Making smoothies, knitting teens' suggested activities

By ELAINE HARDMAN

Alfred Sun Reporter
WELLSVILLE--If you were in charge of setting up activities for 8th, 9th and 10th graders, brainstorming for activities that would interest them would you think of knitting? How about a workshop focused on making smoothies? If not then you aren't any more in tune with teens than I am because those are two of the suggestions given during a meeting to talk about forming a new teen center in Wellsville

After finding no community members interested in commenting to the Wellsville Town Board at its March meeting, the board recognized Traci Johnson, director of the Town of Wellsville Recreation Department. Johnson introduced two Alfred University faculty members who are involved in a new teen center project. Johnson told the board that Professors Brett Hunter and Michelle Illuminato came to her to ask if the there was room for teens within the Community Center. "You know me." John-son told the board, "I invited them in.

The Wellsville Community Center is a welcoming place for people of all ages from dancing five year olds to "Seniors" play-ing cards in the afternoon. The proposed teen center would share the current card room on the right side of the building - open one night a week as well as some period of time on weekends. Hunter and Illuminato have money to pay for renovations but the challenge is to provide appropriate instructors and supervision and then to build the program so that it can be sustained as long as there is a need.

Before continuing their conversations or planning, Hunter and Illuminato wanted to know if the Wellsville Town Board was willing to follow Johnson's welcoming lead.

The board has agreed that arrangements are possible but they will wait for a solid proposal with a clear plan; something that will happen after the Alfred team meets again with teens next week. It'll be interesting to see what projects, programs and workshops the teens decide they are interested in.

Hunter and Illuminato discussed art activities with the teens they've met so far because they are on the faculty at Alfred University's School of Art and Design. Still, if the teens are interested in games or food or something else, the project will veer from art.

Moving to other topics the board voted to replace retiree Gary Giddings at the Highway Department with a full time person. They expect no shortage of good applicants since even temporary positions are drawing dozens of quality candidates.

The board discussed the master plan update for the airport. A master plan update is normally done every 10 years but since there was work done on the airport this past summer (tree removal) it has to be updated now. The cost of the update is estimated at $175,000 - local share of $4375. The majority of the cost is covered by the fees paid on airline tickets. This update will include a topographical survey (done at 1 foot intervals) and aerial photographs of approximately 26 square miles around the airport.

The board approved the expense saying that the airport benefits the town and supports local business and jobs.

Tom Hennessey gave an update on changing the health care plan for non union workers. He found one that is acceptable though not the cheapest. The cheap plans have high de-ductibles and cover little. While the plan being investigated will save the town a great deal of money they have been warned that rates will likely rise by 3% every quarter. The board authorized Hennessey to move forward to seek quotes to bring to the April meeting.

Tracy Johnson addressed the board regarding the Recreation Department. The David A Howe Library would like to use the town park for a "Pirates of the Genesee Treasure Hunt" 5-9 year olds on August 14. The Library wil provide event insurance.

Also, the Division for Youth has indicated that their funding

Department will be cut by 12.5% for this year but 2% of that will be reinstated next year.

In its continuing effort to aid the people of Haiti, another Alfred State campus group, the Campus Round Table (CRT), the central governing board for all Residence Halls on campus, sponsored a campus-wide penny wars competition. CRT members sat in front of The Terrace during the lunch rush and raised a total of $230.63. Many students became competitive, with one student bringing in a total of $25 in pennies to ensure his building would win the competition. All pennies collected were added to a buildings score. Any silver coins or dollar bills that were dropped into a bin were points that were subtracted from the building's total points. Braddon Hall won the competition with a total of 1,728 points. CRT will provide Braddon Hall with a pizza party. Total raised for Haiti Outreach as of March 1 is $7,964.10.

Sometimes, such as when this photo was taken, I mention to Bob that I know why geologists love road cuts. In this instance, one can see the nearly horizontal strata of the rock outlined by snow. Other times, the fresh rock faces show dazzling - to those who appreciate them - faults, folds, unconformities, and other fascinating geological features. This particular one is along a new portion of Route 15 near Mansfield, PA.

Last week's photo was of "retired" local farmer and author, Harold Snyder, spreading manure to return resources to the earth to be recycled into hay or grass for the cattle that browse there.

Ham and leek dinner...may require acquired taste

ALFRED STATION--Some say it is an acquired taste; others you either like it or you never will. What are we talking about? The Fourth Annual Ham and Leek Dinner in the social rooms at the Alfred Station Seventh Day Baptist church meeting house social rooms from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Sunday, April

What will you find when you come to the Ham and Leek Dinner? There is a full menu of ham, cooked leeks, macaroni and cheese, (for those whose taste is in the never will category), scalloped potatoes, potato and leek soup, rolls and pie for dessert. Beverages will be coffee, tea, milk, and of course refreshing water.

