

Fund-raiser to benefit Alfred University grad student

5/31/18

Family and friends of Braeden Clark '12, who is now a candidate for a Ph.D. degree in ceramic engineering, are conducting a fund-raising effort to benefit Clark. He has been diagnosed with Friedreich's ataxia, a rare genetic, degenerative, life shortening, neuromuscular disorder, which afflicts only about 15,000 people worldwide.
