

School of Art and Design expands summer workshop palette

4/28/17

Alfred University's School of Art and Design has expanded its summer workshop offerings this year to include sessions in digital and glass, as well as its famed workshops in ceramics.

Registration is now open; the workshops are open to professional and non-professionals at all levels. Workshops will be filled on a first-come basis until the classes are full; a waiting list will be maintained to fill last-minute vacancies.
