AU Judicial Board Training

FACULTY - STAFF - STUDENTS-

We are looking for new members for our student judicial boards. A student code of conduct and judicial hearing process can be an important tool in teaching students how to be productive members of our academic community. In order to meet that goal it is imperative that our boards reflect the campus community. If you are interested in being involved a member, please send an e-mail to judicial@alfred.edu.

83% of college men

"83% of college men respect their partner's wishes about sexual activity. Trust your instincts! If the situation seems unclear, stop and make sure you both want the same thing. Tonight might not work out like you hoped, but you'll both have an easier time dealing with tomorrow." (www.rainn.org)

Thursday, Sept. 27, is RAINN Day, set aside by Rape, Abuse & Incest National Network (RAINN) as a time to raise awareness about sexual assault, how to get help, and prevention.

If you have been sexually assaulted, or know someone who has, the Counseling and Student Development Center can help. Please call 607.871.2300 for an on-campus, confidential appointment. Or send a confidential e-mail to csdc@alfred.edu.

If you'd like to learn more about RAINN visit them at www.rainn.org.

Alfred Fashion Runway to Tie the Knot

Alfred University has announced plans for its second annual 'Alfred Runway' program, which challenges students to create fashion designs and attire. The event will be held at 8 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 27 in the Miller Performing Arts Center.

This year's theme is entitled "Fashion Ties The Knot" and will ask fashion teams to design wedding attire for two models. The official challenge reads; "In a time where the definition of marriage faces great debate, Alfred University students are invited to share their viewpoint through fashion."

Teams will design and construct wedding attire for two models that could explore other cultures, visit the past, imagine the future, embrace tradition, or confront the establishment. Each team is asked to create both a visual and verbal statement in a setting where all viewpoints will be welcomed and respected."

Teams of no more than five people (including models) will design, construct, and model attire for two individuals in an attempt to expand upon the stated challenge. Teams must consist of a majority of Alfred University students but can contain up to two University professionals, community members or Alfred State College students.

Fashion attire must be constructed rather than purchased and judges will be instructed to score more favorably upon attire that is original.

Models will be expected to participate in two runway walks. The first entitled "Down the Aisle" will portray a wedding procession of the design team's imagining. The second scene entitled "The Reception" tests the fashion's ability to dance at a post-wedding celebration. The fashion team will select music and choreograph both walks. A question and answer segment will allow fashion teams to explain their vision.

Guest judges are currently being sought and will be announced in the coming month. Last year's inaugural event included a visit by Project Runway winner Jay McCarroll and over 10 teams competing for the title of Alfred Runway winner.

Kevin Jacobs, Alfred University career counselor, will be registering teams starting October 1st and the deadline for registering is October 15th. Jacobs can be contacted for more information and official rules at jacobsj@alfred.edu and 607-871-2164.

Dr. Clare is getting stronger

Dr. Clare continues to gain strength. She is no longer wearing a cervical collar. She is doing better at holding her head up on her own. She is able to assist the staff when they move her and her upper body strength continues to improve. She gripped Blake's finger with modest strength in her left hand on Wednesday.

However we still need to remember that as the poet Robert Frost (1874-1963) once wrote there are "many miles to go before I (she) sleeps."

Volunteer for the Ridgewalk in Wellsville, NY

If you love to be outdoors but are not interested in hiking or running in any Ridgewalk events, consider volunteering for the Tracking Committee. It's our job to keep track of the hikers to make sure that everyone who enters the woods leaves the woods.

For more information, contact Kathy Woughter at x2132 or woughter@alfred.edu. The Ridgewalk is Sunday, Oct. 21.