What else will you find at the dinner? You will find your friends and neighbors who will be looking forward to a chance just to sit and talk and enjoy a time of good old fashion getting together.

How much will this cost? It costs a donation. You donate you dollars as a gift to help a worthy cause. What cause is that? We have two men in the congregation Curtis Palmiter and Calvin Babcock who are hoping to leave in June on a missions project. They will travel to Guyana, South America. There they will use their skills in a construction project rebuilding a manse helping the men and woman of the Guyana Seventh Baptist General Conference to take a step toward self- suffi-

The remodeled house will be developed as a suitable place from which to run a church affiliated business. Through this project instead of just giving persons in this third world country a hand-out as so many do, they will be receiving a hand-up. Curtis and Calvin will need to raise $2,500 dollars. Through your donation at the Ham and Leek dinner you will be sharing what we Americans have with others; who do not have.

Your friends and neighbors at the Alfred station Seventh Day Baptist Church, 'A 3 C -Church" Connect- Care- Community" invite to come to the Ham and Leek Dinner, April 11. The lie is growing

Letter-To-The-Editor:

How can the Democrats support a healthcare bill which does none of the things the Obama Administration has claimed all along it would do and has now passed in Congress?

When the public finally realizes what the Democrats have given them, control of Congress and the Whitehouse will be out of the majority party's hands and the reach of Democrats for perhaps a very long period. And Democrats were the nation's best hope of making change in this country; in Washington, D.C.?

We have been taken in as a people; fooled, duped, deceived, and suckered. Given how ineptly the Obama Administration has managed the healthcare reform effort, making secretive deals with the healthcare insurance and drug industries, no elected Democrat will ever be interested in trying to "fix" the mess they so deftly created on their own. It will be easier for them to try to convince Americans that their "lie" is the truth.

The Republicans in Congress must be gleeful and rejoicing. The strategy of "pass what we can now and we will fix it later" is about to mercilessly backfire on the Democrats. Just look at Congresses' record on making Social Security viable into the future for our citizens.

Ask yourself, just how many members in the House of Representatives would it have taken to have defeated this bill if we had Congressmen who put the welfare of Americans above their own selfish interests? This bill will not reduce the nation's healthcare expenditure; it will just shift it directly onto the backs of the unsuspecting American people and at the same time, reward the insurance in-

With 10%, and possibly greater, unemployment in the country, and businesses continuing to be saddled with the expense of providing healthcare coverage, there is no way our nation will be able to successfully compete in the world economy unless salaries are cut further. I am confident that forcing Americans to purchase, what will prove to be "worthless" healthcare insurance as a way of containing federal costs, particularly in the midst of a "near depression", will actually lead to the demise of the Democratic Party as we knew it.

Who among us can afford 8 to 10% of our income to go toward healthcare insurance over the survival necessities of food, shelter and all the other incidentals? Certainly not the Congress; they have a single-payer healthcare program.

The Democrats will never live this one down. Democrats should have put forth the best Medicare-For-All bill for an up or down vote and let the voters ultimately decide the Congresspersons who should be replaced in the 2010 elections; and afterwards, they could easily have passed any single-payer healthcare reform bill they wanted. And for the Democrats now to sanction diverting monies, under the guise of savings from "waste," out of Social Security, Medicare, and Medicaid, the country's only remaining safety nets, is beyond belief.

Historically, this whole political process is going to be fascinating as we watch it unfold further into the remaining term of office for the Obama Administration. Are you ready to buy into the lie that this is real "healthcare reform"?

Douglass T. Turner Alfred, NY Coalition for Single-Payer
Science marches on

Dear Editor:

Science marches on. Nicholas Kristof of the NY Times reports that the liberal or conservative bent may be innate. Or somewhat. Recent research "hints that political judgments may be partly in personality types and even in the hard wiring of our brains'

Wearing earphones, research subjects were exposed to a loud, unexpected noise. Electrodes used to measure so-called startle/blink (flinching) reflexes indicated those with the stronger reactions tended to be conservative, favoring gun rights, warrantless searches, and opposing foreign aid. This suggested increased fearfulness and suspicion on their part.

Other researchers explored the method of punishing children in relation to politics. They found that "spanking states" go Republican, while states where parents use timeouts go Democratic. Spankers "tend to see the world in black and white and as 'us' and 'them.'" Non-spankers "feel more comfortable with ambiguities, sense less threat, embrace minority groups..."

