junior Herb Oliver won his fourth match in a row as he literally tore UB's Steve Hanzlik apart. Oliver scored a takedown in the first period, an escape and a reverse in the second period and two escapes. two takedowns and a near pin in a rip-roaring 9-point third period. The final score was a very lopsided 15-6 with Oliver way up on top. Herb has been improving with each match and should be able to do big things when he travels to Cleveland next week for the 4-I Championships.

In the 137-pound slot, Dave Frey lost a decision to undefeated Mike Valentic. Buffalo's Dan Santasiero employed a nelson and crush to pin sophomore Ted Linder.

Ernie Shaw, a newcomer to the team, lost his first match due to inexperience. Shaw was pinned by Warren Prunella but he shows a lot of promise for the future.

Since UB's 167-pound powerhouse Ron Clayback was injured in the accident AU won the match by forfeit. Dick Gross moved up one weight class to meet the second member of the two undefeated Valentic Brothers. Dick was pinned in the third period by a crossbody press.

Dave Daignault pinned Armand Martin in the third period using a crossbody press. Dave has been a great help to the team this season and has compiled a very impressive 5-2 record.

Dave Daignault at work!

Saxons Romp Clarkson 95-62; End 10-9: Steinberg Breaks 1000; Eaton Stars

by Stuart Letsch

Alfred University's basketball team ended the 1960-61 season with a spectacular 95-62 win over Clarkson last Saturday night in the Men's Gym. This was the last game for seniors Joe McLarney, Roger Ohstrom, and Don Campos.

Steve Steinberg, who sets a record every time he scores a point, brought his career total to 1,004 points by hitting for 21 points. Loren Eaton ended his first varsity season scoring 30 points and grabbing 23 rebounds while playing only 30 minutes. The Saxons set the Men's Gym scoring record for an Alfred team and were one point short of the all-time scoring mark of 96 points set against Brockport last year.

The first half started off slowly Alfred jumped to an early six point but Clarkson rallied to tie the Purple and Gold. This trend continued throughout most of the half until the Saxons opened up an 11 point lead and were never headed. With five seconds left in the period, Eaton hit a hook shot from outside the keyhole and Clarkson's Carl Putnam put in a set shot from 50 feet to cap the first half scoring.

The second half was highlighted by a more open type of ballplaying. The Saxon's "poured it on" and scored 54 points in the half. Alfred set up Steinberg and Eaton in one on one situations and both were able to score at will against the weak Clarkson defense. Joe McLarney, driving up the middle, added 11 points and seven assists to end his career on a fine note. Ohstrom and Campos also played fine games and all three seniors were given standing ovations. Howard Gabe again played a good defensive game and twice broke through the middle on drives. Mike Benedict played a good foul line game and Hank Landman, Mike Mishkin, and Al Walker added timely tallies.

In the preliminary game, the Jamestown Y.M.C.A. defeated the Alfred frosh by a 79-63 count. High men for the freshmen were Nick Ferreri with 23 points, Dave Lefkowitz at 16, and Frank Romeo with 10.

This was the Basketball Homecoming and many Alfred greats of the past were present.

Next week, the FIAT will publish the final statistics for the basketball season.

15-32-62

by Mike Kutell

The Alfred basketball team was handed its ninth defeat of the season by Ithaca College. The 89-69 rout took place at the Ithaca home court, last Tuesday night.

Ithaca jumped to an early lead.

The half arrived with the Blue and White leading 38-33. As the Saxons pressed in the second half, Ithaca opened up a wider margin on long passes that led to easy layups.

Ithaca had five men in double figures, with Hewes the high man with 22 points. For the Saxons, Mike Mishkin matched his season's high by pouring in 19 points. Also in double figures for Alfred was Steve Steinberg who scored 15. Loren Eaton, having on off-night, grabbed only seven rebounds. The rebounding for the Purple and Gold was handled by Mike Benedict and Mike Mishkin; each collected eight rebounds. Joe McLarney turned in his usual steady game by scoring nine points and accounting for another ten with his five assists.

