

Littell publishes latest thriller novel

12/06/13

Robert Littell, AU Class of 1956, has published his most recent novel, titled “A Nasty Piece of Work.”

The spy thriller tells the story of a former CIA agent turned private investigator. Littell is the author of 17 previous novels and one nonfiction book.

He has been awarded the English Gold Dagger and the Los Angeles Times Book Prize for his fiction, and his novel “The Company” was a New York Times bestseller and was adapted into a television miniseries.

“A Nasty Piece of Work” was published by St. Martin&s Press/Thomas Dunne Books and is available for purchase through several major book retailers.