New York State Sexual Harassment Policy

In August 2018, Governor Cuomo signed into law the "2019 Budget Act", which enacted several key initiatives that addressed sexual harassment in the workplace. These laws make training mandatory on a yearly basis for all employees.

October 9, 2019 is the deadline for all employees to be trained. All Alfred University employees should have completed their trainings through United Educators by this date.

The University had adopted a new policy as a result of these new laws as advised by New York State. The new policy can be found by visiting <https://my.alfred.edu/hum...> there is also a complaint form for reporting sexual harassment available to employees, which can be found by visiting <https://my.alfred.edu/hum...> This policy will be in addition to our already existing Discrimination, Harassment, and Sexual Misconduct Policy located at <https://my.alfred.edu/stu...>

For more information as it relates to these new laws please visit <https://www.ny.gov/combata...>

For additional training, please view these two YouTube videos released from NYS Department of Labor.

Alfred Farmer's Market open for 3 more weeks

It's Autumn in Alfred and there are only three markets left until the end of the season! This week, on Sunday, October 6, the Alfred Farmers Market will be the place to be for excellent local food, music, art, and culture. The musician of the week is Todd Gardener who will be performing from 11:00 am to 3:00 pm. Gardener has a YouTube page named 'Toddly Ma Boy' where you can listen to him play guitar ballads. Individuals of all ages and abilities can listen to the sounds of Todd Gardener while enjoying a hands-on activity at the Family Activities Tent. This week, the Family Activities tent will feature a DIY acorn necklace where you can make your own acorn capped jewelry. A handcrafted mug made by Alfred University's Clay Collective ceramic club will be raffled off as a fundraiser for the market. Don't miss out on this one of a kind item!

The Alfred Farmers Market wouldn't exist if not for the dedicated farmers and artisans that regularly attend. The highlighted vendor of this week is Bonnie's Honey Bees and their featured honey recipe is Slow Cooker Honey Garlic Chicken and Veggies. You can find local honey for this recipe at their market booth. Bonnie's Honey Bees was founded in Spring of 2019 by Bonnie Cobado, who partners with the Doan Family for production. The Doan Family Farm have been involved in the honey industry for over 60 years and are largely involved in pollination in New York, Florida, and California. On average, they raise and care for 1,000 honey bee hives which results in an average of 55,000 gallons of honey and 1,000 pounds of beeswax. Be sure to check out their wide variety of honey products at the market!

The Alfred Farmer's Market is located at the Alfred Village Bandstand on the corner of Main Street and Saxon Drive. Market days are every Sunday from 11am-3pm from June 16 to October 27th. SNAP/EBT, WIC checks and FMNP (Farmers Market Nutrition Program) and senior checks are accepted. Meet your friends, neighbors and farmers every Sunday and enjoy the bounty of the season.

Matthew Underwood : Tender Buttons

Matthew Underwood was born October 19, 1983 and died March 23, 2018.

This exhibition is a presentation of work assembled and curated by his friend Nadine Sobel (BFA 2006) and made by Matthew Underwood from 2003-2018. Matt was a prolific maker. He worked in layers, manipulating the surface whether it was print, painting, video, or ceramic working with many different materials.

The exhibition title, "tender buttons" comes from Gertrude Stein's book published in 1914, which Matthew references in his thesis book "making strange", on view in the exhibition.

Alfred was a very important place to Matt; sometimes a second home, sometimes home base. A two time alumn, he received his BFA in the spring of 2006 and was a special student in the fall of 2006. He was an resident artist in the Institute for Electronic Arts in March and December 2008. Matt went on to receive an MFA in 2018.

Note from Nadine: "I have known Matt since 2002. We became friends in freshman foundations. I was always inspired by Matt's process and constant output. We collaborated on many pieces throughout the years."

This exhibition opens on October 19, Matt's 36th birthday.
