

[transcribed on 2020-04-06 by Laura Habecker]

THE JOURNAL OF PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY
PUBLISHED AT CORNELL UNIVERSITY

EDITOR
WILDER D. BANCROFT

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE
FOUR DOLLARS

ITHACA, NEW YORK, U.S.A.

April 15, 1921

Mr. Charles F. Binns,
Alfred University,
Alfred, New York.

My dear Mr. Binns:

I am very much obliged for the pamphlet in regard to the Summer School at Alfred, which I am forwarding to my daughter in New York. After looking over the pamphlet it seems to me that what she wants to do is to put in her whole time on Ceramics I and not try to do anything in Ceramics 2, assuming that she could be admitted to that course.

I understand that Gutzon Borglum is coming up for a special course in June, so it looks as though before long it would be the fashionable thing for would-be sculptors to take a course with you. It seems to me a very wise thing for them to do.

Yours truly,
Wilder D. Bancraft