

New TNT drama based on Littell's 56 novel

8/14/14

The TNT crime drama “Legends,” which premiered Aug. 13, 2014, is based on the Robert Littell (AU Class of 1956) novel “Legends: A Novel of Dissimulation” released in 2005. The series features actor Sean Bean as Martin Odum, an undercover FBI agent who changes himself into a different person for each case. The series is currently scheduled for 10 episodes and airs Wednesday nights.

Littell, who resides in France, specializes in spy novels that often concern the CIA and the Soviet Union.
