Fiddler Follows French Pianist

Violinist Blanche Tarjus of France will present the next University Forum program on Feb. 24 in Alumni Hall. Miss Tarjus will be the second artist from France to appear here under the exchange program between Jeunesses Musicales de France and the National Music League. Philippe Entremont, French pianist, was a Forum artist last year.

At 21 years of age Miss Tarjus has toured Belgium, England, Switzerland, Denmark and North Africa. Her appearance here will be made during her first tour of the United States. When Yehudi Menuhin, American violinist, learned that she will appear in New York late this month, he wrote, "I remember indeed the occupied when the wrote, "I remember indeed the occupied when the wrote to be completely also and the presence of an eight foot statue of a pair of skaters ed up for the contest were required to be completely also and the presence of an eight foot statue of a pair of skaters ed up for the contest were required to be completely also and the presence of an eight foot statue of a pair of skaters ed up for the contest were required to be completely also and the presence of an eight foot statue of a pair of skaters ed up for the contest were required to be completely also and the presence of an eight foot statue of a pair of skaters ed up for the contest were required to be completely also and the presence of an eight foot statue of a pair of skaters ed up for the contest were required to be completely also and the presence of an eight foot statue of a pair of skaters ed up for the contest were required to be completely also and the presence of an eight foot statue of a pair of skaters ed up for the contest were required to be completely also and the presence of an eight foot statue of a pair of skaters ed up for the contest were required to be completely also and the presence of an eight foot statue of a pair of skaters ed up for the contest were required to be completely also and the presence of an eight foot statue of a pair of skaters ed up for the contest were required to be completely also and the presence of an eight foot statue of a pair of skaters ed up for the contest were required to be completely also and the presence of an element of the presence of casion when I heard Miss Tarjus eight years ago...I am most happy to learn that she is coming to New York for the contest were required to be completely clean shaven and amics has been using the basement of Greene Hall for Ceramic Research and Durante.

Fiedler Recital Stirs Assembly

The Music Department presented their annual program at the first University assembly of the new semester on Thursday morning in Alumni Hall.

William Fiedler, chairman of the department of Music and Gesa Fiedler programmed a nicely varied concert.

The concert was comprised of: "Concerto for Violin and Piano" (G minor) by Antonio Vivaldi; "Romance for Violin and Piano" by Beethoven (F major); "Cavatina" by J. Raff and the "Danse Espagnole" by Granados.

The entire concert was elloquently presented. Mrs. Fiedler especially has a very wonderful feeling for the violin which is unmistakable and requires only listening to be appreciated. A most delicate concerto by Vivaldi, the opening selection of the concert,

New Students Collectively Cosmopolitan

With the coming of the second semester, "Little Alf" was presented with 21 new Saxons. Coming from New York, Pennsylvania, and Canada, these students are composed of five freshmen, seven transfers, six returning students, and three graduate and special students.

For those upperclassmen (and lower classmen too) who are extremely interested in figures, there are but two females - Joan R(andy) Frank from Kew Gardens Hills, New York, a Liberal Arts freshmen, majoring in Psyc. and Soch.; and Gloria V. Jordan, a returning Nursing Student. Gloria's home is in Philadelphia, Pa.

The other four freshmen ald L. Anderson of Wellsville, Warren passed malifluently through the three D. Dolab of Andover, Richard Rosner movements: Allegro, Adagio, Allegro of Brooklyn, and George Wright, of Solway, New York, are all in Liberal

W.C. Weekend Sees Sno-Success, Completed Events

Undaunted by the fact that they experienced unseasonable and unexpected weather (IT SNOWED), the Alfred Outing Club presented it's Seventh Annual Winter Carival last weekend. Working around the theme of Walt Disney and his famous characters, the Carnival was one of the most successful ever presented.

The Winter Carnival, as usual, was initiated Friday nite by the presentation of the Sno - Ball in the Men's Gym. Dancing to the music of Johnny Gabral and his orchestra, those who attended were treated to a series of decorations designed to glorify winter and some of the more famous Winter

In addition to the Stryrofoam skaters, the Carnival Committee introdued the use of spun rayon fiber in producing a snow-ball effect in the doorway and a "blizzard" effect on the famous blue curtains.