In the Freshman preliminary, the Blue and White Yearlings swamped the baby Saxons 101-70. The Ithaca Frosh had seven men in double figures. High scorer for the game was Alfred's Nick Ferreri with 23 points, also in double figures was Murray Lindsley with 17 and Pete Rowan with 10. Ithaca controlled the backboards by out-rebounding the shorter visitors, 82-35.

The Alfred Varsity finished its road season with a 5-6 won and lost record.

Deans To Attend National Meeting

Two Alfred University Deans will attend the 16th National Conference on Higher Education in Chicago on March 5-8.

Dr. John W. Gustad, Dean of the College of Liberal Arts, will serve as a panelist on a Discussion group meeting to consider the topic "Identifying early the potentially good college teacher and encouraging him to enter a career of scholarship and Teaching."

Dr. Joseph Seidlin, Dean of the Graduate School, will serve as the recorder for a discussion group concerned with "Describing, evaluating, and improving the total climate or profile of a campus".

No Checks for Choo-Choo

Because of new instructions received today from the Treasurer of the Erie Lackawanna RR, we will no longer be able to accept checks in payment of railroad fare. This applied both to checks signed by students and also to those signed by their parents.

For the past several years we have been allowed to accept such checks and their use by students has become quite widespread. I personally regret the inconvenience this may cause but have no option in the matter.

Major Stephen Kish, an ordinance officer from the R.O. T.C. Department of Syracuse University, spent the week lecturing to the MS III students. His lecture, one of a series to acquaint the Juniors with the duties, detriments and advantages of each branch of the army, also served to indoctrinate the Seniors who have chosen the Ordinance Corps.

Klan and Running Bears Lose; Kappa Nu, Lambda Chi Left in Race for BB Trophy

Three upsets this week ruined the title hopes of two teams and the fourth place hopes of another. The biggest upset of the week occurred Tuesday night as Klan outran the Running Bears. The Bears, without Benson, Driscoll, Adelman, and Martling, played their worst game of the season. Nothing, however, should be taken away from Klan. Playing a fast, spirited game, the Klansman capitalized on the Bears mistakes to take a 43-42 victory.

Klan took command early in the game and kept it all the way. The Bears were able to cut the lead down to three with about five minutes left to play, but then they faltered and Klan took control again. With a minute to go the Bears struck again, but it was too little too late.

Quinn, Block and Teta were the key men on the devastating fast break, and Pavoni was a rock under the boards for the Klansmen. Again, only the shooting of Lutsic, Wertz and Hartnett kept the Bears in the game. The loss virtually eliminated them from title contention unless KN losses two out of its three remaining games.

Two nights later the title hopes of Klan, and a six game winning streak, were dashed to the ground by the Gails. The Gails had control of the entire game, dominating the boards and floor. Klan, on the other hand, could not even control their tempers. If Klan had kept their heads, they might have won, but they didn't and lost 42-30. Sean McKinney was the star for the Gails as he pulled down umteen rebounds and scored Eighteen points. Bill Winians and Gary Carmen's cool headed play aided the Gails greatly in maintaining their torrid pace. For the losers, Joe Teta's early baskets kept Klan reasonably close for most of the game.

In other action around the league, the Saxons overcome an 18-14 halftime deficit to take a 37-31 victory from Cannon. KN was given a scare by Delta Sig. Kappa Nu had a 12-1 lead after the first eight minutes of play but after that it was all downhill as Delta Sig played its best game of the season from that point on. The Delta Sig-men whittled the lead to two points, then the KN press finally paid off and KN won going away 39-30. Fuller, Potter, DeMott, Sage and Jones gave inspired performances for Delta Sig.

This Thursday in the Men's Gym at 7:30 p.m. Alfred's Varsity Basketeers take on their freshmen counterparts in both team's final appearance this year.

It will be a true preview of next year's Saxons as seniors Ohstrom, Campos and McLarney will not be playing.

The starting Frosh "5" of Ferrari, Romeo, Lefkowitz, Lindsley, and Rowan will probably attempt to run on the varsity; the varsity, led by Eaton and Steinberg have an overpowering height advantage.

Which ever team prevails the game should prove interesting.

Because of their superior height and experience the Morning Line, subject to change, establishes the Varsity as a 24 point favorite. No admission will be charged, but contributions will be greatly appreciated by the Varsity "A" Club.
