

AU shines in Brookings Institution study

7/09/15

AU scored on par with Princeton and better than Yale and Dartmouth in the recently released Brookings Institution's "value added" assessment of some 4,000 schools nationwide. The study's intent is to identify the influence individual colleges have on the success of their graduates. The University was also the best-rated school in Western New York.

The Brookings Institution is a private nonprofit organization devoted to independent research and innovative policy solutions. For nearly 100 years, Brookings has analyzed current and emerging issues and produced new ideas that matter - for the nation and the world.
