

Alfred University dance program announces end of semester showing

12/06/19

ALFRED, NY – The Alfred University dance program will stage an end of semester showing on Friday, Dec. 6, at 6 p.m. in the C.D. Smith Theater, Miller Performing Arts Center.

The end of semester showings are informal performances that showcase the learning and growth in Alfred University's dance program. The performances are free and open to the public.

The performance will have a lineup of works that include classes taught by D. Chase Angier, professor of dance; Colleen Wahl, visiting assistant professor of dance; and Jenise Anthony, adjunct instructor of dance.

Friday night's showing includes: African Dance, Modern 1, Composition solos, Arenze Wellington, Arenze and Dizzy Dayisi, Fundamentals of Dance.