Even the "disgusting" film of a person eating a mouthful of worms got little reaction from liberals, while conservatives' somatic systems went bonkers. Now, who are the pantywaists?

The fact that conservatives feel vulnerable and angry at a higher rate than liberals may explain the apocalyptic scenarios enacted by Beck and Limbaugh. But I must confess that, flattering as this research is to liberals, I don't believe that any or all of it repeals the nature/nurture question. I was raised in two of the reddest states, Texas and Georgia, and I had no friends whose parents were spankers. I was only "switched" once. After a friend and I set fire to dry sagebrush in a vacant lot, a Dallas fireman took me home and ordered my mother to punish me. Our motive was to set up a baseball field, but the adjacent householders and the fire department didn't see it that way.

My caveats aside, when one sees Glenn Beck and Rush Limbaugh juxtaposed on TV, both holding head in hands, both moaning, "Obama's ruining this country," you have to infer that they see conservatives as fearful and paranoid. Limbaugh has appeared in TV clips several times in the past week threatening, if health care passes, to go to Cost Rica, unaware, as I was, that Costa Rica already has a national health care system. Well, as somebody has said (me, in fact), money is a rich man's toys, and he not only wants his toys but yours too rather than see them wasted on working-class health care. If he doesn't get his way, he just might take his toys and go to Costa Rica or to the Cayman Islands.

Very truly yours, Edward McCamy Alfred

Born and raised in Northeast Ohio, with Hungarian music roots, he inherited his love of music and song from his late mother, a prolific songwriter and accordion player. Traditions and Transitions

While scanning the front page of the March 1, 2010, issue of Alfred University's student newspaper, "Fiat Lux," an article by News Editor Sharifa Barrow and its accompanying photograph by David Lemmo caught my eye.

Here is the first paragraph: "With help from the Division of Student Affairs and the Workgroup on Transgender Issues, AU residence halls are in for a co-ed change, with special attention to the bathroom facilities." Here is the caption for the photo: "An example of a transgender friendly shower stall in Bartlett Hall."

News items such as this march my memories back down several rungs on the ladder of societal changes. I first came to work as a librarian in Alfred forty-one years ago at an institution where traditions and transitions never end. To become the Samuel R. Scholes Library of Ceramics located at the New York State College of Ceramics at Alfred University two steps up the ladder were taken. One added the name of a former dean and professor of glass science to that of the Library. The other changed the letterhead for the College, creating useful piles of scrap paper.

When I arrived in 1969 men and women students lived in separate dormitories on the AU campus. Not long after that a distressed faculty friend told me of an upsetting incident. One of her female advisees had been disciplined for having a male student visit her dorm room. A year later dorms housing both males and females were instituted on the AU campus, and much less formal separation of the sexes within their walls was required.

During my own dormitory living years in the early 1950's at Kansas University a different mixing experiment took place. In these mullings, I shall use the terms which I believe were traditional then, "colored" and "white." KU had long admitted students of any skin tone. During the 1920's when my mother studied there coloreds sat toward the rear of classrooms, whites toward the front. That practice, and separate living quarters, changed in 1951.

I was assigned to a large, new, multistory freshman women's dormitory then. KU was trying two experiments. Freshmen women would no longer need to decide upon enrollment whether to go through rush week for sororities or to declare themselves independents. That was postponed until the sophomore year. Additionally, colored and white students would live together in exclusively freshman dorms. Integration within all dorms would continue as this group evolved into upperclassmen. The freshman dorms housed two people to a room, each of the same hue. A colored pair, one of whom had blue eyes, lived in a room next to mine. My floor-mates all interacted well, but for a white kleptomaniac.

The following autumn six of us white independents wangled the largest second floor room in an upperclass dorm for women. The ground floor public areas included two lounges and a dining room. The building had once been a fraternity house. Although the structure was now formally condemned, it was livable for the short run. KU was still dealing with the aftermath of stresses caused when the influx of G.I. Bill recipients brought heavy demands on facilities.

The blue-eyed colored student moved into the same dorm. The housemother assigned her to a cramped room at the top of the elegant front hallway staircase with the only two other colored residents. They were transfer students, and our friend felt out of place with them. We six invited her to move in with us. The housemother was put in a quandary. She feared that white boyfriends coming for their dates might dislike seeing three "nappy" heads peering over the curved banister. But, she also worried that our white parents might have objections to the move. Happily, our room soon held seven desks and chests of drawers. Everyone shared a sleeping porch.

