Media Mondays: Killing Us Softly IV

This newest edition of Jean Kilbourne's influential and award-winning Killing Us Softly series shows how the advertising industry continues to reinforce, and glamorize, a regressive and debased notion of femininity. Using a wide range of contemporary print and television ads, Kilbourne lays bare a misogynistic fantasy world of undernourished, oversexed, and objectified women, and examines these images against the real-world backdrop of eating disorders, men's violence against women, and the political backlash against feminism. This film is FREE and open to all! A short discussion will follow the film.

Purim Party with Hillel @ Alfred!

Saturday, March 29 at the Hillel House from 6:00 pm - 8:00 pm

Purim celebrates a story from the Book of Ester in which Ester, a young Jewish woman, becomes the queen of Persia. The royal vizier, Haman, creates a plan to kill all of the Jewish people in Persia. Ester, along with her cousin Mordecai, foils his plot. This holiday celebrates of the triumph of Jewish people over those who wish to harm or oppress them.

All are welcome, regardless if they are Jewish or not. Anyone is welcome to attend or ask questions to learn about this holiday.

Overall this party will be fairly casual and its primary focus will not be on formal religious rituals.

Festivities will include refreshments such as hamantashen (traditional Purim cookies that contain fillings such as jam or poppy seeds) and a variety of mock-tails, wearing zany clothes (or even a costume if you're feeling bold), and other shenanigans.

For more information please email hillel@alfred.edu or ask about it during Friday Kiddush. Hope to see you there!

Asian American Ha Jin: Reading and Lecture

Asians in America is proud to host author Ha Jin for a reading of his novel A Free Life at Holmes Auditorium. A book signing and reception will follow.

Ha Jin left his native China in 1985 to attend Brandeis University. He is the author of eight novels, four story collections, four volumes of poetry, and a book of essays. He has received the National Book Award, two PEN/Faulkner Awards, the PEN/Hemingway Foundation Award, the Asian American Literary Award, and the Flannery O'Connor Award for Short Fiction. In 2014 he was elected to the American Academy of Arts and Letters. He lives in the Boston area and is a professor at the creative writing program at Boston University. (Bio provided by Penguin Random House).

Asians in America would like to thank the collaboration of the English Division, the Institute for Cultural Unity, the Center for Student Involvement, and Student Senate for their help in making this event possible.

Copies of Ha Jin's works A Free Life, Waiting, and The Banished Immortal: A Life of Li Bi will be available for purchase at the reception.

Visiting Artist Lecture Gina Osterloh

Date: Friday, April 5

Time: 4:30 pm

Location: Nevins Theater

Cost: Free

Sponsored by: Division of Drawing, Painting, and Photography

Gina Osterloh's photography, film, and performance based artwork depicts mark-making and her own body traversing, tracing, and puncturing photographic space in a quest to interrogate the boundaries of self and other and expand notions of identity. Osterloh's printed photographs depict large scale photo tableaux environments as well as drawing on photo backdrop paper, that expand our understanding of portraiture and what photography can be. Symbolic themes and formal elements such as the void, orifice, and the grid, in addition to a heightened awareness of color and repetitive pattern appear throughout Osterloh's work. Osterloh cites her experience of growing up mixed-race in Ohio as a set of formative experiences that led her to photography and larger questions of how a viewer perceives difference.
