Wayne Husted: Clay & Glass, Three Degrees of Preparation

Wayne Husted
B.A./B.F.A./M.F.A.
Alfred University. 1947 to 1954

Clay & Glass
Three Degrees of Preparation

Friday 11/11/11
Lecture
Room c / b106 @ 5pm
Binns-Merrill Hall

Design Workshop
Glass Studio 1:30-3:30 p.m.

Wayne started his journey when he enrolled in a pre-med course at Mohawk College in Utica. After a year, which included night courses in painting and sculpture, he transferred to Geneva College in Beaver Falls, PA. While he was on summer vacation, a high school guidance counselor led him to Alfred University.

The design department only accepted about 40 new freshmen out of about 1,500 applications. Wayne's father gathered up a portfolio of Wayne's work and drove eight hours for a meeting with Charles Harder, who was the head of Alfred's Ceramic Design Department. The fortunate coincidence turned out to be that Alfred actually preferred students without prior formal art training.

Wayne then spent the next five years (1947-52) at Alfred. The generation of classes behind Wayne included Winslow Anderson and Glidden Parker. Wayne graduated with a double undergraduate degree (a B.A. in English and a B.F.A. in Industrial Ceramic Design), followed by an M.F.A. in Industrial Ceramic Design.

Wayne began at Blenko on April Fool's Day in 1952. Upon meeting William Blenko, Sr., Wayne told him that he had no experience with glass. William's response, typical of his personality, was, "Great! Then you'll try things you wouldn't try if you knew something about glass."

Each year for 10 years at Blenko, Wayne came up with 50 to 60 designs. One of Wayne's designs won an award in the Corning Museum competition and was featured in "Glass 1959". Wayne became known for the huge bottles and decanters that came to typify the glass of that period.

Wayne remained at Blenko until January 1963 after designing the 1963 line. After 36 years, Wayne returned to Blenko in 1999.

Wayne's work is highly collectible, as noted by Leslie Pina, Ph.D.: "Collectors have sought after Wayne Husted's designs more than any other." Leslie is the author of three books on Blenko Glass.

Wayne's Olana glass pieces are three-dimensional paintings in glass. Each piece is an abstract composition with the added dimensions of space and refracted light.

Unlike studio glass facilities, Blenko is the only factory in America that melts large pots of glass simultaneously. And each of the many Blenko glass pots offers a singular rich, transparent, and liquid color. This allows for a much freer and broader approach to creating in glass than that of studio glass artists who are limited to applying colored crayon like rods to crystal. The liquid glassiness of the colors of the Olana line is the result of that discovery and the challenge as well as the opportunity that it presents.

Renowned scholar to deliver annual Lefkowitz Lecture in Jewish Studies

Marianne Hirsch, the William Peterfield Trent Professor of English and Comparative Literature at Columbia University and professor in the Institute for Research on Women and Gender, will deliver this year's annual Lefkowitz Lecture in Jewish Studies at 5:15 p.m, Tuesday, Nov. 15, in Nevins Theater, Powell Campus Center.

Her illustrated lecture, "Fantasies of Return: Memory and Postmemory After the Holocaust," will explore memories of the vibrant Jewish community of Czernowitz (in modern day Ukraine), which, though vanishing after World War II, left an inspired legacy in Jewish literature, culture, and memory.

Prof. Hirsch's work integrates multiple disciplines, illuminates our understanding of cultural memory through her examination of history, literature, gender, art, family, and photography.

Born in Romania, she received her undergraduate and graduate degrees at Brown University, then taught at Dartmouth College before joining the Columbia University faculty. Author and editor of more than a dozen books and numerous articles, she is particularly well-known for her work in feminist studies and her books on photography. Among her books are The Mother/Daughter Plot; Family Frames: Photography, Narrative, and Postmemory; The Family Gaze; and Conflicts in Feminism. Her book The Generation of Postmemory: Visual Culture After the Holocaust, will be published in 2012.

Copies of some of her books, including her most recent book, co-authored with Leo Spitzer, Ghosts of Home: The Afterlife of Czernowitz in Jewish Memory and History, will be available in the Alfred University bookstore in the week leading up to the lecture and can also be purchased at the lecture. Ghosts of Home is a communal memoir, providing insight into the city where her parents grew up and survived the holocaust.

Fine Fall Reading!

Take a look at the newest edition of the Alfred Online magazine. Find out what "Business" Rob Bartlett has gotten himself into. Those who know Sean McKinley '63 will not be surprised by the goal he set and achieved but all of you - especially the duffers out there - will enjoy reading about it. You will also be intrigued with how the Alfred footlights turned on a love of theater for an alumna. Also, find out which former AU kicker now plays for a prestigious team in New York City.