Approximately fifteen students lived upstairs in the dorm. Obviously, we could not all use the only bathroom on that floor at one time. But, in the basement several could simultaneously occupy a row of toilets and a row of showers facing each other. There were thin partitions between fixtures and a burlap curtain in front of each. Desegregation was stepping up the ladder, although today's transgender shower requirements remained out of sight. However, male dates could look through the gaping crack between the dorm's threshold and front door into the basement. Call that residence "transit gender friendly."

Bethel's release is called "Come Home", a 12-song album with a full band of support. The album has tastes of a country upbringing and dashes of pop and rock, but is nailed in the folk genre.

"Bethel's got a genuine feel of unpretentiousness that comes out in her songs, leaving the listener with a warm feel of honesty, soul and comfort. Her delivery is solid and her songs are from the heart. Even her sweet and humble stage banter leaves you feeling that Bethel Steele is the real deal."

Tom Bianchi, Lizard Lounge Open Mic Challenge

Sierra's recording is called "Rocks". It's a six-song EP (extended play CD) featuring some incredible players including Catie Curtis, Natalia Zukerman, Woody Giessmann, and Lloyd Thayer.

"Sierra's music is seductively dark, guiding the listener through intense layers of emotion and thought. Her rich alto delivers poetic, yet forthright lyrics set to expressive guitar work." --Theresa Condito

Bethel has been showcased as a solo artist and as an opening act for nationally- and regionally-touring artists, as well as busking throughout the Boston subway system. Steele is also a member of the group JP Unplugged (www.jpunplugged.org) that hosts an acoustic music series in Jamaica Plain, Massachusetts.

Sierra has performed throughout New England and up and down the West Coast.

Her artistry shows in the careful way she touches her guitar strings, like a spider perfecting her web. There is a sensuous grace with which she sings, that soothes listeners and creates a hushed calm.

Don Ash of Black-Eyed Susan Acoustic Café remarked, "We're pleased that these artists requested a date at our acoustic café as part of their first tour. We're looking forward to hearing their solo work, but also anxious for the dazzling harmonies we can expect as Bethel and Sierra collaborate musically."

With Bethel Steele and Sierra Rocks every live performance is a little different, but these things are guaranteed: you will be blown away by their tight harmonies, delightful stage presence, and well-written tunes.

The doors at Black-Eyed Susan open at 4:30 for dinner, specialty coffees and desserts every Saturday. Enjoy the mellow sounds of JIM SCHWARTZ on guitar at 6:00, with BETHEL STEELE and SIERRA ROCKS beginning at 7:30 p.m. There is no cover charge, but guests are expected to contribute to the musician's tip jar. A-A to stage 'Apple Tree' musical ALMOND--The Alfred-Almond Junior and Senior High School will present the musical The Apple Tree, a drama in three acts on Friday, March 26 at 7 p.m. and Saturday, March 27 at 2 p.m.

From the songwriting team of "Fiddler on the Roof" and "She Loves Me" comes a unique evening of three one-act musicals about men, women and a little thing called temptation.

The first, "The Diary of Adam and Eve," is a quirky, touching spin on the tale of the world's first couple, adapted from Mark Twain's "Extracts From Adam's

Diary

The second, "The Lady or The Tiger?" explores the fickleness of love in a rock and roll fable set in a mythical barbarian kingdom.

Finally, "Passionella" is based on Jules Feiffer's offbeat Cinderella-story about a chimney sweep whose dreams of being a "glamorous movie star" nearly sabotage her one chance for true love" (MTIshows.com).

Tickets are $5.00 and can be purchased at the door.

Local artist chosen for Made in NY 2010

AUBURN--Kala Stein of Alfred will be featured in Made in NY 2010, on view at the Schweinfurth Memorial Art Center in Auburn March 27–May 16, 2010. Stein's large-scale installation, Convivium, will be included in the exhibition. She is a Visiting Professor at Alfred University where she also received her MFA. Stein describes her by stating, "In my work I aim for a simple complexity that is celebrated and beautiful. One after another I work to develop my pieces into more graceful, simplified, and abstracted vessel forms."

Made in NY 2010 is an annual juried exhibit featuring 73 works of art by 58 New York State artists including paintings, photographs, sculpture, works on paper, textiles and more. The exhibit will kick off with an Artists' Reception & Award

Presentation on Sunday, March 28th from 3-5pm which is free and open to the public

The 2010 Made in NY jurors were Joan Lyons, an artist and Founding Director of the Visual Studies Workshop Press in Rochester and John von Bergen, a sculptor and co-founder of internationally recognized artist residency, Sculpture Space, and they reviewed 544 works of art by 282 artists.

