Lecture: 'Harriet Tubman: Myth, Memory, and History'

Speaker: Dr. Milton C. Sernett, professor emeritus, Syracuse University
Tuesday, July 26 at 7 p.m.
Nancy Howe Auditorium
David A. Howe Public Library
155 N. Main St., Wellsville
585.593.3410

This illustrated lecture tell the story of how a poor and illiterate black woman, once enslaved but self-liberated, became the dominant symbol of the Underground Railroad and an inspiration for Americans of diverse backgrounds and reform interests. The audience will hear of the exciting findings of the latest research regarding Tubman the historical person, and of the many ways in which her life has been celebrated by writers, artists, and other creative spirits.

Dr. Sernett has completed a book on the interplay of myth, memory, and history during the years when Tubman was being canonized as an American Saint. Dr. Sernett returns for a third lecture sponsored by a grant from the NY Council on the Humanities and its Speakers in the Humanities Program.

The lecture is free and open to all .
