Announcements

Vishing It s like phishing, but through a phone call

You may have heard of the phrase "Social Engineering" in the news, on-campus and in your Human Resources training modules through NeoGov. Social Engineering is the use of deception to manipulate individuals into divulging confidential or personal information that may be used for fraudulent purposes. A classic example of Social Engineering are Phishing emails that try to trick you into providing confidential and/or personal information through email correspondence.

Email is not the only channel through which social engineering attacks can occur. Increasingly, we are seeing phone calls where outside malicious actors are calling to trick individuals to provide confidential or personal information. Before providing sensitive information to a caller, fully verify the identity of the individual or organization. If you are unable to fully validate the identity of an individual on the phone, let the individual know that you are hanging up and will call them back at a known phone number to confirm their identity and the authenticity of the call. This is an essential safeguard in your personal life and certainly on-the-job at Alfred University.

They call this type of malicious activity "vishing" because it is like email phishing, but through the phone and with voice communication, so that is how they (v)ishing.

Upcoming Changes to the

Storage of AU Zoom Recordings

Information Technology Services is pleased to continue offering Zoom to the campus community. In order to ensure the quality and availability of this service, AU routinely deletes old recordings from our instance of Zoom. This is scheduled twice per year, in July and January. All recordings made prior to December 1, 2021 will be deleted on January 31, 2022. Users are encouraged to examine their recordings and download any items that need to be saved. This routine maintenance will allow us to continue to provide Zoom for virtual classes and meetings. Any questions on this matter can be directed to the ITS Helpdesk. Thank you for your cooperation.

HR Tip of the Month

Did you know that there is a New York State law that took effect January 1, 2018 that potentially affects you? This law is called, Paid Family Leave (PFL), and applies to all AU Non-Faculty employees. This leave provides paid leave for employees to bond with a newborn, adopted, or foster child, to attend family matters due to a qualifying military exigency, and to care for a seriously ill family member.

Employees who work 20+ hours a week have to be employed for at least 26 consecutive weeks. Employees working less than 20 hours per week must have worked at least 175 days for their current employer.

This leave provides job protection for up to twelve weeks in 2022. This leave provides 67% of employee's weekly wages to them for a maximum of $1,068.36 per week in 2022.

PFL is funded through payroll deductions from employees, this program is not optional for any non-faculty employee at Alfred University. The amount of contributions from your paycheck will remain the same in 2022, it is 0.0511% of the employee's weekly wage. This deduction is capped in 2022 at a maximum of $423.71 for the year which is based off the New York State Average Weekly Wage which is $1,594.57 in 2022.

For example:

Employees earning $519 a week ($27,000 a year) will pay about $2.65 per week: $$519 \times 0.511\%$.

Employees earning $1,000 a week ($52,000 a year) will pay $5.11 per week: $$1,000 \times 0.511\%$.

If you have a qualifying instance where you need to be off, please contact Kayleigh Jones, Sr. HR Generalist/Payroll Supervisor to process your leave.

Employee Affinity Groups Creation Announcement

With generous financial support from the President's Office and beginning in the Spring '22 semester, Alfred University will initially be supporting the initial three Employee Affinity Groups. These voluntary and informal gathering groups are open to staff, contracted workers, administrators, and faculty at Alfred University. Based upon the feedback from the survey distributed and announced on Alfred Today throughout October which was conducted by Interim Chief Diversity Officer, Dr. Brian Saltsman, the three groups will have the opportunity to begin informal gatherings, establish community, and networking.

The three initial Affinity Groups will be Women in Academia, First Generation Professionals, and LGBTQ+ Professionals. These names represent the first and broad categories suggested by the campus survey and were in line with those that exist at other institutions and may be modified and/or amended in the future.

Each group will have access to a space to meet and a modest budget for light refreshments and monthly meetings. Participation in the groups is voluntary and each group will have the option to select a primary contact and/or point person whom will work with the Chief Diversity Officer to ensure the groups have access to the needed resources.

Employee Affinity Groups (EAGs) are employee-led and facilitated groups formed around interests, backgrounds, identities, and common bonds.

Through the creation and maintenance of these informal groups it is hoped that Alfred University professionals will have active opportunities to help build and foster a positive work environment which can contribute to the health and wellbeing of the members and their allies. It is also hoped that each group can be a conduit to fulfilling our commitment to the University's mission, values, and efforts in the areas of access, justice, diversity, equity, and inclusivity.

The formation of these initial EAGs are one of the first initiative based examples of Alfred University supported activities in which professional members of the University can be encouraged to participate/engage in an effort to cultivate and foster an inclusive community. Engagement in these kinds of activities has been shown to have the potential to provide long-term benefits for the University community, opportunities for professional and personal development for the participants, and generally contribute to a greater sense of belonging to the University community, as well as offer increased opportunities to enhance employees' ability to bring their authentic selves to work.

Announcements for the first meetings of these groups will be distributed before/during the winter break. Anyone who is interested in helping to facilitate any of these groups can contact Brian Saltsman saltsman@alfred.edu.