The Schweinfurth Memorial Art Center is located at 205 Genesee St., Auburn. Regular gallery hours are Tuesday - Saturday, 10 am-5 pm and Sunday, 1-5 pm. Suggested admission is $3 for adults. Children under 12 and members are free. For more information call the Schweinfurth Memorial Art Center at (315) 255-1553 or visit www.myartcenter.org.

AU's Fosdick-Nelson Art Gallery hosts multi-channel, sound exhibit

ALFRED— The Fosdick-Nelson Gallery at Alfred University is currently hosting "50 Vernon Place—An Exploration of Sound in Space," a multi-channel sound composition by artist and musician Don Metz of Buffalo.

This is the first exhibition at the Fosdick-Nelson to be devoted entirely to the art of sound. The show runs through Thursday, April 1. Admission is free.

In his quiet, down-to-earth way, Metz has committed nearly three decades to the arts community of Western New York. Metz has been improvising and recording sonic structures in his home and garage on Vernon Place in Buffalo for over 12 years.

Using a prepared piano, carpenter tools, construction tubes, and other self-invented instruments, he has developed a database of sounds, noises, and tones from which he has composed five tracks for this exhibition, one for each of the five speakers located throughout the gallery. As listeners walk through the space, the local compositions, combined with a persistent low frequency emanating from sub woofers, change and shift based on the visitors' direction and movement. Ultimately, the listener controls the final composition and thus completes the work. The openended structure of the experience reflects Metz's free and intuitive approach to composition

Final editing of the project was completed at the Institute of Electronic Arts, Alfred University.

The Fosdick-Nelson Gallery housed, in the School of Art & Design at Alfred University, is a vibrant learning center for the visual arts. Rotating exhibitions highlight work by established and emerging artists working in New York, the United States and abroad. Located in rural western New York, the Gallery is the only established contemporary art venue within a 60-mile radius for the community to experience a diverse mix of art firsthand and participate in an exciting forum of contemporary art and culture.

Extended programming, including gallery lectures and special projects, gives students and members of the community an opportunity to engage with artists, curators, and scholars.

For more information contact Sharon Mc-Connell, director of the Fosdick-Nelson Gallery at mcconnells@alfred.edu or by phone at 607.871.2149.

Over half of the monthly meeting of the Alfred-Almond Central School Board last week was spent working on faculty salaries. Other business included the official hiring of a new custodian and putting one teacher on tenure. Richard Braack, president, who conducted the four hour meeting, said no definite action was taken on the salaries, as the board is waiting for official word on the amount of increase in state aid that will be available next year. SDB scholars argue of Sabbath Resurrection

By PASTOR KEN CHRONIGER

ALFRED STATION--Seventh Day Baptist scholars have for many years argued against the tradition of the "Christian" Community suggesting from scripture that the Resurrection of Jesus did not happen on the "First day of the week.

Some of the rational for this call to rethink the position of a Friday Crucifixion with a Sunday Morning Resurrection include: that the day and night in Jesus' words found in Matthew 12:40 are to be understood in simplest normative way not in an isegisis of bringing the theory of a partial day to the verse; or the fact that the Gospels portray the resurrection as having occurred before visits of Jesus' followers to the empty tomb.

What is an alternative possibility that does no harm to the text of the Gospels? An alternative approach to the chronology of Easter was that suggested by evangelical evangelist and teacher R.A. Torrey of a Wednesday crucifixion with a Saturday Resurrection.

Following then a different chronology of Passion Week this Sabbath, March 27 is Palm Sabbath, the remembrance of Jesus' Triumphant Entry Jerusalem'. 'Blessed is He who comes in the name of the LORD". Pastor Ken's sermon continues the series on the 'seven last words of Jesus" "Woman this is your son" from John 19:26-27.

Sabbath School precedes the Sabbath Worship Hour at 9:45 am Sabbath School is for both young and old, for children and adult. Sabbath School helps prepare us to live in the 21st Century with the values of Faith. Some say Sabbath School that is for children. Last Sabbath there

Our excellent Constitution guarantees to every one freedom of religion, and charity tells us (and you know Charity is the basis of all true religion)...judge the tree by its fruit. HEALTH CARE REFORM – NOT!!!

