Banner Not Available This Weekend

Over the next few months, software for the operating system that supports the Banner system will be upgraded. ITS will coordinate the upgrade with SICAS and ITEC, our SUNY partners who provide Oracle and Banner DBA support.

The upgrades need to be tested and deployed on both production as well as development servers by April 30, 2008.

In order to meet that time frame with the least impact on the University, Banner INB and BannerWeb will not be available during the following days and times:

Sat. & Sun., March 1 & 2 All weekend

This is the first in a series of steps that will take place as we prepare for Banner 8. We appreciate your patience as we work to provide the latest in Banner technology.

If you have any questions, please contact Denise Kirschner at kirschdj@alfred.edu or by phone at 2602.

Self-Care for the Flu

Take care of yourself!

If you find yourself suffering from the flu please remember the following:

Drink plenty of fluids. Dehydration can lead to serious complications and put you in the hospital.

Keep your germs to yourself. Keep a buffer distance of three feet from others; remember to cover your mouth by coughing or sneezing into your sleeves; carry alcohol-based hand sanitizer and wash your hands thoroughly and often. These health-behaviors prevent the spread of viruses.

Eat well and get plenty of rest. Keeping your body fueled and rested helps boost your immune system.

Know the signs of flu. Signs of the flu are similar to colds but more severe, including a high fever (over 101 degrees) and more severe body aches and pains. Tylenol or Advil (ibuprofen) can help. Take ibuprofen products with food. Always read and follow dosage instructions for any medication.

Crandall Health Center has self-care kits; please call 607-871-2400 for more information.

If your symptoms are severe call the Crandall Health Center for an appointment at 607-871-2400, or outside regular office hours please call Express Care at St. James Mercy Health in Hornell at 607-324-8100.

Help Us Get to the CORE!

The New York State OASAS (Office of Alcoholism and Substance Abuse Services) has given AU the opportunity to administer the CORE substance use survey free of cost. Please recommend that your students complete the online CORE survey between now and Friday, March 7. Survey results assist the Health and Wellness Education Program with needs assessment, programming, and compliance with federal requirements for alcohol and drug use data collection on our campus.

Students can win prizes for survey completion. If you have questions about the CORE survey please contact Pam Schu, Health and Wellness Educator, or Cathie Chester, Director of the Counseling and Student Development Center, at csdc@alfred.edu.

Get to the CORE!

Don't delete those e-mails until you've gotten to the CORE! The CORE is an alcohol and other drug use survey that will assess AU student habits and beliefs. The survey is online and should be in your e-mail box between now and Friday, March 7.

You can win prizes by entering the drawing at the end of the survey. By taking the survey you help the Health and Wellness Education Program (Pam Schu, Peer Educators, Student Athlete Mentors) deliver what AU students need to know to stay both well and safe. If you have questions about the CORE survey please contact Pam Schu, Health and Wellness Educator, or Cathie Chester, Director, at the Counseling and Student Development Center: csdc@alfred.edu.

All Invited - Grand Opening ASC Microelectronics Laboratory

Spring 2008 Grand Opening Tour

Thursday, March 6, 2008
10 a.m., Room 215 Engineering Technology Building

The Electrical Engineering Technology Department at Alfred State College has recently opened a brand new class 10,000 cleanroom laboratory facility specifically designed for semiconductor manufacturing technology.

Through a recent NYSTAR (Science, Technology, and Academic Research) grant opportunity, Alfred State has been able to complete this new microelectronics laboratory facility at a fraction of the cost of comparable industrial equipment.

The laboratory has been equipped with Modu-Lab semiconductor device manufacturing equipment, which gives students realistic exposure to the semiconductor planer process. An important concept of this laboratory is hands-on training. Although it is unlikely that the students will work with this exact type of equipment in industry, the understanding of general processes gained through laboratory experiences will prepare them to either continue their education in the microelectronics field or work in a modern industrial laboratory. Oxidation, diffusion, photolithography, etch, and vapor deposition stations allow the student the opportunity to design, fabricate, and test their own simple integrated circuits while gaining experience in working in a cleanroom environment.