Highlighting the Ball was the coronation of Miss Rhoda Young as the Seventh Annual Sno - Queen. Miss Young, and Ag-Tech freshman, was chosen by the judges - Milton Tuttle and Ted Randall, of the University, Mort Clark of the Agricultural and Technical Institute, and Herrington Stebbins, Police Chief - on the possession of beauty, personality and poise.

Introduced by Chaplain Bredenberg, in his capacity as Master of Ceremonies, the queen was preceded to her throne by Barbara Bittner, Lois James, Alixe Langham and Joan Trepasso, the Princesses of her court, and was presented her crown by last year's Queen, Barbara Bowe.

Following the presentation of the crown, Duane Jordan, chairman of the Winter Carnival Committee, present ed the Queen with her "regal robes" after which the Queen and her court were each presented with a trophy by M. C. Bredenbarg.

Immediately following the coronasnowballs.

Although Friday is the big social day of the Carnival, Saturday is by far the fullest day. Starting at ten o'clock in the morning with figure and speed skating competition, running through the skiing events in the afternoon, to the free-skating and torchlight parade to Firemen's Hall, and finally winding up with a sports dance and barbecue (hamburger again) every minute of the day was filled with thrills and excitement.

In the skating competition Martin Grant from Pelton House and Jim Cooper of Psi Delta took first and second in the speed events while Barb Bromley of the Brick and Silvia Johnson of Theta Chi placed first and second in the figure competition (figure skating that is).

The scene shifted next to the ski hill where teams from Hobart, Powd slalom and downhill races. In the slalom, Barb Parsons took first place with combined time, for two runs, of 79.2 seconds, followed by Clark of Powder Mill with 81.5 and Behnk of Alfred with 86.7.

In the downhill, Clark of Powder Mill took top honors with a score of 42.4 seconds, second was Behnk of Alfred with 44.0 followed by Barb Parsons with a 47.5. For the entire day's events Powder Mill took first place with a total of 175.8 points; Alfred placed second with 167.7 and last was Hobart ith a 133.1.

After but a short break, for such unnecessary things as eating, the action resumed in Firemen's Hall in the guise of a Sportsmen's dance. Following a short interlude of round and square dances, Duane Jordan presented the following awards: to Rhoda Young, Queen of the Carnival and to her court; the queen and princess medals; to the Powder Mill Team, medals as the winners in the day's skiing events; to Mink Bromley, Silvia Johnston, Martin Grant and Jim Cooper, medals for their achievements in the skating ompetition. At this point in the program the awards for the winning sno-sculptures were presented. Ever since the inception of the Winter Carnival, seven years ago, the competition in the sculpture contest has been intense and one which is watched with great interest and enjoyment by the students and faculty of both schools.

This year there were seventeen snow sculptures entered by the different residences on campus, plus an unentered one of "Pluto O'Pup" presented by the St. Pat's board. Last year the Castle's interpretation of "The Devil and Daniel Webster" took first place in the women's division while "Johnny Appleseed," as conceived by Theta Gamma, received the nod as the men's winner.

This year, working on the theme of the animated characters from Walt Disney's full length films, the Harrison trophies for the winner in each division went to Alpha Beta Chi for the girl's presentation of "Bambi" and tion came the Queen's dance which to Theta Gamma, for their presentawas, at its inception, hampered by a tion of Cinderella and her magic coach. They now have won the cup two years, as have Psi Delta. (Any residence to win the cup for three years retains the cup permanently.)

The second place awards in the women's division went to the Castle for their presentation of the "Sorcerer's Apprentice" while Delta Sig's "Ferdinand" and Klan's "Disney goes three D" tied for second in the men's divi-

Following the presentation of all of the awards. Jordan announced that the bobsled races, scheduled for 2:30 Sunday afternoon, would not be held due to 1/2 inch of sand on the proposed run. This is the third year in a row that the same series of events - sand and no snow - have caused the cancellation of the races. ## Editorial

Senate elections coming, as they are, we shall proceed to extend our annual thoughts upon this subject in the manner of 'the old fashioned editorial.' Incidently, it also gives us a chance to weep over another old 'bed-sore' here in Alfred, the dementia mundanus of the intelleckchul, that physio-phobia of academica sedimentia: Apathy alleghaniensis.

Strange as it often seems, we of Alfred are so in search of knowledge, education and learning that we often - in our complicated method - look right through it for the more abstruse sources of same. While so doing we gripe greatly over our discomfiture in the obscure academic means towards this end of being smart.