Most of us are tired of hearing the endless debate about health care reform. According to most polls, most of us believe that the health care system is deeply flawed and would benefit from a major overhaul. Most of us think that health care is too expensive and too complicated. Unfortunately, the bill currently being considered by Congress won't really address any of the problems that most of us agree about. It will focus on the agenda of a small group of activists. The President has declared that it will be a tragedy if we don't pass health care reform. I agree. Unfortunately, the bill that is being considered doesn't qualify as reform.

I would like to focus on only two aspects of the larger health care debate. The advocates of this bill claim (1) that it will reduce costs, and (2) will reduce the deficit. Both claims are either false or de-

Last Thursday (3/18/10) the Congressional Budget Office 'CBO") announced that the total cost of the Health Care Reform Bill would be approximately $940 billion over the next decade. The CBO also announced that the bill would reduce the deficit by $143 billion over that same decade. Over the following decade it will supposedly further reduce the deficit by about $1 trillion. Unfortunately, most of the claimed savings are illusory. In reality this bill will generate run-away deficits. Consider the following:

1. About $500 billion of savings will reportedly come from reductions in the cost of Medicare. However, over the last 20 years Congress has routinely postponed or canceled proposed reductions in Medicare program costs. Most of this involves reduced payments to doctors and hospitals. Ironically a bill is currently pending in Congress that will once again postpone proposed reductions in Medicare costs. This claim has absolutely no credibility.

2. About $210 billion is supposed to be generated by new Medicare taxes on the rich. These new payroll taxes apply to individuals earning more than $200,000 annually, and couples earning more than $250,000 annually. This might be implemented.

3. About $32 billion is supposed to come from a 40% excise tax on "Cadillac" health care plans. This is opposed by the Labor Unions, but provides necessary funding. I predict that this excise tax gets either postponed or canceled. Congress simply won't take on the Unions.

4. About $72 billion is supposed to come from the CLASS long term care program. This horrible bill will permit seniors who pay premiums for 5 years to receive costly home health care indefinitely. Since no one can qualify for benefits until after the first 5 years, this looks like a great revenue generator in the short term. Most experts agree it will represent another huge burden after the first 10 years.

5. About $17 billion should come from individuals who don't buy insurance, and about $52 billion should be raised from employers who don't provide health insurance coverage.

The following are the attractive, but costly, major benefits of the so-called Health Care Reform Bill. Consider the following:

a. There will be no cap on benefits that insured can receive from their insurance company. At present most plans have a $1 million cap.

b. There will be no exclusions for "pre-existing conditions", unlike most current health insurance plans.

c. Children under age of 26 will be eligible for coverage through their parents health insurance plan. d. "Cadillac" health care plans will be subjected to a 40% excise tax. The original Senate bill made clear that over the next decade almost every plan would become subject to this excise tax.

e. More than 32 million new enrollees will become eligible for insurance coverage. This will result in increased demand, which almost always results in increased costs

Shakespeare said: "A rose by any other name would smell as sweet." Unfortunately, this is no This version of "Health Care Reform" smells. It simply won't work as advertised.

A periodic column to inform Alfred residents of the ongoing findings of a wind energy study group.

Lots of Green for "green" energy Local energy used for Alfred?

By KIM DONIUS

Special to the Alfred Sun

Do you support wind energy? Currently, we all financially support wind as an alternative energy source—and we pay heavily to do so! Current wind projects are financed by Stimulus Money, your federal and state taxes, and by all households who pay electric bills.

Wind farms get ten years of tax breaks on each $1.5 to $2 million structure. So, imagine the government allowing you to build a $1.5 million building on your property and then not having to pay taxes for ten years on that structure. Now, multiply that by 20, such as the projected starting number of wind turbines for Alfred, and we are talking about a lot of forgone taxes (and a lot of money being made by a wind company). In addition, the wind company will be able to take advantage of depreciation tax breaks. Generally, a business has to wait to take depreciation, 5-7 years, but not the wind corporations.

Now throw in the Federal Aid Incentives, such as the PTC (production Tax Credit grant) or the ITC (incentive tax credit) for windmills and your wind profits compound. If you have tax debt you can match it to get a check cut directly from the U.S. Treasury for your part in producing electricity.

And then there are the cap and trade systems. This incentive allows green companies to team up with carbon producing companies. It works like this: polluting companies that emit CO2 or excess polluting gases buy "green credits" from "green" companies to offset their pollution. Companies emitting less pollutants can save their allowances for the future or they can sell them at a profit.

Have you checked your electric bill lately? Every month you pay the Systems Benefit Charge (SBC), the Renewable Portfolio Standard(RFP), the Energy Efficiency Portfolio Standard, the Transition Charge, and New York State Assessment Charge (payable to utilities until March 2014) to help subsidize alternative energy.

