

Alumnus's children's book solves a mystery

4/17/13

Richard Kellogg, AU Class of 1967, recently published a children's book titled "Barry Baskerville Solves a Case," a story about a young boy who wants to be just like his hero, detective Sherlock Holmes. The book was published through Airship 27 Productions and is illustrated by Gary Kato. Kellogg, professor emeritus of psychology at Alfred State College, is the author of three books about Sherlock Holmes and has received grants from the State University of New York Research Foundation to develop teaching materials on the Sherlockian methods of problem solving.
