

Graduate student revives ancient craft of using fish skins

4/01/15

Alfred University graduate student Joel Isaak gained media attention this week in an article about his use of fish skins to create beautiful and unusual clothing. Working with fish skin is an ancient craft that is being revived, and Isaak is among those leading the way.