The SBC is a fund which funds NYS energy grants, buys your old appliances, helps with research and development, among other things. The SBC, the RFP and Transition charges go into a fund to pay for the higher price of alternative energy.

Can we use the power we generate here in Alfred? No. Any generated electricity rated at 1MW will be brokered to NYISO. Generated Wind power electricity must be transported. Hartsville's generated wind power will be sent to Weston, Massachusetts. There is always a loss of energy in transporting electricity with line load.

Will we see a reduction in our electric bills? No. We would see a reduction in our electricity use if we put up smaller, lower rated wind turbines that allow us to directly add the power to the existing power grid. Bath residents are currently urging Steuben Rural Electric to enable them to add local generated power directly to the grid. This is called net metering. Some companies have incentives for customers to connect to the grid and add power. Net metering enables you to reverse your meter.

If you produce 1000 kW or greater you can sell electricity directly to NYISO, a group that monitors, buys, and sells electricity to suppliers. Check out the following true life example from my nephew's company, Isthmus. Isthmus, Inc put up solar panels on the company's building, their generated solar power was sold back to a wholesaler at .25 a kilowatt, but when Isthmus buys electricity to light their own building they only pay .10 a kilowatt. A kilowatt of renewable energy gets sold for more money than it costs to pro-

By the way, how do you know if your supplied household electricity is generated from coal, gas, or nuclear? Check with your supplier. They can tell you what percentage is coal, nuclear, hydropower, etc. Call 1.800.572.111 for a list of suppliers. You can select your energy production source and see how much pollution they generate in doing so!

There is an active wind energy group asking people to educate themselves about wind in Alfred. Chambliss placed sixth in one-meter diving Friday evening, with 477.36 points. It was off to Florida last week for the latest installment of the Sumo Tour South golf outing, this year with co-Directors Mike Obuhanich and Jake Taft in charge of course selection and other various festivities! Now in its fourth edition after a long run as the Alex Bay Open on the Sumo Tour. An early Monday am departure from the Rochester Airport went off without a hitch, with a brief thought to taking a later flight, in exchange for tickets later. Good friend, John Baker ... "Bakes" often takes his family on vacation via this route. A 2:00pm tee time in Dunedin stopped that thought. With my golf game, I should've accepted the offer.

Monday - eight of us hit the links at a Donald Ross designed course, the Country Club in Dunedin. The former home of the PGA of America. I am paired with Obie, Taft and Waffle as McDrip, Dave from Syracuse, Tab from Chicago and Johnny Steele lead the way. Brutal. The course "upgrade" negotiated by Obie is swiftly apparent. No Airco course outing here ... beep, beep, beep. An excellent layout, tough, narrow and my first outing in six-months or so is a struggle. Topped everyone in other foursome but was third in my own group with Obie and Taft, 1-2. The former Genesee Valley AD (retired) is always #1 in our outings so that is no surprise. Syracuse Dave is buddy of Our Man Frank, who didn't make outing named after him, day 1.

Tuesday - Imperial Lakewoods GC in Palmetto was our next adventure on the golf course with Steele departing and Sumo back in the fold. Another day in the upper 60-degree range, better than back home but not the warmth I look forward to on my annual trip south. Those temps have been missing all winter in this state. Obie shoots another round in the low 80's, his average for the week and yours turly posts a (99). Quite happy for round two of the year. Besting Our Man Frank, per normal. Another demanding layout, traps and water are all over the place on this tour of ours. Have played a variety of courses over the years in the Tampa-Clearwater-St. Pete's area, but all new this week

Wednesday - a day off from golf as we head to Clearwater for a spring training baseball game, Yanks at Phillies. The two opponents in the 2009 World Series. Sunny day at the park, St. Patty's Day, as cloudy forecast was off. Andy Pettitte pitching for New York as he was last time I was here to see these two play, 2007. Packed house at Bright House Field, biggest crowd ever. Spent the day out in left field (not literally) at Frenchy's Tiki Bar. MIA ... Jamie Bennett. Philadelphia wins, 6-2 as many Yanks regulars are there but not Derek Jeter. It is St. Patty's Day, "Foolish" Farley's favorite holiday, and we are off to a local watering hole. Good time, nothing

Thursday - back on the golf course as we hit the Belleview Biltmore GC in Belleair. Across the street is the Belleair CC where John Daly of the PGA Tour now calls "home." Water or sand everywhere. Yuk. Extremely hard course but hitting the ball better. In foursome with Obie so better hit it or get buried. Decent game as we toured around the Donald Ross Design. Well protected greens with bunkers galore, deep bunkers to boot, false fronts and greens that won't hold any balls unless dropped in on a higher arc than I normally hit them. Challenging. A few strokes over 100 so not too disappointed.