It is like the drunk who rubbed two sticks together, to generate heat and thus light, so that he might determine whether the hall lamp was on.

What we mean is that we are here in school to accustom ourselves to the ways of the world; our particular concentration (engineer, teacher, diplomat) is to be considered in the context of this larger issue. So why do we not work 'down' from the general to the particular, from the position of being among just-people to the specific position of being among engineers, teachers, diplomats. By doing this, it seems to us, one may better know what to look for in the study of his chosen area.

Besides corn syrup, this boils down to our suggestion that the Student Senate is a very apt and capable means of finding out some of the general rules of life, if we may use so elevated an epithet. Being South Hall. The committee likely to the president, the members or the voting public of the Senate is, we are told, a circumstance very like that one we may expect to find

As we are so often told by professional training schools, the important thing to learn in school is the method, the particulars may be learned later. The Student Senate is one of the outstanding texts of 'method' extant in Alfred.

The Senate is also the practical machine for doing something about the many and various 'wrongs' reputedly to be found in The Empire State Hills.

We wonder why no one flips the switch.

Dissarmament

To The Editor: The author of "The Pork Barrel" asserts in the January 19 issue of the Fiat, that the Russian proposal to scrap atomic weapons is "completely out of the question." I would agree with the author that disarmament is unlikely, but I would like to take issue with her reasons. It was asserted that such a step would wreck our defense plans, which are based on our supremacy of atomic weapons, and as such, is out of the question. This policy might be a militarily adequate one in the sense that a large stockpile of atomic weapons might serve as a deterrent to agression. However, his policy presupposes that if we did not have this atomic edge, Russia would immediately attack us. Such a hopeless and belligerent attitude is hardly calculated to facilitate negotiations with Russia, or endear us to the neutral world. In addition, history shows us only too well that an armament race and an over-emphasis on military might does not deter war; on the contrary, it inevitably ends in war. It is for these reasons that I believe that the United States should take the calculated risk that atomic disarmament would not invite Russian agression. The easing of tension and slackening of fear would make this risk a justified one.

However, I have said that I do not think that a disarmament plan is likely. This is because our government has insisted, and very rightly so, that a foolproof system of international inspection is a pre-requisite to a scrapping of atomic weapons. Russia in the past has refused to agree to this. It remains to be seen whether the Malenkov regime will alter this stand. However, judging from the conduct of Mr. Molotov at the Berlin conferences, the outlook is not good. Never theless, every diplomatic effort should be made by the United States to reach such an agreement. A true atomic disarmament would be the first solid step toward easing world tension.

Preliminary physical arrangement have already been made for the Model United Nations Conference. The plenary sessions are to be held in Alumni Hall. The President of the Assembly, Peter Kenan from Columbia, will pre side over the meetings, from a raised platform on the stage. Seated with him will be the Secretary General Jay Yedvab, and the Executive Assistant, Emily Evans from Cornell. Honorary guests and speakers will be on either side of the stage.

The delegates will be arranged in alphabetical order of countries. The whole balcony and possibly the last rows of the orchestra will be left open for visitors and observers from Alfred and the surrounding area. All committees and caucuses will be held in ity Council will hold its meetings in the gym where obsevers can located in the balcony.

Beard Business Balloons: Critic Sees Simian Slant

by Gail Gardner

The inability of the ordinary female to sprout an abundance of hair on her visage dictates a certain amount of objectiveness when it comes to beards. The feminine biological creature then, being what she is, jealously guards her position as onlooker and critic in this season of Vandykes, goatees and mutton chops.

First of all, none can deny the aura of real weight-lifting masculinity that exudes from even the mousiest of men when their countenances have developed what might be described as that unshorn look. Certainly, those inner beings that have suffered the pangs of inadequacy now feel they are men among men. It's possible even that great mountains might be scaled with the dawning of this chest pounding, beard-stroking era. Of course, there are those that might go to gin and bannanas like the almost late Ernest

Cast Completed, Rehearsals On

Rehearsals started this week for the Footlight Club production of "The Madwomen of Chailot" to be staged March 19 and 20 as part of St Pat's Festival. Director C D. Smith, III, has announced a tentative cast for the two act comedy by Jean Giraudoux.