Friday - Cheval Golf & Country Club is up next and there seems to be more water than landing areas on this course. Ouch. Jim Simboli from Brockport joins the group today. Tab gets the boot. Think this course is in Clearwater. Just nuts. Jake, Drip, Simbo and I start out 7-8-9. Just what I always wanted to do! Somehow we survive and the score for me is 103, two straight. Frank not even in the ballpark as Waffle drills him this day. Found water on few holes where we didn't know it existed and another challenging layout.

Saturday - today we are watching golf instead of playing as we head to the Transitions Championship on the PGA Tour. Tremendous course that reminded me of Firestone in Akron, Ohio. Obie-Waffle-Jake-Simbo-Dave-Drip-Stub-me wandering around the course on a beautiful day. Saw the likes of Jim "Frauel" Furyk (winner), Retief Goosen (defending champ), Corey Pavin, Daly, Bill Haas, David Duval, Adam Scott, Steve Elkington, Steve Stricker and others. No Tiger Woods. Picked the right day to attend as rain hampered the Miller, Roger Maltbie, Dan Hicks and Dottie Pepper from NBC up close. Alfred Sun pass didn't have much leverage this day. We crew plays cards at Taft residence this nite.

Sunday - rain. Ugh. Simbo-Obie-Taft and I had tee time at place called Mangos CC, where I had played years before with "The Ham-

Monday - Obie drops me off near Leesburg, week two is underway and my Mom has a list a mile long of "chores" around the house ... projects. Bob Springer tells me I can't golf in the Molokai League on Wednesday, something I have done for 13-14 years, each week in town. Great. Glad I sent my clubs north with Obie. Springer also tells me I can't golf with him at Water Oaks on Friday as he won't be around and the group now plays elsewhere anyhow. He was full of good news! Hoping to see Laramee's (Vermont), Big D and Janis King at The Villages, maybe Frank Ritchie, the Springer's some more plus brother Steve and Dee!

HITS AND MISSES

A crazy NCAA tournament to say the least as Kansas goes down in round two. The #1-overall seed is ousted by Northern Iowa. Thud, brackets collapse everywhere. Looks like a Kentucky-Syracuse title game at the moment if those two continue to play as they have to date. The Wildcats will have their hands full, perhaps, with West Virginia in the East Region. The Orange will face a solid Butler team and then probably Kansas State in the West Region. Not easy but the way they are playing it probably won't matter who the opponent is. Taking Ohio State to emerge from the Midwest Region in this revamped outing and Duke in the South Region. UK over Duke, SU to beat Chud's Ohio State squad, Kentucky will be the champs ... unless the Blue Devils stun them in the semi-finals.

Some NCAA pre-tourney picks: SJ Fisher men's hoop coach Rob Kornaker ... West Virginia, Kansas, Baylor, K-State and (KU), Walsh baseball coach Tim Mead ... SU, Duke, KU, UK and (KU), Geneseo women's soccer coach Nate Wiley ... WVU, SU, 'Nova, Georgetown and (SU), Drury Athletic Director Pat Atwell ... KU, SU, WVU, Duke and (KU), Union hoop coach Bob Montana ... KU, SU, UK, Duke and (KU), Green Mountain College cage coach Todd Montana ... KU, SU, Baylor, New Mexico and (KU), Plattsburgh's legendary Tom Curle ... K-State, G-Town, 'Nova, UK and (Villanova). Looks like the soccer coach might be correct! A Big East "homer" in Geneseo

The University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point won the men's NCAA Division III basketball title over Williams. The women's championship went to the University of Washington-St. Louis. The University of Rochester was fourth.

Melissa Alwardt (Greece Athena/UR) and Jessica Chapin (HF-L/Brandeis) were named Division III All-Americans, honorable mention, by D3hoops.com. Daughter Lauren played against both in Joe Q. French's UMBC softball team was (12-5) in the early going at the DI level in Maryland after the Dawg Pound Classic at home was cancelled due to poor weather. The Retrievers are at Binghamton next weekend, April 2-3.

Skip Sherman's Genesee CC baseball team was recently in Florida after starting out (2-2) with a couple of spring games. The Cougars play Alfred State in the WNYAC league.

Tim Mead's (Andover) Walsh baseball team is off to a sluggish (6-13) start after facing some strong competition in Florida. Mead also doubles as the men's soccer coach for the Cavs.