Three University faculty members are in the tentative cast. They are Mrs. Juel Andersen Dello Strologo, a teaching graduate assistant in ceramfessor of industrial design; and Van Derck Frechette, professor of ceramic technology.

Others who are rehearsing include: Dale Casterline, Harold Cherry, Henry Kass, Leon Ablon, Richard Rosner, Ruth Ansel, Ronald Shapiro, Robert Kalfin. Marie Upton, Sandra Brown, Gail Feldman, Karen Olsen, David Harrisson, Everett Harris. Myron Koch, Carol Lowenberg, Melvyn Millman, Linda Napolin, Norman Seider, Professor Smith and his assistant, Lorraine Rose expect to assign roles itable. Of course, this will only bother this week. Minor parts will be announced later.

The play tells the story of the Countess, known as the Madwoman of Chailhappiness. This sorrow is represented by three men: a president, a prospec tor and a baron, who are seeking oil will take more than chlorophyl to much, but friends of the Countess assume that the three will start a war.

Last Wednesday night 30 members were sworn into the French Club. The initiation ceremony consisted of placing one's hand on some French soil, and then taking the oath which, translated into English, pledges the member to speak only French while attending the French club meetings This last rule has long been a tradition at the club.

Of puzzling interest was the French soil. It seems that this was brought to the states some years ago by a G.I. who returned from Europe. Former custom had it that a new member would pace his foot on this earth and repeat the oath.

In the past year this practice has been modified to placing the hand on the soil. It seems that too much soil would disappear along with the The new system conserves the remaining earth.

The 30 new members include: Joan Beer, Jackie Orloff, Joan Trepasso, Myron Marcus, Myron Koch, (no relation), H. Pierre, Robert Baldine, Malcolm Hill, Jay Abbot, Daniel Bottstien, Sol Schwartz, Jerome down the floor and get two quick tries at the basket but luck was not with them and both shots missed. Sonny Wolfson's three last minute fouls did the trick and the purple and orange of Hobart walked off the floor with a hard earned 58-55 win.

High scorers in the game were Bob Corbin and Sonny Wolfson with 20 points. Other men besides Murphy and Micchie who were in double figures were Richie Weisglass and Jim Marsh who each collected 10 points.

The opening game of the evening's program saw the shorthanded Saxon Junior varsity win a tight 59-51 decision over the Hobart yearlings. Roy Gorton and Joe Marucci paced the winning five with 25 and 13 points respectivly. Hobart was paced by Larry Stein with 23 and Jack Stobel with 12 points. The Alfred JV's hit for a 46% average from the floor.

During the third quarter the team put on a drive that cut the Brockport Aead to only 7 points, but this was short lived as the home team once again built up their lead. The game was marred by bad ball handling and sloppiness on the part of both teams. Alfred couldn't seem to do anything

Coach McWilliams kept sending men in and out of the game but it didn't seem to make any difference. With four men hitting for double figures and every man in the game getting into the scoring column the Brockport team, which gets great support from the cheering squad and the student body made the Alfred team look bad. Leading the way for the Green and

Gold was Bernie Reynolds with 14 points. He was followed by Sal Rizzo and Tom Jones with 13 and Pete Henchey with 10 points. Bob Corbin, Chet Martling and Jim Murphy collected 36 34-26 at the half.

The first game of the evening's double-header was the better of the two. Playing their best game for a little over three quarters, the Alfred team ran out of gas and lost 61-58.

Hylight of the evening was Roy Gor-ton of the Alfred team who put in 12 field goals and 7 fouls for a total of 31 points. According to coach Vern Fitzgerald this is probably an all-time freshman scoring record and an alltime scoring record for a JV game in the Brockport State Gym.

The second consecutive road game for the Saxon Warriors was on February 8, at the University of Buffalo gym. In the first meeting of the two teams this season Buffalo won, 71-56.

Jim Young, of the junior varsity, said, as we were deaving Brockport, "A team like Brockport can't lose on the home floor. With the crowd making all that noise you've got to give your all."

Unfortunately the Alfred students, or a great majority of them, don't seen many empty seats. It doesn't cost anything for a student to see the game and I can't think of any reason why the students of Alfred can't get behind their team. This week the team plays two games.

On Friday night, Ohio Northern will play in the Men's gym, with an intramural game starting at 6:30.
